From the time that the first naked savage bestrode a floating log until the launching of the Royal George and its tall successors, the mastery of the sea was never gained until Fulton in the Claremont, breasting the Hudson at five miles an hour remarks the New York World, had shown the way. Men had before that launched their cargoes boldly, but they rode or stayed or sank at the mercy of wind and waves. Only steam has robbed the sea of its terrors.

What steam has done is a marvel. British commerce in 1800 amounted to $306,000,000. No other nation had anything like that amount. Fulton's Clermont in 1807 changed the course of history. In 1819 the first steam driven ship crossed the Atlantic. In 1907, just a hundred years from Fulton's triumph, British Commerce was $5,217,000,000, having grown fourteenfold in the century. In a period only a few years longer American commerce has grown seventyfold. Without self-propelled ships such increase would be unthinkable.

The navigation of the air at the world's good pleasure stands about where the water stood in 1800. There has been time enough for experiment. It was nearly as easy fifty years ago to make long balloon flights as it is now. The wind aped or delayed the voyagers in the air as it had earlier done on the water. There was no power of direction. The first modern balloon ascension, that of the Montgolfiers in 1783, was indeed followed about at once by attempts to guide flights, whether by laborious rowing or by the setting of sails, as proposed by Leinn a century and more earlier.

Useless were all these devices. There must be power. The air demands it as the sea demanded it in 1807. If it is to become the docile track of regular voyages with definite aim. The sky is ready for the Fouton.

Inventors are at last working upon or toward principles of aviation. Zeppelin's huge airships. Farman's and the Wright Brothers' aeroplanes, the French and British military dirigibles, the experiments of Santos-Dumont, Baldwin, Maxim and others have all been made upon Fulton's principle—that there must be power that can defy the wind.

Air speed may never compete with that of sea or land in the carriage of freight; the cost from all we know now, seems an insurmountable obstacle. Nobody is yet prepared to say definitely how profoundly it may affect the course of world events both in war and peace.

Tuberculosis is terrible with children in childhood and easily claimed by Prevention. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Prevention contains no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Prevention are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

HOW TRIANGLES, FEWER GALLOWS

(Walter Blythe slew his wife, and the sentence of the Court is that he be hanged by the neck until he is dead. The law, which is thus again proved effective for retribution, might have been made equally effective for prevention. It is not possible to devise laws that would be an absolute insurance against murder, but murders such as that of which Mrs. Blythe was the victim can to a large extent be forestalled by legislation for the adequate punishment of criminals whose assaults upon the person have not yet proceeded to the degrees of murder.

It is improbable that Blythe meant to kill his wife. At all events he seems to have been frightened when, instead of easing from the state of prostration to which he reduced it, her nervous system let go of the vital principle altogether. Apparently he intended this last beating to be pretty much of the same character as those he had been in the habit of administering to her. Numerous and brutal though these seem to have been, they always left in her a balance of vitality sufficient for her recovery. This time he miscalculated either the resisting power of the woman's constitution or the force of the many poker blows he dealt her. Possibly, had her tenacity upon life not been greatly weakened by previous beatings, she might have survived even the frightful belaboring with her husband's rod of iron. Now, if our Criminal Code had prescribed flogging as one of the penalties a judge might inflict upon wife-beaters, and if there had been an alert and well-equipped police service established in the province, it is very likely that Blythe would have been brought to the whipping-post early in his career of wife-beating in Ontario. Two or three inflictions of fifteen lashes would have caused a great amendment of his domestic habits. For the reforming of the ferociously-inclined there is no moral influence to equal that of the cat-o'-nine tails. Wife-beaters who are easily enough brought under that influence would rarely become wife-murderers. Similarly, the criminals who use the bludgeon or sling-shot with which to disable in order to rob will take to less violent ways after a few of their kind have wriggled on the triangle.

By making the half-killing of victims thus punishable, the law would stop that progression in violence which so often ends in murder. Not all murderers have proceeded from lesser to greater acts of violence until the capital one has been committed, but most of them have. Hence, if such were well flogged for committing assaults that in any measure fall short of murder, few of them would eventually have to be hanged for committing deadly assaults. It is hoped the Bickerdike Bill become law, and that the whole law-abiding public will consider themselves sworn in to assist in its enforcement.

If you would have a safe, yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Home Life Had Satisfactory Year

The annual meeting of the Home Life Association of Canada, which was held in the office of the Association in Toronto recently, proved a very satisfactory to the shareholders, a large number of whom were present. The Home Life had a very prosperous year as will be seen by reference to the report of the directors on another page of this issue. Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., is the capable president of this institution and he devotes much of his time and his best attention to the Home Life. As a result the concern has not only increased its volume of business but also its profits and it has won favor from the general public while the shareholders are all satisfied with the manner in which the affairs have been looked after. Hon. Mr. Stratton was again elected president for 1909, which is a fitting tribute to his capabilities.

The assets of the Home Life increased during 1908 by $118,533.15 over the previous year, and the moneys are all invested in sound business without any evidence of speculation. In fact one of the strong points of the company is its safe investment of its funds.

The total insurance in force at the close of the year was $5,548,251 under 4,469 policies, while the interest earnings of the association are now $13,791.02 in excess of the amount required to satisfy the liabilities arising from policies becoming claims.

The report as a whole shows a conservative and competent administration of the affairs of the association and a continuation of the prosperity is confidently anticipated.

Work to Commence on New Dam and Lock

Lindsay, Feb 11.—The idle workingmen of Lindsay will be pleased to hear that work on the new dam and lock will be commenced in the course of a few days, the prospect being that many of them will be given employment on the work.

Mr. J. Ribble, of Beamsville, the successful contractor, arrived in town this morning with several of his foremen, and has taken up his quarters at the Queen House. He was not here by Messrs. Sam Clegg and Tom Gordon, of the Trent Canal staff, who discussed with him certain details of the contract.

One of the surveys made for the new lock provided for a material change in direction, the west entrance to the channel being swung about twenty feet to the north. This would involve the cutting away of a considerable portion of the land opposite the town wharf, which would afford greatly needed room for steamers and tugs with tows, and likewise involve the construction of a new swing bridge, which would be one hundred feet further north. As the swing at Wellington street bridge is to be renewed, the Public Works department might as well complete both jobs at once.

3,000 Lunatics

(Continued from page one.)

such insane person to a place of safe-keeping, and such person shall remain there as the Lieutenant-governor shall from time to time direct, or until his complete or partial recovery is certified to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant-Governor."

NO ILL-FEELING.

Shelburne, Feb. 11.—There seems to be no truth whatever in the statement that there has been a feud between the families most concerned in the Shrigley tragedy. The following statement was given to the press this afternoon by William Spanhouse whose father and brother were killed:

"To my knowledge there was never any trouble between the families. On the other hand the Stewarts and McKenzies have always been at loggerheads. The fact that Robert Stewart and Wm. McKenzie had a street fight in Shelburne has no bearing whatever on the present tragedy. Robert Stewart was a first cousin of the madman, but William McKenzie merely happened to be married to my sister. He no blood relation of the Spanhouses.

(Signed) Wm. Spanhouse."

Mr. John MacDonald, foreman of the coroner's jury, corroborates this statement.

"I have known both families for fifty years, and they were always on good terms," he said.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong, Dr. Shoop's Restorative directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

Canadian Club

(Continued from page 1.)

of the U.S. to take any part in any foreign wars.

At the unfriendly disposition of any foreign power to the United States they would however, take a hand in the quarrel.

The foreign powers must no take possession of any part of America, or introduce its principals into the part of it such attempt would be considered as an unfriendly declaration to the United States.

As a result of the Munro Doctrine no European country or any other power can take possession of any state in the Americas. In the event of such an attempt both North and South America would unite to keep them out. Canada and the United States are both interested in all parts of America.

The second part of the Munro policy is the Hamilton Neutrality policy. What effect is it going to have upon Canada? It would be well for Canada to be neutral in all European wars in which the United Kingdom was not actually engaged. It would be foolish for Canada to interfere in such wars as that in the Balkins. One of the essentials of an empire is common citizenship. The second essential is union in case of war. In the British Empire there is no such union. Great Britain has no control whatever over the colonial armies. No arrangement was ever made.

If Great Britain were at war with France for instance Canada should be neutral and take no part in it. It honestly believed that Canada should not be asked to send contingents to take part in a war with the French. For instance if Japan and United States were to go to war, with Great Britain supporting Japan, Canada could not side against the United States. There are some wars that Canada would take an enthusiastic part while in others she would refuse to act.

It has often been said the British had done more for Canada than we have we have for the Mother Country. This is not a fact. Canada has fought several wars of her own but never did a British warship, a British regiment or a British man ever take part in a Canadian war, while Canada has sent men to die on the field of Britain's battles.

But Canada's policy is to be independent of Great Britain in the matter of European wars. Canada has thrown off its colonial clothes. Our interests and wealth are too great to entrust to the keep of any other nation or people. Canada must look after its own affairs. The speaker had every confidence in the integrity of the Canadian character. He said that sentiment must not govern our people. We must conduct our political affairs in our own interests.

Is there to be any understanding within the empire as to help in case of war. If so have it stated exactly to what extent that assistance should be.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mr. Ewart by Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., and seconded by Mr. J. H. Larmenth, and unanimously carried.

President D. O'Connell stated that the next address would be delivered within the next month or possibly in two weeks by Prof. Short, and his subject would be Canada's Foreign Relations.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Check womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

12 TUMORS REMOVED WITHOUT AN OPERATION

This latter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, leucorrhoea, &c.

Miller Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1908.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisements, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."—Mrs. Louis H. Bolteridge.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it, if she will send me her address. Address with stamp

MRS. K. F. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy" That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

CANCER

R. D. EVANS Discoverer of the famous EVANS CANCER CURE, desires all who suffer with Cancer to write to him. Two days' treatment will cure external or internal Cancer. Write R. D. EVANS, Brandon, Manitoba

Purchased the Stock of Wesley Bros.

Messrs. E. F. Mason & Co., have purchased the grocery stock of Messrs. Wesley Bros., who have carried on business at the corner of Aylmer and McDonnell streets, for some time past. Mason & Co., take possession at once and will run the goods off as quickly as possible and then circulate more

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. For "weak, sick one weak heart to a hundred is, to itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have their same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of this painful, palpitating, smothering heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is so directed to these weak and wasting nerves, renews its building strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in its brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

Costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutts'.

Ask your Dealer for it. Insist upon getting it. Phone your order direct to our office.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Dated at Ottawa, 29th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Synopsis of Canadian North West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. The way also be satisfied by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with the proprietor of the farming land owned by him must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

TRANSPORTATION.

You will find our service TO THE NORTHWEST

Satisfactory in every respect

Our trains run through without change, by a route that is shorter, cheaper and interesting than any other, and of course quicker in time. Daily service from Peterboro.

Apply to W. McILROY
C.P.R. Agent Peterboro Ont.

For tickets, reservations, and all information.

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Fridays MaritimeExpress

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30

From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to

Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

*CORNISHMAN Feb 13	ar 23 Apr 24
VANCOUVER	May 1
CANADA	Feb 20 Mar 27
*WELSHMAN	Feb 27 April 10
SOUTHWARK	April 13
*OTTOMAN	March 6
DOMINION	March 13 Apr 17

*No passengers carried.

Steamers sail from Portland at 2 p.m.

The SS. Canada is one of the fastest and most comfortable steamers in the Canadian trade.

Second class $42.50 and $45.00 according to the steamer.

As no first-class passengers are carried until the 27th March, sailing, second class passengers will have use of all promenade decks.

Third class to Liverpool, London, Londonderry, Belfast, Glasgow, $27.50

For all information apply to
W. BUNTEN,
Agent at Peterborough.

DOMINION LINE

BUNNS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

D. L. PITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the hope of wedding presents at startling prices. January sale of chain and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BANKS.

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE— Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets.. 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100, and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall. Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

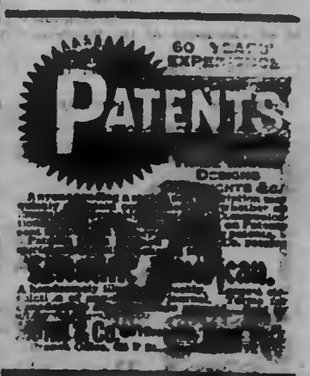
METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1709
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE



Can.

Call and See Sample

We are about to let the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a contributor's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, with all possible, home decoration and dress fashionable. Interesting prize to the subscribers at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE--OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

SUCCESSORS TO

Drs. Kennedy & Kergan

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Owing to Dr. Kergan being deceased, Dr. J. D. Kennedy, Medical Director, has entered into partnership with Dr. Kennedy Jr., who has been associated with him for several years, to thereby continue with confidence the well established name of

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, NEGLECTED BLOOD DISEASES and kindred troubles. Many of the following symptoms soon appear, if not before it is too late. Are you easily startled, nervous, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, singing noises in the head, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreamy and timid, unfit for study or business, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks sometimes flushed, you are restless at night, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, weak memory, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat etc.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most prevalent of all secret diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and unless entirely eradicated from the system may affect the future generation. Beware of Mercury. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT alone can cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical, and vital systems are invigorated; all drains cease—all power vitality checked from the system. Dont let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

READER No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (illustrated)

Question List for Home Treatment Sent on Request.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St. - DETROIT, MICH

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche: Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable developments.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and in an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 183 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 60 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 18th December, 1906, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. Levecastle, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 600,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 200,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 6 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $ 600; Gifford has sold at 10 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 4000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 18th of December, 1906.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTO

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

THE WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

To be had at all first-class dealers

At Cost

Hand sleighs at cost rather than cop any sleighs over. One cor big boys' coasting sleighs at 90 and 95 cents; girls' sleigh at 65c and the "fast mail" with railing all around for only 85. Times Bookstore, Simple opposite post office.

Articles for Sale

Three second Hand Oliver Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Second Hand Singer Disk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to H. G. Hill 143 Water street, opposite Post Office.

SUNKEN TREASURE.

Company Plan Made Unavailing Efforts Do Recover Scrap.

The ship Alfred Nobel, which some twelve months ago sailed from London to cruise in search for hidden treasure, and which was to have returned to Blackwall piled high with gold and silver and precious stones from sunken wrecks uncharted even in Lloyd's, is, alas and alack, coming back as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. She was the property of the South African Salvage Co., and one of her objectives was Paul Kruger's lost treasure ship, the Dorothea, which lies in seven and a half fathoms of water two miles east of Cape Vidal, on the Tenedo Reef, off the Zululand coast. The Kruger gold, which Oom Paul, so the story runs, sent out of the Transvaal for safety, was said to run to the value of $3,960,000, and it was supposed to be cemented into the bottom of the Dorothea with 200 tons of sand ballast spread over it. Altogether, the Alfred Nobel's program included 36 chartered wrecks to work upon along the South African coast. One of these was the Middelburg, an old armed Dutch merchantman, which went to the bottom in 1714 in Saldanha Bay, with $100,000 in doubloons on board.

Capt. C. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, was in charge of this treasure expedition. He is essentially of the type of whom the apopthegm might have been written, "Adventures are to Adventurous." He was midshipman on board the Condor under Lord Charles Beresford at the bombardment of Alexandria; and later acted as despatch rider to Lord Roberts in the Boer war. He was sanguine of having a sniff at six millions all told of sunken treasures that lay round and about the South African coast. He had an arrangement with the Cape Government by which once he had attacked a sunken ship no permits would be granted to rivals; and, on the other hand, whatever he raised was to bear a tax of 25 per cent. And now, alas, that tax will never be levied. The picturesque treasure of Oom Paul lies where it did. At the very first set-off disappointment fronted the gallant crew of the Alfred Nobel, for they found that treacherous coast too dangerous, and battered continuously by huge rollers from the Indian Ocean. And the attempt to get into the depths of the Dorothea ended in failure.

Thereupon the Alfred Nobel sailed away to Swakopmund, in German Southwest African territory, where she anchored near the steamship Dunbeth, which lies secure on the teeth of the rocks there, as the result of a fatal foggy night, until the waves batter her to fragments. Here again the quest ended in bitter disappointment, for it was found that even the copper and brass fittings had been "jumped" by previous visitors. Discouraged, but not beaten, the Alfred Nobel, brought up in Saldanha Bay, where lie the ribs of the old Middelburg. Here her divers brought up, after pumping out 10 feet or so of sand, a quantity of old china. Unfortunately, some fine collections of china have been recovered from the Middelburg on many previous occasions, so that this output has become in the nature of a drug in the market.

Again, not deterred, the Alfred Nobel made a course for Table Bay, and had a nibble at the Australian liner Thermopylae, which about ten years ago nearly pushed her nose into the hen-roost of the keeper of the Flash Lighthouse at Three Anchor Bay, which event was made history by Mrs. Langtry's horses, which were on board, swimming ashore. Arriving at the wreck of the Thermopylae, the Alfred Nobel did a lot of blasting; but all the efforts accomplished nothing beyond making an even more complete ruin of the once stately liner. A trip to the sailing ship America followed. The America lies off the Woodstock beach. She went ashore about 1900 in a gale that crippled other shipping in the bay. Her chief cargo was beer and coal, and she was uninsured. A good deal of the coal was got out of her a year or two ago, and realized $10 a ton. Much of the beer was also salved, but it hardly realized custom dues. Then the Alfred Nobel had a look at her. There is still a good deal of beer on board. And that is the painful history of the expedition of the Alfred Nobel, which is shortly due in London.

"A Hero of Friendship."

So Mr. Theodore Watts-Dunton was once described by Rossetti, and certainly the friendships formed by the famous poet and critic are amongst the most interesting features of his career. He was bound to Tennyson, Browning and Rossetti by feelings of almost brotherly love, and he still lives with Swinburne — whose house he has shared for many years—at The Pines, Putney, although he married three years ago. The intimacy which exists between Swinburne and Watts-Dunton might well be described as one of the most beautiful friendships formed by Watts-Dunton. Thirty years ago, when he was leading critic on the "Athenaeum," one of James Russell Lowell's first questions on arriving in England was, "Who is this writer on the "Athenaeum" whose articles are attracting as much attention in America as they surely must be attracting in England?" The enquiry led to a personal meeting, and a friendship was thus formed which was only broken by Lowell's death.

Ninety-Seven Years With Family.

An old servant has just died at Lisburn in the person of Susan O'Hagan, who had been in the service of one family for ninety-seven years. She had been with four generations of the family, and had nursed three. For some time past she had been frail but enjoyed good health and the full use of her faculties, and could sew and knit without the aid of glasses.

Tax on Horseflesh.

One of the new taxes contemplated in Paris is a duty of 1s. 8d. per cwt. on horseflesh used for human consumption. Strong objections have been raised on the ground that the tax would fall on the very poor and the sick—horseflesh is recommended for consumptives—and would bring in only about $25,000.

Threshing furnishings with attachments is quickly and safely raised by Pyramids. These Prize Crady Cast Caps [illegible] strength to the head—for promptness is all-important. Pyramids contain no cylinder, nothing harsh nor distracting. They are silent. "The stitch in time", Carried in pocket or purse. Promotion are a genuine safeguard against Colds. Sold by all dealers.

HOW COLDS ARE CONTRACTED

ALWAYS RESULT OF UNDUE EXPOSURE.

Rapid Cooling of the Surface of the Body Brings About the Common Ailments of Mankind.

An acute catarrh, that is a cold, is always the result of undue exposure to low temperatures. The rapid cooling of the surface, when not balanced by proper reaction, produces congestion and inflammation of the nasal and bronchial membranes. Obviously such an ailment is not communicable, in the ordinary sense from one individual to another. As the slightest "cold" predisposes the individual to attacks of the most severe and dangerous catarrhal affections, the necessity for quick cure need not be enforced. These facts emphasize the necessity of extra precautionary measures against the ordinary cold. Everyone cannot change his climate at will but may make the most of what he has at hand, viz., take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. It not only cures a cold quickly but counteracts any tendency of the cold to result in pneumonia. This fact has been fully proven during the epidemics of colds and grip of the past few years. No case of either of these diseases having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used has ever been reported to the manufacturers and thousands of bottles of it are sold every day, which shows conclusively that it is not only the best and quickest cure for colds, but a certain preventive of that dangerous disease, pneumonia.

BURNS AS EXCISEMAN.

England Has Given Many Writers Government Jobs.

When Robert Burns, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of whose birth was celebrated on the 25th day of last month, was driven by the expenses due to an increasing family to apply for a Government post he thought himself fortunate in obtaining the billet of exciseman. Not that he was blind to the disadvantages of the position.

"The worst circumstance," he wrote, "is that the excise division which I have got is so extensive—no less than ten parishes to ride over—and that it abounds, besides, with so much business that I can scarcely steal a spare moment." In return for the strenuous and almost unceasing toil involved in his official duties the reward was $250 a year.

From the very dawn of English literature the state has not been averse to show itself the patron of literary merit, and this apart from the laureateship, honorable but meanly paid. Chaucer held many offices about the court and under Government, and was more actively engaged in public affairs than any poet of celebrity since his time. It is true that he started in sufficiently lowly fashion. Appointed comptroller of the Custom of Wool, Skin, and Leather in the port of London, he was obliged to keep the books and fill in commercial documents with his own hand.

Better times were in store for the father of English literature. In due course he was promoted to be comptroller of Petty Customs, and more than once took a distinguished share in embassies and other diplomatic missions.

Chaucer's first great literary successor, Edmund Spencer, attained to an eminent position in the Court of Chancery. Milton rose still higher, when he secured his appointment to the post of Foreign or Latin Secretary to the Council of State under the Commonwealth.

Asked to celebrate the Battle of Blenheim, Joseph Addison was made Commissioner of Appeals in the Excise, and afterwards, as reward for his resultant poem, "The Campaign," obtained the post of Under Secretary of State. He became successively Secretary to the Lords Justices, who administered the Government until the arrival of George I., a Commissioner for Trade and the Colonies, and, finally, Secretary of State.

Defoe, the author of "Robinson Crusoe," Sir Richard Steele, as an essayist second to none, and Fielding, whose "Tom Jones" still ranks among the best novels in our language, were all recipients of Government posts, which, in some cases, proved to be of a very lucrative nature.

James Thomson, famous as the author of "The Seasons" and of the song "Rule Britannia," was made governor of the Leeward Islands. The sequel is curious. He sent out a deputy to do the work, and, after paying him, clear $1,500 a year from his governorship. As he was also in receipt of a pension, he was able to spend the last years of his life in ease, in happy contrast to poor Robert Burns, weighed down by sickness, debt, and dissipation, dying with a curse upon his lips.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Dr. Sage this one box will cure you—it has done be for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 3c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. B. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

AGONY COLUMN FRAUDS

SOME CLEVER DODGES OF LONDON SWINDLES.

Army of Parasites Who Live on Good Nature of Others in the Metropolis of Empire Frequently Use the Personal Columns of the Big Dailies—Sometimes Appeal For Themselves and Sometimes For Others.

The recent charge brought against a woman in London, England, of attempting to procure charitable contributions by making false representations through the medium of "agony" column advertisements calls attention to the fact that the "noble army of never-works," who prefer to live on other people's good nature instead of doing a day's honest labor themselves, often find this particular newspaper feature very useful and profitable.

People who usually ignore the advertisement pages of a paper — although there is often to be found therein much that is interesting and humorous—will, in nine cases out of ten, glance down the "agony" column, and when they see an appeal like this:

"Who will buy my crochet-work? Alone, in despair, and crippled with rheumatism. Cannot move from my chair; dependent entirely on kindness of landlady. Do, please, buy my work, and so help an unfortunate gentlewoman—"

the chances are that many of them will be moved by the pathos of the advertisement and send half a crown or five shillings.

It is by no means the contention of the writer that every appeal of "unfortunate gentlewomen" who have work to sell is a fraud, although the crippled "gentlewoman" who inserted the aforementioned advertisement in a London daily was ultimately proved to be an able-bodied rogue who had already served a couple of terms of imprisonment for gulling the public.

The majority of such advertisements, however, are probably genuine, for most newspapers nowadays exercise such care in regard to publishing advertisements of any kind that the scope for fraud has become limited in consequence. Even the newspapers, however, are deceived at times, and it is therefore always advisable to make inquiries, say from the clergyman of the district, as to the merits of the case before sending money. For the begging-letter writer has of late turned his or her attention to begging-advertisement-writing.

The favorite dodge is to appeal, not so much on their own behalf as on behalf of some charity in which they profess to be interested. Appeals for donations to "struggling infant missions" or "homes" are often very successful. Here is an example of one which is said to have brought in between $2,000 and $3,500 to the advertiser, whose home consisted of a dilapidated house in a London suburb, with three ill-clad, half-starved children, who were proved to be his own:

"In terrible distress. Home in debt, and likely to be sold up. Hopeless to carry on God's work unless I get £50. Shall be pleased to meet any generous-hearted reader and explain matters more fully."

And when a generous-hearted reader did visit this canting humbug, he found no children, but was told that a kind-hearted friend had taken them—ten altogether—away for the day. Voluble explanations as to distressful position of the home were offered, but the visitor's suspicions were aroused. He communicated with the police, but before they could take action the bird had flown. The evidence of the neighbors provided them with the true character of the man and the sad state of his three children.

Another illustration of the "agony" column fraud is provided by a sufferer from consumption, who appeals thus:

"Am dying for want of £20. Doctors say I have six months to live if I stay in this country. Suggest California. £20 necessary to take me there. Do help one suffering from the white plague."

One of these "consumptives" was brought to book in the Midlands a few months ago, and was sent to jail for six months to try the cure there.

"The poor stricken brother of the pen," who evokes the aid of other authors in the words, "For God's sake, help me to publish my book by a subscription," and who usually turns out to be an individual whose attentions have been mainly devoted to the pint pot instead of the pen, is a similar fraud to the broken-down musician, who is suffering from foreign competition, has a wife and three children, but has a chance of work if he can get his violin out of pawn. Only £5 is wanted.

Summed up, it may be said that the "agony" column fraud is very much akin to the begging-letter swindle, but often proves more successful, simply because one advertisement appeals to so many more people, and, on the face of it, seems so much more genuine.

Postmaster to Curate.

A very interesting personality is Mr. P. F. Hook, the postmaster of West Bromwich, England, who, having completed forty years' postal service, has just retired on a pension. In future Mr. Hook will act as curate of St. John's, West Bromwich, having passed the Bishop of Lichfield's theological examination. Not only, however, has Mr. Hook been acting as a lay preacher in the Church of England for some years, but he has sustained roles in grand opera, being a clever musician, both vocal and instrumental. Moreover, he has taken an active interest in athletics, and played rugby football until he was forty-two. In 1894, when holding a position in the Liverpool postoffice, he was president of the Irish Rugby Football Union, and frequently assisted in the selection of the International fifteen.

Fountain of Youth.

In foaming stein his face he sinks
And finds restored his youth, he thinks.
He feels himself less full of years
The fuller he becomes of beers.

Careless Clerks Pardoned.

Two officials of the Nottingham Corporation who went into a saloon to play a game of billiards lost some Corporation bonds to the value of $60,000, which they should have posted. These were found in the street by a man who burnt them as waste paper. The clerks have now been reinstated in office by the finance committee.

Annual Meeting of The Home Life Association of Canada

The Annual Meeting of the Home Life Association of Canada was held at the office of the Association, corner Victoria and Adelaide streets, Toronto, on Tuesday, February 9th, 1908.

There was a good attendance of the Shareholders and Policyholders.

The President, Hon. J. R. Stratton, occupied the chair, and Mr. A. J. Walker, Secretary of the Association, acted as Secretary of the meeting.

The statement submitted by the Directors showed that the total net ledger assets at the close of the year amounted to $668,679.39, being an increase of $118,852.15 over the figures of last year.

Of the net ledger assets amounting to $668,679.39, first mortgages amounting to $366,857.19 represent thirty-five per cent. of the total; debentures, bonds and stocks $135,220.13, and cash in banks $136,262.86, amount to twenty-five per cent.; loans on policies $146,136.11 to sixteen per cent.; Home Life Building, $140,000.00, to sixteen per cent.; the balance of the percentage to make 100 being represented by cash in hand and investments on call loans. It is to be seen, therefore, that the investments are not of a speculative character. The assets of the Association, including outstanding or deferred premiums and agents' balances, total $691,852.12.

The cash premium income for the year amounted to $199,789.12, an advance over the amount of 1907.

The interest earnings for the year 1908 amounted to $46,761.48, being twenty-one per cent. over the previous year.

The legal reserves on policies issued, provided for on the stringent Government basis of valuation, total $512,990.51, an increase of more than $160,000 over the figures of 1907.

The total assets for the protection of policyholders now amount to $1,752,461.61.

The interest earnings of the Association, $46,761.48, are now $12,791.63 in excess of the amount required to satisfy the liabilities arising from policies becoming claims.

The decrease in the amounts of payments in respects of cash surrenders was noted with satisfaction; and there was a gratifying lessening in lapses of policies.

The payments to policyholders during the year amounted to $54,530.49; death claims comprised $33,964.55; matured endowments and cash surrendered totalled $20,715.15.

The total insurance in force at the close of the year was $5,548,358, under 4,498 policies.

The reduction in expenses of management and the satisfactory surplus are regarded as two features of a gratifying character.

The annual statement of assets and liabilities was satisfactory to shareholders, and taken in connection with the other satisfactory aspects of the report, were considered evidences of general improvement in the condition and interests of the Association.

Taking this into account and also the good results of last year, and, in addition, having regard to what has has been accomplished under the present board, there is shown conservative and competent administration of the affairs of the Association. With this assured and in view of the present satisfactory state of its affairs, a continuation of prosperity may be anticipated with confidence.

After remarks expressing congratulation and explanation by the President, Vice-President, General Manager and shareholders, the report was adopted unanimously.

DIRECTORS.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P., John S. King, Esq., James L. Hughes, Esq., D. W. Karn, Esq., J. S. Hough, Esq., K.C., J. W. Lyon, Esq., Rev. A. L. Gee, George Amyot, Esq., John Sheridan, Esq., Thomas W. Boddy, Esq., John Curtis, Esq., E. L. Gould, Esq., J. H. Spencer, Esq., J. K. McCutcheon, Esq., Prof. J. F. Tufts, James J. Warren, Esq., Charles E. Stevenson, Esq., J. H. Hazelwood, D.D.

ADVISORY DIRECTORS.

Nova Scotia, Hon. J. W. Longley; British Columbia, James Maynard, Esq.; Winnipeg, Man., S. A. Bedford, Esq., and Ashmore Kennedy, Esq.; Edmonton, Alta., Charles May, Esq.

Subsequently to the annual meeting, the Board of Directors met and elected the Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P., President; Messrs. J. L. Hughes and John S. King, Vice-Presidents, and J. K. McCutcheon, Managing Director.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS O

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation do; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name. See future advertisements, etc.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

A FASHION FEAST IN NEW SPRING SILKS AT TURNBULLS

Miss Welsh, the head of our Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Department, is now in the fashion centres of New York, in the interests of the customers of her department, which will open for the Spring Season, on March First.

ON MONDAY and following days we will have on display the largest and most beautiful collection of New Satins and Silks ever shown in Peterborough, direct from the best silk makers in the world. In this showing will be found all the fashion favorites; Directoire Satins. Satin Princess, Satin Duchess, Satin Frivol, Satin Mousselines, Silk Ottomans, Messalines, Chiffon Taffetas, Silk and Wool Crystal, in a color range that will gladden the heart; Toupe, London Smoke. Elephant Gray, Catawba, Rose, Wisteria, Sapphire, Peacock, Navy, Sage, Olive, Moss, Cream and White.

Do not forget the Big Fifteen Days' Sale of UNDERBOUGHT HOME FURNISHINGS
Savings of 25 to 50 Per Cent.

In connection with our Ladies' Tailoring Department we have the most perfect spotless sponging system known.

The "Cleveland" Duplex Steam Method

All goods sponged on request only 5c a yard.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Simcoe Sts.

Bell 'Phone—Office 651; House 653.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1909.

For Sale

For sale, seven-roomed brick house on Wolfe street, Peterborough, splendid investment, no agents. Apply A. A. Burrow, 98 Crawford street, Toronto.

Men Wanted

Wanted men to spend spare time in remunerative employment. Apply Box 1168, Peterborough.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

Historical Society

The next meeting of the Historical Society will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 23rd, when an address will be given by Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch on "Beginnings in Medicine."

Criminal Libel

Bernard McManus was arrested Thursday afternoon in Bridge north by County Constable Cochrane, and appeared before Magistrate Edmison charged with criminal libel. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded for a week.

Canadian Tour

Mr. Irwing Beers went to Toronto yesterday afternoon to complete arrangements in connection with the booking of the trans-continental tour of Donald Robertson, of which Mr. Beers will be manager. Mr. Robertson will play the principal cities of Canada, and there is a possibility of him opening his season in Peterborough.

Chiefs' Convention

Chief Bousel received a communication this morning from Wm. Stark, Chief of Police at Niagara Falls, and secretary of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police, asking him if Wednesday and Thursday, July 28th and 29th would be suitable for the annual convention. Chief Bousel is the president of the association. He sent word to Secretary Stark this morning that the above dates would do.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT WALTON.

The Canadian American says; Mrs. Robert Walton, late of Peterborough, Ont., and mother of Mrs. A. D. Browne, 6220 South Park avenue, Chicago, passed away at the home of her daughter, Tuesday afternoon, after a lingering illness, at the age of 75 years. Deceased was the mother of a large family, several of whom were present at the bedside when the end came. Interment was at Peterborough, Ont., Friday.

PERSONAL

Mr. W. S. Merrell returned home from Toronto Thursday night.

Mrs. E. Armour and her two daughters Mrs. Wm. Lyons, and Miss Isabel have gone to New York City.

Mr. Heideman of Stratford, is the guest of his brother, Mr. R. Heideman, 575 Aylmer street.

Mrs. S. G. Lech is spending a few weeks in Montreal the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. F. Walker.

Mrs. P. Downham has gone to Toronto to attend the Mendlesohn Choir concerts and to visit friends.

Mr. J. H. Smythe, proprietor of the Majestic Billard Parlors, Water St., is in Toronto on a business trip.

Mr. S. T. Medd came down from Toronto yesterday having been engaged in the Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall, since Monday.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all druggists.

Miss Emma Law has returned to her home in Toronto, after spending a month with her brother, Mr. J. Law, 176 Sherbrooke street.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Haskill, sr., will be pleased to hear that he has recovered from his illness and returned to work this morning.

Rev. W. J. Creighton of Lakefield, and Rev. Reid of Campbellford passed through the city Thursday to attend the Quarterly Mission Board meeting of the Anglican Church in Toronto.

Mr. John Moyes of Ashburnham, who fell while returning home the other day sustaining injuries about the head and shoulders, is doing as well as can be expected and will be around in a few days.

Mr. W. J. Kearns was in town yesterday, and gave The Times a call. Mr. Kearns is on his way to Ottawa in connection with his iron properties in Northern Ontario.

Mr. Glass of Parnell street, who has been undergoing treatment at Brown Hill for the past three weeks, is improving nicely. His friends will be pleased to learn of the improvement.

Mr. L. Robbins of Robbin Landing, was in the city visiting with Mr. Jas. McGhee at 339 Water street, and together with Mrs. Robbins, who has been visiting in the city for several days, will leave for home this

Mr. Harry Morgan of the Peterborough Hardware Company, was appointed a member of the executive of the Ontario Hardware Merchants' Association, the meetings of which have been held in Hamilton during the past few days. The convention was concluded Thursday night by a banquet at the Waldorf Hotel.

Both Gained

By Change to Postum

"We have given Postum over a years trial," writes a Wis. lady, "and our only regret is that we did not try it before. Previously we used coffee twice a day and were very fond of it.

"My husband had been subject to severe attacks of sick headache for years and at such times could not endure the sight or smell of coffee. This led me to suspect that coffee was the cause of his trouble.

"I was also troubled very much with acidity of the stomach and heart palpitation after meals. I had been doctoring for this but had not suspected that coffee was the cause.

"Finally we purchased some Postum and it did for me what the medicines had failed to do. The first day we used Postum I noticed less of my own trouble, the second day was entirely free from it and have never been troubled since.

"My husband has been entirely free from attacks of sick headache since he quit coffee and began to use Postum.

"I have heard people say they did not like the flavor of Postum, yet I have served it to them without detection, because it has the color and snappy coffee taste, similar to mild high-grade Java. This shows they had not made it right. When made according to directions on pkg., it is as delicious as coffee and besides it is wholesome."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Fire Alarm

The report of the fire at the White House sheds yesterday morning should have stated that it was Night-watchman Finnie who sent in the alarm.

Two More Steamers

(Continued from page 1.)

the new boat to spend the day on the Kawartha lakes.

STEAMER MONARCH.

The Steamer Monarch will again ply between the city and Rice Lake points as last year, while the new steamer may be placed on the Otonabees old route and that big steamer sent to lake Simcoe, where she will run between Orillia, Barrie, Jackson's Point (connecting with the electric road to Toronto) and Gamebridge. Later on a daily service will be started from Bobcaygeon to Gamebridge, thus connecting the entire navigatable waters of the Kawartha Lakes.

When the above plans are carried out the service will be so thorough and reliable that the Kawartha Lakes, with Peterborough as the headquarters, will be one of the greatest resorts for tourists and cottagers in the Dominion. The scenery, and the atmosphere, the fishing and boating and the lakes themselves cannot be surpassed, while a convenient transportation service will make them exceedingly popular. It is safe to predict that next summer will see several thousand more visitors to this region than ever was here before and the traffic will continue to rapidly increase year by year.

TIME TABLE.

The time table of the Otonabee Navigation Co. will this year be a very comprehensive one, and will be made up to suit the citizens of Peterborough as well as outsiders. Tourists and excursionists will be afforded every opportunity to enjoy the beauties of the lakes and rivers and to stop over at any point desired. It will be possible to leave here in the morning and spend the day at Gore's Landing and Idyl Wyld, returning in the evening. Another line will permit the public leaving the city wharf in the morning and spend the day on Stony Lake, going over the Lift Lock and through the canal and river to Lakefield and then on to Stony Lake, and return the same evening. Or, if preferred, citizens or tourists can leave here in the morning, make a circuit of the lakes to Burleigh Falls and there transfer to the Steamer Manita and proceed to Chemong Park passing through the romantic waters of Clear Lake, Lovesick Lake, and Chemong Lake. At the park a bus line will connect with the boats and bring the passengers into the city the same evening.

This bus service will also permit of tourists leaving here in the morning for Chemong and take the Manita to Burleigh Falls and connect with the Water Lily and return home the same evening.

The steamer Otonabee will be put on her regular trips on Thursdays and Saturdays leaving the city at noon for Idyl Wyld and return about 9 o'clock the same evening.

THE OFFICERS.

The officers of the Otonabee Navigation Company are as follows:—

President—Mr. W. H. Robertson.
General Manager—Mr. Harry Phelan.
Marine Superintendent—Capt. W. H. White.
Directors—Mr. W. H. Robertson, Capt. W. H. White, Mr. J. E Henderson, Capt. Geo. D. Frewer, Mr. Samuel Pearson and Mr. Harry Phelan.

Appetite Gone--- Nerves Badly Run Down

A Strong Moral Well Exemplified In Mrs. Wilson's Case

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sorely tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Watmore, P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, biliousness and depressing headache I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleaning, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring, vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essences in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to instil renewed activity and strength of every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut—today—25c. at all dealers.

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

Prizes for Everbody

Leading Automobile Concern Offers Reward for Names of Prospective Purchasers.

This is Your Opportunity—Grasp It.

It has been decided by the Oldsmobile Company of Canada to offer a prize to every man or woman who succeeds in making himself or herself the instrument whereby an "Oldsmobile" can be sold.

The prize consists of Ten Dollars and all you have to do to win it is to be the first to submit to the Oldsmobile Company the name and address of someone you think to be a likely purchaser of a car together with a reason for thinking so; an Oldsmobile agent will promptly call at the address designated by you, and if the person named purchases an "Oldsmobile" the Ten Dollars will immediately be forwarded to the man or woman who was the first to send in the name of that purchaser.

Names and addresses will be entered at the hour and date received whether by letter, telephone, telegraph.

Call at once or communicate with Frederick Sager, Manager Oldsmobile Company of Canada, Limited, 80 King St., East, Toronto.

This offer will not appear in any other newspaper or any other form.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

BARGAINS
: IN :
BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to..... 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Of iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE
432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

See our display of valentines today at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NOTICE.

Friday, the 26th day of February next, will be the last day for presenting Petitions for Private Bills.

Friday the 5th day of March next, will be the last day for introducing Private Bills.

Thursday, the 18th day of March next, will be the last day for receiving Report of Committees on Private Bills.

ARTHUR H. SYDERE,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly
Toronto, January 27th, 1909.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

Bird Bread!

Cottam Bird Seed

Send name of dealer not selling Bird Bread, sport from Cottam Bird Seed, 25c. to prepay and get 2 large packages. Bird Book, 250 pages, FREE. Almost Human. Bird Book 25c. by mail.

Bird Cottam Co., Dundas St., London, Ont.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 38 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Finds Skeleton of Three Brothers--Strange and Gruesome Discovery

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 12.—Chas. McLeod of Edmonton, while guiding a party of prospectors through northern wilds, in the vicinity of Nahanna River, accidentally stumbled over the skeletons of his two murdered brothers.

The finding of the bones as told by the brother, reads like fiction. McLeod one evening after making camp discovered the remnant of a camp fire. Curious as to who might have preceded him, he scraped away the ashes and discovered an inscription on a tree, finding the date May, 1905, and the initials those of his two brothers.

Later on, one of the party cut his foot and the rest pushed on a few miles to make camp. When the injured one's wounds were dressed, he pushed on and reported that in the brush under a large tree he had found the skeletons of two men. McLeod's fears were aroused and he hastened back and in an hour came on the remains.

Investigation revealed that the heads of the two men were cut off and removed to some unknown point. The clothing had completely rotted away, and only bones were left. In the vicinity where the camp fire had been he found a watch and ring which belonged to Frank McLeod. On looking over the camp he found another blazed tree on which very little parving was legible, but showed that the men were killed at least three years ago. One of the skeletons had the breastbone shattered, appearances indicating that the man was shot with a rifle while reclining on a pile of blankets. Near the base of the tree were carved words which would mean a fortune if deciphered, as these words related to the location of valuables, but the murderers not only had taken care to remove every article from the victims' clothing but had also felled and blazed the tree in such a manner as to make most of the carving unintelligible.

Near the point where they had been working McLeod found a small shaft from which the Indians of late have taken gold. The Indians, however, claim to have opened this themselves.

Weir, a companion of the two men, is still unaccounted for. Mounted police will be sent north.

Printers' Annual Banquet the Biggest Success Yet

The Printers' annual banquet was held on Saturday night at Jacobi Bros.' new restaurant. This year it was marked by several interesting features. It was one of the best banquets ever held by the craft; among the guests were the bowling team from the Mail & Empire composing room which was in the city playing a friendly game with the local printers; it was also the first banquet held in Jacobi Bros.' restaurant, and marked the opening of the dining room which will be run in connection with the quick lunch counter.

There were over forty guests gathered round the festive board, and at the conclusion all were of the one opinion, viz.; that it was one of the most enjoyable banquets they had attended. Among the guests, besides the visiting craftsmen were Mr. Alfred Burton of Toronto, international representative of the Brass Workers, Moulders and Metal Polishers Union, and representatives of the press. Saturday night's spread is a sample of what the new firm intend to give their customers and their success in Peterborough is already assured.

After supper Mr. Chas. Reid, president of the local union, was made toast master and the following program was run off;—

The King.
Vocal solo—Mr. Jas. Brown.
The Craft—Mr. Chas. Brownlee.
Solo—Mr. Harry Theobald.
Employers—Mr. F. H. Dobbin.
Solo—Mr. Galbraith.
The Scribes—Messrs. J. H. Burnham and Chas. H. Gawle.
Our Guests—Messrs. McDonald and Walker, Toronto.
Solo—Mr. Moore.
The Ladies—Messrs. J. H. Burnham and Harry Thompson.
Instrumental—Mr. R. Robertson.
Sister Organizations—Mr. Alfred Burton, Brass Workers, Toronto.
Instrumental—Mr. Schneider.
The Committee — Messrs. George Cairns, E. Bartlett and F. Dobbin.
Solo—Mr. Miland.
The Hosts—Mr. F. Jacobi.
God Save the King.

The editorial departments of the local press.

Hosts Jacobi Bros. served a very choice menu, and the good things were well prepared and nicely served, which added much to the enjoyment

PROTEST CHARGING BRIBERY ENTERED AGAINST F. MOHER

Reeve of Douro will be Served with the Notice Immediately—Action Taken by D. Maloney on Saturday—Hearing Set for February 25 Before Judge Weller

Municipal politics have taken a new turn, and on Saturday somewhat of a sensation was created when ex-Reeve D. Maloney of Douro, began proceedings to upset the recent election of reeve of Douro, and if the charges are proven the successful candidates will be disqualified.

Mr. Frank Moher defeated Mr. Maloney last January, and there has been considerable feeling aroused by Mr. Moher's friends. The township of Douro, has always been a close riding for municipal purposes, but it is alleged that things were never before carried so far as during the recent campaign. One thing is certain viz., that not in a generation at least has a protest on the grounds of bribery been entered in this county in a municipal election. In fact very few such protests have been recorded in the province. The case will therefore be of great interest throughout the county and Ontario at large. The protest itself promises to uncover some things of a startling nature, and which will make interesting, if not commendable reading matter for the people.

The proceedings in a municipal election protest are taken under the controverted election clauses of the Municipal Election Act. They differ widely from those in the case of a protest in the Ontario or Dominion election. In the first place the complainant takes an affidavit as to the charges and also furnishes bonds. Then application is made to the county judge to issue a fiat, and instead of a writ being issued a notice of motion is made and the defendant (Mr. Moher in this case), is served with the notice. The period of eight days elapses and the trial can be brought on eight days latter or the county judge may specify a date for the trial. In this case his honor has specified Thursday, Feb 25th as the date for the hearing. The case will be tried in the county court before Judge Weller.

Mr. Maloney has entered the protest and the judge's fiat was issued on Saturday. The notice will be served on Mr. Moher immediately, so that no delay will be experienced. Already considerable excitement has been created, but this will be greatly increased when the action becomes generally known.

Mr. Maloney entered his protest on the grounds of bribery, and he and his friends claim to have several cases of direct bribery which will, if proven, not only upset the election, but disqualify the present reeve.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams is acting for Mr. D. Maloney.

Steamer Wrecked and 67 were Drowned

Wellington, N.Z., Feb. 13. — The Union Steamship Company of Wellington's steamer Penguin was wrecked at 10 o'clock last night off Cape Terawhiti.

Some of the passengers and a number of the members of the crew were saved, but the remainder of the ship's company, numbering 67, perished.

The Penguin is a total loss. She was an iron vessel of 824 tons, built at Glasgow in 1884.

It was during a gale that the Penguin struck on the rocks of Terawhiti. The passengers and crew, numbering nearly 100, boarded rafts and two small boats.

Twenty-six persons reached the shore and the remainder are believed to have drowned. The captain was the last person to leave the vessel. He got upon an upturned boat and was saved.

Twenty-six bodies already have been washed ashore. One woman passenger lost her husband and four children.

London, Feb. 12.—A despatch received by the Lloyds from Brest, France, reports that the British steamer Forest Castle foundered in the Bay of Brest and that nine of her crew were drowned. During a fog she ran on a rock off Unhant Island, and then slid off into deep water.

The Forest Castle was of 1800 tons net, 300 feet long, 43 feet beam and 23 feet in depth. She was built at Sunderland, England, in 1888 and owned by the Forest Oak Steamship Company, Limited, of Newcastle, England.

Fire Marshalls Needed to Combat "Bugs"

Columbus, Ohio. Feb. 13.—W. S. Rogers, fire marshal for the State of Ohio, and secretary of the State Fire Marshals' Association of America, today issued his annual report, in which he emphasizes the necessity of state or provincial fire marshals, if incendiarism is to be successfully combated.

"The need of a fire marshal to the securing of evidence in cases of incendiarism is shown," the report says, "by the fact that in the last two and a half years the number of convictions for incendiarism in Ohio has exceeded that for the hundred years preceding the creation of the fire marshal's department. The number of incendiary fires in Ohio, which is the most populous state having a fire marshal, was in 1901, in 1902, 222; in 1903, 190; in 1904, 168; in 1905, 97 in 1906, 134; in 1907, 126, and in 1908, 109.

"From Texas, where an effort is making to secure a fire marshal law, the secretary of the State Firemen's Association write;

"That we need a state fire marshal in Texas goes without saying, our fire losses for the past year amounting to over $7,000,000 We have fully 50 per cent. of incendiary fires, some of them so open and above board that they really defy us."

A WORK FOR SPECIALISTS.

"The necessity for a state fire marshal arises from the fact that the attention of county officers is required for so many different crimes that none of them can specialize, and specialization is necessary to great success in any field of human endeavor. The detectives of the fire marshal's office give their time exclusively to the chasing of fire-bugs. Until the creation of a special force for this purpose, court officers agreed that, perjury aside, incendiarism was the crime in which trial was most likely to result in acquittal.

Mail & Empire Bowlers Won Three Straights

The Peterborough Printers lost three straight games of bowling to the Mail & Empire League team on Saturday night. This was the return game between the two teams, and while the locals expected to make a better showing they had on a much weaker team than when in Toronto. There was a big crowd of spectators present and great interest was taken in the game. It was followed closely from the first frame until the end.

The Toronto bowlers were well pleased with the local alleys, and stated frequently that they were second to none in the Province. They are a pretty good bunch of bowlers themselves although there was only one man who touched the 200 mark. The locals were away off color and did not seem able to pull together. The last game was cut short, only six ends were played. The scores were as follows:

MAIL & EMPIRE—
Falconer	200	142	81
McDonald	151	194	101
Gerrard	115	169	48
Brunskel	176	167	79
Walker	126	138	79
Hamblin	165	143	92
	933	953	480
PETERBOROUGH—
Glover	142	134	69
McRae	129	161	72
Craig	143	121	68
Lasheur	144	127	75
Cairns	191	150	102
Handley	119	98	70
	868	791	457

Educational Sunday in the Methodist Churches

Yesterday was Educational Sunday in the Methodist churches in this city. It was the anniversary of the educational movement here and Rev. J. W. Graham, D.D., secretary of the Methodist Church with headquarters at Victoria College, Toronto, and Prof. Bowles of Victoria College, Toronto, occupied the pulpits of the George street and Charlotte street churches. Rev. M. Graham was at George street in the morning, and at Charlotte street in the evening. Prof. Bowles was at Charlotte street in the morning and George street at night.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Graham was greeted by a very large congregation and he delivered an excellent discourse on the educational work of the church. His theme was the higher education of young men for the ministry and he demonstrated to the congregation the advisability of giving the students a better education. It was in fact a necessity in the twentieth century as ministers today in nearly every congregation were preaching to many college graduates, and in order to maintain their position as leaders among men they must themselves be men of culture.

The reverend gentlemen also touched upon the new scheme adopted by the Church for educating the students. The old plan of making a loan to the poor (financially) students has been discarded and instead the young men are given some line of work to do whereby they can earn money to put themselves through college. This costs the Methodist Church a little more, but it gave much better results, as the young men put a higher value upon their education. The speaker stated that he admired young men who would go out selling mining stock or other things (so long as it was legitimate) and thus earned their schooling. The new principle also teaches economy, self denial and many other good characteristics necessary.

The contributions from the two churches last year were just double what they were the year previous, and the speaker hoped for even better things in the future. The financial reports were distributed in the pews as were also envelopes for further contributions between now and April 1st, the end of the educational year.

Mr. G. W. Morrow is secretary of the movement in Peterborough, and all donations will be placed in his hands.

Five Firemen Dead Others are Missing

Milwaukee, Wm., Feb. 13. — Two companies of firemen who were fighting a fire today fell into a lower floor when the roof collapsed.

Five of the firemen are dead, a number of others are still missing.

The fire followed an explosion of oil on the second floor of the plant of the H. W. Johns-Manville C., markers of pipe and boiler covering at 225 Clybourn street. The stock of the Charles F. Nelson Co., manufacturers of pianos and organs, situated near the Johns-Manville building, was badly damaged, to the extent of $40,000. The Johns-Manville loss is $200,000; fully insured.

One employe of the Johns-Manville Co., was fatally burned.

Murder Trial Becomes a Great Political Battle on Prohibition Issue

After Twenty-Five Days, Jury in Carmack Tragedy is Chosen from Among Two Thousand Talesmen, and Hearing of Evidence will Begin on Tuesday

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—The state today announced that it was satisfied with the jury selected to try Colonel Duncan, M. Cooper, his son, Robin J. Cooper, and John D. Sharp, on the charge of killing former United States Senator E. W. Carmack. The case was adjourned to Tuesday, when the taking of testimony will be given. It required twenty-five days to select a jury and 2000 talesmen were summoned in four sections of 500 each, before the twelve good men and true were found.

Colonel Duncan M. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John Sharp, formerly sheriff, are charged with the murder by shooting on the street of Edward J. Carmack, who represented his state six years in the United States Senate.

The trial is more than a battle for the forfeit of saving or life. In the background is a great political play wherein the characters clash and tense feelings are at odds. In his second inaugural address Gov. M. R. Patterson referred to the tragedy in the following words;

"Our state is passing through the shadows. Her people are divided. We have fallen into the habit of distrust, suspicion and accusation."

GOVERNOR IS INVOLVED.

Governor Patterson, has been charged by implication, if not directly, with using the influence of his great office to throw the shield of protection about the men held for the slaying of Senator Carmack. With tears in his eyes he has resented the charge as cruel and has challenged investigation, declaring he should be impeached and set down from his high place in disgrace if there be any justice in the accusation.

"To the people alone," he said, "I am responsible. Their justice in this evil hour in the anchor of hope, the refuge from danger, the burnished shield which turns the pointed arrows from their mark."

By common consent it is agreed that state-wide prohibition would not have been brought about at this time if Senator Carmack, its most conspicuous champion, had not fallen victim to the bullets of a man who had opposed him and his cause. As a candidate for governor he had stood at the primaries on the platform of prohibition. He was clearly defeated on the face of the returns by Governor Patterson. The Democratic platform on which the governor was elected to succeed himself declared against state-wide prohibition and in favor of local self-government on the liquor question. With that as the leading issue he was elected. It seemed clear enough, as politics goes, that the legislature would refuse to pass the bill demanded by the Anti-Saloon League. It took exactly the opposite stand, and did so emphatically.

It was the slaying of Senator Carmack that brought this unexpected climax to the bitterest fight the state had ever known. On Jan. 12 the senate passed by 20 to 13 a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor within four miles of any schoolhouse in the state. The next day the house endorsed the same bill, 62 to 36, the so-called "State-wide" Democrats joining with the Republicans in repudiating the Democratic platform.

Governor Patterson vetoed the bill, and with more positiveness than before each house voted to place it on the statute books, where it stands today, effective July 1 next. Governor Patterson gave as his reason for blue-penciling the measure that it was hostile to the doctrine of self-

(Continued on page four.)

To Abolish the Lords?

Plymouth, Feb. 13.—Mr. Pease, the chief Liberal whip in the House of Commons, in a speech here last night, announced that the government would appeal to the county "before many months" for a mandate to abolish the veto of the House of Lords.

Provincial Elections in Alberta About May 1st

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Western Liberals here look for the provincial elections in Alberta to take place about the first of May, or perhaps in April.

A number of them have been appealed to by Duncan Marshall of Edmonton, Liberal organizer, to go west and help in the fight, but they are not inclined to do so, believing that Premier Rutherford has nothing to fear as to the result.

However, Ottawa, is going to help a little. Hon. Frank Oliver is dealing generously with the homestead settlers, while it is expected that some aid will be promised to the chilled beef industry, an important one in Alberta, and assurance will be given that there will be ample protection to the live stock business in the way of favorable rates to Fort Churchill, the terminus of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway.

Many Canadians were in the Fight

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Thousands of ardent Americans last night listened to the fervid oratory of J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, as he explained Canadian admiration for Lincoln.

"I, too," he said, "a citizen of Canada, give place to no man among you in reverence for the name of Lincoln, event though I am of the breed and bear the name of my grant-grandside, a clansman in the 84th Highland Regiment, who fought under Cornwallis in Virginia for King George.

A relation of the facts connected with the abolition of slavery in Canada followed, when in 1793 the Dominion became the freeman's sanctuary. More than 40,000 slaves in latter times found refuge on Canadian soil, and Mr. Macdonald's ample and eloquent story of the "underground railway" closed with the reflection that "Canada never would have had the negro or a negro problem had it not been for slavery. The solid body of Canadian opinion opposed to slavery during the secession struggle, Mr. Macdonald attributed to the influence of Mr. George Brown, then editor of the Globe.

"In a book by a professor of Harvard University, published only a few months ago," said Mr. Macdonald, "I read the statement that 'feeling in the United States was greatly incensed because of the sympathy of Canada with the South in the Civil War.' My comment on that statement is that more than 40,000 Canadian fought in the armies of the North, and 16,000 of them died for the Union cause. They were in the Army of Potomac, in the Army of the James, in the Army of the Cumberland, in the Army of the Tennessee, and in the Army of the Rio Grande. They were with Thomas at Chickamauga. They were with Custer in the West. They were with Meade at Gettysburg. They went through the Shenandoah with Sheridan. They marched with Sherman to the sea. On every great battlefield between the Mississippi and the Potomac the sons of Canada stood shoulders together with the men of the Union. They languished in the Libby prison. They died in the Andersonville camp. They sowered your Lincoln's call. They followed your Stars-and-Stripes; they died for your country's honor; but, in death and in life, the flag of their hearts was the Union Jack."

Train Robbers Got the Cash

Denver, Feb. 13.—Two masked bandits held up Denver and Rio Grande train No. 4 at Military Junction between Fort Logan and Denver at 3.15 o'clock this morning, looting the mail car and registered mail. The train was due in Denver at 10.45 last night, but was running late. There is a steep grade just after leaving the Junction, and as the train reached the crest two men sprang into the glare of the headlight. One ran rapidly towards the engine and climbed into the cab. He had a gun in each hand and quickly had the fireman and engineer under subjection.

As soon as the train was stopped the other bandit ran to the mail car and hammered on the door. During this time both men were shooting rapidly along the side of the train to intimidate the passengers and train crew. It is estimated that they fired at least fifty shots.

The bandit in the engine cab forced the engineer and fireman to accompany him, and, while one of the bandits stood guard over the engineer the other one compelled the fireman to enter the mail car and point out the registered mail.

Then marching the engine crew back to the engine they ordered them to proceed at full speed to Denver, threatening to shoot if not immediately obeyed. The robbers fled towards Fort Logan, and the train ran to the nearest telegraph office, where the robbery was reported. Chief of Police Armstrong ordered out the police automobile, and with a squad of officers started in pursuit.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "all gone" or "faint" or "empty" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or fully than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and accredited by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine of known composition.

Catarrh

THE MOTHER OF CONSUMPTION.

How this dread disease may be prevented and cured—the opinions of people who have been cured by

CATARRHOZONE.

Catarrh is very often spoken of as the mother of consumption, because when unchecked it extends from its place of beginning to the bronchial tubes then deeper and deeper, till finally the disease becomes consumption of the lungs.

The safest and best remedy for any form of Catarrh is Catarrhozone. It is inhaled, to all parts of the breathing organs, kills the disease, and drives it completely out of the system.

Mrs. Mary J. Whitney, of Clay street, Topeka, Kansas, was cured of Nasal Catarrh after twenty years' suffering by Catarrhozone. She says;

"I owe to Catarrhozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of Catarrh of the most disagreeable kind after doctors without number had pronounced my case incurable. My breath is pure and my respiration regular, and I do not cough any more since using Catarrhozone. It has cured me perfectly."

Another case of Chronic Catarrh that was cured quickly by Catarrhozone is that of Mr. G. I. Luce, of 1,700 Navasota street, Austin, Texas. Mr. Luce says;

"I tried for four years to get rid of Nasal Catarrh, used salt douches, atomizers, tablets, stomach medicines, etc., but they didn't much good.

"Then I tried Catarrhozone, and received relief in a few hours. It cured in a week, so that I never had a recurrence of my former trouble."

Miss Winer, who resides on May street in Hartford, Conn., was cured of throat trouble by Catarrhozone, and speaks of her recovery in the following words;—

"Repeated colds finally resulted in a Catarrhal condition from which I suffered more or less every spring and fall. Catarrhozone was the only remedy that relieved and cured me. I recommended it."

No treatment is so good for Catarrhal affections and Bronchitis as Catarrhozone. Its success is quite unequalled in the history of medicine. It will cure you quickly and surely, and is well worth a trial. Two months' treatment guaranteed to sure, price $1.00; small size 50c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy it today.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors.

Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1909.

IMPERIAL ARMY SCHEME

Hon. Mr. Haldane, Secretary for War in the British Government, in speaking at a military dinner in London, announced that negotiations are under way with the self-governing colonies looking to the creation of an army that is intended to be Imperial rather than merely British.

The Standard of Empirely recently outlined in some detail a scheme that is apparently similar to the one to which Mr. Haldane referred. The plan, as described by the Standard, provided for an army made up of British, Canadian, Australian, East Indian, and other contingents with the command centered in London. The idea was that these several contingents should be treated as parts of a whole, and be under obligation to move to anypoint at which Imperial interests might seem to be threatened. Under this arrangement Canadian troops forming part of the Imperial army would, by command from London, and without of necessity obtaining the consent of the Dominion Parliament, be subject to call for service in Egypt, in India, or possibly on the continent of Europe.

This is the policy to which Jingo Imperialists are seeking to commit this country. It is scarcely the sort of policy which those who look upon the Empire as a league of peace rather than as a league of war are likely to approve.

DEALINGS WITH VETERANS

A broader question than that involved in land grants for veterans is brought to the front by the resolve which have from time to time been made for compensation to those who served in one or other of the Fenian raids or in the South African war.

The question is as to the wisdom or justice of giving special compensation, aside from the ordinary pay and allowance during service, to all those who have served in the field in the past or may serve in this way in future. That liberal pensions should be provided for those who sustain permanent disability during operations in the field, as well as for the dependents of those whose lives are lost, goes without saying. But, where no permanent injury is sustained, are special rewards in the form of land grants or cash called for?

We have seen by the experience of the United States how easy it is to go to extremes in such cases, and how difficult it is to close a door of this kind when once opened. In the current year, forty years after the end of the one serious war in which the country has engaged in the last hundred years, the United States will pay out over $160,000,000 in war pensions, and all the pensions paid in the past on account of the civil war reach the stupendous aggregate of three and a half billions. Even in this country we have not been without an experience of the same kind. With one party bidding against the other for the veteran vote, both in the Ontario Legislature and in the Federal Parliament, we have already got ourselves into a tangle over land grants, and a worse entanglement would have been created had it not been for the vigorous protests entered by New Ontario and the Western Provinces which contain the only land from which grants can be made.

For the disabled and dependents of the fallen liberal provision should be made, but there does not seem to be any good reason why special reward should be given to those who have not been permanently injured in the performance of a duty that is one of the obligation of citizenship. We are in danger of cheapening patriotism and creating financial and other burdens for which there is no justification.

IMMIGRATION

The report of the commissioner-general for the United States, in the Immigration Department, will interest Canadians.

Immigration into the United States for the year ended June 30, 1908, showed a greater falling off in the number of arrivals than was generally expected, the total being 782,870, as compared with 1,285,349 for the preceding twelve months. Concurrent with this decrease was a decided increase in the outward movement of emigrant aliens, of whom 395,073 returned to their former homes. Thus the net increase of the population of the republic was but 387,797.

The cause of the slump in immigration was the financial flurry of the fall of 1907 and the subsequent lessening of industrial activity.

Austria-Hungary contributed liberally last year to swell the population of the United States, 165,509 immigrants coming from that country, as compared with 156,711 from Russia and Finland, 123,503 from Italy, and 93,510 from the United Kingdom. The decreases as compared with 1906-1907 were: Austria-Hungary, 160,963; Italy, 157,238; Russia and Finland, 102,-283, and the United Kingdom, 30,157.

As regards the immigrants themselves, the figures show decrease as compared with 1906-7 of 160,963 from Austria-Hungary, 157,238 from Russia and Finland, and 30,157 from Great Britain. An increase of 13,582 is noted from Canada and Newfoundland. The numbers arriving from the more important countries during the fiscal year were:—

Austria-Hungary	168,569
Russia and Finland	156,711
Italy	123,503
Great Britain and Ireland ...	93,320
British North America	38,510

A feature of interest is that while the United States is getting most of its immigration from Eastern and Southern Europe, the bulk of the immigration into Canada comes from across the line and from the United Kingdom. In fact, we are getting the pick.

The Americans, like ourselves, are becoming increasingly particular relative to the importation of undesirables. During the year, 1,800 persons were excluded, which is about 1.1 per cent. of the admissions, and with the care now taken it is thought that the newly-arrived immigrants, instead of being a public menace, are probably the healthiest class in the country.

If you would have a safe, yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

THE RING

Charlie Kaiser, who wrestles Gene Hurtubise here on the 15th, has had a great season since he defeated the Peterborough grappler in Hamilton, and has been winning all his matches. His most try battle was with War Eagle, at Auburn, N.Y., mention of which was made in The Times at the time of the match. He won two bouts last week and expects to put away Hurtubise in his match in his usual triumphant fashion. Gene is in fine fettle for the match, and will be able to offer a much stiffer opposition to the American than he did in Hamilton, where he was handicapped and weakened by colds and it will keep Kaiser working mighty hard and fast to throw him twice in the hour.

One of the most interesting of the preliminaries will be a six round go between George Lillie of Peterborough, and Bobby Chandler of Toronto, the 115 pound champion.

Weak Women

[illegible]

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure

"ALL DEALERS"

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FRUITS OF QUEENSLAND.

Coffee and Bananas Are Two of the Biggest Crops.

The Beachcomber of Dunk Island, North Queensland, thus describes coffee growing in his book "The Confessions of a Beachcomber": In the case of coffee a plentiful supply of cheap labor is essential to success. Those who by judicious treatment of the aboriginals command their services have so far made a profit. A coffee plantation suggests pleasant, picturesque, and spicy things. The orderly lines of the plants, in glossy green adorned for a brief space with white, frail, fugitive flowers distilling a deliciously sweet and grateful odor, the branches crowded with gleaming berries, green, pink, and red, present a pleasing aspect. As a change to the scene of the jungle a coffee estate has a garden-like relief. But picking berry by berry is slow and monotonous work, vexatious, too, to those mortals whose skin is sensitive to the attack of green ants. Then come the various processes of the removal of the pulp, first by machinery, finally by the fermentation of the still adhering slimy residuum; then the drying and saving by exposure to the sun on trays or tarpaulins until all moisture is expelled, and the hulling which disintegrates the parchment from the twin berries; then winnowing, and finally the polishing.

Do drinkers of the fragrant and exhilarating beverage realise the amount of labor and care involved before the crop is taken off and preserved from deterioration and decay? A few berries that may have become mildewed during the slow, tedious and anxious process of drying in the sun may violate the delicate flavor and aroma which the grower has been at pains to secure and fix. No one need starve or pine for lack of wholesome, appetizing, and nutritious food while the banana grows as it does in North Queensland, and, common as it is, the banana is one of the curiosities of the vegetable world. One writer says: "It is not a tree, a palm, a bush, a vegetable, nor a herb; it is simply a herbaceous plant with the stature of tree, and is perennial." He adds that the fruit contains no seed, though he qualifies the latter statement by remarking that he had heard of fully-developed seeds occasionally appearing in the cultivated fruit "when left to ripen on the tree," and further that wild varieties of the banana which propagate themselves by seed are reported to be found in some parts of Eastern Asia.

In the most popular of the cultivated varieties, the far-famed Musa Cavendishii, there is little of graceful form save the broad leaves mottled with brown. All the vitality of the plant is expended in astonishing results. A comparatively lowly plant, its productions in suitable soil are prodigious. In nine or ten months after the planting of the rhizome it bears under favorable conditions a bunch weighing as much as 120 pounds to 160 pounds, and comprising as many as 48 dozen individual bananas. So great is the weight that to prevent the downfall of the plant a stake sharpened at each end—one to stick into the ground, and the other into the soft stem—is needed to buttress it. Before the fruit has fully developed other shoots have appeared; but each plant bears but one bunch, and when that is removed the plant is decapitated and slowly decays, and the second and third and fourth shoots from the rhizome successively arrive at the bearing stage, and are permitted to mature each its bunch, and then succeed to suffer immediate decapitation.

Fascination of the Footlights.

An illustration of the fascination which the footlights exercise over lifelong votaries is furnished by the return to the stage of Miss Dolores Drummond, who, in February, will celebrate her 73rd birthday. Some little time ago Miss Drummond retired after completing fifty-two years of active stage career, but when, recently, she was asked by Miss Millard to play a small part in the revival of "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," she could not resist saying "Yes." Miss Drummond, the granddaughter of an R.A., emigrated to Australia with her mother, a miniature painter, in 1853, and first appeared on the stage when she was eighteen. She supported a "walk on" part in an old iron theatre in Melbourne. The play was "Timour the Tartar," and Miss Drummond was a "beautiful slave," who was sold in the market-place. Later, at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, where "Hamlet" was being staged, the leading lady fell suddenly ill, and Miss Drummond, on invitation straightway took the part, achieving great success. Since then she has played all sorts of parts with all sorts of actors. The veteran actress' first memorable part as a leading lady was with the great Irish tragedian, G. V. Brooke, who was drowned in "The London" while traveling from England to the colonies.

The Resemblance.

A promising young merchant recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp as a birthday gift. He was much flattered when she told him to give it his name until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, carries a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when only half full, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime and is bound to smoke."

Tyrannical Paris Landlords.

Landlords of modern tenements in Paris are to be counted among the enemies of France, as agents of depopulation. Several proprietors require that any tenant who has as many as three children under the age of ten must leave immediately. They prefer dogs to babies, and, owing to this cruel edict, a working man with five small children was the recently surprised by thirty concierges.

Return from Conviction

Messrs. Robert Lesty and William Collins have returned from the convictions of "Tom and Bobbidiken," both having been appointed to offices on the Provincial Board. Mr. Lesty was appointed a member of the Executive Committee and Mr. Collins was elected one of the two auditors. The Peterborough Association was represented by Messrs. F. Birdsall, president; Ed. Hawthorne, vice-president; and John E. Roxburgh, Hon. J. S. Duff presided. Rev. Father T. J. Crowley of North Bay, was present as a representative of the association of North Bay. Many important questions were considered, but not a word was said about horse racing. Mr. Roxborough read a paper on changing constitution to fair.

GREAT LABOUR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, shapest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china.

Call and see it in operation at the

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy" That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

Missionary Offerings of this District

The Port Hope Guide says:—On Sunday, Feb. 14th, the Rev. W. J. Crothers, D.D., of St. Catharines, will preach missionary sermons in the Port Hope Methodist church, both morning and evening. Dr. Crothers has filled some of the leading pulpits of this conference at Napanee, Belleville, (Bridge street), and Peterborough (George street). He is now stationed in one of the leading churches of the Hamilton conference at St. Catharines. His many friends here will be delighted to greet him and hear him again.

Last year of the givings of individual churches in this Bay conference to missions, home and foreign, Port Hope Methodist church stood fourth. Belleville Bridge street gave $1,429. Lindsay Cambridge street gave $1,337. Peterborough George street gave $1,161, and Port Hope gave $801. Of the givings by towns Port Hope stands sixth. Peterborough as a city with three church gave $2,168, an increase of $488. Belleville three churches gave $2,046 an increase of $357. Lindsay two churches, gave $1,463, increase $371. Napanee, two churches gave $1,232, increase $30. Picton two churches gave $947, increase $206. Port Hope gave $801, increase $143.

The amount given by Port Hope Methodist church last year is of a gratifying one, indicating as it does an increase of 22 per cent. But the Port Hope Methodism is to do its share with other leading towns of our conference, it will call forth our best efforts.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

cannot be more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you could get the best possible drink for [illegible]

[illegible] Bushels Barley wanted highest price paid at Brewery for [illegible] Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.

Limited

PATENTS

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. The land also to be cultivated must be entered for as a homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above duties while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION

TORONTO AND RETURN $2.80 FROM PETERBORO

Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 23

Return limit Feb. 25. Apply to

W. McILROY,

C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B and Halifax.

Fridays MaritimeExpress

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office
130 St James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30 From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from

W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT

DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 7
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passenger, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

15,500 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,

118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cot. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the line of wedding presents at sacrifice prices. Jewelry, cuts of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

BANKS

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

THE Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David MacLaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets.. 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Denniston. F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 370 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Information names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:

Peterboro Hardware Co

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729

William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a needlework magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 50 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY.

SUCCESSORS TO

Drs. Kennedy & Kergan

SPECIAL NOTICE. Owing to Dr. Kergan being deceased, Dr. J. D. Kennedy, has associated with him Dr. Kennedy Jr., who has been with the firm for several years, so business will continued under the name of Drs. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms coming on beware it is not too late. Are you nervous, have weak, despondent fears, specks before the eyes, weak back or kidneys, dreams, great loss, a thirsty feeling, palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreams and losses, night emissions, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, bodily decay, nervous exhaustion, poor memory, blotches, distrustful, lack energy and strength, lost ambition, restless nights, changeable moods, weak manhood, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat etc.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most dreaded and most cursed diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and unless entirely eradicated from the system may affect the future generations. Beware of Mercury. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT Made one man every week, and makes many you. Under this treatment Syphilis, Serofula, the blood disorders are cleansed, blotches, and ulcers disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the mental, physical, and vital systems are invigorated; all dire consequences many vital seeds from the system. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

READER No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (Illustrated)

Question List for Home Treatment Sent on Request.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY.

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St. - DETROIT, MICH

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided Into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont, Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritchie Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bieom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 668, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1668, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 163 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 60 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 26th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. Levesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties in consideration of 250,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 200,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $600; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 2000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 26th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Map le Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

—THE—

CORPORATE EXECUTO

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—THE—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are [illegible] in the Province

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

To be had at all first-class dealers

At Once

Bend sleighs at first rather than pay any sleighs over. See our big boys' coasting sleighs at $3 and $3 coasting girls' sleigh at $2c and the "fast mail" with railing all around for only $1. Times Bookstore, hunter opposite post office.

Articles for Sale

Waltz Sewing Machine with cabinet in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to R. G. Smith Water street, opposite Bridge.

SOME POSTAL FIGURES

WHAT THE POSTOFFICE COSTS CANADA EACH YEAR.

A Dollar For Each Man, Woman and Child is the Amount Required For Its Maintenance — Fortune Alone For Repairing Bags and Locks—What Finds Its Way to the Dead Letter Office.

The vastness of the service, when considered as a whole, really astonishes one, and the effect of looking into the matter is a better understanding of the size and importance of our country, and of the progress it is making.

What does this daily service, with its many and wide ramifications, cost the public a year? The report of the Postmaster-General answers that to the last cent. During the last fiscal year the people of Canada paid for their postal service the sum of $6,-552,9—a large sum when looked at in its total and yet averaging about only one dollar for each man, woman and child of our population. The salaries of employes in the service, amounting to a little more than two million dollars, form the largest charge in the account. Then comes the charge of $1,677,262 for conveyance of mails by railways, $1,341,979 for conveyance by other means by land, followed by a number of miscellaneous items, such as $64,694 for making and repairing mail bags and locks.

Large as was the expenditure the revenue, fortunately for the Federal treasury, was considerably larger. It amounted to $7,107,786, thus giving a surplus of $1,101,826, although the service had been considerably extended during the year.

The extent of the service performed is best indicated in a condensed form by the amount of postal matter handled. During the year 11,823 postoffices were in operation throughout the Dominion, and at these offices there were posted 541,717,045 letters and other articles of mail matter. In letters alone there was an increase of nearly thirty-two millions, and 446 new postoffices were opened.

During the year 656 miles of additional railways were utilised for mail purposes, making a total track mileage over which mails were carried of 21,474. Of course, the miles over which mails were carried throughout the year over those miles of railways would be enormous. The mileage on the stage routes covered by the mails coming and going to and from points not reached by railways amounted to 17,103,214 miles. The mail service by water covered a mileage of 2,010,151 miles, that is, mails were carried by boats that number of miles throughout the year, the greater part of this service being performed in British Columbia.

During the year the huge sum of fifty-five and a half million dollars were transmitted through the postoffice by means of money orders and postal notes.

The Department, through its savings banks, carried on a large business. At the end of the year the depositors numbered 165,691, and their deposits amounted to $47,564,264, an increase of over one hundred thousand dollars during the year.

The portion of the report relating to the dead letter branch of the service contains some interesting statistics. Apart from showing the success of the postoffice in delivering mail, matter incorrectly addressed, or addressed to people without permanent residences, the returns give an insight into the varied and at times surprising classes of articles sent through the mails. In all 55,725 pieces of mail matter reached the dead letter office during the year, and all but 2,446 pieces were forwarded or otherwise disposed of. The wide range covered by the articles contained in these letters and packages marked "dead" is certainly surprising, and often amusing. It seems that the postoffice is called upon to carry about everything one can pass through the posting wicket of a postoffice, or get into the mail-bag of a postal route. The list of articles is a long one, but mention of a few picked here and there from the list will give an idea of the nature of the whole.

Two of these dead letters, contained warrants, and as both reached their destinations it is likely that the persons for whom they were intended to cause trouble were brought to justice. Thirty-three aprons went astray, but all except three were finally delivered, and the same fortunate ending came to the wanderings of two packages of apple jelly, two packages of bears' claws, seven "teddy" bears, one of blueberries, twelve wedding-cakes, twelve marriage certificates, and one package of cheese. Thirty parcels containing cigars went to the dead letter office, but only twenty-six of them reached the smokers for whom they were intended, one package contained diamonds, and finally it reached the person to whom addressed, and the same was the case with respect to one ostrich feather, one fly-trap, two hair switches, three marriage licenses, and two parcels of marmalade. The office received 128 packages of medicine and 148 pairs of moccasins, 622 photographs, 85 pipes, 123 purses, 124 watches, and a large quantity of jewelry, 16 suits of clothes, and 22 summons. Unfortunately for the debtors 16 of the latter were delivered. Fifteen sets of artificial teeth went to the office, and all except one were forwarded to the persons in need of the same.

A new item of expenditure will appear in the accounts for the current year, and that will be the cost of the free rural delivery inaugurated in a few districts in Southwestern Ontario during the progress of the electoral campaign of last autumn. If that service is considerably extended during the year it is doubtful if a surplus can be shown at the end of the year for free rural delivery, advantageous and even necessary as it undoubtedly is. However, the rural population are entitled to it as soon as the country can afford to meet the cost.

Threshing Machines with stiddard is quickly and safely opened by Pyramidon. Those Who Chew Cold Cure Tablets should always be on hand for prevention in all-important. Pyramidon contains no sickening harsh nor disagreeable. They are labled, "Pyramidon Tablets". Clothed in pocket or purse. Pyramidon are a positive safeguard against Colds. Sold by all dealers.

NO NEED OF TAKING COLD

COLDS CAN BE PREVENTED. SOME FACTS REGARDING THE DISEASE.

Cold Water, Intelligently Used, Proper Diet, Exercise and Common Sense Are the Preventives.

Habitual colds are due to an ill kept skin on the outside and dyspeptic mucous membrane on the inside, the result of indigestion, coupled with carelessness. Cold water, proper food and common sense are the foundations upon which a preventive must rest. A cold sponge bath, one to three minutes long before breakfast, with a brisk dry rub, is excellent—usually all that is necessary to keep the cutaneous circulation alive and the skin reactive to sudden changes of temperature.

For those unaccustomed to cold water, tolerance can be gained in three weeks' time by the use of water at any comfortable temperature, making it one degree colder each day, until it can be employed without dread as cold as it will run. Sea salt may be added to the water for its stimulating effect.

Cold water intelligently used does not steal vitality, but fosters it. It stimulates the nerves that control the expansion and contraction of the blood vessels and regulates the cutaneous circulation.

One should "keep moving" when wet or chilly and not stand on a street corner or elsewhere without taking a deep breath. The lungs used in this way act as a pump to drive the blood along. This practice, with the others named, will reduce to a shadow the liability of taking cold every little while.

If you should contract a cold, get rid of it as quickly as possible, for every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, and paves the way for more serious diseases. This is best accomplished by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a preparation that can always be depended upon, and that not only cures the cold but counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

Cheering.

A nervous young minister, in visiting a remote village, had an unpleasant experience. The old lady at whose house he stayed, in showing him to his room, said:

"It ain't anybody I'd put in this room. This here room is full of sacred associations to me," she went on. "My first husband died in that bed with his head on these pillows, and poor Mr. Jenks died sitting in that corner. Sometimes when I come into the room in the dark I think I see him sitting there still. My own father died layin' right on that lounge right under the window there. Poor pa, he was a spiritualist, and he allus said he'd appear in this room after he died, and sometimes I am foolish enough to look for him. If you should see anything of him to-night, you'd better not tell me. It'd be a sign to me that there was something in spiritualism, and I'd hate to think that. My son by my first man fell dead of heart disease right where you stand. He was a doctor, and there's two whole skeletons in that closet there belonged to him, and half-a-dozen skulls in that lower drawer. If you are up early, and want something to amuse yourself with before breakfast, just open that cupboard there, and you will find a lot of dead men's bones. My poor boy thought a lot of them. Well, good night, and pleasant dreams."

Nine Years' Solitary Confinement.

The Earl of Lauderdale, who has celebrated his 68th birthday, is the hereditary Standard Bearer of Scotland. At the King's Coronation the Standard was borne by Mr. Henry Scrymgeour Wedderburn, of Birkhill, Fife, to whom the Court of Claims decided that the office belonged. The decision of the court was challenged by Lord Lauderdale, who contended he was rightfully the Standard Bearer, the office having been granted by Charles II. to his ancestor, Charles Maitland, of Hatton, afterwards Earl of Lauderdale, and the Court of Sessions in Edinburgh decided in his favor. The family of Maitland have been seated at Thirlstane Castle for six centuries. The most distinguished Lord Lauderdale's ancestors was the second earl, who, as a devoted servant of Charles II., was persecuted by the Covenanters, and at the battle of Worcester was taken prisoner and confined in the Tower for nine years. When he was released, in 1660, honors were heaped upon him. He was made Prime Minister and given various high offices the other side the Tweed. Lord Lauderdale owns about 25,000 acres, and his heir is Viscount Maitland, now 40 years of age.

Polygamy In Africa.

The Geographical Journal of London, in an article on the marital relations among the people of Nigria, says: "Polygamy is the rule, the reason given being that it is impossible for one woman to do all the work of the house, look after the children, prepare and cook the food, fetch the daily supply of water (often an arduous job), cultivate the plantation and go to market. The African is an exceedingly hungry person. It is the custom to eat several times a day when at home, and the men spend most of their day sitting in the palaver house, or market place, while the women bring the food all day long. One wife could not possibly do this. Besides, the African lady encourages it, for she says: "The more wives the less work"."

Magician Who Cures Toothache.

Hundreds of sufferers from toothache at St. Petersburg, rich and poor alike, besiege the house of a doorkeeper named Lazaroff, who is widely believed to have magical powers to charm away the pain. Lazaroff claims to have inherited his powers from an uncle. His methods consist in the repetition of a prayer and the gift to each sufferer of a sheet of paper to lay against the ache. He accepts no fee for his cures.

Horses Supplied With Sugar.

Every army horse in Argentine receives with its regular supply of food two ounces of sugar. The sugar is intended to increase the animal's power of endurance.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

LORD DUDLEY BOYCOTTED.

Australia's Governor-General Has Fallen Foul of the Consuls.

Lord Dudley, the new Governor-General of Australia, is at loggerheads with the foreign consuls-general in that great dependency. In fact, the foreign consuls have inaugurated a social boycott of the earl, which is likely to injure no one but themselves. For inasmuch as Lord and Lady Dudley are by virtue of their official rank, their wealth, and their great personal popularity, the hub of all social life in Australia, the refusal of the consuls to meet the Governor-General merely has the effect of their cutting themselves off from intercourse with all those people who constitute the best and most agreeable classes of the community.

Through the good nature, ignorance of official etiquette, and indifference of former governors of the various antipodean colonies, before Australia was transformed into a huge commonwealth, subject to the sway of a Governor-General, the consuls and consul-general were permitted to gradually usurp diplomatic prerogatives, and status, until they have grown to look upon themselves as not mere consular officials to whom exequaturs had been granted to enable them to fulfill certain clerical duties in connection with the promotion of the trade and the clearing of the shipping of their respective countries, but as full-fledged envoys accredited as diplomatic representatives of their Government to the chief executive of the Commonwealth. They put forward, and by degrees secured, prerogatives that a minister plenipotentiary, or even an ambassador, would hesitate to demand, and were constantly squabbling, both among themselves and with the federal and state officials, about silly questions of precedence.

Lord Dudley, having heard about this before sailing for Australia, took counsel with the Colonial Department and the Foreign Office in London, and as a result thereof intimated quietly on his arrival in Australia as Governor-General that he did not propose to continue to accord to the consuls any exceptional privileges or to recognize in them envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of their respective countries.

International law and treaties unite in declaring foreign consuls have no special privileges beyond other foreigners, and are thus subject to the laws, civil and criminal, of the country in which they reside.

The Snake Eradicater.

When a native in India thinks there are snakes in his house, he sends for the "charmer" to remove them. He arrives with an assistant, a crowd of natives from the neighborhood is collected, and the show begins. The audience are ranged in a semi-circle round the entrance to the dwelling, and within this ring the two performers move slowly about, playing their primitive pipes, with the object of luring the snake from his concealment.

Then one of the two men will enter the house, cautiously peer this way and that, while the onlookers watch carefully for the capture. Darting into a dark corner, he will make a grab, and, amid the cries of the delighted audience, emerge with a fine cobra held tightly by the neck.

A close examination of the snake's mouth, however, would reveal the fact that it was quite harmless. The snake is, in fact, a pet animal, carefully concealed in the first instance in the loose folds of the clothing of the "charmer," and is smartly produced at the psychological moment. The house-owner is, however, thoroughly satisfied that his house is rid of the scourge, pays the snake-charmer his fee, and the latter then makes off in search of fresh fields and pastures new, where he is sure of finding other dupes.

Sir Robert Romer as a Poet.

Although noted more for his legal erudition than his wit, Sir Robert Romer, the late Lord Justice of Appeal, who recently celebrated his 68th birthday, possesses the knack of happy retort. Some few years ago there appeared in one of the legal journals some lines addressed to "Miss Equity," in which the writer, while admiring her beauty, described her principles as weak. "The Reply of Miss Equity," written by Sir Robert Romer, was as follows:

My beauteous features you extol,
Because I plainly show them;
My principles appear but weak,
Because you do not know them.

Like the Lord Chief Justice, Sir Robert Romer has always believed in working his muscles as well as his brains. "The harder I worked at sports the better I could work at mathematics," he once said. Rowing and cricket were the pastimes in which he excelled at Cambridge, and in later years he has always made a special point of walking at least eight miles every day.

The Stage Censor.

"He has exercised his important powers unobtrusively and with considerable tact." That is the opinion generally of the theatrical profession concerning Mr. G. A. Redford, whose official position as Examiner of Plays is threatened by Mr. Robert Harcourt's bill, recently presented in the House of Commons. It is with the office, and not the man, that the stage is so wroth—so wroth, indeed, that Mr. Redford has been called the "devil's disciple." Mr. Redford was formerly a bank manager, and does not court popularity. His pet aversion is the photographer, and he also dislikes four-wheelers, since one overturned and nearly killed his wife. Her escape was little short of a miracle, for the vehicle was laden with heavy luggage, which might have fallen through and crushed her as she lay helpless and imprisoned at the bottom of the cab.

One Pipe Lasted 2 Hours, 20 Minutes.

In a smoking contest held at the Walthamstow Baths, England, recently Mr. G. Smith smoked an eighth of an ounce of shag for two hours and fifty minutes without letting his pipe go out. Four hundred men competed, and twenty-five prizes were presented by Messrs. R. and J. Hill, Limited.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Check womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS O[F]

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. E. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agents name, fees future advertisements, etc.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

LIST OF BARGAINS

SALE ON FROM JAN. 30 TO FEB. 15, 1909

View and Comic Post Cards, per dozen	.10
Valentine Comic Post Cards, per dozen	.15
Magazines, 1908 dates, to clear out at, each	.05
Novels by the best authors, are now selling at 3 for	.25
Novels, some of which are slightly shop worn, each	.05
Large Wire Post Card Racks, selling at only	.15
A big assortment of Cups and Saucers, (Royal Stafford ware), two for only	.18
Pitchers, Fern Pots, Pickle Trays and Butter Plate, only	.15
Sugar and Creams, Vases and Trays, two for	.25
Glass Water Pitchers, large glass and bisque Ornaments	.34
Biscuit Jars, with nice nickle top and handle, for only	.35

Mail Orders Filled Promptly

TIMES BOOKSTORE

HUNTER STREET :: PETERBORO

HOCKEY

A home and home series between Lakefield, the City League champions, and the Strathconas, the runners-up has been successfully arranged. The local public have seen that both these teams can play hockey of a fast order and there seems little to choose between.

The game for the city league championship was won by the drytown seven by a score of 8—6, in the most interesting game of the league and came as a big surprise to the Strathcona and their followers. The westerns of the red and white are of the opinion that they can defeat Lakefield and are confident of proving it when the teams come together. The Lakefield puck chasers have a multitude of friends and backers in the northern village, who think that they have an edge on the ex-champions on any ice.

The games are sure to prove very close and exciting and should attract exceptionally large crowds. The dates have not yet been definitely decided upon.

Mr. J. H. Smythe, proprietor of the Majestic Billiard Parlors, Water St., is in Toronto on a business trip.

A FASHION FEAST IN NEW SPRING SILKS AT TURNBULLS

Miss Welsh, the head of our Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Department, is now in the fashion centres of New York, in the interests of the customers of her department, which will open for the Spring Season, on March First.

ON MONDAY and following days we will have on display the largest and most beautiful collection of New Satins and Silks ever shown in Peterborough, direct from the best silk makers in the world. In this showing will be found all the fashion favorites; Directoire Satins. Satin Princess, Satin Duchess, Satin Frivol, Satin Mousselines, Silk Ottomans, Messalines, Chiffon Taffetas, Silk and Wool Crystal, in a color range that will gladden the heart; Toupe, London Smoke. Elephant Gray, Catawba, Rose, Wisteria, Sapphire, Peacock, Navy, Sage, Olive, Moss, Cream and White.

Do not forget the Big Fifteen Days' Sale of UNDERBOUGHT HOME FURNISHINGS
Savings of 25 to 50 Per Cent.

In connection with our Ladies' Tailoring Department we have the most perfect spotless sponging system known.

The "Cleveland" Duplex Steam Method

All goods sponged on request only 5c a yard.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts Bell 'Phone—Office 468; House 468A.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1909.

Men Wanted

Wanted men to spend spare time in remunerative employment. Apply Box 1168, Peterborough.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

Regular Monthly Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., will hold a regular monthly meeting this afternoon at 3.30. A full attendance is requested.

Service Resumed

The public services at St. James' church, which were discontinued in November, were resumed yesterday in the basement of the new building, which will be found thoroughly dry, warm and well lighted. There was a followship meeting at 10 a.m., and preaching at 11 a.m., which was followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Sabbath school was held at 2.30, and there was preaching at 7 o'clock.

Goes to Kingston

Charles Mitchell, who on Wednesday last was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the Kingston penitentiary for stealing money from post letters, was taken to the Limestone City Saturday morning in charge of Deputy Sheriff Mr. Fred Hall. Mitchell was shackled and driven to the G.T.R. station in a cab, where he took the 8.20 train for Kingston. He seemed to be in a happy state of mind and conversed freely. He told one of them to tell his wife that he was gone.

Nice Reward, Nice

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Call and see our special line of fancy valentines at the Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PERSONAL

Mr. W. Hull of Lakefield, was in the city Saturday morning.

Mr. Wm. Graham of Lakefield, was in the city Saturday.

Mrs. Russell of Brighton, is spending a week with Mrs. Richmond, Aylmer street.

Mr. Samuel Jury who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Batten left for his home in Brandon today.

Miss Lottie Batten left Saturday morning for her home in Port Carling, after a pleasant visit with her aunt, Mrs. Jos. Batten.

Messrs. McGregor and Graham, who have been stopping at the Cavanah House for the purpose of buying horses, shipped two large carloads of splendid general purpose horses on Friday to Toronto.

Mrs. M. Inkster of Underwood, Bruce County, and her niece, Miss Evelyn Cullon, are the guests of Mrs. T. A. Gilchrist, Bolivar street, en route to Dunsford, Emily Township, to pay a visit to relatives, and friends in that district.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all druggists.

Messrs. Charles Ackerman and Louis Houedry leave today for New York, from which point they will sail on Thursday by a French line of steamers for Havre, France. They will spend some time in France, after which they will sail across the Mediterranean to Egypt. They will also visit England, Ireland and Scotland. They will return to Peterborough about the first of May.

OBITUARY

MRS. WALLACE EVANS.

The death occurred Friday of Mrs. Evans, wife of Mr. Wallace Evans, Pearl avenue, after an illness of about two weeks. The deceased was well known in Peterborough and her many friends will be deeply grieved to learn of her demise, as her many good qualities had made her respected by all with whom she came into contact. She is survived by her husband and three children, while her mother, Mrs. Heffernan also is left to mourn her loss. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Church Notes

ST. ANDREW'S.

Monday—Young People's Society at 8 p.m.

Tuesday—At 3 o'clock W.F.M.S. At 8 o'clock Young Men's Guild, and a debate;—"Is local option a detriment to any community?"

Wednesday—Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock.

Friday—Boys' Guild at 7.30.

Rev. Mr. Potter's subject on Sunday evening was;—"Why the sons of Eli became the sons of Belial." The sermon pointed out that a man's surroundings does not always give assurance of his good conduct. For instance the sons of Eli were raised in the very best of surroundings, yet they turned out to be sons of worthlessness.

At the evening service Mr. Gordon Wright sang a solo, and in the morning Miss Grieve of Napanee, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Huff Gilmour sang as a solo "A Voice from Paradise."

ST PAUL'S.

Monday—Young People's Guild at 8 o'clock. The lesson will be taken from the Book of Job.

Tuesday—The Fraser Mission Band

Wednesday—Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock with a teachers' meeting afterward.

MURRAY STREET.

Monday—Young People's meeting.

Wednesday—Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock.

On Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Webb occupied the pulpit in the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church in Smith, and delivered an address on the Grande Ligne Mission in Quebec. Rev. J. R. Bonner of the Gilmour Memorial church preached in Murray street.

Piano Used

The piano used at the Printers' banquet at Jacobi Bros. on Saturday night was loaned by the City Music Co., 326 George street, of which Mr. W. B. Rose is the representative.

Chimney Fire

The fire department had a run to 171 Rubidge street, the house of Mr. John Green, on Saturday afternoon to extinguish a chimney fire. The alarm was sent in by a passerby, from box 17, and when the firemen arrived the occupants received their first intimation that they were in danger. No damage, however, resulted.

Splendid Sermon

The congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was treated to a splendid sermon on Sunday night on the following text;—"He that walketh righteously and speaketh uprightly. He that despiseth the gain of oppression that shaketh his hands from taking bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil." Rev. Mr. Pogue's address was exceptionally interesting and will appear in full in tomorrow's issue.

BOWLING

The following is the schedule of games in the bowling league for this week;—

Pacifics vs. Belmonts.
Frontenacs vs. Examiner A.
Midgets vs. Lock Works.
Examiner B. vs. Bams.
Bankers vs. Greys
Iroquois vs. B.A.C.

NO GRAFT IN PANAMA.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 13.—In his speech at the banquet a la Creole given in his honor here last night, President-elect Taft regretted what he termed as unfounded criticism of the canal work.

"With a full understanding of the words I utter," he said, "I wish to say, and to challenge any evidence to the contrary, that the money which has been expended on that canal, every dollar and every cent of it have been expended in the interest of the government, and not one dollar has been traced to graft in any way."

Murder Trial

(Continued from page 1.)

government, that it set aside the record will of the people, that it would destroy property, impair state revenues, increase the burdens of taxation and undermine the public morals by making the people evasive, deceitful and hypocritical.

Answering this attitude, the legislature promptly put a clincher on the cause of prohibition by passing a bill forbidding the manufacture of intoxicants in the state after the first of next January. Governor Patterson vetoed this measure within the past fortnight and the legislature again overrules him.

A BITTER STRUGGLE.

Rarely has there been such wild demonstrations of victory in the historic state house as greeted the passage of these bills. The second measure was adopted after the work of selecting a jury in the murder trial had begun. The friends of prohibition over the state especially manifested their delight vociferously. The opposition was downright angry. The press took up the question pro and con and nearly every common-

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10 00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10 00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

had some reference to the Cooper-Sharp trial.

The State Anti-Saloon League held its convention almost within a stone's throw of the court house. Speakers there laid stress on the "martyrdom of Senator Carmack." There were broad intimations that the governor had tried to bribe a legislator to vote against state wide prohibition with the promise his son should be released from the penitentiary. An editorial in a leading state paper charged that the governor was unduly partial to the defendants in the trial. Anti-Saloon League speakers expressed the fear that the administration would be weak-kneed in fostering support of the new laws. The governor resented each charge in turn.

HOW TO TELL

f the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney distress that could ave been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's iredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—t's put down to loss of sleep.

Joints ache, muscles get sore, —hat's all put down to bad weather.

Then digestion gets poor, appetite fades away, color bleaches, spirit droop.

Can't you see it's all from your over-worked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton-ton's Pills" writes C. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainsville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot, at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every little duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick, suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharp twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles, and joints lack of apetite, and loss of sleep. Reach the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c. at all dealers.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTNER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley. Finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhiliarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

BARGAINS
: IN :
BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3 50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25
Regular $3 00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00
Regular $4 00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE
432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries
at Lowest Prices

GREY HAIR
Positively Restored
Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

See our display of valentines today at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NOTICE.

Friday, the 26th day of February next, will be the last day for presenting Petitions for Private Bills.

Friday the 5th day of March next, will be the last day for introducing Private Bills.

Thursday, the 18th day of March next, will be the last day for receiving Report of Committees on Private Bills.

ARTHUR H. SYDERE,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly
Toronto, January 27th, 1909.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 28, Montreal.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 39 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

One-Tenth of Town of LaPrairie Down with Mysterious Disease

Town Visited by a Dread Malady---Something Like Typhoid, but Tongue Coats Black--- Three Victims Have Died

Montreal, Feb. 15.—Something of a sensation has been caused in local medical circles by the outbreak of a strange disease which has baffled all the doctors who have so far been called in to investigate it in the little town of Laprairie, about ten miles from the city on the south shore. About ten people in the town last week were afflicted with the disease, which was first noticed about a month ago. Those suffering from it have a slow, burning fever, several of the worst becoming irrational and subject to illusions. There is a dark reddish patch on the face and body, and the tongue and teeth become coated with a black substance which has to be washed off evey half hour, otherwise is would become thick enough to choke the patient.

ANCIENT PLAGUE REVIVED.

A number of prominent doctors have tried to diagnose the disease, but declare that they do not know what the outbreak is. It is suggested that it might possibly be "Black Tongue," a disease which ravaged Europe several centuries ago. It is evidently contagious, and measures will be taken to prevent its spreading any further.

NINETY NOW AFFLICTED.

Today it was stated the number of cases equalled one-tenth of the total population of the little town, there being 90 people afflicted with the disease. The rapid spread of the disease is shown by the fact thatt three days ago only about half that number of cases were reported.

There have been three deaths so far, and it is said that a number of others are in a dying condition.

Many doctors in the city have been called over to the little town to aid the local doctors in fighting the disease. Several of the medical men frankly admit that the disease has baffled them, that though they are able to take means to fight it, they are unable to tell what it is. Others declared this morning that it is typhoid fever with complications of several other diseases. That the symptoms are the same in all cases and in several particulars are very different from the ordinary symptoms of typhoid fever, strengthen the conception of the inhabitants of the place that it is an outbreak of some malady unknown to the medical profession.

THOROUGHLY FRIGHTENED.

The residents of the town are thoroughly frightened and several families have already moved into the city. The spread of the disease has been so rapid that it is likely that the provincial authorities will be called upon to take some action to at least keep it within bounds of the town in which it has broken out.

Accepting Gains of Oppression, Taking of Bribes is a Common Sin

Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, delivered an excellent sermon last Sunday night on the text, "He that walketh righteously and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppression, that shaketh his hands for holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears for hearing of blood and shutteth his eyes for seeing evil." Mr. Pogue's sermon in part is as follows:—

What is meant by being a sharer in the gain of oppression. The words are capable of endless application. Indeed society is so constituted today that many of us may be partakers in the gains of oppression not knowing it. How far, for example, are you and I responsible for the sweat shops if we purchase clothes that have been made there? Are we careful to enquire if the garments we wear were not made at the price of blood, and are we quite sure that a careful examination would not reveal blood drops on them, the blood that oozed out from busy fingers as they toiled 16 or 18 hours a day to earn enough to keep body and soul together? We often chuckle to ourselves at our success in making a bargain, and getting things below cost and forget of the fact that it was somebody else who gave her life blood that we got it so cheap. There was a case in point in the papers last week. It was that of a woman who received two cents a pair for making pants. By working 14 hours a day she was able to earn $2 a week and her employer had her before the courts to try to recover 60 cents for what he said was slighted work. You and I will buy those clothes for our boys, and so will not be despisers of the gain of oppression. God helping me I shall never buy a cheap article again, or a costly one without enquiring into the conditions under which it was made.

In that powerful story entitled "A Prophet in Babylon," recently published by W. J. Dawson, he tells of a pure sweet country girl, who applies for a situation in a departmental store in Greater New York, and is offered by the manager, an unfeeling brutal man, the sum of $5 per week. She replies that it would be quite impossible to live on that in New York. He knows it. He admits it, and then he speaks to her about a gentleman friend, and with brutal frankness suggests that at the price of her honor she may augment her salary to a sum sufficient to live on. And yet her employer is a man, at least he thinks he is. He is a member of the church, and gives liberally to colleges and public institutions and is known as a millionaire. His store is patronized by Christian people, by such good people as I see before me tonight, and they watch the papers for his bargain days. They are partakers in the gains of oppression.

Another thing about the man referred to in the text is that he shaketh his hands for the taking of bribes. He has convictions of right, and no inducements of money can bribe him to do what his conscience condemns.

That word bribery has a political flavor, though I am not sure that it is confined solely to politics. Yet it is true that bribery is becoming the great curse of our political life. Indeed one reason given by honest men, by some of our best citizens, though I do not defend their attitude, why they do not enter political life, is of the corruption that is everywhere associated with politics. It may be it has always existed in Canadian politics; but I must confess I was appalled and shocked by some of the things which were told me that transpired in connection with our last election in this and other places. Cecil Rhodes used to say, and other politicians as well as he have

(Continued on page four.)

An Actress Wants Divorce So As To Live Domestic Life

Frohman's Wife is Tired of the Stage and Wants Children of Her Own and Chance to Darn Socks---To Marry Again

San Francisco, Feb. 15.— Because she craved home life with the children, and even the darning of socks that goes with it, is the chief reason why Margaret Illington is seeking a legal separation from her husband, Daniel Frohman, according to an interview which she gave out at the Clarabon Hospital in this city, where she is taking the rest cure. The actress does not deny that she will marry Edward J. Bowes when she has secured a divorce from Frohman.

Miss Illington in the statement of the reasons for seeking a separation from her husband says;

"I am to get a divorce from Mr. Frohman, and would love to tell you that I am to marry Mr. Bowes when I am free, but I can't say that now, you know. But I did not leave Mr. Frohman to marry Mr. Bowes or anyone—I left him because I would not be happy on the stage.

"The life of an actress is abnormal; I crave domesticity, home life, children. I want to darn socks. From the first I told Mr Frohman that I wanted a home, a domestic life. But he wanted to make a great star out of me. I wanted to stagy at home and darn his socks. Mr. Frohman is 20 years older than I am. I lived in New York with his three sisters, who are maiden ladies from 35 to 35 years older than I. How I used to envy them as I would go to the theater every night and leave them to do the housework and darn socks. Always I wanted domestic life and children. I wanted to lead the life of a normal woman.

"The stage life might be well for the woman born to it, but you know it is abnormal. Think of it, I played "The Thief" for 145 months. My life was on railroads, in cabs, and in hotels. When I found that Mr. Frohman intended to keep me on the stage always, my love died. I saw then no chance of the domestic life I craved. So we parted.

"Yes, Mr. Frohman knows Mr. Bowes and admires him highly," said Miss Illington, concluding her interview

Uttered Prayers and Benedictions on Deathbed to be Used at Funeral

New York, N.Y., Feb. 15.—A special from Fairfield, Ill., to the World says;

The Rev. Daniel Bassett Leach, an aged clergyman, of Bone Gap, was told yesterday that he was going to die. He asked that his graphone be brought to his bedside. Into the machine the venerable pastor talked. Beside an address he spoke some prayers and a benediction.

When Mr. Leach had finished he had the records repeated. Then he asked that they be used at his funeral. His relatives assented, and then his relatives, congregation and friends will hear his own voice as they stand beside his grave. Mr. Leach was born in Chenango County, N.Y.

Will Maracle be Longboat's New Manager?

Deseronto, Feb 15.—In summing up the interview with Longboat which appeared in Saturday's paper, too much importance cannot be accorded that significant statement of his, "A contract with an Indian is no good."

That means, in brief, that Longboat is dissatisfied with Power's management; that he is determined to run no more races for the present; and more important still, that he is completely under the control of his Mohawk friends, and more particularly the Maracle family.

In talking with the great Onondaga that impression is instantly gained. The expression itself smacks of the Mohawk Reserve, for even a child of two years knows that no merchant in Deseronto ever thinks of giving an Indian credit for goods, unless it be one that he has thoroughly tested.

In talking to the other members of the family the same impression is gained, and further, that in a grand power-wow of the tribe, a plain understanding was arrived at.

Longboat, though he will not say it, is evidently under the impression that he was done by Pat Powers, and now intends to keep whatever money there is in the game for himself, and certainly the other members of the family will not protest.

The writer would not be greatly surprised to see Bert Maracle in charge of the business arrangements of the Indian's future races as a paid manager. In this case the money earned by Longboat's $20,000 pair of legs would all be kept in the family, and this would not be at all adverse to the possessor of the famous legs.

Reports from the Reserve today are to the effect that Longboat, while not doing any strenuous training, is nevertheless keeping in shape.

Left Fat; Back Slender

By "FOOTLIGHTS."

Giau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in avoirdupois—that is to say, gross flesh. The entire galaxy has lost out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems that the people out west will support bim ballerinos, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus" carried, so to speak, no weight with them. They treated that prime collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently, Giau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once, or shipping them back—"excess" baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town will admit, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records, in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Giau didn't rehearse his flock into shape, nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally, into slenderness. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing rooms to the effect that every lady less than five foot seven who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be), of the following; One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water.

They did it and in a month averaged a loss of a pound a day apiece. "That's a dandy receipt," says Giau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word 'go.' Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

CURLING.

The second half of the competition for the Fitzgerald—Bottom trophy, which was presented to the Peterborough and Bobcaygeon curlers at the time of the bonspiel here, will be played off today in Bobcaygeon. Four rinks, skipped by Messrs. C. Brown, R. Neill, J. E. A. Fitzgerald and W. G. Morrow leave this morning for Bobcaygeon, and they hope to bring back a victory. Peterborough won the first half which was played here at the close of the bonspiel and there is no reason why the trophy should not decorate the wils of the local club house for a year. It is a very handsome thing and will be an ornament to the rooms and will be prized by the members.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test dose will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —25c. Sold by all dealers.

Rev. J. Wright Goes to Gowganda to Establish Church

Rev. J. J. Wright, B. A., son of Mr. Stewart Wright, Hunter street, east, left yesterday for Elk City to establish the work of the Presbyterian Church in the new silver district. His duties will be to look over the field with a view to choosing the best place for location, this matter being left at his own discretion. He reports that there are some 7000 miners in that section and he will settle at the most thickly populated place but will devote his attention to both Elk City and Gowganda. It will be remembered that Mr. Wright was a missionary to the Yukon some years ago, where he spent five years during which he established a very strong church at Dawson City. He was called home owing to the illness of his father, and during the past three years has represented the Queen's University Endowment Fund. Mention was made at St. Andrew's church last night by Rev. J. G. Potter in regard to Rev. Mr. Wright's departure and his efforts in the New Ontario region will be watched with interest by his many Peterborough friends.

Mr. Brown was Honored by Friends

Mr. J. A. Brown leaves this morning for Toronto, where he has accepted a position. On Saturday night a large number of Mr. Brown's friends gathered at the Montreal House to say good bye and wish him every success in his new position. Speeches were made by a number of those present expressing regret at Mr. Brown's departure. On behalf of the company, Mr. Gene Burtubise and Mr. James Booth presented Mr. Brown with a purse of money. Mr. Brown made a neat reply, thanking his friends for their kindness.

Synod will Meet on Wednesday

A meeting of the Synod of the diocese of Toronto will be held in Toronto on Wednesday to elect a successor to the late Archbishop Sweatman. The meeting will open at 10.30 o'clock. The clerical members for Peterborough are—

Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt and Rev. H. R. Trumpour.

The lay members are;

St. John's—Dr. Boucher, Mr. F. R. Yokome, Mr. J. S. Bell and Mr. R. J. Devey, Apsley.

St. Luke's—Mr. G. F. Warde, Mr. F. Adams and Mr. Wm. Manlece.

All Saints'—Mr. J. H. McClellan, Mr. E. L. Davis and Mr. A. G. Wilson.

Nothing is so good as Good Health.

POSTUM

has brought back good health to thousands who suffered with aches and ills caused by tea and coffee.

"There's a Reason"

Tom Eck was in Toronto Yesterday

Toronto, Feb. 15.—Tom Eyck, the veteran trainer, called at the News sporting department while on his way through Toronto to pay a visit to his old home near Newmarket. At present he is preparing Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha Indian, way down in Georgia for a series of races, and expects great things of him.

Eyck says he has a number of engagements booked for Simpson, among them being one in Pittsburg with Dorando, which will be run off in a couple of weeks. Tom comments upon Simpson's obedience. He never becomes unruly, and does not touch liquor. The Indian has a great little wife, and writes to him quite often. Fred is the leader in a church choir at his home, and his wife says they miss him greatly, but for him to go ahead and show the world what he can do.

Drew Out the Funds Just Before Failure

Toronto, Feb. 8.—The Trusts and Guarantee Co., Ltd., Toronto, liquidators of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Ltd., sued to recover $1,909.81 from Hamilton Munro, Wm. Hamilton, Effie Munro, Reid Munro, and Allen Munro in the Non-Jury Assize Court before Chancellor Boyd this morning.

Prior to Dec. 11th, 1906, the William Hamilton Company manufactured saw-mill machinery, water wheels, engines, etc., in Peterborough. On that date the company was declared insolvent and passed into the hands of the Trusts and Guarantee Company for liquidation.

On Dec. 6, 1906, William Hamilton, president of the company, drew out $1,909.81 from the assets, leaving in the place of that sum a voucher stating that it was held in trust for the children of the late George Munro, who are the defendants in this case.

Geo. H. Watson, K.C., counsel for the defence, argued that the withdrawal of the money was perfectly legal because the Munro children were in no sense creditors, but wards. Consequently there was no creditor preferred, as forbidden by the Winding-up Act, and as claimed by the plaintiffs.

"The difficulty is in the question whether money which had been used by the company for the payment of running expenses can be regarded as trust money," remarked his lordship.

"The point is whether the defendants could have proved that it was trust money had it not been withdrawn before the Winding-up Act was invoked," said Jas. Bicknell, K.C., for the plaintiffs.

"I think that's about it," agreed his lordship. "Did the company by using the money know that they were committing a breach of trust, and wink at it? Then when the crisis came did they want to save the family share?"

His lordship reserved judgment.

"It's a nice point to decide," he remarked.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Lash Advocated for Those Who Won't Work

Toronto, Feb. 15.—"It seems to me that the city should provide work of some kind at a dollar a day for the men who are in need and really want to work, and the lash for the others who appeal for help and won't accept work that is offered."

Rev. S. Wesley Dean, superintendent of Fred Victor Mission, spoke thus at Sherbourne street Methodist church on Sunday morning.

"The civic authorities may have more wisdom in these matters than mission workers, but surely something should be done to relieve the distress to a greater extent.

"We have no slum districts as great as New York or London or Glasgow, but we have instances that are just as bad as those cities ever have," the speaker added.

"One feels mean to make a man do a day's work for a dollar, but what else can you do, when fifty per cent. of the men who come to you are lazy, shiftless fellows.

Curling

The thirteen point games, each man using three pair of stones, are being slowly run off. This contest is divided into three classes, the skips, vice-skips and first and second players. The man scoring 13 points the greatest number of times will get the prize. What the prize will be has not yet been decided.

There were doings at the curling rink last night. Every ice was in use and had there been room at least three more ices could have been put into commission. As it was fourteen rinks were playing and every end was greatly enjoyed. The skips and scores were as follows;—

N. McWilliams	S. J. Stubbs
L. Sherwood	R. Cameron
Dr. Wightman	J. Montgomery
J. H. Connal—21	Dr. Greer—15
M. Lyle	J. Milloy
C. Barber	J. Davidson
G. Ferguson	J. E. A. Fitzgerald
W. M. English—8	T. Brigbman—10
G. Bill	B. Lester
R. J. Winch	J. D. Collins
A. Mowatt	A. Webb
R. Hicks—19.	W. G. Read—6
G. Tovey	R. Best
W. T. Hall	B. F. Ackerman
A. A. Hallingshead	E. H. D. Hall
S. T. Medd—12.	Dr. Eastwood—8
C. James	J. Millard
T. Minnocola	H. Taylor
W. D. Campbell	M. Tooley
W. E. Talbot—12	D. Hall—8
L. Dobbin	T. F. Crean
W. J. McDermid	Dr. Cameron
W. H. Denham	H. Meredith
T. F. Matthews—8.	S. D. Clegg—15
J. Wolstenholm	W. S. Dodds
S. Rush	W. Leek
L. Bown	R. Neill
A. Moore—8.	J. A. Cameron—18

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's — will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Check womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Letter to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Peterborough, Feb. 11, '09

Dear Sir,—I beg to propose the organization of a City Tennis League for the season of 1909, for the giving of an organized impetus to tennis in Peterborough, and to determine which club will obtain first place; and to give players of the game an opportunity of winning the city championship; also that the winner and winners may be presented with a trophy as recognition of merit.

1. That each club will be represented by four men.
2. That home and home games of doubles only, be played.
3. That the total number of sets won, count.
4. That umpires be appointed by the league.
5. That a tournament of men's singles be played by the players representing the different clubs for the city championship in singles.
6. That $1 fee be charged each entry for a trophy fund.
7. That the league shall draft the schedule of matches and rules and name the courts matches shall be played off on.

Yours truly,

W. HAROLD CLUTON.

Dress Rehearsal

A dress rehearsal of the local amateur company playing "The Three Musketeers" will be held tonight at eight o'clock in the Conservatory of Music Hall. A big rush of seats is expected this morning when the plan opens at Medills' Drug Store, and by Friday there will be few, if any, seats left, judging from the way the tickets are selling.

Mysterious Attacks on Women--Man Has Mania for Stabbing Them

Berlin, Feb. 15.—The mysterious attacks upon women upon the streets of Berlin, recalling the notorious "ripper" cases of other cities, continue.

Five women of the working class were wounded in the city and in the suburbs yesterday, while this morning the wife of a merchant was wounded by an unknown assailant. None of the women were seriously hurt.

The first attack occurred in the Moabite quarter at nine o'clock yesterday morning on the open street. The assailant stabbed his victim in the upper part of the arm. Another woman was wounded in the thigh yesterday forenoon in the northern section of the city. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a girl was attacked in the eastern section. She warded off the blow with her hand, which was wounded. In the evening the "Ripper" attacked a butcher's wife in the suburb of Hohenschonhausen, but the blade of his knife broke against the woman's stays. The assailant then beat his victim into unconsciousness, and she was found half an hour later and taken to a hospital. Later in the evening the wife of another butcher was wounded in the thigh in the eastern section. The attack on the merchant's wife occurred this morning in the southern part of the city. The woman was wounded in the thigh and hand. In every instance the criminal escaped.

His method is to approach his victim quietly without arousing suspicion, deliver his attacks suddenly, and then flee.

The population of the laboring quarters of the city is much excited over the frequent attempts, and special orders have been issued to the police to protect women walking alone.

The second attack today was made an hour after the first on a servant girl by three young men. One of them stabbed her in the abdomen. This is the fifteenth attack since the outrages began.

The police have increased the reward for the apprehension of the assailants.

Lindsay Lock

Contractor Ritchie has a large staff of men employed this morning on the Lindsay locks, unloading supplies and tools from the flat cars and getting things in readiness for the construction work in connection with the new locks and dam. The work will be pushed forward without interruption, and it will only be a short time before a complete transformation will have taken place at the scene of operations. —Lindsay Post.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Asthma Cured

Mrs. Farndel, of Clementsport, N.S., suffered all her life from asthma, but was permanently cured by Catarrhozone after all other means failed.

Mrs. Farndel's recovery affords overwhelming proof of what Catarrhozone will do. Nothing except Catarrhozone was of the slightest benefit, but when given a fair trial it cured.

Now perhaps you need something for your cold, or bronchitis or Asthma? Why not try Catarrhozone? Thousands have been cured by inhaling it a few minutes now and again, and certainly it wouldn't do you any harm to profit by their experience.

Mrs. Farndel gives the following statement of her case for the benefit of others who are suffering from asthma, and hopes that many will follow her example and use Catarrhozone.

"I am now in my eightieth year, and cannot recall the time when I was free from the Asthma. I had always a choking cough, feverishness, spasms, difficulty in breathing, head ache and nausea. My druggist advised Catarrhozone one day, and I bought a large outfit. It gave relief in five minutes and helped me very much in one day.

"I inhaled Catarrhozone ten minutes every hour, and by the time two bottles were used, I was completely cured. I am as free now from Asthma as if I never had it. My perfect recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. I prize my Catarrhozone Inhaler next to life itself."

(Signed) MRS. T. FARNDEL."

This is a proof positive that Catarrhozone is a sure and speedy cure for the worst kind of Asthma. It is guaranteed to give satisfactory results, and your money will be refunded if it fails. All you need is a trial of this grand preparation to be quite satisfied and convinced that it is the best. Your druggist recommends and sells it. Price $1.00, small size 50 cents. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ontario.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY.

Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1909

CANADA'S PROGRESS

One of the best informed United States journals on Canada and Canadian affairs is the Boston Transcript, which has the good fortune to be represented in this country by a very able man and writer, E. W. Thomson. In a recent issue, the Transcript gave its readers a pretty clear idea of the vast extent of this country by pointing out that "Canada is larger than the United States by 179,000 square miles, is extensive as the United Kingdom, 18 Germanys, and almost as large as the whole of Europe."

Canada's wonderful progress during recent years is described by the Transcript as follows:—

"Twenty years ago the annual revenues of the Dominion were $30,000,000 and her expenditure something beyond that. Last month her revenue was over $7,000,000, the largest record in the history of the country. During that double decade Manitoba has grown from a sparsely-settled wilderness into a thriving agricultural region. While the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan have in an industrial and economic sense been practically discovered during that period, and last year in those three provinces there were under crop 9,500,000 acres that produced 232,000,000 bushels of grain. But while these results have accrued from less than 10,000,000 acres, there are at least $150,000,000 acres in that section suitable for this kind of agriculture. In these figures the land tributary to the New National Transcontinental Railway, which is every year opening up fresh reaches of new country, is not included. That is expected to more than meet the cost of the railway to the people."

Dealing with the peopling of the Northwest and the development of the new provinces, which are estimated to have more than doubled the assets of the Dominion, the Transcript considers it wonderful that in the face of all that has been accomplished our public debt is less than $300,000,000, and proceeds:—

"A greatly increased revenue is required, the developing process is in full swing, and covers greatly increased returns from her minerals as well as from agriculture. But twenty years ago the debt was $200,000,000, with a large deficit facing the Government. If these most recent completeness are dependable they demonstrate that Canada has made a great advance in economic conditions, with a very hopeful prospect before her."

What American capital and American muscle will add in the further development of Canada's resources there is reason to believe. Many millions of money from the United States have been invested in Canada, and each year sees thousands of the best class of Americans cross the border to make their homes in the Dominion.

THE GREAT CANAL

In answer to a question by Mr. Currie the Minister of Railways submitted to the House a table of gaugings made at Newmarket in 1907 relative to the flow of water over the weir. The measurements had to do with the construction of the proposed canal, and showed that from July to November the average flow was about 540 cubic feet a minute. It ranged from 318 cubic feet in August to 825 in November.

When one remembers that the average water-wagon contains about 150 cubic feet the terrific intensity of the roar created by this appalling cataract may be understood. The wisdom of the Government in pausing the appropriation for this canal before taking the gaugings cannot be too highly commended. Perhaps if the gaugings had been taken first the vote would not have been made and the political interests of North York would have suffered.

The mere fact that there is not enough water to fill the canal might be embarrassing to an ordinary Administration, but the Laurier Government is not ordinary. It laughs at impossibilities. Mr. Graham says that storage reservoirs will be required to utilize the spring freshets as a feeder during the summer months. How many storage reservoirs will be required no one says. But no matter how many, they must be built. The transportation requirements of the country demand the Newmarket be made a success, and the political requirements of the Minister of Justice demands canal of some kind wherein the glad electors can flock for mud-baths and meditate on the glories of the Government.

This no doubt, is a charming picture, but it is subject to amendment. Even with storage reservoirs the mud-bath might find the going rather hard. Some person might throw a salmon in the canal and cause a short excitement among virtuous fish might run up stream. A good deal may be said in favor of the Newmarket canal by those who do not know what they are talking about. It certainly will have to be needed. If a North York elector has a notion to cross his public waterway he must put on his rubbers.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

RUNNING THE RHEA

Relative of Ostrich Chased With Dog and Horse.

For the person who wants a unique form of sport, hunting the rhea in southern Patagonia is recommended. The rhea is a member of the ostrich family, but somewhat smaller. It runs with the swiftness of a greyhound or a fleet horse and has a knack of doubling on its track, which often serves it in eluding its pursuers. The natives in hunting it use horses, dogs and the bola. The dogs course after the fleeing bird in full cry, while the hunters follow after at top speed, prepared to throw the bola if opportunity offers.

The bola, consisting of two or three heavy balls of lead or stone attached to a throng six or eight feet long, serves to hamper the movements of the bird, for the balls twine about the part which the bola strikes, regardless of whether it be the legs, neck or wings. This permits the dogs and hunters to overhaul and despatch the bird.

At the approach of danger the rhea will often crouch flat upon the ground with neck outstretched under the grass, remaining motionless until the dogs have passed. This maneuver is often successful when the wind is blowing against the scent, but when the contrary is the case the dogs soon discover the hiding bird. In this case, doubtless bewildered by the sudden failure of its artless ruse, it makes no attempt at escape.

The chase of the rhea, which sometimes extends over a distance of five or six miles, is a thrilling one. It has for the rider all the excitement of a horse race, with the added satisfaction of knowing that the winning of the race will result in a welcome addition to the larder. The wings of the rhea has a flavor not unlike that of turkey, and if one is not averse to the taste of horseflesh the meat of the thigh is very satisfactory. The rhea is one of the main food supplies on a Patagonian hunting trip.

Small Moustaches in Fashion.

Small moustaches are the fashion in England. Cavalry officers initiated the style, delighting to have their moustaches trimmed "like toothbrushes." The hair covering it is to be confined to the upper lip, no side growth being encouraged.

PAIN

Pain in the headwants agreeing, but in many Pain is congestion, pain is blood starving—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and I prove it by test of thousands of home trials. The Schoop Headache Tablets relieve Pain by drawing the congestion from the painful nerves. Then they tone and strengthen the blood. Quick, safe, sure. Don't suffer pain. Don't dope your stomach with it. Don't make a habit of it. Don't be satisfied with relief. Get cure. Get Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets now. Use them as directed. If you have headache, it's blood pressure. If you publish periods with women, acute nervousness, pain, pressure, tension, nervous, it's blood congestion, pain, nervousness. Just a minute, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets can do it in minutes, and the action simply distributes the congestion, and blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Blood and Nerve Tablets put rich, red blood in your veins. Of course it does. It's compounded that way. You'll find it within pink Tablets. Dr. Shoop's Quick Relief Powders. We dare to be quick, and absolutely harmless.

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

"ALL DEALERS"

WINS SUCCESS IN FOREIGN LANDS

COLDS CURED BY THE AID OF AMERICAN REMEDY.

Testimonials Received from Many Foreign Countries Prove the Worth of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

It will be a pleasure to the friends of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in this country to learn that it has become quite popular and is meeting with the same unfailing success in many foreign countries as at home. The following extracts from letters show that people everywhere appreciate the superior excellence of this remedy:

England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world."
WM. HAVORY, Warrington, Eng.

Australia.

"We can thoroughly recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy."
GEO. HOOPER,
Geelong, Victoria, Australia.

Jamaica.

"Grateful mothers are daily thanking me for advising them to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. RILEY BENNET.
Brown's Town, Jamaica, B. W. I.

Cape Colony, Africa.

"My wife has found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be invaluable with the children."
LEONARD C. STREETER,
Worcester, Cape Colony, Africa.

Orange River Colony, Africa.

"We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other preparation of the kind." JOHN MAIN,
Manager for S. Petersen, Ltd., Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, Africa.

New Zealand.

"People who once use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are almost certain to call for it when again in need of such a medicine."
HENRY EDGAR EATON, Chemist,
Masterton, N. Z.

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

Has opened up a new Grocery business at the Corner of WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and freshest goods at the very LOWEST PRICE. Nothing to pay high rent, any customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries
at Lowest Prices

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored
Black or Brown
BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be worn as desired, in fact one forgets that grayness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

BARGAINS

IN

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to	2.00
Regular $12.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournet's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of simple instructions, fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 95, Montreal.

Articles for Sale

Those should mind Cockspur typewriters in good condition at to sight of a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

Office Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to R. C. SMITH Water street, city.

Call and see our special line of fancy valentines at the Times Bookstore.

The Penman & Sprang DEVICE

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china.

Call and see it in operation at the

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumers that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"—Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of ties to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of camps may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE.
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of camps may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE.
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

NOTICE.

Friday, the 26th day of February next, will be the last day for presenting Petitions for Private Bills.

Friday the 5th day of March next, will be the last day for introducing Private Bills.

Thursday, the 18th day of March next, will be the last day for receiving Report of Committees on Private Bills.

ARTHUR H. SYDERE,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly
Toronto, January 27th, 1909.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your ambition all a dream? Financial troubles? A heavy payment looming? I know all these things to distress women—for I have suffered them myself. I want to relieve your worry. Why not send the coupon and I will tell you how I did it?

I'll tell you how I got back my health, how I secured a happy home, how I got a position that paid me $25 a week, how I got a husband to whom I am happily married. I'll tell you how I got all these things, and I'll tell you how you can get them. I'll tell you how I got my start, and how you can get yours. I'll tell you how I got my courage, and how you can get yours. I'll tell you how I got my confidence, and how you can get yours. I'll tell you how I got my ambition, and how you can get yours. I'll tell you how I got my success, and how you can get yours.

Mrs. F. B. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

ADVERTISERS IN THIS PAPER

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for [illegible] Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required cultivation by ploughing in any year after crop of which he has had three acres (3) acres in extent, in the vicinity of the homestead. He may also, if he so elects, substitute for such cultivation and residence upon the homestead, the following: [illegible] with father or mother, on certain conditions. Such performance to be [illegible] and will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above duties during the first year of his entry must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION

TORONTO
AND RETURN
$2.80
FROM PETERBORO

Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 25
Return limit Feb. 26. Apply to
W. McILROY,
C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:30 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Fridays Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO
and Return
$2.30
From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to
Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show
Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.
Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA
The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from
W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND
TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passenger, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members New York Cen. Stock Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg
J. L. FITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents
Anything and everything in the line of wedding presents or novelties at prices. January sale of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO
David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager
Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,406,991
Total Assets.. 33,524,891
General Banking Business Transacted
Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.
A. A. ROLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO
PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.
4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.
The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.
MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE MONTREAL
European plan — opposite Grand Trunk.. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W. S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH
For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 13 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL
LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co
Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS
PROMPTLY SECURED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

SORE THROAT,
COLDS ON THE CHEST, & CATARRH.

Wherever there is soreness, irritation, inflammation, Zam-Buk will give you ease. In cases of sore throat it is without equal. Place a layer of Zam-Buk on the sides of the throat as near the seat of pain as possible, and then gently rub it well in. Don't press too hard, but rub with a circular motion of the fingers. The healing ointment will sink into the tissues, become absorbed, and then commence at once a soothing, healing process. Next repeat the piece of application, let it dry off, and wrap this round the throat, taking care that while it does well on the neck it does not touch the throat. Mothers who do this as soon as the children complain of sore throat will be amply repaid for their trouble. The little ones get ease very speedily, and generally when this treatment is followed at night, by next morning the sore throat is pretty nearly cured. In stubborn cases two or three applications of Zam-Buk should be made.

In cases of colds on the chest, "tightness," and difficulty of breathing, rub Zam-Buk well into the skin of the chest.

For Catarrh, Zam-Buk is a perfect cure, as the following cases illustrate. Every home and every travelling box of Zam-Buk always handy for there is nothing like it for the disease of and [illegible] to the skin and subjacent tissue.

DID YOU KNOW THIS?

That Zam-Buk is now used as the leading family balm throughout four continents, and that the majority of the population of the globe use it, and prefer it! Surely, to gain this eminence, it must have unusual merit! That unusual excellence lies in the fact that it is nothing more nor less than Nature's own healer. Compounded as it is of pure herbal extracts and juices, it may be said to be independent of human knowledge. The human element in Zam-Buk is merely the putting together of the component parts. Nature merely provides the curative properties. The proprietors of Zam-Buk merely hand them out in concentrated handy form. In using Zam-Buk, therefore, you are "going back to mother Nature"—the kindest, wisest, and the only "never failing cure" in creation.

ZAM-BUK IS A SURE CURE FOR CATARRH.

The following are but a few out of thousands of similar testimonials made by grateful patients who have tested the merits of Zam-Buk in cases of catarrh, colds on the chest, etc.

Mrs. B. Corie, 70, Berkeley St., Toronto, writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. I have used it for some time and find it an excellent remedy for colds in the throat, chest, and rheumatism in the limbs. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest, and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, but yet found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On rubbing some well into my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness, that I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed this balm on my limbs whenever I felt the rheumatic pains to which I was subject. In 3 days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and afterwards the rheumatism was driven by it from my limbs. I have the greatest faith in Zam-Buk and will always use it to prevent colds getting deep-seated."

Miss Ruth V. Carr, of Granby, (Que.), says:—"Recently I had a sore on the inside of my nostril and at the same time was suffering with catarrh. I put some Zam-Buk inside my nose to cure the sore, and was surprised how the ever-lasting healing essences gave me ease from the catarrh."

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES.

Zam-Buk is a certain cure for piles, festering sores, blood-poisoning, cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, scalds, chapped hands, cold cracks, eczema, scalp sores, ringworm, bad leg, and all skin injuries and diseases. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures bronchitis, rheumatism, and sciatica. All druggists and stores sell it. Send 1s. 1½d. (three-fifths of 2/-) or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Voices from many Homes.

Here are a few expressions from homes in various parts of the dominion showing how universal is the adoption of Zam-Buk, and how wide its uses. Keep a box always handy!

"My hand was crushed by a heavy mould falling on to it, and for some days I could not use it. We bandaged it in Zam-Buk, which reduced the swelling and healed the serious wounds." So says Mr. Wm. Burdett, of 198, Simcoe Street, Hamilton (Ont.)

Mr. E. Jasper, of Hartney (Man.), says:—"I had some very troublesome cold-sores, which defied all ordinary treatment. Zam-Buk healed them."

Mrs. Plastow, of High River (Alta.), says:—"Zam-Buk healed my hands, which were frost-bitten and covered with cold-cracks." Similar testimony is borne by Mr. A. Redmond, of Kimberley (B.C.)

Mr. J. Parkinson, of East Clifton (Que.), says:—"I had an ulcerated leg for six years. All the remedies I tried during that period proved unable to heal the sore, but I am delighted to say that Zam-Buk proved successful."

Mr. Alf. Hy. Guth (Shirley (Ont.) ran a rusty nail into his finger. Blood poisoning ensued, and he had a frightfully bad hand. "I am told nothing would do me good but Zam-Buk, heard and tried this balm. The relief was found enough, and in a week my hand was quite cured. I think Zam-Buk a really wonderful healer."

THE
CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

USE KEARNS' INK

IT IS THE BEST IN EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided Into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont, Vice Pres.; J. Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont, Sec-Treas Chas Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Blooms.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Hartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Caleite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 160 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 40 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 20th December, 1906, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. Levesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 500,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 240,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $400; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 2000 to the said Davies; Prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 20th of December, 1906.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development must fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of unknown capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your cheques payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
OF
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest endowment in the market
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty
To be had at all first-class dealers

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation in fact, "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. O. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agents name, see future advertisements, etc.

Zam-Buk

Longboat Has Broken Contract with Powers

Deseronto, Ont., Feb. 13.—"I'm my own boss now, and I want the world to known it."

That is what Tom Longboat said to me last night while we watched a hockey match between Kingston and Deseronto teams.

"You are the only reporter here, so I want you to tell everyone that Deseronto is my headquarters, and if anybody wants to run against me they will have to come to me."

Tom was in an unusually loquacious mood, and he talked quite fluently.

"I'm not much tired from the big race," he said, "but I was afraid before that race, and I won't run again, when I am in that shape. I can beat the best of them now, but they have got to come to me, and to no one else."

"Have you broken with Pat Powers?"

The great Indian grinned, but he wouldn't answer definitely.

"A contract with an Indian is no good, and no one has any claim on me," he said. "I am here, and I am going to stay until it pleases me to race. I am going to keep in shape, though I am not training now. I won't race until I am in the pink of condition."

"Will you race Shrubb at fifteen miles?"

"I don't know yet. For I haven't made any arrangements for the future. When I run I will make the arrangements, and no one else."

It is quite evident that it is his Mohawk friends who are instilling the independent spirit in the great Onondaga. The whole Mohawk entourage was at the game. Chief Andrew Maracle was there, and he testified to the way Longboat is keeping in shape. "I offered him two drinks this afternoon, but he wouldn't touch them," he said. "He walked ten miles in the morning. His wife has him perfectly in control, and he will train all right."

Longboat means what he says about his independence.

"You advertise it all over that my headquarters are here," he said. "Just tell them that I am my own boss, and I don't accept any arrangements any one may make for me. I'm my own manager."

A significant incident occurred then. His wife heard his remark, and nodded her head approvingly.

So it's up to Shrubb, Dorando, and all the rest to go to Longboat straight.

Tom faced off the puck in the game last night amid the tumultuous cheers of a large crowd. Deseronto is lionizing Longboat.

Noble Sweet, of Kingston, has written the Indian asking him to face the puck next Wednesday night, when the T.A.A.C. and the 14th play at Kingston. Longboat will probably accept. Deseronto won the game by a score of 6 to 1. The ice was in wretched condition.

HE WIRES TOM FLANAGAN.

Has Tom Longboat jumped his contract with Pat Powers?

He has.

What is he going to do.

No one knows!

He wired Tom Flanagan yesterday from Deseronto saying: "When shall I come to Toronto?" and Tom wired him back an eloquent silence.

Flanagan says, "Never more!" but he may change his mind. He did not answer the Indian's telegram because he was expecting a letter from P. T. Powers' telling particulars of the Indian's pilgrimage to the Tyendinaga reservation at Deseronto and the wigwams of his Mohawk leader's tribesmen.

Longboat is back on Canadian soil and he'll stay here for a while, Powers or no Powers," remarked an I.A.C. man who is a bosom friend of Tom Flanagan and Tim O'Rourke, and spoke like one who knew whereof he enunciated.

An Indianapolis wire has Longboat and Hayes booked up for a Marathon race there on Feb. 22. Now, if the Indianapolis affair is on the Buffalo 15-mile race with Shrubb is off.

As a matter of fact, both races are off, and if Longboat races Shrubb 15 miles it will be on Canadian soil, probably at Montreal.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a gentlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 25 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

BURNS AS EXCISEMAN.

England Has Given Many Writers Government Jobs.

When Robert Burns, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of whose birth was celebrated on the 25th day of last month, was driven by the expenses due to an increasing family to apply for a Government post he thought himself fortunate in obtaining the billet of exciseman. Not that he was blind to the disadvantages of the position.

"The worst circumstance," he wrote, "is that the excise division which I have got is so extensive—no less than ten parishes to ride over—and that it abounds, besides, with so much business that I can scarcely steal a spare moment." In return for the strenuous and almost unceasing toil involved in his official duties the reward was $360 a year.

From the very dawn of English literature the state has not been averse to show itself the patron of literary merit, and this apart from the laureateship, honorable but meanly paid. Chaucer held many offices about the court and under Government, and was more actively engaged in public affairs than any poet of celebrity since his time. It is true that he started in sufficiently lowly fashion. Appointed comptroller of the Custom of Wool, Skin, and Leather in the port of London, he was obliged to keep the books and fill in commercial documents with his own hand.

Better times were in store for the father of English literature. In due course he was promoted to be comptroller of Petty Customs, and more than once took a distinguished share in embassies and other diplomatic missions.

Chaucer's first great literary successor, Edmund Spencer, attained to an eminent position in the Court of Chancery. Milton rose still higher, when he secured his appointment to the post of Foreign or Latin Secretary to the Council of State under the Commonwealth.

Asked to celebrate the Battle of Blenheim, Joseph Addison was made Commissioner of Appeals in the Excise, and afterwards, as reward for his resultant poem, "The Campaign," obtained the post of Under Secretary of State. He became successively Secretary to the Lords Justices, who administered the Government until the arrival of George I., a Commissioner for Trade and the Colonies, and, finally, Secretary of State.

Defoe, the author of "Robinson Crusoe," Sir Richard Steele, as an essayist second to none, and Fielding, whose "Tom Jones" still ranks among the best novels in our language, were all recipients of Government posts, which, in some cases, proved to be of a very lucrative nature.

James Thomson, famous as the author of "The Seasons" and of the song "Rule Britannia," was made governor of the Leeward Islands. The sequel is curious. He sent out a deputy to do the work, and, after paying him, clear $1,500 a year from his governorship. As he was also in receipt of a pension, he was able to spend the last years of his life in ease, in happy contrast to poor Robert Burns, weighed down by sickness, debt, and dissipation, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Careless Clerks Pardoned

Two officials of the Nottingham Corporation who went into a saloon to play a game of billiards lost some Corporation bonds to the value of $50,000, which they should have posted. These were found in the street by a man who burnt them as waste paper. The clerks have now been reinstated in office by the finance committee.

Cheering.

A nervous young minister, in visiting a remote village, had an unpleasant experience. The old lady at whose house he stayed, in showing him to his room, said:

"It ain't anybody I'd put in this room. This here room is full of sacred associations to me," she went on. "My first husband died in that bed with his head on these pillows, and poor Mr. Jenks died sitting in that corner. Sometimes when I come into the room in the dark I think I see him sitting there still. My own father died lavin' right on that lounge right under the window there. Poor pa, he was a spiritualist, and he allus said he'd appear in this room after he died and sometimes I am foolish enough to look for him. If you should see anything of him to-night, you'd better not tell me. It'd be a sign to me that there was something in spiritualism, and I'd hate to think that. My son by my first man fell dead of heart disease right where you stand. He was a doctor, and there's two whole skelotons in that closet there belonged to him, and half-a-dozen skulls in that lower drawer. If you are up early, and want something to amuse yourself with before breakfast, just open that cupboard there, and you will find a lot of dead men's bones. My poor boy thought a lot of them Well, good night, and pleasant dreams."

Nine Years' Solitary Confinement.

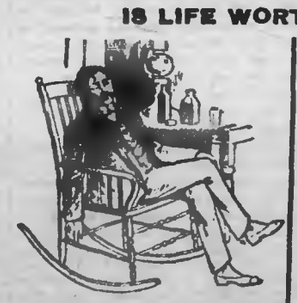
The Earl of Lauderdale, who has celebrated his 68th birthday, is the hereditary Standard Bearer of Scotland. At the King's Coronation the Standard was borne by Mr. Henry Scrymgeour Wedderburn, of Birkhill, Fife, to whom the Court of Claims decided that the office belonged. The decision of the court was challenged by Lord Lauderdale, who contended he was rightfully the Standard Bearer, the office having been granted by Charles II to his ancestor, Charles Maitland, of Hatton, afterwards Earl of Lauderdale, and the Court of Sessions in Edinburgh decided in his favor. The family of Maitland have been seated at Thirlstane Castle for six centuries. The most distinguished Lord Lauderdale's ancestors was the second earl, who as a devoted servant of Charles II, was persecuted by the Covenanters, and at the battle of Worcester was taken prisoner and confined in the Tower for nine years. When he was released, in 1660, honors were heaped upon him. He was made Prime Minister and given various high offices the other side the Tweed. Lord Lauderdale owns about 25,000 acres, and his heir is Viscount Maitland, now 40 years of age.

Polygamy In Africa.

The Geographical Journal of London, in an article on the marital relations among the people of Bogirra, says: "Polygamy is the rule, the reason given being that it is impossible for one woman to do all the work of the house, look after the children, prepare and cook the food, fetch the daily supply of water (often an arduous job), cultivate the plantation and go to market. The African is an exceedingly hungry person. It is the custom to eat several times a day when at home, and the men spend most of their day sitting in the palaver house, or market place, while the women bring the food all day long. One wife could not possibly do this. Besides, the African loves company, for she says: 'The more wives the less work'."

Miss Lottie Hutson left Saturday morning for her home in Port Carling, after a pleasant visit with her aunt, Mrs. Jos. Batten.

DISCOURAGED MEN
IS LIFE WORTH LIVING



MEN, you become disheartened when you feel the symptoms of Nervous Debility and decline steadily upon you. You haven't the nerve or ambition you used to have. You feel you are not the man you ought to be. You feel like giving up in despair. You get nervous and weak, have little ambition, pain in the back over kidneys, drains at night, hollow eyes, tired mornings, prefer to be alone, distrustful, variable appetite, looseness of hair, poor circulation—you have Nervous Debility. Our New Method Treatment is your refuge. It will strengthen all weak organs, vitalize the nervous system, purify the blood and restore you to a manly condition.

Pay When Cured.

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for hundreds of others, it will do for you. CONSULTATION FREE. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Charges reasonable. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (illustrated), on Diseases of Men.

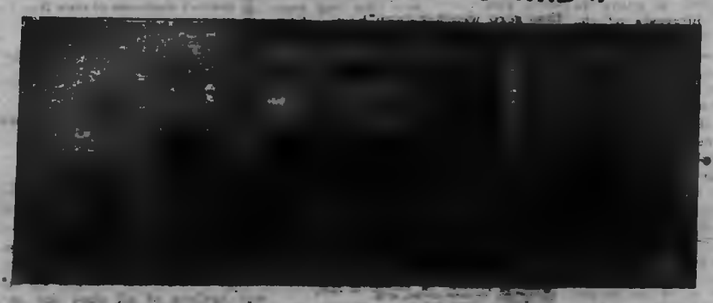
ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS—CURES GUARANTEED. No Treatment sent C. O. D. No names on boxes or envelopes. Everything confidential. Question list and cost of Home Treatment FREE.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.



LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—L. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest California Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE
CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.
MONTREAL, QUE.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT
TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1909

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. S. Dickson Hall left last night for New York

Mrs. Albert Stratton will not receive this afternoon.

Miss Olive Parker of Parry Sound is visiting friends in the city.

Mr H. C. Cluxton of Boston, Mass., is at the Hotel National.

Mr. Earl Armstrong of Hamilton, spent Sunday at his home in the city.

Misses Reynolds and Rutledge of Campbellford, were in the city on Saturday.

Mr. A. Audebert, of Cognac, France, is registered at the Hotel National.

Mr. A. J. Gough, of Sellers, Gough, Toronto, spent Sunday in the city the guest of Mr. H. Morrow, Water street.

Miss May O'Connor of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. M. O'Brien, Gilmour street.

Miss Nina Sherin ofLakefield, is the guest of Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, Aylmer street.

Ald. J. J. Turner left on the midnight last night on a business trip to Montreal. He will be away several days.

Miss McGivern has gone to Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Norman, M.P.P., of Picton, to attend the opening of parliament.

Rev. Mr. Bracben, curate of St. Clement's church, Toronto, preached at both services at St. Luke's Sunday., also at St. Mark's church, Otonabee.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—35c. Sold by all druggists.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Herdill will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Herdill and her three children, who have all been ill with scarlet fever, are now rapidly recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Lundy, Peterborough, announce the engagement of their daughter, Pearl Catherine, to Mr. E. P. Clarkson, son of the late Capt. Charles J. P. Clarkson, Halifax, Nova Scotia.—Mail and Empire.

The Young People of Knox church held a reception last night for the Young People of the Springville Presbyterian church, who will drive in. A week or two ago Knox Young People were entertained at Springville they having received most hospitable treatment. Last night they were the guests and a fine program was presented.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

WEDDING BELLS

WARD—GREY.

The marriage of Miss Annie Grey of this city to Mr. William Everett Ward, also of Peterborough, was solemnized by Rev. E. A. Pearson at the George street Methodist parsonage on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. The bride and groom were unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward will reside here.

BANKS—MORRISON.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Monday morning at the residence of Mrs. W. J. McCallum, 573 Gilmour street, when Mrs. John Banks, formerly of Brantford, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Alexander Morrison. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will reside at Bridgenorth.

PAYNE—CARVETH.

Hall's Glen, Feb. 11.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carveth was the scene of a very pleasing and interesting event on the evening of Wednesday, 10th inst. the occasion be the marriage of their daughter Violet to Mr. Cephas Payne of Warsaw. The service, which took place at 6.30 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Marvin of Warsaw. The spacious home which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion presented a charming appearance. The bride was beautifully dressed in a costume of cream voil trimmed with cream satin ribbon silk insertion and silk overlace and carried bouquet of white carnations, and was assisted by Miss Dora Payne who carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was assisted by his brother Roland.

After the wedding march, played by Mr. Reynard of Peterborough the solemn ceremony was proceeded with, at the conclusion of which congratulations were tendered the happy couple. The bride and groom led the way to the dining room where the guests to the number of 150 sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper which would tempt even the appetite of the most fastidious. After all had partaken of the good things to their satisfaction, some time was spent in social intercourse, instrumental music in particular occupied a large part of the evening and was enjoyed by all.

The happy couple were the recipients of an unusually large number of beautiful and costly gifts, including a handsome Morris chair. Mr. and Mrs. Payne have the best wishes of a circle of friends for their future happiness and prosperity.

Appetite Gone-- Nerves Badly Run Down

A Strong Moral Will Exerted by God In Mrs. Wilson's Case

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sorely tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Watmers, P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, biliousness and depressing headache. I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleaning, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essences in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to instil renewed activity and strength if every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut—today—35c. at all dealers.

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that born to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * tasks for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea, suppressed or absent monthly periods, debility from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and Anaemia (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms plainly point to invalid woman, can be better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb in all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in the shops which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. 'Phones—Office 481; House 688.

Legal Committee

A meeting of the Legal Committee was held last night when the claim for damages against the city by Mrs. Meeban was discussed.

President Honored

At the regular meeting of the Peterborough Typographical Union, No 248, on Saturday night, the president, Mr. Chas. H. Reid, was presented with a handsome travelling bag by the union. Mr. Reid has done splendid work for the union, and the presentation was made to show the appreciation of the members. The presentation was accompanied by a suitable address which was read by Mr. John Thompson. Mr. E. Bartlett made the presentation. Mr. Reid expressed his thanks in appropriate language.

Change of Management

Mr. J. C. Burgess of London, this morning assumed charge of the Benson House. Mr. Burgess is an experienced hotel keeper, having managed one of the best hostelries in St. Thomas for a number of years. Under his able management it is expected that the Benson house will still retain the reputation it holds of being one of the most up-to-date hotels in the Midland district. —Lindsay Post.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

170th Bargain Annex and There's Yet to be a Slow One

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17th, 1909

Mark-down Sale This Week in Dress Goods

Bargain Annex Hours
Opens 8.10
Closes 5.30
Wednesday Only

GREY FLANNEL LAST SALE 17 1-2c
25c and 28c Values
This is our last Annex Grey Flannel sale for the season; only 230 yards, light and dark grey, twilled and plain, positively pure all wool (Campbellford's); 40 yards, regular 28c; 120 yards, regular 25c. In the Annex Wednesday, all one price 17½c

MUSSED HANDKERCHIEFS
10c and 15c Values 4 for 25c
Over 400 Handkerchiefs used for store decorating; slightly soiled and mussed, and must be cleared out this Wednesday. Fancy embroidery mulls and plain hemstitched linen with neat, narrow hems. All reg. 10c and 15c values In the Annex Wednesday 4 for 25c

Cressman's "Bargain Annex" Registered

Largest Fitte Blankets
Value $1.65
$1.18
34 pairs (12/4) largest size Flannelette Blankets in grey or white; no better or larger flannelette blanket made; blue or pink striped border. Our special at $1.65. In the Annex Wednesday per pair, (see window $1.18

WHITE CURTAIN SCRIM 6 1-2c
Value 10 Cents
White and cream Curtain Scrim over one yd wide, wide open striped centres, for bedrooms, sitting rooms, etc. Regular 10c value. In the Annex per yd..... 6 1-2c

New Embroidery 4 1-2c
Values 8 and 10 Cents
Nearly 500 yds. of new spring embroidery edgings and insertions from 3 to 4½ inches wide, qualities you usually pay 8 to 10c for. In the Annex, Wed. per yd..... 4 1-2c

MERRY WIDOW FRILLS 19c
Value 15 and 20 Cents
200 boxes of widest Merry Widow frills (each frill very wide) white and colors, three frills in every box, beautifully assorted. Regular 15 and 20c frill. In the Annex, Wednesday 19c

Triumph D & A CORSETS
Value 50c
29c
320 prs of D. & A. "Triumph" Corsets in Grey French Coutil; medium length; nickle plated eyelets; well finished and always retailed at 50c. In the An'x, per pr. (see window) 29c

NEW LACES

Val and Torchon LACES 2½c
Values 7c to 15c
The second shipment of nearly 6,000 yds. new Spring Laces in Val. and Torchon edging and insertions ranging in width from 1 to 3 ins. Regularly sold at 7c to 15c. In the An'x 25c doz. yds or per yard 2½c
See Window

DOUBLE FOLD CHINTZ 9 1-2c
Value 12 1-2 to 15 Cents
300 yds. of double fold comforter chintz and Art Silkoline, new patterns, chintz regular 12½, Art Silkoline regular 15c. In the Annex Wednesday, all one price, yd. 9 1-2c

MEN'S WHITE SHIRTS, 25c
Values 50 and 75 Cents
A small lot of men's and large boys' odd stiff front Shirts; some are slightly soiled and need laundering. Reg. 50c and 75c values. In the Annex Wednesday 25c

MORE SAMPLE BLOUSES 39c
Values up to $1.50
We will put on sale in the Annex this week, another lot of these Fancy Blouses in lustre cashmere, cashmerette, etc., valued up to $1.50. In the Annex, Wednesday.... 39c

At 2 O'Clock

No. 1—
Cashmerette KIMONAS 19c
6 doz. Cashmerette Kimonas in fancy stripe, check and floral patterns; light and dark grounds; colbert edges; regular kimona sleeves; just the idea for morning house wear. In the Annex at 2 sharp 19c

No. 2—
Women's Flannel'te GOWNS
Value 59c
33c
Women's striped flannelette Nightgowns in light colors, fair quality English flanel'te; made in generous sizes; worth easily 59c. In the An'x at 2... 33c

Remick's and Haviland's Popular 25 and 35 cent Music 19c
(MAIN FLOOR REAR)

Mark-down Sale in Every Department this Month.
[COMB]

FANCY TAPESTRY TABLE CENTRES 15c
75c value
6 dozen 4/4 fancy tapestry table Centres, fringed all around, light shades of green, rose and blue. The usual price is 75c but these must be cleared out this week in the Annex, at..... 15c

SEN-SEN VEILING 29c
50c values
A new lot of Russian Sen-Sen Veiling just opened up, verry pretty mesh, in navy blue black, brown and new Taupe grey, best 50c quality on the market. In the Annnx, Wednesday..... 29c

NEW WASH FABRICS 10c
12 1-2 and 15c values
Plain and checked Chambrays, Ginghams and Zephyrs a new lot and guaranteed to give good service, shades of blue, champagne, green, navy helio, red also black checked gingham, 12½c value. In the An'x 10c

PRETTY OIL Paintings 49c
$1.25 value
34 only, pretty oil paintings with wide gilt frames, new subjects, size 22x25 Our regular $1.25 line. In Annex 49c

Large Tapestry Table Covers
$3.00 value $1.59
18 only(8/4) large tapestry table covers, reversible, fringed all round, our very special value at $3. In Annex..... 1.59

Corset Cover EMBROIDERY 12½c
Value 25c
480 yds. wide Corset Cover Embroidery, deeply worked and finished with heading edge; 7 good patterns to choose from. Regular value 25c. In the Annex Wednesday, just half price. 12½c
SEE WINDOW

SEMI BLEACHED Table Linen value 20c 19c
2 pieces only, 56 inches part bleached table linen in neat floral designs, wide border. Regular 29c. In the Annex Wednesday, per yd..... 19c

Washable Eiderdown Comforters
$5 value $2.98
5 only of our guaranteed eiderdown comforters, will wash perfectly, best quality Austrian Covering, always retailed at $5.00 In the Annex Wednesday $2.98

NARROW PANNELETTE EMBROIDERY 10c doz.
4 and 5c yd. values
Narrow pink flannelette embroidery edging and insertions, 1 inch wide, regular price 4 and 5c yd. In the Annex Wednesday, doz. yds..... 10c

WHITE BED SPREADS 89c
$1.25 value
Large double bed size white spreads, heavy marseilles patterns. Our regular $1.25 line In the Annex, Wednesday..... 89c

SOFT WHITE CAMBRIC 8 1-2c
12 1-2c value
A fine soft mercerize finished goods, especially prepared for Women's and Children's undergarments. Valued at 12½c. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 8 1-2c

THE HOME OF THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS

CRESSMAN'S

385-387-389 George Street.
Peterborough, Ontario

BOWLING

A new outfit of ten pins have been purchased by the Peterborough Bowling Club, and were put into use yesterday afternoon for the first time. The game scheduled for last night did not materialize.

Taking of Bribes

(Continued from page one.)

said it;—"Every man has his price." Some men of Peterborough and surrounding country do not place a high value on themselves when they would sell their vote and so sell their body and soul for a $5 bill.

Bribery is a fact. Our courts are bribed. Our legislators are bribed. Our public men are bribed. In every legislation hall in this country and the country to the south of us or any country for that matter, when any important measure is before the house, a measure that is going to affect the moneyed interests of the country, representatives of those interests will be present with well filled purses with no other motive than to buy support for themselves.

There are even ministers of the Gospel who suffer themselves to be bribed. There are men in some of our pulpits, who refuse to lift up their voices against many of the evils of society. It might mean a few hundred dollars less in the revenue of the church.

And yet this righteous man for whom fires of God have no terrors shaketh his hands for taking of bribes. He must do it if he is to stand unabashed, in the fierce light of God's holiness. That light will dissolve all hidden works of darkness. It is the shame and confusion of face; it is the consciousness of guilt and wrong doing that overtakes the guilty sinner in the last great day that leads him to cry, "Rocks fall on us and hide from us the face of Him that sitteth on the throne."

Ploughing in January, Says Mr. Edgcumbe

Writing from Nanton, Alberta to The Times, Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe, a former Peterborough citizen, says in part;

"We are having a little frost here just now. I actually saw an icicle hanging to a man's whiskers today. It was very dark, so he might have been chewing something. But leaving all jokes aside, we have only had about three weeks of what I would call real winter weather. Two weeks ago, a man was plowing in his field a little west of here. About the middle of January the thermometer dropped to 48 degrees below zero, but the atmosphere is so dry here; you don't feel this any more than zero weather down home. I like the winters here, much better. Two weeks ago Sunday, it was so mild I went to church without an overcoat, and I see you had it 18 degrees below."

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

WRESTLING.

Charlie Kaiser of Oswego, N.Y., the wrestler with the wonderful record is here for his match with Hurtubise this evening. He is accompanied by his manager, Mr. Walter W. Wray, Kaiser has bumped up against most artists of all sizes and abilities and is one of the most successful men in the game. He has never lost a straight match and is ready to go out of his class at any time as is shown by the fact that he is matched against Hurtubise who has 40 pounds of weight on the American grappler.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Men Wanted

Wanted men to spend spare time in remunerative employment. Apply Box 1165, Peterborough.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 40 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

King Opens Parliament, Threats by Unemployed

Lovers of Excitement Were Out in Force to See Whether Suffragettes and Unemployed Made Trouble as Threatened

London, Feb. 16.—A greater crowd than usual gathered at Westminster today for the State opening of Parliament by King Edward, who was accompanied to the function by Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and other members of the Royal family.

A day of bright sunshine and the fact that this was the first public appearance of their majesties since their return from Berlin, whither they went last week to visit Emperor William, was largely responsible for the out-pouring of the people who lined the route to Buckingham Palace, and gave the Sovereigns an enthusiastic greeting as they passed in procession, with an escort of the Guards to the House of Parliament.

THREATS BY UNEMPLOYED.

Another and greater crowd had assembled in the immediate vicinity of St. Stephen's. These people were curious to see what would be the outcome of the threats made by the unemployed and the women suffragettes to indulge in demonstrations. The police at this point were out in force and ready to deal with any disturbance.

Within the Chamber the members of the two Houses and a select few who had been invited to witness the actual ceremony expectantly awaited the reading of the King's speech. Urgent whips had been issued by the leaders of both Houses, and they had brought into town a great majority of the members, particularly of the House of Commons, among whom there were only a few absentees.

Some appeared in the House as early as midnight last night to secure seats, and from that hour until midday, with short intervals the stream of members of Parliament made their way into the building.

YE ANCIENT CUSTOM.

Following close upon the heels of the first members to arrive came the quaintly attired Yeomen of the Guard, who, under the escort of a detachment of police, made their customary inspection of the vaults under the two Houses, a formality that has been carried out since the discovery of the Guy Fawkes plot.

The House of Lords, when their Majesties appeared, was filled with peers and peeresses, members of the House of Commons, diplomats, and other representatives of the official and social life of London.

Hurtubise Won From Kaiser in a Handicap Bout at Roller Rink

Mr. Charles Kaiser of Oswego, N. Y., got somewhat of a surprise last night when he lost his handicap bout to Gene Hurtubise, the Peterborough heavyweight. And Kaiser and his manager Walter W Wray didn't do anything to make themselves popular with the audience by kicking up a fuss and taking their defeat in bad grace. As often happens the defeated man blamed it on the referee, who in accordance with Kaiser's own wishes was pressed into service at the last moment and who protested against officiating knowing from experience the thankless task he had to perform. As a matter of obliging the wrestlers he undertook the task and performed it in a faultless manner despite the protest which came from a sore loser. A. C. Yokome, sporting editor of the Review, was the judge of play in question and acted with commendable judgement and fairness. Kaiser was pinned with his two shoulders to the mat for the second fall in 11 minutes flat. A portion of his head and arm were on the floor, but his shoulders were down flat, and that's all the book calls for for a fall. Gene took it on a scissors and arm hold. Kaiser was to throw Hurtubise twice but lost the bout with the one fall against him.

The first fall produced some strenuous and clever wrestling. On two or three occasions before it was secured the local man was in imminent danger, but got out of close calls on some of the best defence work he has done since he has been in the game. His form surprised the audiorn and from the way he worked he should be able to give the Oswego man a hard tussle in a best two out of three match.

At the conclusion of last night's bout the challenged Hurtubise to another bout and offered to bet him $500 to $100 that he could defeat him and his challenge will be taken up.

The spectators were agog at last night's struggle at the roller rink and no more satisfactory exposition of the game was ever given in Peterborough. Kaiser is a lightning wrestler, one of his favorite plays being the scissors hold. He had Hurtubise in tight places with it several times, and when he finally did get him it was with a beautiful head scissors.

In the preliminaries which afforded good sport, Lillie and Chandler drew, and Corney Burns put it all over his opponent, Jack Seymour, an Englishman, and won the decision.

Mr. G. N. Graham refereed the preliminaries in a very satisfactory way.

Lindsay Won Semi-Final

Lindsay, Feb. 16.—Lindsay won the first game of the semi-finals for the O.H.A. intermediate championship by defeating the Toronto Rowing Club team here tonight by a score of 6 goals to 1. The half time score was 3—1. The ice was in good shape and the game was fast and clean. A big crowd filled the rink, including a good crowd from Toronto who came down by special train. The return game will be played in Toronto on Friday night.

Many More Cases of that Mysterious Dread Disease

One Death Occurred During the Night--Doctors Still Discussing--Bad Water the Cause of the Odd Sickness

Montreal, Feb. 16. — Twelve more cases of the mysterious disease which has laid low a large percentage of the residents of the little town of Laprairie were reported today, and here was one death during the night.

Aline Monnette, a young girl, one of the first to be stricken with the disease, died during the night.

The epidemic is still causing a great deal of discussion in medical circles, and the doctors do not seem to be able to throw any more light on the nature of the ailment, though many now claim that it must be a form of typhoid fever.

BAD WATER THE CAUSE.

In view of the strange story of a mysterious sickness from Laprairie, near Montreal, a sickness so terrible that ten per cent of the inhabitants are stricken down, some dead, some dying, and these not yet affected fleeing from the town, the story of a somewhat similar visitation on the little town of Bradford, in North York, 35 or 40 years ago, is of particular interest. The story was told the Star by Dr R H. Robinson, now of Toronto, but formerly of the northern town.

An excursion was run on the little boat Emily May up the Holland River to Barrie. The excursion was largely attended and the little boat was crowded. Dr. Robinson says that on the way the boat pulled in to the bank for a fresh supply of drinking water, which was obtained at a flax mill.

It was very shortly after the return of the party to Bradford that a sickness which Dr. Robinson says corresponded very closely with that reported from Laprairie, broke out, and in many cases proved fatal. Dr Robinson states that the systoms were very similar, and that locally the malady was attributed to the water got at the flax mill.

Locally the disease was, and is still, referred to as ship fever, and its cause on board the Emily May of a number of immigrants recently arrived from Europe.

A Bradford man told the Star this morning that he remembered the outbreak well, but that he had always considered it a virulent type of typhoid, due to polluted water taken from the river. The Holland River is surrounded by thousands of acres of marsh lands, in which he says animals are often lost. He thought the drinking tank of the Emily May had been replenished from the river, and that the disease had thus got its start.

Dying Sister's Trust was Sacredly Held To

Toronto, Feb. 16.—A story containing the elements of deep human interest—being a remarkable departure from the usual sordidness of similar actions, was dealt with by Chancellor Boyd today.

The bare facts are that when a Miss Annie Hamilton of Peterborough, was on her deathbed, she told her mother, brother and sisters gathered about, that she wanted her estate to go to Euphema's children. Euphema was her favorite sister.

Soon afterwards, in 1902, she died, leaving no will.

With no dissent, the family united in agreeing to carry out her wishes, and signed away their rights to any shares of the estate. The proceeds, $1,340.57, was handed to Wm Hamilton, Annie Hamilton's brother.

He agreed to hold it in trust for the children, and finally made a loan of these trust funds of $1,340.57 to the business his father had built up at Peterborough, known as the William Hamilton Mfg. Co., Ltd.

Time went on. The business of the company began to lag. It got worse.

A CRASH INEVITABLE.

The moment came when William Hamilton saw that a crash was inevitable, and that the money given him to conserve by the dead sister for her nephews and nieces would be swept away.

He resolved to snatch this money from the wreck at any cost, and just before the company was declared insolvent, he drew from the assets, $1,349.81, and transferred it to a bank in trust for the children.

Mr. Hamilton, then a comparatively young man, told the officers and directors what he proposed to do. They were chiefly his brothers and sisters, and they said he was doing right.

The situation was, that not only did the brothers and sisters originally give up their legal claim to the estate, but as some of them had shares in the failing company they forfeited further possible loss from this source also—to protect the interests of the children.

ACCEPTED FURTHER LOSS.

Chancellor Boyd could not decide off hand whether the moral right Hamilton had to do as he did, outweighed legal considerations. He reserved judgment.

The Trusts and Guarantee Co., Ltd., liquidators of the William Hamilton Mfg. Co Ltd., were plaintiffs against Hamilton Munro, William, Effie Munro, Reid Munro and Allen Munro, the last three being infants. All parties reside at Peterborough, William Hamilton being president of the Hamilton Co.

COMPANY PETERED OUT.

Prior to December 31, 1905, the company were wholesale manufacturers of sawmill machinery, water wheels, engines, boilers, etc.

On that date the company was de-

(Continued on page four.)

OBITUARY

ANDREW MILLER

Young's Point—The death of Andrew Miller of Smith, which occurred on Wednesday, the 10th inst., removed from this neighborhood one of the oldest and most esteemed residents. The late Mr. Miller was a Scotchman, having been born in Roxboroughshire, Scotland, in Nov 1826. He worked at his trade as a butcher in the town of Gainsville until 1854, when he came to Canada with his father. He followed the business in Hamilton for one year. Then he moved to Smith, lot 31, con. 10, where he has since lived. He was a trustee in the school here for a great while. His wife pre-deceased him about five years ago. The remaining members of the family who will mourn his loss are a daughter and three sons; Miss Aggie, James George and Andrew.

Special Session of County Council

A special meeting of the County Council has been called for next Monday night, when all the members are requested to be present. Warden R. N. Scott of Smith, will occupy the chair and the main item of business will be receiving reports from the various committees which have been out inspecting county bridges.

Committee from Knox Church to Visit Cities to See New Churches

A meeting of the officers of Knox church was held last night for the purpose of taking up the question of building a new church. The work was outlined, but before anything definite is decided upon a committee will visit several cities and towns to get ideas for the building. The following committee was appointed;—Rev. H. J. Keith, Messrs. J. F. Morrison, A. McFeeters, H. Buchanan and J. W. Bennett. They will visit Toronto, Hamilton and Port Hoe and probably some other places. If they do not go away sooner at least part of the committee will go to Toronto on Saturday.

Claims $5,000 Damages for the Loss of an Arm

The winter sittings of the High Court, as was announced a few days ago, will be heard on Monday next before Mr. Justice Clute. There will be two jury cases and one non jury. Particulars of the non jury one have been given and the jury ones are;

CROWLEY VS. C.G.E. (2)

Maurice Crowley, the plaintiff, resides in Peterborough, and was from the 8th of March, 1905, to the 28th day of February, 1908, inclusive, employed by the defendants as a machine attendant in the C.G.E. Works. On or about the 28th day of February, 1908, the plaintiff while being so employed by the defendants, and in the performance of the work required of him, was engaged inputting rubber through one of the calenders and withdrawing the same therefrom, and in the course of such work his hand was caught between the rolls of the machine, his hand and arm being badly crushed, resulting in the loss of the hand and a great part of the arm.

The plaintiff claims that the accident was due to a defect in the condition of the machine, which defect was not due to the negligence of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendants for a considerable length of time prior to the accident knew of the defect, and notwithstanding this, permitted the same to remain in such defective condition.

The plaintiff claims $5000 damages and the costs of the action. O'Connell and Gordon for the plaintiff, Duvernet, Raymond, Jones, Ross and Ardagh, defendants' solicitors.

FOWLER VS. FANNING.

The plaintiff in this case claims Brumwell, $150 and costs for the board of Jane Brumwell, widow, deceased, from the month of October, 1902, until the time of her death in March 1908. At the time of taking up her residence with the plaintiff, the late Jane Brumwell promised to pay for her board and lodging and attendance, but did not during her lifetime. Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr for the plaintiff; Dumble and Johnston for the defendants.

Reserve Judgment in Stratton Appeal

The repeal of Hon. J. R. Stratton to the supreme court against the decision of the Toronto courts in throwing our his objections to the protest entered against his election were heard before the Supreme Court in Ottawa yesterday afternoon and the judgment was reserved.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Three-Year-Old Girl Died from Swallowing Washer

Hamilton, Feb. 16.—Death this morning relieved the suffering of little Myrtle Merritt, the three year-old daughter of Police Constable Merritt, who swallowed an iron washer a week ago.

The washer was larger than a 25 cent piece. The child was playing with it and thrust it in its mouth. It almost choked to death before the mother could call medical assistance. An effort to remove the washer was unsuccessful and the child was removed to the hospital last night for a second operation. This proved fatal.

Property Com. Favors Plan of Local Architect for New Public Library

A meeting of the Property Committee was held yesterday afternoon when the following members were present;—Chairman Ald. Bradburn, Ald. McIntyre, Ald. Duncan and Mayor Stush.

The first matter taken up was that of selling of the old R. Hall property on Simcoe street. The building is empty, and is an expense to the city, while the committee wants to pay for the lot for the new library out of the proceeds of the sale.

Ald. Duncan suggested that a price of $14,000 be placed on the building and that it be placed in the hands of the real estate agents to sell.

Ald McIntyre agreed with Ald Duncan and put it in the form of a resolution which was carried.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Plans were received from McLean & Wright, of Boston, Mass., and Messrs. Wm Blackwell and John Belcher of the city for a new public library. Both architects submitted elaborate plans, well gotten up and for modern and handsome buildings. The plan submitted by Messrs McLean & Wright, provided for a very handsome building, but Messrs. Blackwell and Belcher's plans gave a little more room which was a desirable feature. The majority of the committee were in favor of submitting the plans of the local architects to the council for consideration. The opposite of the pair by Messrs McLean & Wright was the better, but the interior layout of the others was preferred.

Chairman Bradburn stated that this thing must be settled at once if the building is to be gone on with this spring, so that it will in all probability be settled on Friday night when the Committee of the Whole Council will be held, which plan will be adopted.

There is one thing in favor of the plans of the Boston firm and that is that the structure that they propose to erect is something entirely different to the ordinary run of building in the city now.

THE MARKET.

The chairman introduced the question of the market which he said would have to be settled very soon. The market does not pay as much money now as it used to when sold

(Continued on page four.)

Whitcroft's Boys are After Another Title

Nelson, B.C., Feb. 16.—The Edmonton hockey team, champions of Western Canada, last night defeated Nelson, champions of British Columbia, by a score of 6 to 5.

The game was the fastest ever seen in British Columbia, and the score tells how close the play was. This was further shown by the fact that the score was tied no less than five times, the winning tally for Edmonton being put in just three minutes before the call of time.

The game was witnessed by close on 2,000 people, even standing room being at a premium. Among those present were hockey enthusiastics from all parts of the interior of British Columbia within a hundred miles of Nelson. The second game of the series will be played on Wednesday night. For this game excursions are being run to Nelson from the boundary country and Rossland.

Royal Club of Curlers Beaten by Canadians

Glasgow, Feb. 16.—The Canadian curlers were shown through Balmoral Castle yesterday, and afterwards played on Balmoral pond against rinks from Balmoral, Ballater, and Braemar.

The score was; Canadians 54, Royal Club 45.

While at Balmoral the Canadian curlers sent a loyal message to the King, and received a reply expressing the King's cordial thanks, and hoping that they enjoyed their visit.

Money-Lenders Cause Stir in Ottawa

In the present stir in Ottawa regarding usury, says the Journal, there has not seemed to be much recognition of the fact that no man can be forced to pay usury, even if he has borrowed from usurers. If any money lender charges more than a rate of interest fixed by law is from 10 to 12 per cent the borrower can refuse to pay; or if he has paid, can sue to get back the over charge.

Of course, what the money-lender relies on is that a borrower will not kick, for fear of publicity. On the other hand, the law being what it is, we beg to point out that any borrower who is charged more than 12 per cent. is perfectly safe in kicking, inasmuch as the money-lender would be in fear both of publicity and jail. Any one, therefore, who has received or can get money from anybody else upon a promise to pay more than 12 per cent. has only to tender 12 per cent. and make a bluff, and he is perfectly safe. Of course, we do not recommend this course of action. It fights greed by bad faith. But there may be occasions.

Letter to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—With your permission I would like to use a little space in your paper. Some time ago the Water Commissioners submitted a proposition to the City Council for a new dam, pump house and plant for the water works. They ask for $120,000 from the people. The scheme they laid before the council was a very pretty one, and the addresses of the commissioners were very flowery. The people are presumably supposed to swallow that the same as a child takes sulphur and molasses in the spring. But, I will tell the commissioners, that there is a surprise waiting for them. They can not hand out a $120,000 pill with a little sugargy talk and expect the people to bite. The times have been too hard for a couple of years to spend money without knowing what it is for. The commissioners may know what they are doing, at least I will give them that much credit, but the people do not know and they have just as much right to know as the commissioners have. I would suggest to the Water Commissioners, who are by the way, salaried officials, to give the people full information as to their doings. Take the public into their confidence, no harm can result if the new water works plan is necessary, and if the scheme is all right. The city council had several money by-laws turned down, because the people were left in the dark, and the water works by-law will meet the same fate if presented under similar conditions.

Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

Mr. A. Audebert, of Cognac, France, is registered at the Hotel National.

Messrs Reynolds and Rutledge of Campbellford, were in the city on Saturday.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objection of the more intelligent to the use of secret medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and to inaugurate a most liberal and complete system of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has given the lie to the numerous imitators who have sought to counterfeit his formulas, and such exceptional faith in his remedies has he inspired that he is not afraid to submit them to the most critical scrutiny.

A full list of every bottle of his Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering it, and a booklet has been compiled from numerous standard medical works of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents, and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," debilitated and debilitated women, were employed long years ago, by the Indians for similar classes affecting their squaws. In fact, many of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, suppressions, intermission and perversions, overcoming painful periods, as "dog on a horse and whistling about a pumped stated basis. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

ARE YOU DEAF?

Hundred of perfect recoveries from are reported as a result of the use of Catarrhosone.

The result of actual experience proves that ninety cases in every hundred can be cured, and stay cured, of impaired hearing by the regular use of Catarrhosone.

Among the many prominent business men whose hearing has been restored by Catarrhosone, might be mentioned Mr. Geo. W. Warner of 253 Wellesley street, Toronto, and Mr. William Jones, contractor, of Halifax, N.S. Both these gentlemen have testified to the merits of Catarrhosone as a valuable cure for deafness, and their statements prove beyond all question that Catarrhosone cures impaired hearing and even total deafness.

The efficiency of Catarrhosone is placed beyond dispute by its long list of successful cures, and on the highest authority we can recommend it to our readers. It is a very simple remedy to use, and never causes confusion or gets out of order.

Catarrhosone Inhaler is beautifully polished and made of hard rubber. It is suitable to carry in the vest pocket, and can be used in the church, theater, street car, at any time, in any place. The complete outfit costs but $1.00 and last two months. Trial size 50c. Sold by druggists or sent to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published in Peterborough, Ontario, and is widely circulated throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the city at 25 cents per month, payable monthly, or $5 per year, payable in advance.

Subscribers desiring the paper discontinued at the end of their term will please notify the office of The Morning Times, or they will be furnished with a notice in writing to that effect.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives the complete news each morning up to four o'clock.

Editorial Office—30 Lombard street, London, E.C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors,

Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17 1909

RUSSIA PROMOTING PEACE

According to a telegram the other day from St. Petersburg, which was confirmed by another from Sofia, Russia has proposed a plan for adjusting the difference between Turkey and Bulgaria as regards the amount of compensation which the former power should receive for recognizing Bulgarian independence. It will be recalled that the Ottoman Government originally named $74,000,000 as the irreducible minimum, whereas Bulgaria has refused to pay more than $16,000,000. As the Bulgarian treasury is empty it would be impracticable to provide even the smaller amount named without a foreign loan.

This loan Russia offers to make in the following way: The Berlin treaty imposed upon Turkey the payment to Russia as a war indemnity of $1,600,000 annually for a hundred years. Russia now proposes to remit these annual instalments of the indemnity until the Turkish claim of $24,000,000 against Bulgaria shall have been satisfied. From Bulgaria, on the other hand, Russia will accept as a quid pro quo annual payments amounting in the aggregate to $16,000,000. On the face of the transaction Russia would seem to be a loser to the extent of $8,000,000. The loss will be made good, however, owing to the fact that the instalments of the Turkish indemnity do not bear interest, whereas interest will be exacted on the instalments collected by Russia from Bulgaria.

It is obvious that by accepting this arrangement Turkey would escape for fifteen years the necessity of paying annual instalments of indemnity to Russia. It is true that she would not obtain a large lump sum in cash of which she is in urgent need. This, however, she is to get from Austria, which has finally agreed to hand over forthwith in cash the whole of the $11,800,000 fixed upon as an equivalent for the annexation of Bosnia and the Herzegovina. Turkey's immediate pecuniary necessities would thus be supplied.

The Russian proposal may not be accepted by Turkey without some modification. The Ottoman Council of Ministers lately decided that redemarcation of the frontier of Eastern Rumelia was indispensable for the proper defence of the Ottoman territory. It is to be hoped, however, that the joint influence of Great Britain, France and Russia will avail to remove this last obstacle to the pacification of southeastern Europe. There is not much time to be lost, for with the coming of spring the adventurous will be more keenly felt by the Bulgarians and Servians.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. Every cough, even from a simple cold only, you should prevent heal, soothe, and cure the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppose it with a counterfeit poison. It's strange how many things are called cough cures. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has been making varied preparations containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—this Dr. Shoop Cough Cure—Dr. Shoop says: Put it on the label if poisons can be found in Shoop's Cough Cure." Quick? Why of course it is. Else why would Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure be the favorite with millions of mothers, and users in the professions, that it is? Ask you by on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said by by by those that know it best, a truly reliable cough remedy. Take no chance with coughs, particularly with your children. Listen up for Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop formula with others and note the difference. No poison marks them! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure

"ALL DEALERS"

MOVING BIG TREES.

An Expensive Undertaking, Sometimes Requiring a Year.

Trees of a very great size can be moved successfully if time and money are of no account, but it is an expensive process and should be attempted only where immediate effect is wanted or in the case of a rare variety that requires to be removed and cannot be replaced.

To prepare a large tree for removal, says Horticulture, a deep trench should be dug around the tree from five to seven feet from the base of the tree and working under so as to cut off all the roots possible without disturbing the hole.

The ends of the roots should all be cut smooth and the trench filled up with a good compost of peat, rotten sods and manure and left for a year, when a second trench can be opened at the outside of the first and the tree carefully undermined with a pick, so as to remove the soil with as little injury to the young fibers as possible, and the tree carefully drawn over so as to cut whatever taproot may have been left.

If a supply of bass mats is at hand they can be carefully bound around the ball of earth, and if it is not too large it can be loaded on a drag and drawn to the place of planting, where the hole has been prepared beforehand.

If too large for a drag the ball of earth may be surrounded by boards or layers of hay and straw firmly bound with cords, a few boards passing underneath and the whole fastened to the stem, which should be well wrapped with hay or woollen material before any force for lifting is applied. It can then be raised with the use of a derrick on to a truck and taken to the desired place, lowered in the hole, the binding taken off, the roots carefully spread and the soil well worked in among them and well firmed.

Large trees can also be transplanted by digging around them in winter and allowing the earth around them to be frozen solid, having the ground prepared previously and covered with coarse material to keep out the frost, and removing them on a sled to their destination.

Hospitality Awaits Estate Claimants.

At Gopsall, Leicestershire, England, where Lord Howe has entertained the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess Torby, there is a plantation of three hundred Wellingtonias planted by the first Lord Howe to commemorate the birthday of his thirteen children. In the drawing-room of the hall hang superb paintings by Murillo, Rembrandt, Teniers, and Van Dyck. Other treasures are original manuscripts of Handel, who was often a guest at the house, and a dinner service for sixteen people in solid gold, the gift of Queen Adelaide to the present peer's grandfather, who acted as her Lord Chamberlain. The hall, which was built in the reign of George III., cost $500,000. In the gardens is a memorial erected by Pope to his mother, which bears the inscription, "Best of mothers, most loving of women. Farewell." Lord Howe, who descends from "Black Dick," the famous admiral, and was born on April 28, 1861, is patron of no less than eleven livings, and owns about 25,000 acres. He is one of the most envied of men judging by the number of claimants to his title and estates. Some time ago he facetiously declared that he kept a dining table at Gopsall Hall ready at all hours for the visit of anyone who thinks he has a claim.

Gave Him a Brilliant Idea.

On a journey from Vienna to St. Petersburg Mr. Stuart Cumberland, the English thought-reader, entertained his fellow passengers by guessing their thoughts. One of the travellers, a Polish Jew, who took the whole thing for a hoax, offered to make Cumberland the sum of fifty roubles if he could divine his thoughts. Cumberland acceded to the request, and, seeing the chance of a joke, said: "You are going to the fair at Nishni-Novgorod, where you intend to purchase goods to the extent of twenty thousand roubles, after which you will declare yourself bankrupt and compound with your creditors for 3 per cent." On hearing these words the Jew gazed at the speaker with reverential awe, and without uttering a word he drew out of the leg of his Wellington boot a shabby purse, and handed over the fifty roubles to Cumberland. Thereupon the thought-reader triumphantly exclaimed, "Then I guessed your thoughts, eh?" "No, you didn't," replied the Jew, "but you have given me a brilliant idea!"

Disenchanted.

"Yes," she admitted, with a sad little sigh, "there was a time when I thought him the grandest man in the world—when I fancied that nothing could ever make me cease to love him."

"Well," her friend replied, "I suppose we are all doomed to these disenchanting experiences. We have only to become acquainted with a man to discover that he is not the god we had supposed him to be."

"But it wasn't becoming acquainted with him that destroyed my ideal. I am sure that I could still think him splendid if I had never seen him in riding breeches."

An Old Story.

Once when Rudyard Kipling was a boy he ran out on the yardarm of a ship.

"Mr. Kipling," yelled a sailor, "your boy is on a yardarm, and if he lets go he'll drown!"

"Ah," responded Mr. Kipling, with a yawn, "but he won't let go!"

This incident also happened to John Burns, Horace Walpole, Napoleon Bonaparte, Dick Turpin, Julius Caesar, and the Kaid McTooki. Presently it will "happen" again.—Answers.

Cinematograph by Wire.

A Stockholm engineer named Grell has obtained a patent for an invention by means of which not only photographs, but also "animated pictures" may be sent and received by means of the ordinary telegraphic apparatus.

Italian Wedding

There will be a wedding in the local Italian quarter in the course of a few days. A young lady from Italy has arrived in Peterborough and will be married in a few days to a native of King Victor Emmanuel's kingdom, who has resided in this city for two or three years. This will be the second Italian wedding in Peterborough this year.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

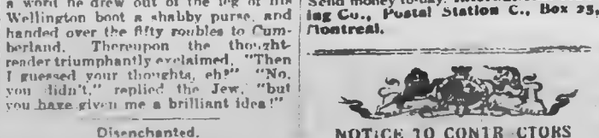
Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN

106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.



NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops etc. of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 18th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

F. H. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,

Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Articles for Sale

Three Second Hand Caligraph Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to H. C., 249 1-2 Water street, evenings.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform with the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in its brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

make you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION

TORONTO AND RETURN $2.80 FROM PETERBORO

Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 23

Return limit Feb. 26. Apply to

W. McILROY,
C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office
130 St James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30

From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from

W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT

DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cotton Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the line of wedding presents at sacrifice prices. January sale of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

BANKS.

THE

HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street, E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING

LOCAL AGENTS:

Peterboro Hardware Co

METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729

William St. TORONTO

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont, Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Clifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two epidotized veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses on the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 60 chains from the Blanche and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 160 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 40 acres in the new Benanna district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 20th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. LeVesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 800,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 250,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $400; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 2000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 16th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one book, or one preparation only; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & S. G. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their increase by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them means money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for specific name. See future advertisements, etc.

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a rise" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit" the questioner cries out: "Aha! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear, I am sure, but tell me, then, what is electricity anyway."

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—that is, its ability to do work—the electrician multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one, "just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?

"Diamond" Fiasco Recalled.

As the name suggests, Sir Julius Wernher is of German ancestry. He was born at Darmstad fifty-eight years ago, the son of Gen. Friedrich August Wernher, of the German army, and the application and energy which he has shown throughout his career are aptly typified by the "head of a grappling-iron, argent," which appears on his coat-of-arms. He was created a baronet three years ago. Sir Julius is a striking-looking man, who certainly has a wonderfully fine taste for all things beautiful. He is said to have paid the Leigh trustees $1,250,000 for the historic mansion and estate of Luton Hoo, England, so long the home of that delightful person, the late Madame de Falde. He also purchased Bath House, the curious yellow mansion situated at the corner of Piccadilly and Bolton street, London, which he entirely redecorated and filled with the loveliest and rarest pictures, china, and enamels. It will be remembered that some time ago Sir Julius sustained a big loss, for the Lemoine fiasco diamond failed to materialize at the given moment. People wondered how so hard-headed a man as Sir Julius could have been taken in by the enterprising Frenchman, but it subsequently transpired that he was only carrying out an agreement entered into by his partner in the business, the late Mr. Alfred Beit.

His Latin Helped.

There was a famous British officer, Lieut.-Gen. Sir George Murray, who served in the expedition to Egypt. When before Alexandria the troops having suffered severely from want of water, his literary acquirements were of the greatest service, instructing him that Caesar's army had been in the same predicament. Referring to his "Caesar" (which he always carried in his portable library), he found his recollection right—that water had been obtained by the Romans from wells dug at a certain spot in the sands. A trial was immediately made, and the result was a copious supply. The British troops braced up and conquered Egypt.

Father of Triplets at Eighty-Two.

A woman living in Columbus, Georgia, gave birth to triplets, the father of whom is 82 years of age. The happy couple are now the parents of twenty-five children. The inhabitants of Columbus, who are very proud of their fellow-citizens, claim that this is a world's record.

Pawnshop In Magistrate's Office.

A novelty in pawnshops is to be found in Ichang, China. The town contains a small pawnshop in the magistrate's office, run by the prisoners. The rate of interest is about 3-4d. per 1s. 6d. per month, except during the last three months of the year, when it is reduced to about 1-2d.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important—Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed the "stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse, Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

A ROMANCE OF QUEBEC

BEAUTIFUL COUNTESS MUST SELL FAMOUS HEIRLOOMS.

Widow of Count Bois-Hebert-Gaste, Now Living Quietly at Richmond, Que., Arranges Novel Plan of Disposing of Priceless Collection of Relics—She Has Some Beautiful Articles of Vertu.

In the comparative seclusion of the modest home of a French-Canadian doctor in Richmond, Que., there is at present residing a lady connected closely by marriage with a number of the highest houses of the old French aristocracy, and particularly with the House of the Orleanist pretenders.

This interesting personage is the Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, widow of the late Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste and Tilly, Marquis of Blaru, who was connected with the famous Royalist family of de Tilly, and a scion of the royal house of Orleans. The late count was a man of considerable wealth, owning estates in the Hawaiian Islands and a number of mines in California. Most of the wealth he left at his death to the countess in trust for their infant son, along with family heirlooms and jewelry worth hundred of thousands of dollars. To this son, who was named after the French Pretender Louis Philippe and was a godson of the same noble, the titles also descended but some time ago the boy died, and these titles reverted to an indirect branch of the family, leaving, however, the heirlooms and jewelry, together with a large portion of the late count's belongings and properties, in the hands of the countess.

The Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, who is thus in possession of a collection of jewelry ranking as one of the finest collections of art and historical treasures at present owned by any private person, is of French-Canadian birth, being the daughter of Dr. Rochette, of Richmond, Que. Through him she is connected with the Tachereau and Angers families, both of which are intimately associated with the history of the province and of the Dominion. On her mother's side she is also connected with the famous Scottish house of the Earls of Dalhousie, one of whom was governor of Canada from 1820 to 1828, long before the confederation of the British North American colonies. She was thus to a certain extent fitted by birth to take up the duties of the high rank she attained by her marriage with the Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste.

Although her father was only a country doctor in Richmond, Mlle. Rochette was given a first-class education, studying first at a convent in the neighborhood of Montreal, and later completing her education with a polishing course in European centres. This scheme of education, combined with the natural talent of the country doctor's daughter, succeeded in turning out a young woman of unusual accomplishment, and Mlle. Rochette soon became well known as one of the brightest and most beautiful young society women of the time. For a time it was doubtful whom she would choose of all her many admirers.

Her choice at last fell on the young Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, one of the most-sought-after catches of Paris at the time, and the pair were married with the prospect of a long and happy married life. Youth and fortune favored them, and the fact that they were deeply in love with each other served to make the union a most fortunate one while it lasted. But the end came a few years after the marriage. The young count died, and the beautiful widow was left with only her one young son to preserve the name and blood of her husband.

After the death of her husband, the Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste devoted all her attention to the upbringing of the young count, who was a mere boy, and one of a very delicate constitution. Everything that wealth could do to build up his health was done. The best physicians of two continents were called on to lend their aid, but despite the utmost efforts of science, the frail body was unable to overcome the attacks of disease, and the child who held in his veins the last blood of the direct line of his house gradually sank until finally, some years ago, he died. The titles thereupon reverted to a distant branch of the family.

The art and jewelry treasures of the family did not go with the titles, but remained the property of the young countess, who, however, has no use to which to put more than a comparatively small proportion of them. Now she has determined to let some of them go rather than have them lying unseen, as they have been for years, in a safety deposit vault in Quebec.

The collection, or the part of it which is to be disposed of, will not be put on sale in the regular way, as the countess wishes to have the pieces stay in hands where they will be properly appreciated and cared for.

The countess has a certain amount of patriotic feeling on the subject, and prefers to have the pieces kept together in some Canadian institution.

For this reason she has recently been negotiating with a number of convents, colleges and other institutions in Montreal, in order to dispose of the heirlooms by means of a sort of competition, by which the students of the different institutions will endeavor to outdo each other in soliciting subscriptions for acquiring the portion of the collection which is to be disposed of.

While it is expected that a large amount of money will be subscribed by the wealthy supporters of the various Catholic institutions of Montreal, it is of course impossible for the sum to reach anywhere near the amount that would be realised if the heirlooms were disposed of through the ordinary channels, but the Countess de Bois-Hebert-Gaste is quite willing to accept the smaller return because of the fact that her collection will be in hands where its sentimental as well as its intrinsic value will be appreciated.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a gentlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 20 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MEMORIAL TO VANCOUVER.

West Proposes to Honor the Name of Explorer of Pacific Coast.

The Vancouver Province deals interestingly with a proposition to place some fitting memorial—as a tribute from British Columbians, and especially from the people of Vancouver—in the church in Surrey, England, in which the eminent navigator, Captain George Vancouver lies buried.

The Province says: "We feel sure that this suggestion will meet with the approval of many of our readers. It is not exactly to our credit that the last resting-place of a man so intimately and so exemplarily connected with our early history should have nothing to mark it beyond the ordinary and customary gravestone that in a frugal and simpler age was placed there by family affection—no more, in fact, than was usually accorded the graves in which 'the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep!'

"We have opened up communication with the rector of the church, in whom, according to English ecclesiastical law, the freehold of the church and churchyard is vested, and who is responsible for the care and upkeep of the fabric. It is proposed to call, as soon as possible, a meeting of the subscribers to the fund, to discuss the form the memorial shall take, so that a definite suggestion from the donors may accompany their gift. Should this proposal meet with public favor it may later come within the bounds of possibility to erect a monument in commemoration of Captain Vancouver in Stanley Park. An obelisk of dignified proportions on Prospect Point, overlooking the narrows up which he sailed more than a century ago on his way to the inlet that he named after Sir Henry Burrard, of the royal navy, would seem to be a suitable memorial. Besides perpetuating the memory of the great navigator it would be an object of interest to visitors and a landmark to those who follow the sea and come up the passage that he dared when its waters were unchartered and unknown. For such a worthy object the co-operation of our school children might be obtained, and we feel sure it would excite a kindred interest to that evoked by the monument they placed in Stanley Park to the memory of the late Queen Victoria."

Tricking the Hospitals.

Sometimes police ambulance drivers have to take people with assumed complaints to the hospitals, against their better diagnosis.

Driver John Egan of Toronto had two of these experiences last week, the second being on Saturday night, when Edward Thwaits hobbled into W. J. Nichol's drug store, 170 East King street, calling for an ambulance because he had slipped and broken his leg.

"Can you pay your hospital bill?" asked Egan.

"No, I have no money. The city's got to look after me."

"I thought so," murmured Egan as his patient used both limbs to climb into the conveyance.

He is entered on the hospital register as "an alcoholic."

Earlier in the week P. C. Egan was called to a corner on Church street. Two frantic phone messages to the effect that a woman was dying, gingered his flight.

He found a well-known character lying on the pavement groaning fearfully with a crowd of sympathetic people around her. Shriek after shriek were let out as she was being lifted to the stretcher. Egan had carried her before and she was shamming; but his suspicions were not received sympathetically by the onlookers. After a thorough examination at the hospital she was commanded by the physician to stop her noise and walk down the corridor. In her towering indignation she walked straight out of the building like an enraged Juno. This was the third time she had done this caper.

Bernier's Successor.

Mr. Noe Chevrier, the Winnipeg merchant, who has been appointed to fill the Manitoba vacancy in the Senate, caused by the death of Senator Thomas A. Bernier, was born at Rigaud, Vaudreuil county, Quebec, in the early fifties, and took his classical training at College Bourget, Rigaud. He then joined his father at Ottawa, where he launched out into commercial life in the clothing business.

After a few prosperous years in business in Ottawa, Mr. Chevrier, with his family, went to Winnipeg in 1871, and was one of the pioneer merchants of the west, starting a clothing and fur store on Main street, which he still maintains. The firm of Chevrier & Sons is one of the largest concerns of the kind in the west, and the senior partner is widely known throughout the western country as a commercial pioneer of high repute, and a man of sound judgment and upright business principles.

Suit For $22,000,000.

A suit for an estate in Walkerville, Essex County, valued at $22,000,000, and which, if won, will make C. H. Labadie treasurer of the Hamilton National Insurance Co., of South Bend, Ind., richer by $8,800,000, will be started in Toronto, according to a recent despatch from Laporte, Ind.

Hiram Walker purchased the estate from an uncle of Labadie, into whose hands it had come from Labadie's grandfather. This transaction, according to the allegation which will be made, was in no sense legal, as the uncle only held the estate in trust and had no right to dispose of it.

Labadie, who has been empowered to act as attorney by the several heirs, asserts that if the case is lost in Toronto it will be taken to the Chancery Court of London. On the estate is the Walker distillery.

C.P.R. Industrial Department.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has established an industrial department in Winnipeg in connection with their extensive offices, for the purpose of encouraging the development of cities, towns, and villages along its lines in the west.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, surely. Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

LIST OF BARGAINS

SALE ON FROM JAN. 30 TO FEB. 15, 1909

View and Comic Post Cards, per dozen.....	.10
Valentine Comic Post Cards, per dozen.....	.15
Magazines, 1908 dates, to clear out at, each.....	.05
Novels by the best authors, are now selling at 3 for.....	.25
Novels, some of which are slightly shop worn, each.....	.05
Large Wire Post Card Racks, selling at only.....	.15
A big assortment of Cups and Saucers, (Royal Stafford ware), two for only.....	.18
Pitchers, Fern Pots, Pickle Trays and Butter Plate, only	.15
Sugar and Creams, Vases and Trays, two for.....	.25
Glass Water Pitchers, large glass and bisque Ornaments	.34
Biscuit Jars, with nice nickle top and handle, for only.....	.35

Mail Orders Filled Promptly

TIMES BOOKSTORE

HUNTER STREET :: PETERBORO

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

To be had at all first-class dealers

GREAT LABOUR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen-written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china.

Call and see it in operation at the

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

WINTER ASSIZES.

The Winter Assizes of the High Court will be heard on Monday, the twenty-second of this month, before the honorable Mr. Justice Clute. So far there are no jury cases to come up but one non-jury case has been fyled.

It is that of Wm. Solomon Northey, the sole surviving executor of the estate of the late Richard Parnell against George Edmison and Albert Dixon, formerly carrying on business in partnership under the firm name of Edmison & Dixon. The plaintiff sold two properties of the estate, the money for which the plaintiff claims was collected by the defendants. Although requested many times to give an account of the money received.

363 - 365 GEORGE STREET — 160 - 162 SIMCOE STREET

The Second Week of the TURNBULL Underbought Homefurnishing Sale.

Big Useful Substantial Amounts may be Saved by buying Wednesday

3 ply All wool Carpet 79c

Best quality 3-ply all wool carpet 22 ounces to the yard, full 36 ins. wide in clear bright reversible patterns sold everywhere $1.00. Wednesday a yd 79c

$13.50 Iron Beds Complete $8.95

White enamelled iron bed with brass top rail and heavy brass caps and knobs, complete with woven wire springs and fancy blue art sateen mattress, best $13.50 line. Wed. only.... $8.95

50c Linoleum sq yd. 28½c

Heavy quality English cork Linoleum in floral or black patterns, 2 yds wide best 50c lines. Wed. only a sq. yd 28 1-2c

Nottingham Lace Curtains 59c

Nottingham Lace Curtains, 3 and 3 1-2 yds. long. Up to 54 ins. wide, all new patterns, finished with lock stitched edges, Wed., only .. 59c

40c Curtain Poles 25c

White Enamelled Pole, 1 in. x 5 ft. long, complete with heavy English burnished brass ends and brackets. Wednesday 25c

10.00 and 12.50 English Tapestry Squares, $6.98

Good quality English Tapestry Squares woven on heavy linen back with close worsted wool surface, in all the new colorings. Sizes, 3x3, 3x3½ and 3x4 yards. Worth up to $12.50. Wed. only.... $6.95

Sweeping Reductions in Net and Silk Waists

A general clean-up of odd lines, 41 in the lot. Net, Jap Silk and Taffeta in White Cream, Ecru and Black. Sizes from 34 to 44 bust, mostly 34 and 36. Were $3.00, $3.60 and $5.00. Wednesday your choice for $1.98

$1.50 White Gowns 98c

Women's Night Dresses of fine English Cambric, in pull over style, yoke and sleeves trimmed with fine Swiss embroidery. Regular Price $1.50, Wed .. 98c

39c Women's Drawers 25c

Women's Drawers in closed style made of fine cambric, with three rows of tucking and hemstitching, sizes 25 and 27. Best 39c line in the trade, Wednesday 25c

$1.00 Kid Gloves 59c

A clean up of odd pairs, mostly Perrin's $1.00 lines. Wednesday only 59c

Children's Plaid Top Sox

Children's Mercerised Sox in tan or white grounds with top of leg in blue, pink, mauve or black check or plaid, on Wed 25c

Cashmere Hose 25c.

We have just received another shipment of those women's heavy ribbed cashmere hose at a pr. 25c

THESE PRICES ARE FOR WEDNESDAY ONLY

Taffeta Ribbons Half Price

Taffeta Ribbons in all the popular shades, also cream, white and black, Wednesday exactly half price—

7c width 3½c | 15c width 7½c
10c width 5c | 20c width 10c

22c Ginghams 15c

If you want service in a wash material buy Scotch Ginghams. All the new stripes, checks and plaids in the 22c lines Wed'y. 15c

$1.75 Flannelette Gowns 1.19

Several odd lines of Flannelette gowns in whites and pinks, worth up to $1.75, Wednesday $1.19

Flannelettes only 4 1-2c yd.

On Wednesday we will sell a fair quality striped Flannelette at per yard, only 4 1-2c

Pillow Cases 2 for 25c

2 for 25c is cheaper than you can buy the material. All sizes. Only one day at this price.

Table Oilcloth 19c

White, Marble or any fancy color in Table Oilcloth. Best quality made, 45 inches wide. Wednesday per yard 19c

20c English Percales, 1 yd. wide, 10c

English Percales in stripes and checks, full yard wide, suitable for waists, dresses and wrappers, absolutely fast colors. Regular price 20c, Wednesday 20

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell Phone—Office 463; House 483.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1909

Going Out of Business

Stroud's tea store is going out of business and expect to close their doors this week. All the goods are being packed and shipped to Montreal. Mr. Wm. Stroud will remain in the city but he has not yet decided what he will do.

Will Hold Banquet on March 18

Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, has decided upon March 1st for the date of their banquet to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the inception of the lodge. A meeting is called for Friday night of this week at which a large attendance is requested as important business will be considered. Dr. Stanley, chairman of the Medical Board, representing the high court, will be present.

Will Give Address

At the seventh annual meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association to be held in Toronto, March 3rd and 4th next, Mr. G. W. Bennet, clerk of North Monaghan Township, will speak on "Township Road Management." Mr. Bennet should be able to make an informal contribution to the discussion of the subject. He has for a long time been officially and actively associated with road making activities in a township which has taken a leading part in reducing the trouble of township roads to an effective system.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

It is not generally known that Mr. Herbert C. Cox, who was recently made chairman of the committee in charge of the Toronto symphony Orchestra, is responsible for its present visit to Peterborough. What makes the event more interesting is the fact that this is the first appearance of the orchestra outside of Toronto, and the musical treat which is in store for the people of Peterborough on 26th instant, will be enhanced by the fact that in this connection no effort has been spared to make the concert a great success. The program has been very carefully arranged, and is of a character to appeal to everyone. Mr. Frank S. Welsman is a talented musician, and so invests his work with touches of human sympathy that to hear this orchestra play is a revelation to many people who have considered the music of the old masters too deep for their comprehension.

The numbers which appear on his programs are interpreted with a feeling, and a power of understanding, which makes the evening delightful to all who have the privilege of hearing his remarkable band of musicians. The details of the proposed visit will be announced from time to time, and that many are looking forward to the event is shown by the large number of subscriptions which have been forwarded to Mr. Walter Stocker, who has charge of the subscription list.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Letter to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir.—To my way of thinking, the people of Peterborough certainly got stung at the Grand Opera House on Monday night. What was supposed to be a great show turned out to be a farce and a fizzle. One of the strong features of the advertisements was that the company only stopped at six cities in Canada. The other cities may feel complimented by the snub. If Daniel Ryan and his associate players do not know any more about other things than they do about "A Royal Lover," they should put on a cold front, and hang out the charity sign so the public will at least know what to expect, and if the opera house management is catering to the better class of people they will have to use better judgment in selecting plays than they have in the past. You can fool some of the people part of the time but you cannot fool all the people all the time.

Yours truly,
ONE OF THE AUDIENCE

WEDDING BELLS

REDMAN—HEARD

On Saturday night a quiet wedding was celebrated at the parsonage of the Park street Baptist church, when Miss Edith Heard, daughter of Mr James Heard, of Bridgenorth, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Redman, of Dayton, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Ruddiford.

CURLING.

The following are the curling scores for last night's games:

J. D. Craig	O. LaBelle
J. Davidson	B. Lanier
B. F. Ackerman	S.J.S ubb.
Dr. Eastgwood—5	D. Fraser—12
Collier	H. Taylor
M. C. Tooley	J. D. Collins
R. Carton	Dr McCulloch
J. Knapman—9	E. B. Clegg—13
S. Rush	R. Hall
H. Evans	W. Taylor
W. T. Hall	R. Cameron
L. Hall—19.	G. Ferguson—7
F. S. Cross	G. Hall
Dr. Cameron	R. J. Winch
D. B. Dennison	G.M.Rodger
J. H. Ferguson—18.	G. B. Stevenson 16

Men Wanted

Wanted men to spend spare time in remunerative employment. Apply Box 1169, Peterborough.

BIG G TRADE MARK

CURES MEN & WOMEN

Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

The Evans Chemical Co. CINCINNATI, O. U.S.A.

PERSONAL

Mr. A. C. Donlon, Havelock, is at the Oriental.

Mrs H. M. Harper, Downie street, will not receive today.

Mr. C. E. Canfield, Burlington, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. Maurice Lowry of Toronto, was down from the city for a few days.

Lakefield citizens have announced an at-home to be held on Monday evening next.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all druggists.

Miss Olive Parker of Parry Sound, is the guest of her father, Mr. A.M. Parker, 206 Perry street.

Mr. J. N. Hagerman of Peterborough, was in town over Sunday, visiting friends.—Port Hope Guide.

Invitations have been issued by the Belmont Club for an at-home to be given on Monday evening next in the Conservatory Music Hall.

Lindsay Free Press, Miss Eva Sherwood of Peterborough, spent Saturday in town; Miss Bennet and Miss Adams spent Sunday in Peterborough.

Mr. A. Martin of Peterborough, was in town today.—Mr. J. Maley of Peterborough, is transacting business in town and district.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Walton left Monday night for their home in North Dakota, after spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Middleton.

Mr. Herbert Cunningham of Alameda, Sask., is home on a visit to his father, Mr. Robert Cunningham, North Monaghan. He has been in the West for four years.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Burdill will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Burdill and her three children are rapidly recovering from their attack of scarlet fever.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

One of the fashionable social events of this week was Mrs Hughes-Charles at-home from four to six o'clock yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Pearl Lundy, whose engagement to Mr. E. P. Clarkson, C.E., of Toronto, has been announced.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Mr James Thompson, M.P.P. left for Toronto yesterday morning for the session of the Ontario Legislature which opened yesterday afternoon.

It is learned that the city of New Westminster, B.C., has made an offer to Mr. R. B. Rogers, C.E., of this city, to prepare the plans for and to secure his services to superintendent the erection of an immense dam near that city. The dam will be sixty feet high, flooding a large area.

S.O.E. Received Supreme Officers

A very large gathering of members of the Sons of England in Peterborough, and a large contingent from Lodge Exeter, No. 69, Lakefield, took place in the Sons of England Hall, Hunter street, Monday night. The occasion was the visit of Bro. James Bozall, of Lindsay, supreme past president; Bro. John A. Aldridge, of Toronto, past supreme president; and Bro. John W. Carter, of Toronto, supreme secretary. During the regular meeting the supreme officers gave a resume of the work of the Sons of England for the last twenty-five or thirty years and showed where the funds of the order had gone.

After the business part of the evening a social time was spent around the banquet table.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Property Committee

(Continued from page 1)

by public office. Ald. Duncan said he thought the market should be put up at public auction, and he would strongly support that idea.

It was also suggested that instead of auctioning it off that tenders be advertised for. This was considered a good plan.

Ald. McIntyre was strongly in favor of the city keeping the market and leave Mr. Geo Hall as the clerk. He did not like to believe that the market had gone back during the past year. It was a fact, nevertheless.

Moved by Ald. Duncan that the market be let by tender this year.

Mayor Rush was in favor of the market being run as at present, and he said that he had been told that the farmers were better satisfied now. He would like to give it another trial anyway.

Ald. Duncan said he would oppose it to the last as he was convinced that the city was losing money.

Ald. McIntyre moved in amendment that the market be left as it is. Mayor Rush seconded this motion and it carried.

Ald Bradburn said he would rather have tenders called for and dispose of the clerkship to the highest bidder.

BYLAW AMENDED

In the absence of Ald Turner, chairman of the Joint Committee with the county, city clerk Armstrong explained that the County Council had asked to have the confiscation clause cut out of the market bylaw. The matter was before the Legal and Joint Committee some time ago and was fully reported in these columns.

The committee agreed to recommend the council to amend the bylaw in accordance with the request of the County Council, and a motion was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Mayor Rush and was carried.

Dying Sister's Trust

(Continued from page one.)

cleared insolvent and the Trusts Company was appointed liquidator.

The plaintiffs claimed that on Dec. 6th the president knew the company was insolvent, but that he drew from the assets of the firm on that date $1,989.81, leaving in its place a voucher for the amount declaring the sum was in trust for the children of the late Geo Munro who are defendants.

QUESTIONED REDUCTION

The plaintiffs claimed this reduction of the assets to be illegal and claimed $1,989.81 with interest.

James Bicknell appeared for the plaintiff.

GAVE AWAY ESTATE.

Mr Geo H. Watson put Mr. Hamilton on the stand who said that when his sister, Annie Hamilton, died, on May 6th, 1902., she gave away on her deathbed all her estate to her nephews Hamilton, Reid, Allan and Effie Munro, children of her sister Euphemia.

Miss Hamilton left no will but following her death her next of Kin, Margaret Hamilton, her mother, Jessie Hamilton; Euphemia Munro, Margaret E. Leeh and Alice Ludgate, her sisters, and her brother, William Hamilton, united by indenture, dated, May 28th, 1902, agreeing to waive any claim they might have had to Miss Hamilton's estate and assigned all their interest to William Hamilton who was to act as trustee for the Munro children.

TO CARRY OUT WISHES.

They did this in order to carry out the expressed wishes of Miss Hamilton.

MORAL RIGHT, SAYS JUDGE.

"Whether he had a legal right or not, may be questionable. He certainly had every moral right to take his money out and re-pay these children," said Chancellor Boyd.

"Undoubtedly, every moral right," agreed Mr. Watson, who appeared for the children who received the money.

"You knew, of course, that the company was insolvent when you took the money out," the court asked Mr Hamilton.

"I could not well know otherwise" said Mr. Hamilton.

"What Mr Hamilton tried to do, rightly or wrongly, was to create a preference in favor of these children," said Chancellor Boyd.

Mr Watson contended that the children being wards, were not in the position of creditors of the estate.

"To apply cases decided in England to this case, the principal has frequently been enunciated and maintained that money impressed with a trust cannot be devoted to another purpose," said Mr. Watson.

Says This Medicin Has Mystic Powers

It's in the spring that health gives out—that folks begin to feel draggy, weary, tasteless,—hate to eat, look pale, feel discouraged.

If you've reached this state read what J. W. Jervell, well known in Morristown, has to say about the medicine that cured him. "Last winter I caught a heavy cold that settled in my back. My kidneys and liver were affected and my health failed. By spring I was in bad shape—couldn't sleep like I used to—felt tired in the morning—ate very little—was terribly depressed, pale and anxious looking. Twinges of rheumatism, frequent neuralgia attacks over the temples, made matters worse. The doctor prescribed three times, but didn't help. Then I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.—They possess mystic powers surely, for I gained and improved day by day and now am in perfect health again. I will praise and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I die."

The ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills are pure and wholesome—some right from the storehouse of Nature in the form of vegetable juices and extracts,—consequently this gentle invigorating laxative tonic and blood purifier is safe for old and young alike. We assure you of enormous benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which revitalize delicate glands, search out the seat of hidden disease, flood the body with vigor and health that has caused thousands of broken-down, despairing men and women to join in a mighty song of praise for the beneficient aid that comes from this king of all tonics. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day. Be at all dealers.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—L. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley finest California Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Dividends for the half-year ended 31st December, 1908, have been declared as follows:—On the preference stock, two per cent.; on the common stock, three per cent. A further sum equal to one-half of one per cent. on the common stock will be paid thereon at the same time out of interest on the proceeds of land sales. Warrants for the common stock dividend will be mailed on 31st March next to shareholders of record at the closing of the books in Montreal, New York and London respectively. The preference stock dividend will be paid on Thursday, April 1st next, to shareholders of record at the closing of the books at the company's London office, No. 62 Charing Cross, London, S.W. The common stock transfer books will close in Montreal, New York and London at 3 p.m. on Monday, March 1st. The preference stock books will also close at 3 p.m. on Monday, March 1st. All books will be reopened on Friday, April 2nd next. By order of the board.

W. R. BAKER, Secretary.
Montreal, Feb. 8th, 1909

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

BARGAINS IN BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at 2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

Date Changed for the Protest Case

The date for the hearing of the protest against the election of Reeve F. Moher of Douro, has been changed from Thursday, Feb 25th to Friday, Feb. 26th. His Honor Judge Weller will preside. Mr. E. A. Peck will represent Reeve Moher, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams will appear for ex-Reeve D. Maloney. The case will open at eleven o'clock.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 41 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

In Gorgeous Robes Hear Stratton Case

Members of Supreme Court Told of the Trip to Halifax, which Made Personal Service Impossible

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Their five Lordships of the Supreme Court sit in stiff dignity in a dingy old building at Ottawa, which is shortly to be replaced by one more modern. Ermine and fine scarlet are the robes which they assume for opening days and for judgments. The red flannel, as everybody has learned, is a useful protection for the throat, and that, of course, is the place in their lordship's costume which it might naturally be expected to occupy.

But, ps, the Supreme Court, on second thoughts, is often in the habit of reversing things, and why not the gowns of its component justices? So the flannel is used for the body of the garment, and the ermine decorates the throat and wrists, where it affords the maximum of discomfort. The hands being thus more or less tied, their lordships are enabled to give all their attention to the workings of their minds. Of this pastime they apparently tire, for on all but the occasions mentioned they find it convenient to discard the ermine and fine scarlet for sober black, with somewhat more convenient arm holes.

THE STRATTON APPEAL.

Yesterday they were in full panoply of war, and waded through a number of motions in the Stratton election appeal, and through this appeal to an adjournment.

The Stratton election appeal if of particular interest for various reasons. Undoubtedly the Conservative party has not forgotten the ancient enmity of the days of the Ross Government. It is probably by token of this that it has concentrated its post-election efforts upon the unseating of that James Robert whom it regards as a thorn in the flesh. Boastings not loud but deep have been made no further away from Toronto than Queen's Park that Conservatives are prepared to reveal awesome things if the protest ever comes to trial.

The anxiety of the Conservatives to win this fight has given rise to a similiar determinatoin on the part of Liberals. Every step in the courts will be contested, unless the Supreme Court puts an end to the matter forever by a decision in Mr. Stratton's favor upon the present issue.

BUSINESS TRIP TO HALIFAX.

The history of the case begins with Mr. Stratton's election to the Commons as West Peterborough's representative, on October 26 last. Straightway his opponents set out to pick holes in his ways and means of getting into parliament. One of those excellent comprehensive petitions was prepared, which carefully allege everything possible in order that the respondent may be unable to guess whether the real stinger is in the tail, behind one ear, or at the base of the left flapper. So much for the petition.

The document was filed on Nov. 21, and the petitioner had ten days more in which to serve it on Mr. Stratton. Towards the end of this time, however, and with the petition en route to catch him at Toronto, Mr. Stratton was called to Halifax on business. The Conservatives say that neither at his home nor at his office could they learn of his whereabouts.

They waited longer than the ten days, and this is one point wherein Mr. Stratton's counsel says that they did not comply with the law. On Dec. 3 it was that they secured an order getting a ten-day extension in which to procure service. Also they got permission to serve a clerk in Mr. Stratton's office, instead of that gentleman himself.

HAS NEVER BEEN SERVED.

It was a clerk who next day got the imposing document contesting the election, and Mr. Stratton has never been served at all. The allowing of service on a substitute at the same time as the extension was granted is the main objection raised by the petitioner.

The Controverted Elections Act provides that the petition must be served on the respondent within the prescribed ten days "or within such longer time as the court, under special circumstances of difficulty in effecting service, allows." The next sub-section, however, reads as follows; "If personal service cannot be effected within the time granted by the court, then service on such other person as the Court directs shall be deemed good," etc.

The respondent points out that service on a substitute is thus permissible only after extra time has been granted by the court, whereas the petitioner in this case secured an extension of time and permission to serve a clerk in, as it were, the same breath.

PUZZLES THE JUDGES.

Very cleverly and carefully Mr. George E. Watson, K.C., presented this view of the situation to their lordships;

"Suppose," suggested one of them.

(Continued on page four.)

Canada Will Not Allow Treaty to be Amended---Bryce Stands Pat

Washington, D.C., Feb. 17.—Senator Nelson of Minnesota, today appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee to discuss the Waterways Treaty now pending in the Senate. Senator Nelson is opposed to the treaty in its present form, and his argument today was directed principally against the provision making the pollution of waters the subject of arbitration. The basis for his objection is that Canada has no large cities along the boundaries, while the United States has many, and that if this subject is left to the arbitration board proposed, this country's interests are likely to suffer.

At this time the prospects for the success of the treaty are not bright. It is reported that Secretary of State Bacon recently conferred with several members of the Foreign Relations Committee and informed them that if the treaty is amended there is little chance of having it accepted by Great Britain. This opinion is supposed to be derived from a talk between Secretary Bacon and Ambassador Bryce, in which the ambassador is quoted as saying that unless the treaty is accepted in its present form his government will not be disposed to ratify it.

Senator Smith of Michigan, is keeping up his war on the treaty, and believes he will be successful in either amending it or preventing its ratification. He is confining his attacks to the question of power rights on St. Mary's River, in which he says the people of his state are vitally interested. The Legislature of Michigan has appointed a committee to investigate the question, and is supporting Senator Smith in his fight.

HAS A POOR CHANCE.

The senator has declared that he will do everything in his power to prevent the ratification of the treaty in its present form, and if he adheres to this determination, there is scant probably of it getting through before the expiration of the present session on March 4th.

The First Suffragist Raid Upon the Provincial Legislature

Toronto, Feb. 17—The first suffragist raid upon the Provincial Legislature was made yesterday afternoon.

It was cleverely planned, and the English sisterhood will please copy. There was no procession, no forewarned guards to pass, no doors locked in their faces. The Legislature in its guilelessness even sent out the invitations. The invasion was dead easy.

But for all they were taken unawares, the Assembly of Man has not yet struck its colors, and the fair assaulters hardly know whether to be elated or disappointed today, as they review the incidents of the struggle.

LEADERS WERE THERE.

All the leaders of woman's suffrage in Toronto were on hand. They were; Dr. Margaret Gordon, president. Mrs. Swift, secretary. Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, president of the Dominion Woman's Suffrage Association. Mrs. Craigie, of New York. Mrs. Bengough, wife of Ald. Bengough.

Unlike the English invasion of Parliament, no demonstration was made while the House was in session. Perhaps because there were no grilled doors to which chains could be attached. They waited until the members were reduced to the weakness of the chivalry that a Speaker's tea demanded. They assailed them when they were handling the dainty china in fear and trembling and cut off from their fellows. They asked them if they were in favor of woman's suffrage, and would vote for it. They even ventured the question, will you bring in a bill to grant all women votes?

HOW THEY DID IT.

Let Dr. Margaret Gordon tell the story herself.

"We went amongst as many members as we could and tried to get their support."

"How many did you get?"

Statistics were not available, it seemed, and Dr. Gordon refused to reveal the names of those who had promised.

"Did you find a successor to Mr. John Smith?"

"No, we haven't found any one yet, but we will," was her reply.

People Tired of Life They Seek Death by Various Methods

London, Feb. 17.—The Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent declares that neurasthenia is claiming an ever increasing number of victims in all sections of St. Petersburg society. A surprising number of people, tired of life, seek death by various methods. Persons of fashionable society journey to Finland and fling themselves into the romantic Imatra rapids. Strange clubs and societies are in existence. One of these is styled "Tiger and Hunter." Two members draw lots to decide who will be the tiger and who the hunter. A silver bell is hung around the tiger's neck and the hunter is given a loaded revolver. Both enter large darkened rooms and the spectators take refuge in safe corners.

The hunt begins. The hunter's eyes are bound; he is allowed six shots, guided by the sound of the bell. If he fails to hit the tiger, the roles are reversed and the hunter becomes the tiger. This continues until blood flows.

Another society has "champagne evenings," where one among twenty bottles is drugged with morphia. Sometimes in a single night there are numerous secret suicides, for which there is no plausible explanation, giving rise, says the Mail's correspondent, to the suspicion that the victim belong to the same league of self-destruction.

Another of Mr. Miller's Little Sermonettes

Mr. F. W. Miller, whose duty it is to dispense the city's aid has frequent little sermonettes for those men who are out of work and without means and consequently are dependent upon the city for help. Yesterday morning an undernsied man applied for help, probably as he has done before this winter.

"Why do you not go out and endeavor to find work? Mr. Miller asked.

"Well, I never thought of that," was the hesitating reply. "Our course you hadn't. That's the way with fellows of your calibre. If there was any desire on your part to work you would have been out this morning with a shovel soliciting work. Why! people would have been glad to give you a job if you had told them you were hard up and needed money and you wanted to shovel the snow from the front of their houses. But, no, you are contented to take things from the city as long as they are willing to give it to you and without any work on your part." A few more words addressed in this strain and the man walked out feeling probably that he was expected to do something for a living.

The Snow By-Law is Not Enforced

The snow cleaning bylaw has been somewhat lax this winter. There been only a few storms and the residents have not thought it worth while to bother. The residential districts are the worst for this, and although the snow-plow goes over the ground it does not, and is not intended to, clean the walks off, and there are several inches of snow to be tramped through. It is up to the police to enforce the snow bylaw. If they called at a few houses and left a warning the neighbors would soon take a tumble. It would also create a big demand for the poor men who needs work and money to enable him to earn a living instead of continually living on the charity board. The Charity Board and police could very profitably work together in this matter.

Why He Stabbed His Own Mother

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Charged with having stabbed his mother with a pocket-knife, inflicting a wound in her left arm, Elias Suya, a 13-year-old Syrian, was arraigned before Judge Bazin.

The boy pleaded in court that he had acted in self-defence, claiming his mother and sister were trying to kill him, after he had accused his mother of taking $300 from him. He said it took him more than a year to save the money, which he kept in a little box in his room. When he returned home at noon yesterday and found the box broken open and the money gone, he accused his mother of having taken it.

Young Suya said she did not deny having taken the money, and then a quarrel started, and his mother and sister commenced to pound him. He was afraid they were going to kill him, and, in order to get away, drew a knife from his pocket and stabbed his mother in the arm.

The mother went to the Notre Dame Hospital to have the wound dressed, and from there she proceeded to police headquarters and made a complaint against her son, who was arrested a little later.

When the boy was asked where he got the $300, he claimed to have saved it. He said he had earned from $8 to $12 a week selling pictures from door to door. He gave the most of his earnings to his mother, and the $300 he saved out of what she allowed him.

The lad is very bright.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Knights of Columbus May Not be Allowed in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 17. — Considerable ill-feeling has been stirred up against the Knights of Columbus in this city on the receipt of the Columbian, the organ of the society, by the local members this morning. In it is published a list of six more of less prominent Roman Catholics who have fallen under the ban of the society.

No one disputes the right of the Knights to allow into their order whoever they please, but it is the general opinion that they ought to keep their doings private and not publish to the world what has been done in Executive Council.

Three of the gentlemen in question, it is declared, "are not, and never have been, lawful members of the order."

The suspension of one member for six months and of two others for one year is also concurred in.

These are what are called by the Executive "The Toronto cases."

In reference to the establishement of a court in Toronto, the Columbian has the following;

"Voted that the establishement of the order in Toronto, Canada, be left in the hands of the Supreme Knight."

The Supreme Knight is Edward L. Hearn, of New Haven, Conn., and the vote was taken at the regular quarterly meeting held at New Haven on Jan. 11th and 12th.

The leaving of the matters in the hands of the Supreme Knight is considered as a means of shelving the establishment of the order here until such time as the local ecclesiastical authority consents to its formation.

Instead of the matter being in the hands of the Supreme Knight, it is rather at the disposition of his Grace, Archbishop McEvay. While his grace was Bishop of London he was opposed to the order being established there, but shortly after coming to this city the opinion got abroad that he would consent to a Toronto court. Since then, however, things have happened which give foundation to the belief that he will not now consent.

His sermon to the members of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association at St. Michael's cathedral a couple of Sundays ago was nothing less than a condemnation of the secret societies. To this class the Knights of Columbus belong. He also condemned the "silly rituals" and apings of secret forms of condemned societies.

"Let others have the frills and pass-words which exclude all who are not familiar with them," he said.

The Knights, it is known, pride themselves on the gorgeousness of their ritual.

County Council will Go to Ottawa

A deputation consisting of the whole County Council will go to Ottawa on Tuesday next, where on Wednesday they will wait upon Hon. Mr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. The Council's visit to Ottawa is in reference to the building of a bridge for Indiana at Chemong Indian Village, a bridge at Ball Lake and the widening of the approaches to the Buckhorn bridge.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

Snow Shovellers should Get Busy

So far there has not been an exceptionally heavy run upon the charitable institutions in the city. At least not a great many cases have appeared in the press. Nevertheless there are more men knocking around the city complaining that they cannot get work than there is any need to be. During the past week there has been lots of work shovelling snow, but the trouble is the men do not want to work. There is nothing to hinder a man with a snow shovel making from a dollar to a dollar and a half a day or even more. Any of the residents would gladly give a man in need 25 cents to shovel the snow off their walk one probably throw in some clothes for himself or family. When a man is in poor financial circumstances he has not the choice of work. He must do whatever turns up first and the man who is not afraid to face any kind of work is the man who will not have to apply for charity. Everyone will back up Mr. Miller in refusing to assist lazy men. As a matter of fact it would be a good plan if the relief officer would keep a list of names of those who would want charity but not work, and publish them or hold them up to public disgrace in some other way.

CURLING.

Although there were only four games played last night at the curling rink there was a lot of fun. The game between G. L. Hay and R. Hicks' rinks was one of the best played this year although the score would hardly indicate it. There was one end when 12 stones were inside the rings and several ends when eight or more stones were inside. The ice was in good shape. The scores were as follows;—

Collier	H Taylor
W. S. Dodds,	Montgomery
T. Brigheman	J. Montgomery
W. G Ferguson—6.	Dr. Greer—15
G. Hill	O. Labelle
M. Tooley	L. Sherwood
W. H Bradburn	J.E.A.Fitzgerald
R. Hicks—9.	G. L. Hay—14
J. T. Millard	J. Wolstenholme
W. Mennie	S. J. Stubbs
K. G. D. Hall	H. Meredith
Dr. Eastwood—12.	E. B. Clegg—6
R. Carten	B Lester
A. Webb	J. H. Ferguson
T. Bowen	W. M. Lang
C. N. Brown—7.	R. Neil—17

BOWLING

The two games scheduled for last night in the tam pin tournament did not materialize. The Pacifics and Lock Works did not show up and the Rams who were to play the Examiner B.'s failed to put in an appearance although the latter were present. The Examiner B will therefore take three games which improve their standing somewhat.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Russia is Now Promoting Peace

According to a telegram the other day from St. Petersburg, which was confirmed by another from Sofia, Russia has proposed a plan for adjusting the difference between Turkey and Bulgaria as regards the amount of compensation which the former power should receive for recognising Bulgarian independence. It will be recalled, that the Ottoman Government originally named $34,000,000 as the irreducible minimum, whereas Bulgaria has refused to pay more than $16,000,000. As the Bulgarian treasury is empty it would be impracticable to provide even the smaller amount named without a foreign loan.

This loan Russia offers to make in the following way: The Berlin treaty imposed upon Turkey the payment to Russia as a war indemnity of $1,000,000 annually for a hundred years. Russia now proposes to remit these annual instalments of the indemnity until the Turkish claim of $34,000,000 against Bulgaria shall have been satisfied. From Bulgaria, on the other hand, Russia will accept as a quid pro quo annual payments amounting in the aggregate to $16,400,000. On the face of the transaction Russia would seem to be a loser to the extent of $7,600,000. The loss will be made good, however, owing to the fact that the instalments of the Turkish indemnity do not bear interest, whereas interest will be exacted on the instalments collected by Russia from Bulgaria.

It is obvious that by accepting this arrangement Bulgaria would escape for fifteen years the necessity of paying annual instalments of indemnity to Russia. It is true that she would not obtain a large lump sum in cash of which she is in urgent need. This, however, she is to get from Austria, which has finally agreed to hand over forthwith in cash the whole of the $11,600,000 fixed upon as an equivalent for the annexation of Bosnia and the Herzegovina. Turkey's immediate pecuniary necessities would thus be supplied.

Good Change

Coffee to Postum

The large army of persons who have found relief from many chronic ailments by changing from coffee (or tea) to Postum as a daily beverage, is growing each day.

It is only a simple question of trying it for oneself in order to know the joy of returning health as realized by an Ille. young lady. She writes;

"I had been a coffee drinker nearly all my life and it affected my stomach—caused insomnia, and I was seldom without a headache. I had heard about Postum and how beneficial it was, so concluded to quit coffee and try it.

"I was delighted with the change. I can now sleep well and seldom ever have headache. My stomach has gotten strong and I can eat without suffering afterwards. I think my whole system greatly benefited by Postum.

"My brother also suffered from stomach trouble while he drank coffee, but now, since using Postum he feels so much better he would not go back to coffee for anything."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Dividends for the half-year ended 31st December, 1908, have been declared as follows;—On the preference stock, two per cent.; on the common stock, three per cent. A further sum equal to one-half of one per cent. on the common stock will be paid thereon at the same time out of interest on the proceeds of land sales. Warrants for the common stock dividend will be mailed on 31st March next to shareholders of record at the closing of the books in Montreal, New York and London respectively. The preference stock dividend will be paid on Thursday, April 1st next, to shareholders of record at the closing of the books at the company's London office, No. 62 Charing Cross, London, S.W., the common stock transfer books will close in Montreal, New York and London at 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 27th, and will reopen on Thursday, April 1st next. The meeting of shareholders will be held at the company's offices in Montreal on Friday, April 2nd next. By order of the board.

W. R. BAKER, Secretary.

Montreal, Feb. 6th, 1909.

Judgment Given for Plaintiffs in Trust and Guarantee Co's Action

The Toronto Globe says;—Chancellor Boyd gave judgment in favor of plaintiffs in the action of the Trusts and Guarantee Company against Mrs. Euphemia Munro, to recover $1,969.81, withdrawn from the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company Limited, of Peterborough, by defendant's brother, Mr. Hamilton.

The case was tried at the non-jury sessions on Monday. According to the evidence, Mr. Hamilton was appointed trustee by his sister Annie, who died in 1902, leaving an estate of $1,340 57 to her sister Euphemia, and her children. The money was put into the father's business, but when the latter was getting into difficulties the money, with interest, was withdrawn and placed in a bank to Mrs. Munroe's credit.

"If companies," says the chancellor," were to be at liberty to borrow trust money, and use it as floating capital of the company, and then when financial troubles thickened, were to be able, under guise of repairing the breach of trust, to take out of current funds the principal and interest to the beneficiaries, even though infants, as perpetual claimants, it would go to imperil financial credit, and frustrate, to my mind, the scheme of the Winding-up Act."

Mrs. Munro's redress is against her brother, and he himself will rank as creditor of his father's business for the trust money invested therein.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Earthquake in Persia Killed 5,000 People and Destroyed 60 Villages

Teheran, Persia, Feb. 17.—News was received here today showing that the violent earthquake recorded on Jan. 13th, an almost every seismic observatory in the world where seismographs are installed had its location in the Province of Luristan, Western Persia. Sixty villages in that district were wholly or partially destroyed, and the aggregate loss of life is placed at between 5,000 and 6,000 people.

This information was conveyed in belated reports just received by the Government. The districts of Burujurd and Selahor, in Luristan Province, were the center of the greatest violence, and here the heaviest casualities occurred. Several villages are reported to have been completely engulfed. The losses would have been very much greater were it not for the fact that this district is sparsely populated. The destitute survivors are flocking into the town of Burujurd, whence appeals for assistance are now reaching the government. The peasantry lost practically all their herds, and it is estimated that from 10,000 to 12,000 head of cattle perished.

Chichotspak at the Shelter

The children at the Children's Shelter, and there are about fifteen, are all suffering from a mild form of chickenpox. Fortunately none of them are seriously ill although chickenpox being contagious, the shelter has to be quarantined, thus occasioning a little inconvenience.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Bronchitis

Catarrhozone Cures Bronchitis of three years' Standing after four doctors failed.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

"I feel it my duty," writes Mrs. Boyd, of Leonardville, N.B., to let you know that I have been cured of Bronchitis of three months' standing by Catarrhozone.

"With the least change in temperature or exposure to inclement weather, I was attacked with bronchial discomfort, wheezing in the chest, hoarseness, sore throat, partial loss of voice, and stuffiness of the head. I consulted four doctors and was treated by them all without any benefit.

"Catarrhozone was strongly recommended to me by several persons whom it had benefited, and I was induced to give it a good trial.

"It quickly relieved my difficult breathing, so I got the complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, etc., and I began systematically the Catarrhozone treatment.

"In a few days the huskiness and hoarseness disappeared, and my voice became stronger. The running of the nose, and stuffiness of the head, feverishness, difficult breathing, were all done away with before I had been using Catarrhozone very long.

"About six weeks' treatment was sufficient to do more for me than four doctors failed to do in three years' time. It cured me and I don't believe there is another such a remedy on earth. Its action is speedy, pleasant and permanent."

Catarrhozone is a new, scientific treatment, and is guaranteed to cure Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Cold, etc., or money refunded. It contains nothing injurious and can be used by the infant as well as by the adult.

It is both a local and a constitutional remedy. The Inhaler supplies abundance of medicated air, which spreads through all the air passages, killing germ life, and healing sore spots as it goes.

The impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone tablets, which strengthen and build up the system to such a healthy condition that disease simply can't exist.

Catarrhozone is recommended by doctors and druggists for all respiratory diseases. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. Complete outfit costs $1.00; trial size, 25c. At Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Con., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhozone today.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY.

Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1909.

THE NEW EDUCATOR

The education of the boys and girls of today is receiving a great deal of attention on the part of all who take an interest in the welfare of the country and its future. It deserves, however, even more attention than it receives, because of its tremendous importance. In this connection the address recently delivered before the Rochester Public school teachers by Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, one of the most eminent education ists of the age, should be of peculiar interest. He spoke of fads and frills, which, he said, train children better in the use of sense power than the methods of the old red school house of the golden days of long ago. Dr. Eliot said:

"The new education takes just account of the fundamental importance of training eye and ear to hand and teaches the power of observation. These observational courses have turned out excessive arithmetic which I consider is the greatest improvement in forty years.

"There has been an uprising of the public mind in defence of arithmetic and yet it has little of importance in our public life. To carry the multiplication table beyond twelve is absurd.

"Teachers should work against the tendency of the public school machine to turn out uniform products. The prime function of the teacher is to discover the abnormal boys and girls and further them. In the public school machine, the teachers do not have that chance. But so far as I know, the teachers in Rochester have the best chance. Because they have thirty-five children apiece, where Boston has over fifty to each teacher.

"Pupils should be taught to enjoy school; this life is meant for human development, happiness, justice and mercy. Children cannot be trained for life by making them do what they hate."

Dr. Eliot has thus placed before the teachers a high ideal as to their function, which when fully grasped and steadily and persistently striven for, cannot but make for the betterment of the race.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

TRICK SHOOTING.

The Way Some of the Stage Feats Are Accomplished.

When a champion rifle shot fires blindfolded at a wedding ring or a penny held between his wife's thumb and finger or seated back to her shoots, by means of a mirror, at an apple upon her head or on a fork held in her teeth, the danger of using a bullet is obvious. None, of course, is needed. The explosion is enough. The apple is already prepared, having been cut into pieces and stuck together with an adhesive substance, and a thread with a knot at the end, pulled through it from the "wings," so that it flies to bits when the gun is fired, is "how it is done."

Generally the more dangerous a feat appears the more carefully is all danger guarded against. In the "William Tell" act the thread is often tied to the assistant's foot. When, again, the ash is shot off a cigar which the assistant is smoking a piece of wire is pushed by his tongue through a hollow passage in the cigar, thus thrusting off the ash at the moment of firing.

A favorite but simple trick is the shooting from some distance at an orange held in a lady's hand. Great applause is invariably forthcoming when the bullet drops out on her cutting open the fruit. It is inserted by hand earlier in the evening.

Another popular trick is that of snuffing out lighted candles. Half a dozen are placed in front of a screen, in which as many small holes are bored, one against each candle wick. At the moment of firing a confederate behind the screen sharply blows out each candle with a pair of bellows.

In most instances where a ball or other object has to be broken on a living person's head blank cartridge is used and the effect produced by other means. A special wig with a spring conceal in it worked by a wire under the clothes is generally used, the confederate manipulating the spring simultaneously with the firing of the rifle. As the ball is of extremely thin glass, a mere touch suffices to shatter it.

In these exhibitions some of the rifle "experts" invite gentlemen from the audience to testify that the weapon is indeed loaded. The cartridge shown looks very well, but it is a shell of thin wax blackened to resemble a leaden bullet. It would not hurt a fly.

Tenants as Money-Lenders.

At the time of his marriage four years ago to a penniless beauty, Mr. Robert Goelet, the only brother of the Duchess of Roxburghe, who has purchased an estate in France, as a permanent residence in Europe, was the richest bachelor in America. His new residence is situate by Meru Oise, and is known as Sanricourt, the compact old feudal domain of the de Beauvoir family. The price paid to the mortgagees was $300,000. For nearly twenty years the late owner, Marquise Ludovic de Beauvoir, existed in a state of penury. He was known to borrow from his tenants, who secured their advances by allocating to themselves portions of the land. The consequence was that, through the non-repayal, the tenants became the holders of large tracts, and it is expected that to buy out the tenants Mr. Goelet will have to pay an enormous figure. As soon as it was decided to sell Sancricourt a debtor, who had a bill of sale on the Louis XVI. furniture there, covered with gorgeous Beauvais tapestry, belonging to the grand salon, removed the costly suite from the house, and threatened to sell it up, as well as many of the other historical treasures of the princely dwelling.

Wood as Food.

In one quarter of the earth, at least, wood, in a certain form, serves as a common and constant article of diet, and that is the northern coast of Siberia. At several points the natives eat wood, and eat it because they like it. Even when fish is plentiful, wood usually forms part of the evening meal of these natives, as testified by numerous travelers. Cleanly-stripped larch logs near every hut in that region are silent witnesses to the general fondness for wood diet. The dish is prepared by scraping off thick layers immediately under the bark of the log. These are chopped fine and mixed with snow, the whole being boiled in a kettle. Sometimes a little fish roe, milk, or butter is mixed with the wood.

Butter From Birds.

In South America is to be found a bird from which a species of butter can be obtained. This animal is known as the "oil bird," and one of its favorite haunts is the island of Trinidad. It breeds in rocky caves on the mainland, laying its eggs in a nest of mud. The young birds are extraordinarily fat, and the fat, having been melted down in clay pots, produces a kind of butter, says London Tit-Bits. This butter is used by the natives. The caves inhabited by these oil birds are usually accessible only from the sea, and the hunting of these feathered creatures frequently affords exciting sport to the adventurous in spirit.

Trouble In Store For John.

Mrs. Freende—Why, what are you crying about?

Mrs. Newwedde—Well, you know John is away from home for a week on business.

"Yes."

"He writes that he gets out my photo and k-k-kisses it every day."

"Well, that's surely nothing for you to cry about."

"Yes; it was just for a joke I took my picture out of his bag before he started and put one of m-m-mother's in its place."—London Scraps.

Too Old For Active Service.

None of the twelve officers at present commanding army corps in Italy will retain their commands in the event of war. The King of Italy and a military commission have decided that their successors in the case of war will be very much younger generals of division.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Ar Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR
Positively Restored Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by
E. CARNOCHAN
106 Florence St. Ottawa

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

After Feb. 1
OUR PREMISES WILL BE
432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poudin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Dated at Ottawa, 26th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Articles for Sale

Three Second Hand Odigraph Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to R. C., 360 1-2 Water street, Peterboro.

After Feb. 1
OUR PREMISES WILL BE
432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 25th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our fine wines many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

made you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Cal cutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 25th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY
AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION
TORONTO
AND RETURN
$2.80
FROM PETERBORO
Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 23
Return limit Feb. 25. Apply to
W. McILROY,
C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY
MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
TORONTO and Return
$2.30
From PETERBOROUGH
With 50c added for admission to
Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show
Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.
Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA
The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from
W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships
FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL
CANADA.....Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK.....April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO
David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager
Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891
General Banking Business Transacted
Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.
A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO
PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MORROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, - Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL — HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING — METAL
LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.
Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the shape of wedding presents at sacrifice prices. January sale of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. Which a total of 126 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 60 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 10th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. Levecontie, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 100,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 10,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds, thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $ 000; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 6000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 10th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one thing, or one preparation only; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, poultry and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. A. B. O. Windsor of Australia, New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compound Elixir of Iodide placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these foods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and rearing all animals, which is their main object.

One agent only in each district who has only entered at the local trade for agents name, for future advertisements, etc.

Eczema of the Scalp

Zam-Buk Cures a Boy who Suffered for Three Years.

Now and again mothers find that sores or ulcers on the heads of children refuse to heal, despite all ordinary treatment. Then is the time to prove Zam-Buk's healing power. For three long years the son of Mrs. Grummitt, of 114 Morse street, Toronto, had eczema of the scalp. She says:—"It broke out behind his ears and was so painful he was unable to sleep at night. I used every ointment known, and called in the doctor, but all of no avail. A friend recommended me to try Zam-Buk, and I procured a supply. After using three boxes, my little boy was completely cured."

Another case which mothers will read with interest occurred recently in Winnipeg. Mrs. C. Keep, of 592 Alexander avenue, Winnipeg, says:—"A year ago my little girl contracted eczema of the scalp, and notwithstanding all I did the sores spread until the child's scalp was completely covered. I took her to hospital, but none of the lotions and ointments applied had any effect on the disease. By degrees the child's hair came out, until she was quite bald. We were at this stage strongly advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. From first commencing with this wonderful balm the child got relief from the itching and pain. The sores were quickly banished, and in a remarkably short space of time the child was cured. The hair soon grew again, and is now quite long and in a healthy condition."

All who have care of children should know that Zam-Buk is particularly adapted because of its purity to the tender skin of children. It cures with equal dispatch ringworm, blood-poisoning, ulcers, old sores, chapped hands, frost-bite, piles, bad leg, etc. Used as an embrocation it eases the pain of sprains, and cures, rheumatism, sciatica and neuralgia. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box; or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

BARGAINS

—: IN :—

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

as opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BASEBALL

The Toronto club last night had the following:

Ike Owens, the Toronto catcher, who goes to the Chicago Americans, reporting on February 26th, has succeeded in placing four promising local ball players for the coming season. They are J. O'Hearn, 2b. with Rock Island of the Three I. League; P. Downing, catcher, with Fort Wayne Central League; W. O'Brien, 3b, Burlington, Iowa, Central Association; and B. Burridge c, Youngstown of the O. & P. League. The last-named played with the Central Y.M.C.A., and the others with the Park Nine.

Harry Burridge, when seen by The Times last night, stated that as yet he he has not signed with any club but expects to do so before long. There is one thing sure he will not play in Peterborough next season.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases. But they are symptomatic only of a certain specific disease—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the evolution of that now very popular theory—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, where brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. What one that original and highly vital principle, a drug-less nerve and stomach tonic, is great to be has:

For stomach distress, dyspepsia, biliousness, heartburn and gallery complication, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for your self what it can and will do. We call and abide by recommend

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

FRUITS OF QUEENSLAND.

Coffee and Banana Are Two of Its Biggest Crops.

The Beachcomber of Dunk Island, North Queensland, thus describes coffee growing in his book "The Confessions of a Beachcomber": In the case of coffee a plentiful supply of cheap labor is essential to success. Those who by judicious treatment of the aboriginals command their services have so far made a profit. A coffee plantation suggests pleasant, picturesque, and spicy things. The orderly lines of the plants, in glossy green adorned for a brief space with white, frail, fugitive flowers distilling a deliciously sweet and grateful odor, the branches crowded with gleaming berries, green, pink, and red, present a pleasing aspect. As a change to the scene of the jungle a coffee estate has a garden-like relief. But picking berry by berry is slow and monotonous work, vexatious, too, to those mortals whose skin is sensitive to the attack of green ants. Then come the various processes of the removal of the pulp, first by machinery, finally by the fermentation of the still adhering slimy residuum; then the drying and saving by exposure to the sun on trays or tarpaulins until all moisture is expelled, and the hulling which disintegrates the parchment from the twin berries; then winnowing, and finally the polishing.

Do drinkers of the fragrant and exhilarating beverage realise the amount of labor and care involved before the crop is taken off and preserved from deterioration and decay? A few berries that may have become mildewed during the slow, tedious and anxious process of drying in the sun may violate the delicate flavor and aroma which the grower has been at pains to secure and fix. No one need starve or pine for lack of wholesome, appetizing, and nutritious food while the banana grows as it does in North Queensland, and, common as it is, the banana is one of the curiosities of the vegetable world. One writer says: "It is not a tree, a palm, a bush, a vegetable, nor a herb; it is simply a herbaceous plant with the stature of tree, and is perennial." He adds that the fruit contains no seed, though he qualifies the latter statement by remarking that he had heard of fully-developed seeds occasionally appearing in the cultivated fruit "when left to ripen on the tree," and further that wild varieties of the banana which propagate themselves by seed are reported to be found in some parts of Eastern Asia.

In the most popular of the cultivated varieties, the far-famed Musa Cavendishii, there is little of graceful form save the broad leaves mottled with brown. All the vitality of the plant is expended in astonishing results. A comparatively lowly plant, its productions in suitable soil are prodigious. In nine or ten months after the planting of the rhizome it bears under favorable conditions a bunch weighing as much as 120 pounds to 160 pounds, and comprising as many as 48 dozen individual bananas. So great is the weight that to prevent the downfall of the plant a stake sharpened at each end—one to stick into the ground, and the other into the soft stem—is needed to buttress it. Before the fruit has fully developed other shoots have appeared; but each plant bears but one bunch, and when that is removed the plant is decapitated and slowly decays, and the second and third and fourth shoots from the rhizome successively arrive at the bearing stage, and are permitted to mature each its bunch, and then fated to suffer immediate decapitation.

Fascination of the Footlights.

An illustration of the fascination which the footlights exercise over lifelong votaries is furnished by the return to the stage of Miss Dolores Drummond, who, in February, will celebrate her 73rd birthday. Some little time ago Miss Drummond retired after completing fifty-two years of active stage career, but when, recently, she was asked by Miss Millard to play a small part in the revival of "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," she could not resist saying "Yes." Miss Drummond, the granddaughter of an R.A., emigrated to Australia with her mother, a miniature painter, in 1853, and first appeared on the stage when she was eighteen. She supported a "walk on" part in an old iron theatre in Melbourne. The play was "Timour the Tartar," and Miss Drummond was a "beautiful slave," who was sold in the market-place. Later, at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, where "Hamlet" was being staged, the leading lady fell suddenly ill, and Miss Drummond, on invitation, straightway took the part, achieving great success. Since then she has played all sorts of parts with all sorts of actors. The veteran actress's first memorable part as a leading lady was with the great Irish tragedian, G. V. Brooke, who was drowned in "The London" while travelling from England to the colonies.

The Resemblance.

A promising young merchant recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp as a birthday gift. He was much flattered when she told him to give it his name until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when only half full flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime and is bound to smoke."

Tyrannical Paris Landlords.

Landlords of modern tenements in Paris are to be counted among the enemies of France, as agents of depopulation. Several proprietors require that any tenant who has as many as three children under the age of ten must leave immediately. They prefer dogs to babies, and, owing to this cruel edict, a working man with five small children was the recently advised by thirty concierges.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, Gentlemen's embroidered collarettes, dresses, etc., done daintily to art needlework, silk embroidery, hemstitching and thread fancywork. Subscription price 25 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SUNKEN TREASURE.

Company Has Made Unavailing Efforts to Recover Some.

The ship Alfred Nobel, which some twelve months ago sailed from London to cruise in search for hidden treasure, and which was to have returned to Blackwall piled high with gold and silver and precious stones from sunken wrecks uncharted even in Lloyd's, la, alas and alack, coming back as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. She was the property of the South African Salvage Co., and one of her objectives was Paul Kruger's lost treasure ship, the Dorothea, which lies in seven and a half fathoms of water two miles east of Cape Vidal, on the Tenedo Reef, off the Zululand coast. The Kruger gold, which Oom Paul, so the story runs, sent out of the Transvaal for safety, was said to run to the value of $3,000,000, and it was supposed to be cemented into the bottom of the Dorothea with 200 tons of sand ballast spread over it. Altogether, the Alfred Nobel's program included 38 charted wrecks to work upon along the South African coast. One of these was the Middelburg, an old armed Dutch merchantman, which went to the bottom in 1714 in Saldanha Bay, with $100,000 in doubloons on board.

Capt. C. A. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, was in charge of this treasure expedition. He is essentially of the type of whom the apopthegm might have been written, "Adventures are to Adventurous." He was midshipman on board the Condor under Lord Charles Beresford at the bombardment of Alexandria; and later acted as despatch rider to Lord Roberts in the Boer war. He was sanguine of having a sniff at six millions all told of sunken treasures that lay round and about the South African coast. He had an arrangement with the Cape Government by which once he had attacked a sunken ship no permits would be granted to rivals; and, on the other hand, whatever he raised was to bear a tax of 25 per cent. And now, alas, that tax will never be levied. The picturesque treasure of Oom Paul lies where it did. At the very first set-off disappointment fronted the gallant crew of the Alfred Nobel, for they found that treacherous coast too dangerous, and battered continuously by huge rollers from the Indian Ocean. And the attempt to get into the depths of the Dorothea ended in failure.

Thereupon the Alfred Nobel sailed away to Swakopmund, in German Southwest African territory, where she anchored near the steamship Bunbeth, which lies secure on the teeth of the rocks there, as the result of a fatal foggy night, until the waves batter her to fragments. Here again the quest ended in bitter disappointment, for it was found that even the copper and brass fittings had been "jumped" by previous visitors. Discouraged, but not beaten, the Alfred Nobel, brought up in Saldanha Bay, where lie the ribs of the old Middelburg. Here her divers brought up, after pumping out 10 feet or so of sand, a quantity of old china. Unfortunately, some fine collections of china have been recovered from the Middelburg on many previous occasions, so that this output has become in the nature of a drug in the market.

Again, not deterred, the Alfred Nobel made a course for Table Bay, and had a nibble at the Australian liner Thermopylae, which about ten years ago nearly pushed her nose into the hen-roost of the keeper of the Flash Lighthouse at Three Anchor Bay, which event was made history by Mrs. Langtry's horses, which were on board, swimming ashore. Arriving at the wreck of the Thermopylae, the Alfred Nobel did a lot of blasting; but all the efforts accomplished nothing beyond making an even more complete ruin of the once stately liner. A trip to the sailing ship America followed. The America lies off the Woodstock beach. She went ashore about 1900 in a gale that crippled other shipping in the bay. Her chief cargo was beer and coal, and she was uninsured. A good deal of the coal was got out of her a year or two ago, and realised $10 a ton. Much of the beer was also salved, but it hardly realised custom dues. Then the Alfred Nobel had a look at her. There is still a good deal of beer on board. And that is the painful history of the expedition of the Alfred Nobel, which is shortly due in London.

"A Hero of Friendship."

So Mr. Theodore Watts-Dunton was once described by Rossetti, and certainly the friendships formed by the famous poet and critic are amongst the most interesting features of his career. He was bound to Tennyson, Browning and Rossetti by feelings of almost brotherly love, and he still lives with Swinburne — whose house he has shared for many years—at The Pines, Putney, although he married three years ago. The intimacy which exists between Swinburne and Watts-Dunton might well be described as one of the most beautiful friendships formed by Watts-Dunton. Thirty years ago, when he was leading critic on the "Athenaeum," one of James Russell Lowell's first questions on arriving in England was, "Who is this writer on the "Athenaeum" whose articles are attracting as much attention in America as they surely must be attracting in England?" The enquiry led to a personal meeting, and a friendship was thus formed which was only broken by Lowell's death.

Ninety-Seven Years With Family.

An old servant has just died at Lisburn in the person of Susan O'Hagan, who had been in the service of one family for ninety-seven years. She had been with four generations of the family, and had nursed three. For some time past she had been frail, but enjoyed good health and the full use of her faculties, and could sew and knit without the aid of glasses.

Tax on Horseflesh.

One of the new taxes contemplated in Paris is a duty of 1s. 5d. per cwt. on horseflesh used for human consumption. Strong objections have been raised on the ground that the tax would fall on the very poor and the sick—horseflesh is recommended for consumptives—and would bring in only about $35,000.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain $9 thousand? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Cheats womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Successors to DRS. KENNEDY & KENDAL

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED

Diseases and indiscretions are the cause of more sorrow and suffering than all other diseases combined. We mean the effects of vicious habits on every head: the sallow, pimpled face dark circled eyes, stooping form, stunted development, lack of self-confidence and timid bearing proclaim to all the world his folly and tend to blight his existence. Our treatment positively cures all weak men by overcoming and removing the effects of nervous losses, early and excesses. It stops all drains and quickly restores the victim to what nature intended—a healthy and happy man with physical, mental and nerve power complete.

For over 30 years Drs. K. & K. have treated with the greatest success all diseases of men and women.

If you have any secret disease that is a worry and a menace to your health consult old established physicians who do not have to experiment on you.

We guarantee to cure NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD DISEASES, STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES. Consultation free. If unable to call, write for a question Blank for Home Treatment.

Located in Our Own Office Building.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

LIST OF BARGAINS

SALE ON FROM JAN. 30 TO FEB. 15, 1909

View and Comic Post Cards, per dozen	.10
Valentine Comic Post Cards, per dozen	.15
Magazines, 1908 dates, to clear out at, each	.05
Novels by the best authors, are now selling at 3 for	.25
Novels, some of which are slightly shop worn, each	.05
Large Wire Post Card Racks, selling at only	.15
A big assortment of Cups and Saucers, (Royal Stafford ware), two for only	.18
Pitchers, Fern Pots, Pickle Trays and Butter Plate, only	.15
Sugar and Creams, Vases and Trays, two for	.25
Glass Water Pitchers, large glass and bisque Ornaments	.34
Biscuit Jars, with nice nickle top and handle, for only	.35

Mail Orders Filled Promptly

TIMES BOOKSTORE

HUNTER STREET :: PETERBORO

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

To be had at all first-class dealers

Cup on Exhibition

The championship trophy for the winners of the Junior City Hockey League, presented by President C. G. Graham and Past President F. A. Clark, is now on exhibition in the Peterborough Hardware Co.'s store. It is a handsome cup and will be a great impetus to the juvenile hockeyists.

Mr. Herbert Cunningham of Alameda, Sask., is home on a visit to his father, Mr. Robert Cunningham, North Monaghan. He has been in the West for four years.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1909.

PERSONAL

Mr. S. T. Medd was in Montreal yesterday.

Mr. Fred L. Cooke, Winston, W. Va., is in the city

Mr. C. A. Stirling, Kingston, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. James Walter of Nashville, Tenn., was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Edward L. Froude, Barrie, is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. F. L. Floyd, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Hewson, King street.

Mr. G. C. Pennette of Winnipeg, is registered at the Hotel National.

Mr. M. Pappas, proprietor of the Royal Theater, was in Toronto yesterday on business.

The many friends of Miss Bottie Graham will be glad to hear she is doing nicely.

Mrs. Cox, Wolfe street, is giving a tea this afternoon in aid of the Ladies' Aid of Knox church.

Miss Lydia Biggins has returned from Toronto, where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Mr. John Irwin, trainmaster, Lindsay, was in the city yesterday on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Hewson are on a visit of three weeks to Mr. Hewson's brother, St. Louis.

Mr. O. A. Langley, B.A., barrister of Lakefield, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Norwood on business.

The Mandolin Club is entertaining a number of their friends in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Simcoe St., this evening.

Lindsay Post: Miss May O'Connor of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. M. O'Brien, Gilmour street, Peterborough—Mr. W. J. O'Brien of Peterborough, traveller for the Imperial Tobacco Co., Montreal, is in town on business—Miss Fannie Gallivan, professional nurse, New York, and sister of Dr. Gallivan, Peterborough, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Robt. Spratt.

Stratton Appeal

(Continued from page one.)

"that the petitioner found out that the man was in the Yukon, could he get an order for an extension of time, prove that he could not serve the absent respondent, and then come back, in, say, an hour, and properly get permission to serve a substitute? If that's so, I think it's just a form."

"It is just what the law says," contended Mr. Watson. "There must be a bonafide effort to serve the respondent after the extension of time in which to do so is granted before permission is given to serve a substitute."

"Must he go through the form when he knows it is an absurdity?" queried another of their lordships.

Mr. Watson felt that the "coming back in an hour" was a "forced case."

"I think not."

IS THE LAW PECULIAR?

Mr. J. E. Jones, for the petitioner, didn't get much consolation from the Bench either. He alleged that Mr. Watson's preliminary objections to the proceedings had not revealed the nature of the skilful plea which is now put forward. Like the petition itself (though he did not mention the petitioner), they did not indicate the precise location of the stinger.

"He had something up his sleeve, you mean, suggested the court, putting it in plain English.

Mr. Jones cited one case which is evidently complex. At any rate their lordships advised him not to drag it in.

"I have known some who tried, in my little experience," said one, and smiled reminiscently.

TOOK THE HINT.

"Then I won't try a wider flight, my lord," said Mr. Jones.

"If there is a wider flight you would like to try?" insisted the court, but the counsel knew a challenge when he saw it, and folded his wings. He did not want to make nonsense of the Act, he averred.

"Do you think you have to do that?" asked one justice surprised at such innocence. "Hasn't the Act done that for itself?"

Which is a pretty severe comment upon the Act.

Wrong Breakfast

Change Gave Rugged Health

Many persons think that for strength, they must begin the day with a breakfast of meat and other heavy foods. This is a mistake as anyone can easily discover for himself.

A W. Va. carpenter's experience may benefit others. He writes:

"I used to be a very heavy breakfast eater but finally indigestion caused me such distress I became afraid to eat anything.

"My wife suggested a trial of Grape-Nuts and as I had to eat something or starve, I concluded to take her advice. She fixed me up a dish and I remarked at the time that the quality was all right, but the quantity was too small—I wanted a saucer full.

"But she said a small amount of Grape-Nuts went a long way and that I must eat it according to directions. So I started in with Grape-Nuts and cream, 2 soft boiled eggs some crisp toast for breakfast.

"I cut out meats and a lot of other stuff I had been used to eating all my life and was gratified to see that I was getting better right along. I concluded I had struck the right thing and stuck to it. I had not only been eating improper food, but too much.

"I was working at the Carpenter's trade at that time and thought that unless I had a hearty breakfast with plenty of meat, it would play out before dinner. But after a few days of my 'new breakfast' I found I could do more work, felt better in every way, and now I am not bothered with indigestion."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household care or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use many serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would in many cases seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that are as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th, 09

Grand Opera House

Reserved Seats $1.50, $1.00

Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. Walter Stocker, Peterborough, Ontario.

Normal School Lectures

The Educational Department has arranged for a course of lectures to be given in the local Normal school.

The first of these lectures will be given next Friday evening, at 8 p.m., in the Assembly Hall. The lecturer is Professor James Cappon, of Queen's University. His subject will be "The Relation of Modern to Ancient Ballad Poetry."

All citizens interested in these lectures are cordially invited to attend.

OBITUARY

MRS. JANET HEASLIP.

Death has again claimed one of our old and highly respected residents, this time in the person of Janet Wilcox, relict of the late Philip Heaslip, esq., who died on Saturday at 3 a.m. The deceased lady was in the 68th year of her age of a quiet, retiring nature, though of a kindly, gentle disposition, and was generally beloved by all who knew her. Her husband died just a year ago the 21st of this month. She is survived by three sons, William T., who resides in Toronto, and is a successful traveller; James, who holds a lucrative position with the Canadian General Electric Company at Peterborough; and Byron, who is manager of the Electric Light Heat and Power Company here; and two daughters, Miss Molly and Miss Maggie who reside at home. The funeral takes place at two o'clock today, the service being conducted at the house by Rev. J. T. Ficher, pastor of Grace church, of which deceased was a member.—Brockville Times.

St. John's to Join the Tennis League

Replying to the letter addressed to the secretaries of the different tennis clubs of the city, sent out this week by Mr. W. H. Cluxton, Miss C. B. Morse, secretary of the St. John's Tennis Club, writes regarding the feeling of members of that club in the matter.

"All the members of St. John's Club are very willing, and even anxious that a City Tennis League shall be organized in Peterborough, for the purpose of developing the game in the city, and for first place in the league. There are even more than four members, the number suggested by Mr. Cluxton, who would be very willing to join such a league, from the St. John's Tennis Club.

It has been suggested by some of the members of the St. John's Club that a series of games be also played for the lady members of each club, if such could be satisfactorily arranged. It is hoped that the suggestion set forth in The Times of yesterday's issue, by Mr. Cluxton, will not be allowed to drop, and that the various clubs' tennis representatives and take steps for the organization of such a league at an early date.

MISS C. B. MORSE,
Secretary St. John's Tennis Club.

HOCKEY

The first of the home and home series between the Strathconas and Lakefield will be played here this evening. Lakefield will have their fastest seven on the ice and the team is in great condition. Good condition is always one of the strong factors of the Lakefield aggregation as they have the rink to themselves and always make it a point to keep in the best of shape.

The Straths will also be in championship trim and hope to vindicate themselves for the last defeat at the hands of the dry town outfit. Goals on the round count and tonight's match will provide the last hockey match of the season.

The game commences at 8 o'clock and three other matches of lesser importance are on the book. The admission to all of them including the principal fixture will be 10 and 15 cents for ladies and gentlemen, respectively.

The program for the evening will be:—

7—8. C.P.R. vs. G.T.R.
8—9. Lakefield vs. Strathc.
9—10. Loyal True Blues vs. Lock Works.
10—11. Bell Telephone vs. Machine Telephone.

What Every Woman Requires for Headache Languor

Has your strength given out?
Do you feel languid and tired this spring?
Are you pale, somewhat nervous, finding it hard to do your housework?
Thousands feel just the same—feel the enervating influence of spring, whether that brings out latent symptoms of disease and weakness. You should do like Mrs. Flanagan of Mount Junction—here is her experience. "I will never again suffer the torture of deadening spring illness — never will I have headaches, such sleepless nights, such pale cheeks and lack of appetite. I lived through it all several times, but now I know the medicine that cured. I urge every person, when run down to try the invigorating tonic of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. When I write to friends out, Hatley,—Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me appetite—I relished my meals and grew strong. Rosy color came to my cheeks, every day I felt lighter and better. All my old strength has been restored and the great tonic, blood purifying powers of Dr. Hamilton's pills did it all."
Women who are continually pale, tired and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, aching muscles, bearing-down feeling, lack of sleep and loss of appetite—they are the poor women that mostly need Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c at all dealers.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

WOOD
POINT ST. CHARLES
has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.
McDONALD

5c OPENING | 10c OPENING | 15c OPENING

S. H. KNOX & CO

New 5c, 10c and 15c Store

We are pleased to inform you that our New Store will be ready for your inspection to-morrow, Friday, February 19th.

And our Informal Opening will take place from 3 until 5 o'clock and from 8 until 9.30 o'clock same day, (with Prof. Gliddon's Orchestra in attendance), and for business, Saturday, February 20th. : : :

This opening on Friday is entirely informal; we do not sell any goods on Friday. We invite you to come and see the store, hear the music and get acquainted with our line of Merchandise, and we cordially invite you to make our store your headquarters when shopping and we will do all we can to make it as pleasant for you as possible. We will treat you courteously and fairly. The best Merchandise we can get at as little prices as possible, is the motto of this Big Business.

Store Open for Business Saturday, Feb. 20th at 8 a.m.

No article sold for more than 15 cents. We own and operate 98 Stores in Canada and the United States.

Our construction manager, Mr. John Witmer, was very fortunate in securing the most skilled workmen in Peterborough, under the supervision of the able contractor, Ex-Alderman W. J. Johnston.

The Knox 5c, 10c and 15c Store

A. G. CALEY, Resident Manager. 377 GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—L. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley. finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON
Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.
34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)
Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda, Dublin.
SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. and 'Phone—Office 681; House 682.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF
Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by
THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

Bankers' Dance

A most enjoyable social affair was given by the Bankers in the Conservatory Music Hall last night. It was their annual dance, and the large number present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Mr. G. L. Windsor, New York, is here in the interests of his firm, the Kooley Mfg. Co.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 42 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1909 — PRICE TWO CENTS

Expropriation to the Board of Works

Chairman Ald. Phelan, of the Board of Works informed the committee last night that the chief reason for calling the meeting was for the purpose of introducing the word economy. He said that the Finance Committee had issued instructions for the board to reduce expenditures. This year the board's appropriation would be cut to about $12,500, or about $4,000 less than last year. The board would therefore have to refuse to do all work than what was really necessary.

The members of the committee could not see what items could be cut off. They could not see how the board could refuse to do work that was necessary or asked for.

It was therefore decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Committee of the Whole Council which will meet early next week.

Found Pearl in Oysters

Campbellford, Feb. 18.—Mr. Fred Keller while partaking of an oyster stew got something in his mouth which felt peculiar. By the use of a tooth pick he dislodged from between his teeth what proved to be a handsome pearl.

Teamsters' Wages for the Year 1909

The matter of teamsters' wages for the coming year was brought up by the chief engineer. Last year the teamsters asked for $4 per day, but accepted $3.65, and that price was paid all last year. But it was stated that the same teamsters after finishing with the city went to work for the Street Railway Company, and for the Government on the new wharf at $3 per day. This was not a square deal and the city cannot stand for being held up.

The matter was allowed to stand over until the next meeting. In the mean time the members of the board will enquire into what the teamsters have been doing and to ascertain what the ruling prices of teaming is in the city.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN FOR ELECTION OF BISHOP--DEADLOCK

Leaders of Both Sides Declare It Is a Fight to a Finish, and no Compromise—Canon Cody Lost Lay Votes on Third Ballot—Majority of Clergy with Bishop Thorneloe

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The struggle over the election of a Bishop for the Diocese of Toronto, which commenced in earnest shortly before four o'clock Wednesday afternoon in St. James' Cathedral, goes merrily on with no indication of an immediate ending. Bishop Thorneloe is backed up by a majority of the clergy, while Canon Cody finds his chief support in the laity. Two ballots were taken last night without election.

The third ballot resulted this morning in a gain of one vote for the supporters of Canon Cody, among the laity, and in a gain of four votes for Bishop Thorneloe among the clergy. The casting of the ballot commenced at 10.30 o'clock, and lasted an hour and five minutes. The result was announced at 12.15, when the Synod adjourned, to meet at two o'clock.

There was scarcely any change in the situation. The two parties have settled down to a grim determination apparently to hold the advantages they have, and an absolutely deadlock has resulted which looks though nothing would break it.

PRIVATE CONFERENCES.

After the adjournment Wednesday night both parties held meetings. Little typewritten slips were sent out by Bishop Thorneloes supporters requesting the recipient to attend a meeting after adjournment in the Township Council chambers, above the Bank of Commerce, at the corner of King and Jarvis streets. The slips were signed by Canon Cayley Provost Mockiem and Mr. L. H. Baldwin.

The meeting was representative and enthusiastic, and the decision arrived at was that the clergy would remain inflexible.

Another meeting, held by Canon Cody's supporters, in the Council chambers of the old County Buildings, on Adelaide street, Wednesday night with Judge Benson in the chair, was not concluded until morning. The decision arrived at, as expressed by Hon. S. H. Blake and others, afterward, was that on no condition would a compromise be accepted.

FROWN ON A COMPROMISE.

On both sides suggestions of a compromise are received with disdain by the majority of the electors.

There are, nevertheless, movements, in a merely incipient stage it is true, but still definite enough to create a possibility that they may become a factor, and a very important one, in the election.

One of these was commenced only this morning. The originator was the Rev. W. B. Heeney, of Barrie, who has just been appointed to the rectorship of St. Luke's church, Oburch, Winnipeg. Yesterday he supported Canon Cody. This morning, however, his vote was recorded for Canon Tucker, giving him two votes against the one he received yesterday. In addition to casting his own vote for Canon Tucker, he made an effort to divert other votes in the same direction. His reasons he gave are as follows;

"This thing has got down to a straight fight, not so much between the parties of the church as between the two colleges. I don't believe it will be in the interests of the Church, under the circumstances for either party to win out. Therefore I am voting for Canon Tucker.

Gagged Suffragettes Who Tried to Heckle Birrel--Great Disorder

London, Feb. 18.—Two suffragettes last night repeated the tactics employed in the ladies' gallery of the House of Commons some time ago, by chaining themselves to a balustrade in the Gaiety Restaurant in order to interrupt Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, who was to speak at a dinner. The women were gagged, however, while files were brought and the chains cut. They were then expelled from the restaurant. The Women's Freedom League held a large meeting in London last night, and adopted resolutions to continue the militant campaign for the suffrage. Mrs. Despard was delegated to carry the resolutions to Premier Asquith today, forty members in the audience volunteering to form an escort.

The Suffragettes failed today in their attempt. They first tried to march in procession, but their line being broken up by the police, they mingled with a crowd of the curious who had gathered to witness the scene, and sauntered singly toward Downing street.

The police, however, had completely blocked all entrances to the thoroughfare, and twenty of the more militant suffragettes, who tried to break through the lines were arrested, charged with interfering with the police.

For a time there was a scene of great disorder, women time and again throwing themselves valiantly against the double line of police, only to be thrown back, or, if they were unusually persistent, to be handed over to constables, who marched them off to the police station amid sheers, hoots, and hisses from the throng

The police finally cleared the street, and the women who were not arrested, returned to their hall, where they were addressed by leaders.

The women who were taken into custody were later arraigned in a police court. They refused to pay the fines imposed, and all were sent to prison for terms varying from a fortnight to a month.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas defeated the Lakefield seven last night on the Brock street rink in the first of the home and home games by a score of five to one.

The Russian proposal may not be accepted by Turkey without some modification. The Ottoman Council of Ministers lately decided that redemarcation of the frontier of Eastern Rumelia was indispensable for the proper defence of the Ottoman territory. It is to be hoped, however, that the joint influence of Great Britain, France and Russia will avail to remove this last obstacle to the pacification of southeastern Europe. There is not much time to be lost, for with the coming of spring the adventures will be more keenly felt by the Bulgarians and Servians.

Deputation to Cement Show

The city will send a deputation to the Portland Cement Exhibition to be held in St. Lawrence Hall, Toronto, from March 1st to 6th. It will be arranged if possible to have the Radial Railway Company's application to the legislature for an extension of time to build their road to Stony Lake, come up at about the same time so that the two deputations may go up together.

The Portland Cement Exhibition will be a valuable display for the city to have representatives' visit as much information will be received in the uses of cement, the greatest building material of the present age. Not only will lectures be given on the uses of cement, but there will be many exhibits of structures of various kinds. It is the first time anything of the kind has been attempted and it promises to be a big success as representatives will be present from all parts of Canada.

Only Patch Work will be Done on the Roads in the City This Year

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night when several matters of importance were taken up.

Those present were, Ald. Phelan, chairman, Mayor Rush, Ald. Buller, McIntyre, Gillespie and Bradburn.

A letter was received from Mr. T. Hooper, asking the council to pay $22 to him for repairs to the illuminated sign post in front of his store. The lamp came in contact with the road roller last summer, but no bill for damages was put in until after the repairs had been made.

City Engineer Hay reported that the lamp was there at the pleasure of the council and the city could in no way be held responsible.

On motion of Alderman Buller and McIntyre the matter was referred to the city solicitor to report on.

STONE DELIVERED.

A report from City Engineer Hay stated that 200 cords of stone had been delivered to the city at $3 per cord. The order was for 200 cords. The engineer said that there was no trouble in getting all the stone that was required.

Mr. Hay stated that if the city got an 8inch stone this year as usual (800 cord) the sum of $1400 would be saved by using the stone at the old dam of the Cereal Company. But if the city only needs one hundred more cords of stone it would not pay to put the crusher down at the dam as the city already has 200 cords, and another hundred will likely be enough for this year. The city does not intend doing very much road work except what really is necessary.

It was therefore moved that the chairman and engineer be instructed to purchase what stone is necessary.

Petition for sewer on Inverlea St. from Water street, was received, but it was not sufficiently signed.

On the west side of Bethune street a walk is wanted from Sherbrooke to Dalhousie streets.

Ald. Buller stated that he would like to bring to the attention of the board the necessity of the new walk in front of Knox church. This was started last fall and should be one of the first pieces of work done.

An invitation was received for the mayor, Board of Works and engineer to attend the first annual convention of the Portland Cement Exhibition in Toronto on March 1st to 6th.

Ald. Buller suggested that the city engineer, street commissioner and the chairman be sent up to represent the city.

LOGAN'S CLAIM.

The claim of Mr. Wm. Logan, who has a blacksmith shop at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, was again taken up. Mr. Logan claims he lost $90 and he would settle for $60. The city offered him $30, but he would not accept that.

Ald. Gillespie and Ald. McIntyre moved that $50 be voted to Mr. Logan in full settlement of his account.—Carried.

Ald. Bradburn stated that in future there should be some understanding between property owners and the city before anypublic work is taken up which will cause any inconvenience to property holders. The city cannot afford to pay these claims for damages.

The chairman then read over a number of petitions for granolithic walks which had been held over from last year. A number of sewers were also left over from last year.

No Legislation for City

The City of Peterborough will not have any private legislation before the legislature this year for the first time in several years. There is nothing to attract the members of the civic governors to the Parliament Buildings except the application of the Street Railway Company for an extension of time in which to build their line to Lakefield. There will be a deputation go to Toronto in that connection to represent the city.

Iroquois Took Two Games from Pacifics

The mighty Pacifics met their Waterloo in the ten pin tournament yesterday afternoon when the Iroquois took two games out of the three. This is the first time that the Pacifics have lost a majority of games in a series. Still yesterday's loss does not mean that they are losing ground. It was the third games that was disastrious. Lillie and Connors both fell down, although Connors braced up a little at the end, but he was too late, while Lillie showed only juvenile class. McIroy did his best and rolled a score of 204, and would have won out at that had not Paul Jones, for the Iroquois made a strong finish, and with three strikes shoved his otherwise low score up to 178.

The scores were as follows;

PACIFICS—
Lillie	152	170	118—	440
Connors	129	180	141—	450
McIlroy	131	199	204—	534
	412	549	463—	1424
IROQUOIS—
Adams	159	164	149—	472
Jones	139	148	175—	462
Martin	190	179	157—	526
	488	491	481—	1460
BANKERS—
Ford	129	151	152—	432
Barber	187	145	147—	479
Ferguson	182	153	135—	470
GREYS—
Sullivan	120	163	147—	430
Anderson	138	142	156—	436
McFadden	94	120	146—	360
BANKERS—
Ford	126	129	178—
Barber	144	132	124—
Ferguson	157	129	132—
	427	390	444—
EXAMINER A—
Lacheur	125	145	180—
Cairns	168	184	146—
Glover	136	161	143—
	430	490	470—

The Pacifics are still leading. Examiner A gained second place by their three straights. Bankers step down one and are now in third place.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Educating the Boys and Girls of Today

The education of the boys and girls of today is receiving a great deal of attention on the part of all who take an interest in the welfare of the country and its future. It deserves, however, even more attention than it receives, because of its tremendous importance. In this connection the address recently delivered before the Rochester Public school teachers by Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, one of the most eminent educationists of the age, should be of peculiar interest. He spoke of feds and frills, which, he said, train children better in the use of sense power than the methods of the old red school house of the golden days of long ago. Dr. Eliot said;

"The new education takes just account of the fundamental importance of training eye and ear to hand and teaches the power of observation. These observational courses have turned out excessive arithmetic which I consider is the greatest improvement in forty years.

"There has been an uprising of the public mind in defence of arithmetic and yet it has little of importance in our public life. To carry the multiplication table beyond twelve is absurd.

"Teachers should work against the tendency of the public school machine to turn out uniform products. The prime function of the teacher is to discover the abnormal boys and girls and further them. In the public school machine, the teachers do not have that chance. But so far as I know, the teachers in Rochester have the best chance. Because they have thirty-five children apiece, where Boston has over fifty to each teacher.

"Pupils should be taught to enjoy schools; this life is meant for human development, happiness, justice and mercy. Children cannot be trained for life by making them do what they hate."

Dr. Eliot has thus placed before the teachers a high ideal as to their function, which when fully grasped and steadily and persistently striven for, cannot but make for the betterment of the race.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Bankers' Dance a Big Success

A most pleasing success was achieved by the bankers of the city in their annual at-home in the Conservatory Music Hall Wednesday night, which was one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind held this season. The committee in charge had made every arrangement for the comfort and enjoyment of the guests and the result was a delightful evening that will be remembered for some time by those present. About 100 couples were in attendance and the floor was in excellent condition while that well-known organization, Frank's Orchestra from Toronto, provided splendid music. Refreshments were served by Mr. T. H. Hooper, who catered for the occasion in his usual efficient manner. The patronesses were Mrs. P. Campbell, Mrs. D. Budgen Charles, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. A. Montisamoert, Mrs. J. Crane and Mrs. J. H. Ferguson, while the committee in charge of the dance consisted of Messrs. W. B. Snow, L. F. Cross, W. G. Ferguson, J. J. McGrail, R. B. Morley, L. T. H. Ardiel, Geo. Clark, A. H. Mulhern and C. A. Barber.

The Three Musketeers

A large advance sale of tickets has been made for the production of the "Three Musketeers" at the Conservatory of Music tonight. This drama is being put on by amateurs under the auspices of St. Luke's Young People, and it promises to be one of the best things seen here this winter. Those taking part have been well trained, and as many of them have appeared before the public before they will have nothing to fear. If your seat is not already marked get it done at once.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

Is Canada Getting a Fair Share of the Western Rivers?

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—It is said that a fery will come out of the West when the provisions of Article VI. of the Waterways Treaty are realized in Southern Alberta. It is claimed that the United States is a million dollars the richer as a result of the arrangement concerning the St. Mary and Milk Rivers, which permits the use of that portion of the Milk River in Canada as a channel through which Americans may divert the waters of the St. Mary River via Alberta territory into a section of Montana, where it will be very valuable for irrigation purposes.

Both the St. Mary and the Milk Rivers originate in the United States and flow north-westerly into Canada, the Milk, however, flowing down again into the States at a point 100 miles eastward from where it first crosses the boundary. The length of the river in Canada is therefore substantially more than that distance.

AMERICANS KNEW VALUE.

The lands of Alberta and Montana in this vicinity are best described as semi-arid. Under the ordinary method of cultivation they would yield but poor returns. With scientific irrigation they are turned into profitable areas. The water supply, it will be seen, is all-important.

Some years ago a sum of $25,000,000 was set aside by the United States for the reclamation of such areas. No sooner was this vote put through than a rush was made for the Canadian and Mexican boundaries, in order that boundary streams might be "grabbed."

Canadians, however, had already realized the value of the St. Mary River, and an irrigation company had a huge system in operation which immensely increased the value of lands east of that river on the Dominion side of the border. One million and a half of dollars has already been spent by Canadians in this venture.

PHYSICAL ADVANTAGES.

Of the two rivers, the St. Mary is by all odds the most important, in so far as flow is concerned. It is as a channel that the Milk River is valuable to the Americans.

While the St. Mary originates in a mountain lake south of the border, it has important tributaries in Canadian territory, and its course could not be diverted through Montana, nor could it be utilized for irrigation there, unless via Canada. This is owing to the conformation of the country. To take the waters of the St. Mary to the dry lands where it is needed, by a southern route, would mean the cutting down of hills at an almost prohibitive cost. The United States has had expert engineers examining into the possibilities of the situation, but it is said that their plans for a southern route have been largely a "bluff." Canada, it is claimed, has not employed a single engineer familiar with the situation.

JOINING THE RIVERS.

Some years ago the Americans conceived the idea of tapping the St. Mary River south of the boundary and diverting part of its flow to the Milk River, also south of the boundary. This design they proceeded to put into execution, and the canal is now in progress of construction, though the work has gone on slowly, evidently with the possible outcome of the Waterways Treaty in view.

It will be seen, by glancing at the map that any diversion of waters into the Milk south of the line means that they must be carried through Alberta for over a hundred miles before again reaching American territory for use in irrigation purposes. This channel is said by engineers to be worth easily a million of dollars to the people across the border.

Apparently the Canadians had the Americans "where they wanted them." That, at any rate, is the claim advanced by some Westerners who do not like the terms prescribed by the new treaty.

CALLS IT ONE SYSTEM.

The document declares that the two rivers and their tributaries are to be treated "as one stream" for irrigation and power purposes.

Miss Lyda Biggins, who has been visiting friends in Toronto for the last couple of weeks, has returned.

New Smith St. Bridge to Cost $28,000

The matter of the Smith street bridge was brought up in the Board of Works meeting last night, and the matter of getting a new by-law ready for submitting at the next council meeting. Since the first by law was defeated the city engineer has communicated with every bridge building company in Canada. As yet he has received a reply from only one, although the others will be along in time. The one he has received is for a steel bridge at a cost of $28,000. This is for the bridge only and does not provide for the fixing up of the approaches or for land damages. The new bridge will be the same width as the first plans provided for, but will be shorter. The embankment on the east side will be filled in several feet. The approach on the east side will cost $500 for filling in and $100 on the west and with other costs the total price will amount to about $30,000.

The plans for the new bridge provide for a structure that will be sufficiently strong for all city purposes, and will be all right for the road roller to cross. There is one thing however, and that is it will cost the water commissioners a lot of money to get their pipes across if they desire to go that way. Otherwise the bridge will be very satisfactory for all city purposes.

The engineer will have further information by the time the next meeting is held.

The Time to Change

is when you feel interested enough in your health to leave off tea and coffee for a few days and learn just how much better, stutdier, and clearer one feels by drinking

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Mr. Richard McCallum

A well known citizen of Stirling, Ont., cured of Chronic Catarrh and irritable throat by Catarrhozone.

A remarkable case, exciting great interest in Stirling, which, if possible, adds to the popularity of Catarrhozone as a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, and Throat Trouble.

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable and at the same time hardest to cure diseases. This has been Mr. McCallum's experience:

"For many years," he writes, "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed irritable condition.

"Doctor's medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of and tried a sample, and it really benefitted me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit from the sample size, I got the complete outfit, large Hard Rubber Inhaler, etc., and but a few weeks of its use completely cured me of Catarrh and throat trouble.

"I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory Catarrh remedy on the market. Every word said about it is true.

(Signed) "Richard McCallum."

Now perhaps you need a remedy like Catarrhozone. It is the only treatment that is applied locally as well as constitutionally. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops hawking and spitting, and purifies the breath.

The Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler, drive all the poisons from the blood and build up the system to a healthy, vigorous condition.

The complete outfit costs $1 at all druggists; trial size 50c., by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhozone to-day.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19 1909.

The Federal Life Assurance Company

One of the best and most progressive life insurance companies in Canada is the Federal Life Assurance Company with its head office in Hamilton. It has been in existence for twenty-seven years, and it has enjoyed prosperity to a great extent. Its annual meeting held in Toronto a few days ago was most gratifying, and the financial statement showed a continuance of that prosperity which has been enjoyed in the past. President and Managing Director David Dexter occupied the chair and delivered the president's annual address upon which he received the congratulations of the shareholders. The new business represented applications for insurance from 2631 persons, and of these 2423 were accepted, and are carrying insurance to the value of $3,377,723.33. The assets and the income of the company showed large increases while to the policyholders was paid a total of $303,713.23.

Careful attention has been paid as usual to the investment of the company's funds, and only first-class bonds, mortgages, securities and loans were taken, and the expenses have been kept down to a reasonable limit. Altogether the Federal Life represents a well managed company which is satisfactory to the shareholders, and a safe company for the public to insure with.

Mr. G. G. Pope is the well known and popular district agent for the Federal Life in this district, and he has succeeded in working up a very large business. He is a good man with a good company and is bound to succeed.

Were Fined for Illegal Fishing

Walter and Edward Herron, who live on an island in Mud Lake, near Bridgenorth, came into the city yesterday morning to answer to the charge of illegal fishing on Sunday, February 7th. They appeared before Magistrate Edmison, but the case was not settled at that. They went out to find the inspector, but in the afternoon a policeman crossed their path with a warrant for the arrest of Walter on an old charge, which had been preferred against him in August, of 1901. He was to have appeared before Mr. Jas. Stevenson, acting for Magistrate Dumble, on the charge of having driven a horse so that it had to be killed. Walter did not answer to the charge, but he will probably have to go through the workings of the police court this morning, even if they have been delayed eight years. The result of the county court case was that a mild fine of $2 each was imposed by Magistrate Edmison.

MEMORIAL TO VANCOUVER.

West Proposes to Honor the Name of Explorer of Pacific Coast.

The Vancouver Province deals interestingly with a proposition to place some fitting memorial—as a tribute from British Columbians, and especially from the people of Vancouver—in the church in Surrey, England, in which the eminent navigator, Captain George Vancouver lies buried.

The Province says: "We feel sure that this suggestion will meet with the approval of many of our readers. It is not exactly to our credit that the last resting-place of a man so intimately and so exemplarily connected with our early history should have nothing to mark it beyond the ordinary and customary gravestone that in a frugal and simpler age was placed there by family affection—no more, in fact, than was usually accorded the graves in which 'the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep!'

"We have opened up communication with the rector of the church, in whom, according to English ecclesiastical law, the freehold of the church and churchyard is vested, and who is responsible for the care and upkeep of the fabric. It is proposed to call, as soon as possible, a meeting of the subscribers to the fund, to discuss the form the memorial shall take, so that a definite suggestion from the donors may accompany their gift. Should this proposal meet with public favor it may later come within the bounds of possibility to erect a monument in commemoration of Captain Vancouver in Stanley Park. An obelisk of dignified proportions on Prospect Point, overlooking the narrows up which he sailed more than a century ago on his way to the inlet that he named after Sir Henry Burrard, of the royal navy, would seem to be a suitable memorial. Besides perpetuating the memory of the great navigator it would be an object of interest to visitors and a landmark to those who follow the sea and come up the passage that he dared when its waters were unchartered and unknown. For such a worthy object the co-operation of our school children might be obtained, and we feel sure it would egcite a kindred interest to that evoked by the monument they placed in Stanley Park to the memory of the late Queen Victoria."

Tricking the Hospitals.

Sometimes police ambulance drivers have to take people with assumed complaints to the hospitals, against their better diagnosis.

Driver John Egan of Toronto had two of these experiences last week, the second being on Saturday night, when Edward Thwaits hobbled into W. J. Nichol's drug store, 170 East King street, calling for an ambulance because he had slipped and broken his leg.

"Can you pay your hospital bill?" asked Egan.

"No, I have no money. The city's got to look after me."

"I thought so," murmured Egan as his patient used both limbs to climb into the conveyance.

He is slated on the hospital register as "an alcoholic."

Earlier in the week P. C. Egan was called to a corner on Church street. Two frantic phone messages to the effect that a woman was dying, gingered his flight.

He found a well-known character lying on the pavement groaning fearfully with a crowd of sympathetic people around her. Shriek after shriek were let out as she was being lifted to the stretcher. Egan had carried her before and she was shamming; but his suspicions were not received sympathetically by the onlookers. After a thorough examination at the hospital she was commanded by the physician to stop her noise and walk down the corridor. In her towering indignation she walked straight out of the building like an enraged Juno. This was the third time she had done this caper.

Bernier's Successor.

Mr. Noe Chevrier, the Winnipeg merchant, who has been appointed to fill the Manitoba vacancy in the Senate, caused by the death of Senator Thomas A. Bernier, was born at Rigaud, Vaudreuil county, Quebec, in the early fifties, and took his classical training at College Bourget, Rigaud. He then joined his father at Ottawa, where he launched out into commercial life in the clothing business.

After a few prosperous years in business in Ottawa, Mr. Chevrier, with his family, went to Winnipeg in 1871, and was one of the pioneer merchants of the west, starting a clothing and fur store on Main street, which he still maintains. The firm of Chevrier & Sons is one of the largest concerns of the kind in the west, and the senior partner is widely known throughout the western country as a commercial pioneer of high repute, and a man of sound judgment and upright business principles.

Suit For $22,000,000.

A suit for an estate in Walkerville, Essex County, valued at $22,000,000, and which, if won, will make C. H. Labadie treasurer of the Hamilton National Insurance Co., of South Bend, Ind., richer by $8,800,000, will be started in Toronto, according to a recent despatch from Laporte, Ind.

Hiram Walker purchased the estate from an uncle of Labadie, into whose hands it had come from Labadie's grandfather. This transaction, according to the allegation which will be made, was in no sense legal, as the uncle only held the estate in trust and had no right to dispose of it.

Labadie, who has been empowered to act as attorney by the several heirs, asserts that if the case is lost in Toronto it will be taken to the Chancery Court of London. On the estate is the Walker distillery.

C.P.R. Industrial Department.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has established an industrial department in Winnipeg in connection with their extensive offices, for the purpose of encouraging the development of cities, towns, and villages along its lines in the west.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909 We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Ar Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Fowin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 28th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Articles for Sale

Three Second Hand Caligraph Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to H. C., 340 1-2 Water street, Peterboro.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10 00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
——— Limited ———

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10 00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION

TORONTO AND RETURN $2.80 FROM PETERBORO

Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 23

Return limit Feb. 26. Apply to

W. McILROY,
C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30

From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from

W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
F. SANDY DEPOT AGENT

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cot. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE · McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the lines of wedding presents at sacrifice prices. January sale of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,406,991
Total Assets...33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE. MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms for Canada, $3.75 a year, postage prepaid. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

We solicit the business of Manufacturers, Engineers and others who realize the advantage of having their Patent business transacted by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Patents Advertised at our expense. Write, Marion & Marion, New York Life Bldg., Montreal; and Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—THE—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—THE—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided Into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritchie Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 668, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 163 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 63 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 18th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. LeVesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 600,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 200,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $500; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 5000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 16th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation for "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & E. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agents name, See future advertisements, etc,

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

A MEDICINE OF REAL WORTH AND MERIT.

It Not Only Cures Colds and Grip, But Prevents Them From Resulting in Pneumonia.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases, of which colds, croup and whooping cough are the most common. Those who have used it for years and are in a position to know its real value, assert that it is without an equal for the treatment of these diseases. It not only cures colds and grip, but counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

It has come into almost universal use as a preventive and cure for croup, and has never been known to fail.

In cases of whooping cough it keeps the cough loose, expectoration easy and renders the paroxysms of coughing less frequent and less severe, depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences.

It is pleasant to take, which is of much importance when the medicine must be given to small children.

It contains no opium or other harmful substance, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult.

It is an ideal remedy both for adults and children, and we think the most perfect and most effectual yet produced in any country.

BARGAINS

—IN—

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25

Regular $3.00 Bed to 2.00

Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00

Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00

Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00

Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

as opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

"Buns" of Winchester.

Amongst Parliamentary nicknames this is one of the most curious. It was bestowed upon Sir Frederick Banbury, who recently celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday, when he was at Winchester. At school he won as much distinction at football as he has since done in the House of Commons on account of his clever, though lengthy, speeches. He is the champion talkist of the House, and can speak on any subject at any time and at any length. Nevertheless, he is popular, even with Sir Carne Raach, the avowed enemy of long speeches. For Sir Frederick possesses a geniality which attracts many friends. By one of the pleasantries of nature he is as little like the popular conception of him as could possibly be imagined, being perfectly groomed, bright-eyed and bright-colored, and favored with a most friendly smile.

British Millionaires In the Making.

That America has no monopoly of the romances of commerce is proved by the career of the late Mr. George Singer, who has just died at Coventry, England, and who, starting as a mechanic, amassed one of the greatest fortunes ever made in the cycle industry. Sir William Arrol, whose career has been still more romantic, began his working life, as a child of nine, in a cotton-mill; Sir Christopher Furness's fortune was cradled behind a grocer's counter. The late Sir John Leng's start was as an ill-paid reporter; and at nine years of age Sir Thomas J. Lipton is proud to recall that he was able to add a weekly half-crown to the poor family purse by errand-boy's work in Glasgow.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defiance for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they knock the head off those early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, sighter day. Heroin probably likes Preventics' greatest adversary. Sold in 25c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 50 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

Preventics

"ALL DEALERS"

VICAR AS AUTHOR.

English Churchman Confesses to Writing Under Non de Plume.

Rev. J. Jessop Teague, vicar of St. Luke's, Woodside, a suburb of South Norwood, England, has admitted that he is the author of the many novels which have been published under the pseudonym of "Morice Gerard."

One of his stories, entitled "The Unspoken Word," is now appearing in an English paper, and Mr. Teague, while admitting the authorship, declared that he had nothing to do with the local publication of the story. That had been arranged by an agency which had purchased the story.

"Writing has been my hobby since I was a boy," he said, "and in my opinion there is nothing incongruous in a preacher following a literary calling. Not only that, but my work as a novelist has undoubtedly improved the literary quality of my extempore preaching, and may form a valuable adjunct to my sermons.

"Throughout my writings I have endeavored to suggest the highest ideals and to give a good moral tone to my work. The historical romances, I hope, have not been without their value from an educational point of view."

One of Mr. Teague's early successes was the winning of a $500 prize offered by The Newcastle Weekly Chronicle for the best serial story with "The Crowning of Esther." He has also written "The Rose of Blenheim," "The Red Seal" and "A Gentleman of London." He is bringing out two new books. One is finished, but the title is not yet selected.

OLD OYSTER BED.

Irish Supply is Shipped to London For First Time.

Oysters from a wild part of the west coast of Ireland, which, in view of their origin, may be described as a "novelty 800 years old," were eaten for the first time in London a few days ago.

The oysters of the Red Bank Galways, were cultivated by the monks of the historic Corcomroe Abbey at least as early as the twelfth century. In 1861 Thomas Dinley, who had travelled all over Ireland, wrote of these oysters in Galway Bay—"oysters of middle size, far excelling our Colchesters, as owned by several judges of both."

Napoleon III., when establishing the oyster industry which has now become so important in France, sent agents who practically denuded the Red Bank to obtain the parent stock for what have become the famous French beds of Auray and Arcachon to-day.

The entire output of the Red Bank oysters, which, after drastic tests, are passed for consumption, will henceforth be reserved exclusively for the Carlton and Ritz Hotels, and a number of invited guests who recently tasted the oysters found them not only "fat," but of delicious flavor.

A Mighty Nimrod.

A remarkable career has been that of Mr. F. C. Selous, the famous hunter and explorer, who will accompany President Roosevelt on his African big game expedition in the spring. He was only twenty years of age when he went to Matabeleland, in days when railways were unknown there and when the interior of the country was a sealed book to the European. For years he was in unknown countries hunting elephants, lions, and other animals, and at one period he was nearly three years without seeing a newspaper, a telegram, or any kind of money, and he was perfectly happy. He spent nearly a quarter of a century of his life penetrating the interior of South Africa. Then he went to Alaska on a fifteen-thousand-mile tour in search of moose and caribou. It was while on this tour that, in the wildest part of the Yukon, Mr. Selous came across a trapper's hut occupied by two Englishmen. One had just got his discharge from the Northwest Mounted Police, and the other, who had earned the nickname of "Neverwash," was the son of a peer.

Errand Boy to Scientist.

Dr. George Gore, who has just died in Birmingham at the age of 82, was an entirely self-educated man. For four years he worked as an errand boy and for four years as a cooper. Working from six in the morning till eight at night, he had little leisure for study, but in the hours stolen from sleep he pondered deeply over scientific subjects, and laid the foundation of his future successful career. From Bristol he went to Birmingham when 25 years of age, obtaining a situation as time-keeper in the Soho works. Before long the originality of his researches began to be noised abroad, and he set up as a teacher on his own account. Before he was thirty he had discovered the substance known as "explosive antimony," and about the same time also discovered a liquid by means of which white nickel could be deposited as a bright white metal. This liquid, known as "Gore's Solution," was afterwards extensively used.

The Farthing Man.

So Tunbridge Wells, England, has termed Mr. R. Arnold, who eleven years ago first started his "farthing campaign" for London slum children's breakfasts. That year he collected 600 farthings. The following year he more than doubled that amount, and every succeeding year has seen an advance on its predecessor. During 1908 no fewer than 22,000 farthings were collected, making a total in eleven years of 70,000. A big effort is to be made in 1909 to get 30,000, so that the 100,000 mark may be reached in the twelve years.

Magician Who Cures Toothache.

Hundreds of sufferers from toothache at St. Petersburg, rich and poor alike, besiege the house of a doorkeeper named Lazaroff, who is widely believed to have magical powers to charm away the pain. Lazaroff claims to have inherited his powers from an uncle. His methods consist in the repetition of a prayer and the gift to each sufferer of a sheet of paper to lay against the ache. He accepts no fee for his cures.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a gentlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fascinating. Subscription price 30 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MOVING BIG TREES.

An Expensive Undertaking, Sometimes Requiring a Year.

Trees of a very great size can be moved successfully if time and money are of no account, but it is an expensive process and should be attempted only where immediate effect is wanted or in the case of a rare variety that requires to be removed and cannot be replaced.

To prepare a large tree for removal, says Horticulture, a deep trench should be dug around the tree from five to seven feet from the base of the tree and working under so as to cut off all the roots possible without disturbing the hole.

The ends of the roots should all be cut smooth and the trench filled up with a good compost of peat, rotten sods and manure and left for a year, when a second trench can be opened at the outside of the first and the tree carefully undermined with a pick, so as to remove the soil with as little injury to the young fibers as possible, and the tree carefully drawn over so as to cut whatever taproot may have been left.

If a supply of base mats is at hand they can be carefully bound around the ball of earth, and if it is not too large it can be loaded on a drag and drawn to the place of planting, where the hole has been prepared beforehand.

If too large for a drag the ball of earth may be surrounded by boards or layers of hay and straw firmly bound with cords, a few boards passing underneath and the whole fastened to the stem, which should be well wrapped with hay or woollen material before any force for lifting is applied. It can then be raised with the use of a derrick on to a truck and taken to the desired place, lowered in the hole, the binding taken off, the roots carefully spread and the soil well worked in among them and well firmed.

Large trees can also be transplanted by digging around them in winter and allowing the earth around them to be frozen solid, having the ground prepared previously and covered with coarse material to keep out the frost, and removing them on a sled to their destination.

Hospitality Awaits Estate Claimants.

At Gopsall, Leicestershire, England, where Earl Howe has entertained the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess Torby, there is a plantation of thirteen fine Wellingtonias planted by the first Earl Howe to commemorate the birthday of his thirteen children. In the drawing-room of the hall hang superb paintings by Murillo, Rembrant, Teniers, and Van Dyck. Other treasures are original manuscripts of Handel, who was often a guest at the house, and a dinner service for sixteen people in solid gold, the gift of Queen Adelaide to the present peer's grandfather, who acted as her Lord Chamberlain. The hall, which was built in the reign of George III., cost $500,000. In the gardens is a memorial erected by Pope to his mother, which bears the inscription, "Best of mothers, most loving of women. Farewell." Lord Howe, who descends from "Black Dick," the famous admiral, and was born on April 28, 1861, is patron of no less than eleven livings, and owns about 28,000 acres. He is one of the most envied of men judging by the number of claimants to his title and estates. Some time ago he facetiously declared that he kept a dining table at Gopsall Hall ready at all hours for the visit of anyone who thinks he has a claim.

Gave Him a Brilliant Idea.

On a journey from Vienna to St. Petersburg Mr. Stuart Cumberland, the English thought-reader, entertained his fellow-passengers by guessing their thoughts. One of the travelers, a Polish Jew, who took the whole thing for a hoax, offered to pay Cumberland the sum of fifty roubles if he could divine his thoughts. Cumberland acceded to the request, and, seeing the chance of a joke, said: "You are going to the fair at Nishni-Novgorod, where you intend to purchase goods to the extent of twenty thousand roubles, after which you will declare yourself bankrupt and compound with your creditors for 3 per cent." On hearing these words the Jew gazed at the speaker with reverential awe, and without uttering a word he drew out of the leg of his Wellington boot a shabby purse, and handed over the fifty roubles to Cumberland. Thereupon the thought-reader triumphantly exclaimed, "Then I guessed your thoughts, eh?" "No, you didn't," replied the Jew, "but you have given me a brilliant idea!"

Disenchanted.

"Yes," she admitted, with a sad little sigh, "there was a time when I thought him the grandest man in the world—when I fancied that nothing could ever make me cease to love him."

"Well," her friend replied, "I suppose we are all doomed to these disenchanting experiences. We have only to become acquainted with a man to discover that he is not the god we had supposed him to be."

"But it wasn't becoming acquainted with him that destroyed my ideal. I am sure that I could still think him splendid if I had never seen him in riding breeches."

An Old Story.

Once when Rudyard Kipling was a boy he ran out on the yardarm of a ship.

"Mr. Kipling," yelled a sailor, "your boy is on a yardarm, and if he lets go he'll drown!"

"Ah," responded Mr. Kipling, with a yawn, "but he won't let go!"

This incident also happened to John Burns, Horace Walpole, Napoleon Bonaparte, Dick Turpin, Julius Caesar, and the Kaid McTooki. Presently it will "happen" again.—Answers.

Cinematograph by Wire.

A Stockholm engineer named Grall has obtained a patent for an invention by means of which not only photographs, but also "animated pictures" may be sent and received by means of the ordinary telegraphic apparatus.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

OF CANADA.

Twenty-Seventh Annual Statement

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Home Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, 16th February, 1909, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair. Mr. W. H. Davis, Acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follow was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Vice-President Lieut.-Colonel Kerns:—

Your Directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1908, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business for the year consisted of two thousand six hundred and thirty-one applications for insurance, aggregating $3,713,669.26, of which two thousand four hundred and twenty-three applications for $3,377,723.33 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $314,383.91 and have now reached $3,31,856.65, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for Policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,184,856.65, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $3,045,786.00, showing a surplus of $1,140,070.65. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to Policyholders was $270,070.65.

Policies on ninety-seven lives became claims through death to the amount of $162,160.56.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividents applied to the reduction of premiums with annuities, the total payment to Policyholders amounted to $303,713.23.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds, in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten and one-half per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the company now amount to $20,186,400.61, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

You are to be congratulated on the fact that the surplus over Capital and all Liabilities increased $55,151.65, or nearly seventy per cent., during the past year.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the past two months of the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER, President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company:

Gentlemen; We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ended 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The Debentures, Bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government or Banks have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying Statements, viz. Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,

H. S. STEPHENS,
CHARLES STIFF, Auditors.

Hamilton, 1st February, 1909.

Financial Statement for 1908

RECEIPTS.

Premium and Annuity Income	$ 75,001 85
Interest, Rents and Profits	151,853.96
		$ 826,858 81

DISBURSEMENTS.

Paid to Policyholders	303,713 23
All other Payments	226,110 93
Balance	297,001 65
		$ 826,858 81

ASSETS, DECEMBER 31st, 1908.

Debenture and Bonds	$1,071,735 71
Mortgages	863,262 51
Loans on Policies, Bonds, Stocks, etc.	626,104 10
All other Assets	753,754 33
		$3,314,856 65

LIABILITIES.

Reserve Fund	$2,993,478 00
Death Losses awaiting Proofs	36,675 00
Other Liabilities	14,633 00
Surplus on Policyholders' Account	270,070 65
		$3,314,856 65
Assets	$3,314,856 65
Guarantee Capital	870,000 00
Total Security	$4,184,856 65
Policies were Issued Assuring	3,377,733 34
Total Insurance in Force	20,128,400 61

After the adoption of the Report the retiring Directors were re-elected for the ensuing year. At asubsequent meeting of the Directors the retiring officers and the Executive Committee were re-elected.

GEO. G. POPE.
District Agent, Peterborough.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1909.

PERSONAL

Mr. W. A. Emmerson, Waterbury, Conn., is in the city.

Mr. J. A. Melson, Smith's Falls, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. J. L. Graham, Water street, is in Toronto on a business trip.

Miss May O'Connor of Lindsay, is the guest of Miss M. O'Brien.

Mr. F. H. Morris of Orillia, is registered at the National.

His Honor Judge Weller held Division Court in Lakefield yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. White and daughter, Picton, are visiting Mrs. L. F. Hunter, Reid street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherin, of Lakefield, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. J. R. Nelson, superintendent of the C.P.R., was in the city on an official visit.

The bachelors of Lakefield are giving a dance in the village hall of the village on Monday evening next.

Mr. J. D. Hayes, of Toronto, is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Brennan, Aylmer street.

Among those in the city yesterday from Lakefield were Messrs George and Paul Payne, R. C. Strickland and A. Atwood.

Miss Marjory Dela Fosse, who is attending St. Hilda's College, Toronto, is spending a few days with her parents, 283 Stewart street.

Mr. Glass of Parnell street, has returned home from Brown Hill, where he has been undergoing treatment for cancer. He is greatly improved and will soon be as well as ever again.

Mrs. Edmison, wife of Rev. R. Edmison of Cheltenham, and two children are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fitzgerald, Hunter street, east.

Mr. Walter B. Snow of the Bank of Ottawa, has been transferred to Ottawa, and the vacancy made here by his removal has been filled by Mr. O. Clayton of Ottawa.

The many friends of Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who is confined to St. Joseph's hospital, as the result of an accident, will be pleased to learn that he is steadily improving.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

Messrs. Fred Cook, G. H. Duncan and J. N. Watson were in Toronto yesterday attending the at-home of the Master Painters' Association in the Temple Building yesterday evening.

Mr. L. F. Cross, accountant of the Bank of Commerce has gone to Sydney, C. B., to relieve the manager there for two months. Mr. Walton, accountant in the Kingston branch will fill his position here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robertson leave this morning for Kingston, where they will visit their daughter, Miss Mattie Robertson, who is attending Queen's University. While in the city they will be the guests of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Jordan.

An invitation to attend the dedication of the Belleville armories on Feb. 23rd, has been forwarded to the officers of the 57th regiment. A number from the regiment will likely attend.

Keys Found

A bunch of keys has been found and left in The Times office, where the owner may call and get the same.

Finance Committee

A meeting of the Finance Committee will be held in the city clerk's office this afternoon at four o'clock for the purpose of passing accounts and other business.

Large Black List

There are forty-one persons on the blacklist in Peterborough, and there are a few more who should be on in the interests of the liquor trade.

Hay and Wood

The farmers are taking advantage of the good sleighing of late and are bringing a large amount of hay and wood to the market. Hay is selling from $12 to $13 per ton and wood from $5 to $6 per cord.

CLEAN Up INSIDE

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits safe to say that in the spring you feel poorly—have a throbbing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes. If not absolutely bilious the system is so full of bile that you feel heavy and tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh as a prize-fighter. "For ten years, says W. R. Sangster, of Concord, "I suffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt despondent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new, I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this grand tonic medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect spring medicine, they destroy germs and poisons of every description and strength whereby the system rallies and the patient quickly enjoys the blessings of Perfect Health. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today—25c. At a druggists.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure, were severe, obstinate, hang-on Chronic Coughs, bronchial and hereditary troubles. And chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its actions upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the saving medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th, 09

Grand Opera House

Reserved Seats $1.50, $1.00

Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. Walter Stocker, Peterborough, Ontario.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS

WHEAT
Wheat, per bushel	$ 95	48
COARSE GRAINS
Barley, per bushel	$ 45	$ 48
Peas, small	80	1 10
Peas, mummies	1 00	1 00
Oats	40	42
Buckwheat	65	70
Rye	65	70
MEATS, POULTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCE
Beef, by the quarter	$6 00	$7 00
Mutton, per lb	9	10
Spring Lamb, quarter	10	10
Dressed Hogs, per cwt	7 50	9 00
Pork, by quarter per lb	10	11
Ducks, per pair	50	70
Chickens, per pair	60	70
Turkeys, each	1 25	3 00
Butter, fresh roll, per lb	22	27
Butter, crock, per lb	20	22
Eggs, per dozen	25	30
LIVESTOCK
Cattle, choice, per cwt	$3 00	$5 00
Butchers per cwt	3 00	4 00
Stockers, per cwt	1 85	2 25
Calves	2	8
Sheep	3 25	4 00
Lambs	4 00	5 20
Hogs, select	6 25	67 5
Light	4 75	6 00
Heavy	4 00	4 50
Sows	4 25	5 00

BIG G

TRADE MARK

CURES MEN & WOMEN

One Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by prepaid, on receipt of $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

The Evans Chemical Co. CINCINNATI, O. U.S.A.

PAT. OFF.

The New Public Library Plans

The plans for the new public library which the Property Committee will present to the city council at its next meeting are those prepared by Messrs. John F. Belcher and Wm. Blackwell of this city. They are for a two-storey structure with a basement and with all the room inside made use of. The building when completed will present a very nice appearance, although there is nothing elaborate about it. It is 72 feet frontage, 81 feet back, and about 66 feet high from the ground.

The basement provides a ladies' room, a gentleman's smoking room and lavatories in the front part with a game room, boiler room and a room for old books at the back.

On the ground floor is the ladies' room, the central reading room and the stock room taking up the back half of the building. Off the stock room is a reference library, the librarian's office and a work room.

On the second floor is the board room and a room for a special collection of literature, while the rest of the flat is for a museum with cases around.

Lindsay Post: Miss May O'Connor of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. M. O'Brien, Gilmour street, Peterborough—Mr. W. J. O'Brien of Peterborough, traveller for the Imperial Tobacco Co., Montreal, is in town on business—Miss Fannie Gallivan, professional nurse, New York, and sister of Dr. Gallivan, Peterborough, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Robt. Spratt.

5c. OPENING | 10c. OPENING | 15c. OPENING

S. H. KNOX & CO.

New 5c, 10c, and 15c Store

SATURDAY MORNING, - FEBRUARY 20

AT 8 O'CLOCK

SOME of the goods we sell are listed below, and we will continue to carry complete stocks of all staple merchandise at all times in Hosiery, Laces, Embroideries, Notions, Hardware, Candy, Stationery, Crockery, China, etc.

Graniteware	15c	Candy	10c lb	Big Files	15c ea	Snow Shovels	15c
Tin Dish Pans	15c	Post Cards	5 for 5c	Big Box Paper	15c	Coal Scuttles	15c
Hosiery	15c	Dresser Scarfs	15c	Scribblers	2 for 5c	Floor Mops	15c
Embroidery	5c yd	Pillow Shams	15c	Embroideries	10c yd	Sheet Music	15c
Shelf Oilcloth	5c yd	Galvanized Pails	15c	Veilings	15c yd	Gold Fish and Globe	15c
Table Oilcloth	15c yd	Floor Brooms	15c	Ladies' Collars	15c ea
Crepe Tissue Paper	10c roll	Hardware at all prices up to 15c		Notions at all prices up to			15c

SHOP AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE

No article sold for more than 15 cents. We own and operate 98 Stores in Canada and the United States

Our construction manager, Mr. John Witmer, was very fortunate in securing the most skilled workmen in Peterborough, under the supervision of the able contractor, Ex-Alderman, W. J. Johnston.

The Knox 5c, 10c & 15c Store

A. G. CALEY, Resident Manager — 377 George Street, Peterborough

OBITUARY

MRS. FREDERERICK PAYNE.

The death occurred on Thursday morning, Feb. 11th, at 8 o'clock of Ruth, relict of the late Frederick Payne, of Dummer, death resulted from burns caused by the overturning of a lamp.

Her maiden name was Ruth White being the youngest daughter of the ate Wm. White of North Monaghan.

She was born in the Township of Douro, near Lacey's Pond, July 28th, 1850. She was married in January, 1875, to her late husband, who predeceased her not quite six months ago. There are left to mourn her loss, four sons—Herbert, of Deloraine, Man., David of South Dummer, Fred and Harry at home; two daughters-in-law and three grandchildren. The brothers and sisters of the deceased are Jacob of North Dummer, Benjamin of Peterborough, Mrs. Alex. Watts of Warsaw, and Mrs. Lazarus Payne, North Dummer.

The pastor Rev. Dr. Marvin preached a very earnest sermon from the text, "The living know that they shall die," Eccl. 9. 5. Hymns, "There's a land that is fairer than day," and "One by One." Rev. Mr. Anderson led in prayer.

The pall bearers were the four sons Herbert, David, Fred and Harry and two nephews, Harmon Payne and Clarence Watts.

A large concourse of friends and acquaintances assembled to pay last tribute of respect to one who had been a good neighbor, a kind and evoted mother.

She was retiring in disposition, but brave in danger, although suffering untold agony from the terrible burns she still sought to extinguish the fire, that the little ones and home might be saved.

The deepest sympathy of the community is extended the bereaved family.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, apply at Times Bookstore.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhiliarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 648

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Hours—Office 10 to 1; House 2 to 4.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

Mandolin Club Dance

The Mandolin Club gave a very successful and enjoyable dance in the Knights of Phythias hall last night. There were about 60 guests present. The music was good and the floor was in splendid shape.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 43 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Question of Building Municipal Power Plant

There has been and is yet a great deal of talk about municipal power and lighting the streets by city owned power and of the city developing sufficient electric power to control the price of that energy in the city. For years the council has had propositions before it and much time has been spent upon the subject without any apparent results. So far very little if anything has been accomplished which might mean any one of several things. In the first place it might mean that for the city to acquire a water power sufficiently large to provide electric energy for the municipal lighting and still have a couple of thousand horse power for sale to manufacturers would represent such a large outlay of money without any immediate returns to bear the burden of interest and sinking funds, that the aldermen are dubious about going to the people with the proposition. It may mean that there is not a water power available at the present time which would meet the requirements or it may be that the city cannot develop power and sell it much less than the present power companies. There may also be other reasons, very good ones too, why progress along the municipal power line has been so slow, but as yet the public has not been acquainted with them.

In speaking of the proposed municipal power scheme to a prominent citizen The Times was given his idea of the thing which in part is given below.

"I have not followed this scheme very closely but speaking from an individual business man's standpoint I would not put a great deal of confidence in the city's ability to control the price of power by what can be developed at the new waterworks dam. I understand that the real object is to control the price of power so that manufacturers will not be handicapped. At the new waterworks dam probably 1300 horse power can be developed. Of this the city would only have 700 horse power, all of which would be required for street lighting, so that there would be none for sale. The next scheme is the purchase of the Auburn dam and power house, and to my mind this would be the best of all local powers to buy. If the water commissioners could build their new dam at this point and raise the head several feet the results would be much more satisfactory. The extra cost would, I understand, only be the purachase price and to offset this would be the increase in the amount of power received and the sale of 200 horse power to the Auburn mills, and the value of the police line in the city. This would go a long way towards bearing the burden of interest on the capital invested.

"But still if the city really desires to secure more electric power and to have it for new manufacturers coming in I would suggest that a new power be brought in. What power is in the city now will all be used in time, so that an outside power would have every advantage. The cost of production is a matter for the engineers to figure out. All the council should have to do I should think would be to get reports on the cost of bringing Burleigh or some other outside power to the city and the quantity that could be developed. The Peterborough Light & Power Co. has already quoted $20 per horse power for 1000 horse power and have stated that this quantity can be delivered in a very short time. They have also stated that they are prepared to develope power at that price as fast as it is required. Which is the cheaper for the citizens? Is there a demand for any more power than what is already on hand? Or is there an immediate prospect of such a demand? I would imagine the council would be justified in using some of the people's money in finding out these things during the next few months. Then they would be in a position to handle the question satisfactory."

VEN. ARCHDEACON SWEENEY WAS CHOSEN BISHOP LAST NIGHT

Deadlock, Which Lasted Several Days, Was Broken as Result of Report of Committee—Choice was Almost Unanimous and will be a Popular One

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 19, 10 p.m.—Venerable Archdeacon Sweeney of St. Phillip's church, Toronto, was this evening elected Bishop of the Anglican diocese of Toronto. Practically every vote of the Synod being cast for him. The election was the result of a conference between the supporters of Bishop Thornloe of Algoma, and Canon Cody of Toronto respectively. Their report was unanimously in favor of the archdeacon whose election is regarded with satisfaction.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—As a result of a conference of representatives of the two contesting parties at the Anglican Synod it was decided to submit the name of Archdeacon Sweeny as a compromise. Bishop Thornloe and Canon Cody to withdraw for three ballots to see if Archdeacon Sweeny can be elected. When this was reported to the meeting of Bishop Thorneloe's supporters in the Bank of Commerce Building at King and Jarvis streets, it was not received with much enthusiasm.

The utmost excitement prevailed and the delegates were very impatient for a report, which did not seem to satisfy all of them.

When Hon. S. H. Blake and Canon Cody entered the meeting of their supporters they were cheered to the echoe.

The proceedings of the committee were placed before the meeting of Canon Cody's supporters, by Hon. S. H. Blake. Canon Welch's name he informed them had been advanced by the other side, but the supporters of Canon Cody refused to consider it.

He did not like the idea of abandoning Canon Cody's name but under the circumstances he thought they should support Archdeacon Sweeny.

TAKING LAST VOTE.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—At 3.30 this afternoon the delegates to the Synod gathered in the Cathedral, and the ballots were at once distributed to see if they would support Archdeacon Sweeny as recommended by the conference. It is stated that there was considerable objection among Bishop Thorneloe's supporters to accepting the Archdeacon as an alternative. The result of the ballot is therefore awaited with great interest.

CANON CODY'S SUPPORTERS.

"It was very affecting, we stood by him as long as we could, and now every layman on our side feels that he has sustained a personal loss."

This was the statement made by Mr. John Patterson, assistant city treasurer, regarding the reception by Canon Cody's supporters of the news that his name had been withdrawn from the lists and that Archdeacon Sweeny had been named as alternative in the election for bishop.

At first it is understood from those who were inside that the meeting was at first very loath to accept the suggestion of the conference. When Dr. N. W. Hoyles, convener of the representatives of the Cody party, announced the decision of the conference, there were expressions of disapproval.

When, however, the Hon. S. H. Blake in a long and detailed account of the proceedings, told of how name after name had been suggested, and each discarded because not suitable to one party or the other; when he described the reasons assigned for thus discarding the names suggested; and when, finally he told of the reasons which led to the adoption of Archdeacon Sweeny as an alternative, the meeting gradually manifested a tendency to agree.

It was the short speech of Canon Cody which clinched their approval, though it was a regretful approval.

"I thank you for the way you have supported me," he concluded. "But under the circumstances I would ask that you record your votes in subsequent ballots for Archdeacon Sweeny."

There was something very nearly approaching tears in the eyes of many of the supporters of Canon Cody as he sat down; cheers and tears mingled. A number of other speakers addressed the meeting.

PLEASED WITH CHOICE.

The news of the election of Archdeacon Sweeny to the Archbishopric of Toronto will be received in Peterborough with much joy. He has visited this city on several occasions and has occupied the pulpit in all three Anglican churches here. He is a very fluent speaker and has a personality which wins for him many warm friends and admirers wherever he goes. The Anglicans of this city will be greatly pleased at the choice of the Synod and will also be glad that the deadlock which has existed for the past several days has been broken and that the clergy and laity are practically unanimous. Bishop Thornloe and Rev. Canon Cody both had many warm supporters here.

Alf. Shrubb Offers Longboat $500 Extra to Run February 25

Mr. Tom Longboat,—Seeing so many reports about what you will do regarding the race in Buffalo, I feel I would like to give you a few ideas which may be a little help to you.

First of all, you say you would like a rest. Now, I want to tell you that you don't need a rest altogether, you simply need a little light training. Why, I have been going eleven years, and have not taken only about one little rest all through that time. I am far stronger and better in health by going along steady in training.

Now, my advice to you is to do the same. The race at Buffalo will do you good. It is only fifteen miles, and after the Marathon in New York you don't need very much training on Monday last; so you have quite as good a chance as I have. All you need to do is to run ten miles to-morrow (Saturday), and walk on Sunday, run five miles on Monday, and eight miles on Tuesday. You will find that will put you in shape for that race. That is all that I am doing.

TURN OUT AND RUN.

My advice to you is to turn out and toe the line at Buffalo on the 25th, and show your many friends that you are a sportsman. I want to tell you that it's your duty to treat me as I have treated you. I came out of my distance to please you, as you would not undertake to run me at my own distance. Now that I have done so come along and let me see if you have any pluck or not.

With regard to the money, I am prepared for winner to take all if you wish. So you see if you win you would have the pleasure of taking nearly $6,000 from the house, and I think you may win at that, so why don't you try?

Of course, I don't want the winner to take all, unless you like; but I am prepared to do so, to give you a chance to make more money.

I will make you another proposition. If you don't care for the winner to take all, I am willing to give you $500 out of my share of the gate. So carefully think this over. You can see you have the same chance as I have.

Also, I wish to say you are not out of your distance; you always claimed you could beat me at fifteen miles, also ten miles.

Your well-wishing friend,
Alfred Shrubb.

Young Man Drowned in Tank of Coal Oil

Sarnia, Feb. 19.—This morning between one and two o'clock, William Lowrie, a young man about 35 years of age, who for many years had been employed in the Imperial Works here, was accidentally drowned.

While changing the lines to one of the underground tanks, it would appear he slipped and fell into the oil. Not returning in a reasonable time, he was inquired for, and the latch of the tank was found open. Afterwards his body was recovered by the other employes.

He was a well and favorably known young man, a son of the late Warden Lowrie of Lambton. He had many relatives in these parts, and general regret is felt.

Prof. Cappin's Lecture Was Listened to by Many

A very large audience greeted Prof. Cappin of Queen's University, Kingston, who lectured in the Normal School on Ancient and modern ballad poetry. Mr. Duncan Walker, principal of the Normal School occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the evening who was warmly received.

One of the features of the evening was the excellent rendition of "The Woodland Voices" by the Club under the leadership of Miss Helen Davies.

Prof. Cappin traced the rise of the ballad from the time that it was a heart-felt expression of a simple people actuated by a love of romance and war. The discovery of printing marks the dividing line between the ancient and modern ballad poetry. The ancient ballad has been lost in the modern and artistic form of Scott, Coleridge and Wordsworth.

At the conclusion of the lecture Dr. Parke in a very entertaining speech moved a vote of thanks to the learned lecturer. It was seconded by Mr. J. H. Burnham and carried unanimously.

The next lecture will be by Prof. Cameron of the University of Toronto.

Fair Directors to Meet Next Thursday

Arrangements are already being made for the Peterborough fair of 1909.

A meeting of the directors will be held in the City Council Chamber next Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the preliminary arrangements for this year's exhibition.

It is understood that the exhibition will again be held at the Driving Park grounds and it is not likely that there will be any changes regarding the buildings. A big effort is going to be made to make this year's fair a success and if expectations are fulfilled there will be good prospects of securing new grounds and new buildings for the exhibition of 1910.

Permanent Pastor for Omemee

The Sessions and Managers of the different charges comprising the Omemee Circuit of the Presbyterian church, met on Monday to consider means and ways of deciding on a permanent pastor. Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's Peterborough, was chairman, and we understand the result of deliberation was to formulate another call to some of the ministers who have preached trial sermons since the first call was not accepted.—Omemee Mirror.

Estimates Are Being Prepared

Another meeting of the Finance Committee was held yesterday afternoon in the city clerk's office when a second stab was made at the estimates for the year. While the committee has not yet anything for publication it is expected they will have a report for the committee of the whole on Tuesday night. From all indications it is evident that the Finance Committee intend if possible to keep the rate down to 19 or 19 1-2 mills.

The Three Musketeers

There was a large crowd present at the production of the "Three Musketeers," by the Dramatic Club, connected with St. Luke's church. The drama was put on at the Conservatory of Music, and the amateurs delighted their audience. All the members of the cast did remarkably well and were warmly applauded.

Public Speaker

Advices Postum Instead of Coffee

Some people think they must have a cup of coffee (or tea) before attempting any special work, some want it afterwards.

The same harmful effects of the tea and coffee poison—caffeine—are sooner or later made manifest in either case.

"As a public speaker" writes a Penna. man, "I had been in the habit of drinking a cup of coffee after my evening's work.

"My nights were nearly always restless, or when I did sleep I would awake with a heavy dull feeling, and every movement became an effort. (Reaction of the coffee poison.)

"My nervous system eventually became so unstrung that I was obliged to place myself under the care of a physician.

"The doctor advised me to give up coffee and drink Postum, which I did. Postum not only assures me a good night's sleep but nourishes the system. I have used it for a year and have taken great pleasure in inducing several families in our neighborhood to use Postum instead of coffee.

"One neighbor, a hignstrung, nervous woman who had drank coffee all her life, frequently had attacks of stomach trouble from which she suffered untold agonies. Since she dropped coffee and has been drinking Postum she is in good health.

"A young man who had been used to coffee three times a day, found his nervous system calling for something stronger. He began to use spirituous liquors and was on the down grade.

"He finally decided to stop coffee and alcoholic beverages and drink Postum. Not being made right at first, he did not like it, but when I showed him how to make it—boil it 15 minutes, he liked it.

"This young man is now prosperous, healthy and of good habits. He believes Postum saved him from becoming a drunkard."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Stripped of Clothing Killed in the Shafting

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Whirled about in the shafting of machinery which he was adjusting, shortly before noon today, George A. Ross, about 50 years of age, employed by Robert Watt, coal dealer, 201 Campbell avenue, was so badly injured that at 12.30 this afternoon he died at the Western Hospital.

Ross was employed about the mill as an extra hand, and was at work adjusting a pulley on the second floor.

STRIPPED HIS BODY.

He was alone at the time of the accident, and when found lay stark naked beside the shafting on which he had lost his life.

It is supposed that either his trousers or his coat caught in the machinery. The shafting is only a foot above the floor, and into it Ross was drawn. It is not known how many times the unfortunate man was whirled about, but he was not released until his body had been wholly stripped of clothing. The machinery even tore off the top of his socks, and his heavy boots were cut to ribbons.

When found Ross lay within a few inches of the shafting. He was not unconscious, and when raised complained of the injuries to his spine. His legs and body were bruised and battered, but his head and face escaped injury.

A LONG RUN FOR AMBULANCE.

A police ambulance was sent for, entailing a long run from Court street station. The horse could not make fast time owing to the condition of the roads, and valuable moments were lost. Dr. Morgan rendered first aid in record time, but in spite of his efforts Ross sank rapidly and just after the hospital was reached he succumbed.

Ross's wife has a small grocery store at the corner of Humberside avenue and Dundas street, and Ross' wages helped out the little family.

Although not decided, it is likely that an inquest will be held.

HOCKEY

The return game between the Strathconas and Lakefield, will be played in the village on Wednesday night. The boys from Drytown will have the Straths in their own camp for that game for the first time and they should do pretty nearly as they pleased with them. They are in good condition and are playing a pretty fair class of hockey. The Straths have only a lead of three goals and they will need to play their best to win the round.

BOWLING

There were no games in the bowling tournament yesterday or last night although two games were scheduled. If possible to get the boys together today there will be a couple of games this afternoon and tonight.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —50c. Sold by all dealers.

CURLING.

Only three games were played in club trophy at the curling rink last night, the scores of which were as follows;—

W. Adamson	J. Wolstenholme
H. Evans	W. S. Dodds
F. Brownscombe	L. Bowes
R. Neill—8.	Reed—10
R. Laster	W. B. McDermid
W. I. Hall	J. Montgomery
J. E. A. Fitzgerald	L. Hall
T. B. Yates—9.	A.A.Hollingshead—15
W. Mennie	A. Labelle
M. Lyle	S. A. Otte
G. Ferguson	H. Meredith
W. M. Lang—11	E. B. Clegg—9

Cuba May Prohibit Foreigners Owning Property There--Billions Affected

New York, Feb. 19.—According to a special despatch received by the World from Havana, there were reports current there last night that a bill would be introduced in the house prohibiting foreigners holding any property in Cuba, and that, judging from expressions by members of both houses of Congress, the bill would be enacted into law.

The property of Americans, Canadians, English, Spaniards, Germans and French that would be affected amounts to nearly two billions of dollars in value.

Such action by Congress would, it is believed, bring President Gomez face to face with a domestic crisis and entail international complications.

Millions of dollars of property in Cuba, both in railways and lands, are owned by Canadians, Toronto being very largely interested.

Divorced After Quarrel, Couple Marry Again

Welland, Ont., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Chas. Rounds and Mr. James Rouse have had a unique matrimonial experience. At Bridgeburg, Ont., this week they embarked on the troubled sea of matrimony for the second time together, when they were married by Rev. C. E. Stafford.

The lady's first husband, Charles Rounds, died several years ago. The young widow and James Rouse fell in love, and were married at Niagara Falls, N.Y. They resided in Welland.

The union was unsatisfactory and Mrs. Rouse secured a divorce in Detroit last fall. Then they realized that they could not live apart, and the second marriage followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rouse are now residing in Buffalo.

Lindsay Midgets Won from Toronto R.C. Seven

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 19.—The Lindsay Midgets came up to Toronto this afternoon and again trimmed the Toronto Rowing Club O.H.A. intermediate team in the semi-finals by a score of 5—1. The ice was soft and the going was hard, but the Midgets showed great form and had no trouble taking the Rowing Club into camp, even though they are more accustomed to aquatic sports. This gives Lindsay the championship for three districts, and they look good for the finals.

The fortnightly hour of prayer will be held in the Y.W.C.A. parlors this afternoon at 3.30. All the ladies interested in the work of the institution are invited to attend.

Simpson May Run 15-Mile Relay Race in Toronto with Spring and Hallen

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Tom Eck, manager of Fred Simpson the Ojibway Thunderbolt, is eager to show Toronto people how much Simpson has improved since he has had him in charge. He wants to run him a 15-mile relay race here either against Mike Spring and Bob Hallen, who beat Longboat in Newark, N.J., or a long relay.

He may get the chance here to meet Henry Jackson, the Midland Indian, and another man, Jackson to run ten miles and the second man five. It has been suggested that Bill Cumming of the I.C.A.C. be the second man, but Cumming still refuses to jump to the 9 ranks. He is in training, however, and may be persuaded to turn over. If Simpson can trim that relay he is a good one. Jackson has twice beaten 1.27 for 15 miles, while Cummings has gone five miles indoors at 26.20. If Jackson only does 58 to ten miles Cumming could step along in 27, and then make the Ojibway gallop in Tom Longboat time to beat him.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

Meeting of Directors of the Y.W.C.A.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A., will be held on Monday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

Miss Nicholl's class in English will meet this afternoon at 3.30. All girls invited.

Children's meeting and Sewing Circle at 2.30 each Saturday followed by games in the gymnasium.

Mr. T. F. Matthews will give a lecture on "My Impressions of Egypt" next Thursday evening in the Association parlors.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure
The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

MONEY NO OBJECT

When People are Seeking Health or Suffering from Disease Price Never Counts.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well-known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge, says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all this is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Complete outfit costs $1.00. Small size 50c. Sold by druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $3 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1909.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The favorable vote of the Swedish Diet, on woman suffrage, by 129 to 98 in the upper house and by 134 to 96 in the lower, is much the greatest victory the movement has gained. Australia and New Zealand have full woman suffrage, but the latter has only a small population and the former lives under colonial conditions which largely exclude international problems from consideration. Too much has been made of woman suffrage in Finland and the twenty-five women members of its Parliament. Finland is only a dependent duchy, and the bills in which the women members were most interested have been vetoed by the Czar. But Sweden is a factor in world politics quite out of proportion to its five million and old inhabitants; though these are the greatest number yet admitted to equal suffrage under one flag. She is wholly independent, highly educated, perplexed by the problems of modern industrial life, and—most important of all—she is the vanguard and champion of the Norse race against Russia. As New Zealand is the world's proving ground for woman suffrage in advanced social legislation. So Sweden and Norway may become in international relations. Will it prove true, as many have said, that to arm woman with the ballot is to disarm man of his rifle against foreign aggression?

Knox New Store Opened Yesterday

Long before three o'clock yesterday afternoon the time appointed for the opening of S. H. Knox's new store, the crowds were thronging to the door, waiting for it to open to let them in. It is a five, ten and fifteen cent store, there not being a single article in the whole establishment sold more than fifteen cents. Everything that a person requires in small lots can be had at Knox's. Tin and enamelware, glassware, stationery, hosiery, underwear, candy and numerous other lines of useful articles comprise the merchandise for sale. The music department is one of the special features of the store. All the latest and most popular music is sold at five, ten and fifteen cents, and Miss Eva Hard, of this city, will preside at the piano. The goods are well arranged and the store presents a bright and attractive feature.

The freight is all unpacked in the basement and on the second floor is kept the reserved stock. A girl's lunch room is also on this floor.

There was a beautiful floral display in the afternoon and evening and an orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Glidden, gave a good musical program.

Mr. A. G. Caley will be the local manager, and yesterday there was a staff of thirty-five girls to handle the people.

Mr. Knox has 26 stores in Canada and the United States, and Mr. P. S. Patterson, the Canadian inspector, is here looking after the opening.

A ROMANCE OF QUEBEC

BEAUTIFUL COUNTESS MUST SELL FAMOUS HEIRLOOMS.

Widow of Count Bois-Hebert-Gaste, Now Living Quietly at Richmond, Que., Arranges Novel Plan of Disposing of Priceless Collection of Relics—She Has Some Beautiful Articles of Vertu.

In the comparative seclusion of the modest home of a French-Canadian doctor in Richmond, Que., there is at present residing a lady connected closely by marriage with a number of the highest houses of the old French aristocracy, and particularly with the House of the Orleanist pretenders.

This interesting personage is the Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, widow of the late Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste and Tilly, Marquis of Blaru, who was connected with the famous Royalist family of de Tilly, and a scion of the royal house of Orleans. The late count was a man of considerable wealth, owning estates in the Hawaiian Islands and a number of mines in California. Most of the wealth he left at his death to the countess in trust for their infant son, along with family heirlooms and jewelry worth hundred of thousands of dollars. To this son, who was named after the French Pretender Louis Philippe and was a godson of the same noble, the titles also descended, but some time ago the boy died, and these titles reverted to an indirect branch of the family, leaving, however, the heirlooms and jewelry, together with a large portion of the late count's belongings and properties, in the hands of the countess.

The Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, who is thus in possession of a collection of jewelry ranking as one of the finest collections of art and historical treasures at present owned by any private person, is of French-Canadian birth, being the daughter of Dr. Rochette, of Richmond, Que. Through him she is connected with the Tachereau and Angers families, both of which are intimately associated with the history of the province and of the Dominion. On her mother's side she is also connected with the famous Scottish house of the Earls of Dalhousie, one of whom was governor of Canada from 1820 to 1828, long before the confederation of the British North American colonies. She was thus to a certain extent fitted by birth to take up the duties of the high rank she attained by her marriage with the Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste.

Although her father was only a country doctor in Richmond, Mlle. Rochette was given a first-class education, studying first at a convent in the neighborhood of Montreal, and later completing her education with a polishing course in European centres. This scheme of education, combined with the natural talent of the country doctor's daughter, succeeded in turning out a young woman of unusual accomplishment, and Mlle. Rochette soon became well known as one of the brightest and most beautiful young society women of the time. For a time it was doubtful whom she would choose of all her many admirers.

Her choice at last fell on the young Count of Bois-Hebert-Gaste, one of the most-sought-after catches of Paris at the time, and the pair were married with the prospect of a long and happy married life. Youth and fortune favored them, and the fact that they were deeply in love with each other served to make the union a most fortunate one while it lasted. But the end came a few years after the marriage. The young count died, and the beautiful widow was left with only her one young son to preserve the name and blood of her husband.

After the death of her husband, the Countess of Bois-Hebert-Gaste devoted all her attention to the upbringing of the young count, who was a mere boy, and one of a very delicate constitution. Everything that wealth could do to build up his health was done. The best physicians of two continents were called on to lend their aid, but despite the utmost efforts of science, the frail body was unable to overcome the attacks of disease, and the child who held in his veins the last blood of the direct line of his house gradually sank until finally, some years ago, he died. The titles thereupon reverted to a distant branch of the family.

The art and jewelry treasures of the family did not go with the titles, but remained the property of the young countess, who, however, has no use to which to put more than a comparatively small proportion of them. Now she has determined to let some of them go rather than have them lying unseen, as they have been for years, in a safety deposit vault in Quebec.

The collection, or the part of it which is to be disposed of, will not be put on sale in the regular way, as the countess wishes to have the pieces stay in hands where they will be properly appreciated and cared for.

The countess has a certain amount of patriotic feeling on the subject, and prefers to have the pieces kept together in some Canadian institution.

For this reason she has recently been negotiating with a number of convents, colleges and other institutions in Montreal, in order to dispose of the heirlooms by means of a sort of competition, by which the students of the different institutions will endeavor to outdo each other in soliciting subscriptions for acquiring the portion of the collection which is to be disposed of.

While it is expected that a large amount of money will be subscribed by the wealthy supporters of the various Catholic institutions of Montreal, it is of course impossible for the sum to reach anywhere near the amount that would be realized if the heirlooms were disposed of through the ordinary channels, but the Countess de Bois-Hebert-Gaste is quite willing to accept the smaller return because of the fact that her collection will be in hands where its sentimental as well as its intrinsic value will be appreciated.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Ar' Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

F. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg. Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 18th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Articles for Sale

Three Second Hand Odograph Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to H. G., 203½ Water street, evenings.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 1000 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and class of gangs, may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If yo would get the best results drink Cal cutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
——Limited——

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and class of gangs, may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

AUTOMOBILE and SPORTSMENS' EXHIBITION

TORONTO AND RETURN $2.80 FROM PETERBORO

Including admission to above exhibition. Tickets good going FEB. 18, 20, 22, 23. Return limit Feb. 26. Apply to

W. McILROY,
C.P.R. Agent, Peterborough, Ontario

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Fridays Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30 From PETERBORO

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45. Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BNNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cot. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE: McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the line of wedding presents at satisfies prices. January sale of china and glassware in full swing. Times Bookstore.

BANKS

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Orignal Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets.. 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE MONTREAL European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

BENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. B. HALL, S. T. MEDD, W. S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL — HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING — METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
(PHONE MAIN 1709)
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

We solicit the business of Manufacturers, Shipowners and others who realize the value of having their Patent business transacted by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Inventor's Advisor sent upon request. Letters, Marine, New York Life Building, and Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided Into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont , Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 603, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1809, containing 23 acres

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 183 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 40 acres in the new Benama district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 15th December, 1906, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. LeVesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 250,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 20,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $500; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 5000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 16th of December, 1906.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. G. Whitlow of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these foods have the power in a very short time to double their business by feeding, thriving and saving all animals, which in them means money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for Oxol's name. See future advertisements, etc.

A REPUTATION WORTH WHILE

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY A FAVORITE EVERYWHERE.

Enormous Sale on It Largely Due to Personal Recommendations of People Who Have Been Cured By It.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been on the market for over one-third of a century. Starting from a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until the demand for it often requires shipments in carload lots. It is now on sale at almost every drug store and most country cross road stores in the United States. There is no question as to its merits, in fact, the enormous sale on it has been brought about to a large extent by the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by it. When you use a remedy for a cough or cold and find it far superior to any other that you have ever tried, it is natural that you should tell your friends of your good fortune. It has become the mothers' favorite for coughs, colds and croup, as they found that it can always be depended upon, and that it contains no opium or other harmful drugs. During these years in which we have been making, selling and using this preparation we have never known of a single case of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used, which leads us to believe that it is a certain preventive of that disease. The fact that it can be depended upon in every case has crowned it with the success it enjoys.

BARGAINS

—: IN :—

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25

at $3.00 Bed to 2.00

Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00

Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00

Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00

Regular $3.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

"Yes," she admitted, with a sad little sigh, "there was a time when I thought him the grandest man in the world—when I fancied that nothing could ever make me cease to love him."

"Well," her friend replied, "I suppose we are all doomed to these disenchanting experiences. We have only to become acquainted with a man to discover that he is not the god we had supposed him to be."

"But it wasn't becoming acquainted with him that destroyed my ideal. I am sure that I could still think him splendid if I had never seen him in riding breeches."

An Old Story.

Once when Rudyard Kipling was a boy he ran out on the yardarm of a ship.

"Mr. Kipling," yelled a sailor, "your boy is on a yardarm, and if he lets go he'll drown!"

"Ah," responded Mr. Kipling, with a yawn, "but he won't let go!"

This incident also happened to John Burns, Horace Walpole, Napoleon Bonaparte, Dick Turpin, Julius Caesar, and the Kaid McTooki. Presently it will "happen" again.—Answers.

Cinematograph by Wire.

A Stockholm engineer named Grell has obtained a patent for an invention by means of which not only photographs, but also "animated pictures" may be sent and received by means of the ordinary telegraphic apparatus.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guard and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommended and sold

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a rise" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit?" the questioner cries out: "Aha! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear, I am sure, but tell me, then, what is electricity anyway?"

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—that is, its ability to do work—the electrician multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one. "Just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?

"Diamond" Fiasco Recalled.

As the name suggests, Sir Julius Wernher is of German ancestry. He was born at Darmstad fifty-eight years ago, the son of Gen. Friedrich August Wernher, of the German army, and the application and energy which he has shown throughout his career are aptly typified by the "head of a grappling-iron, argent," which appears on his coat-of-arms. He was created a baronet three years ago. Sir Julius is a striking-looking man, who certainly has a wonderfully fine taste for all things beautiful. He is said to have paid the Leigh trustees $1,250,000 for the historic mansion and estate of Luton Hoo, England, so long the home of that delightful person, the late Madame de Falde. He also purchased Bath House, the curious yellow mansion situated at the corner of Piccadilly and Bolton street, London, which he entirely redecorated and filled with the loveliest and rarest pictures, china, and enamels. It will be remembered that some time ago Sir Julius sustained a big loss, for the Lemoine fiasco diamond failed to materialize at the given moment. People wondered how so hard-headed a man as Sir Julius could have been taken in by the enterprising Frenchman, but it subsequently transpired that he was only carrying out an agreement entered into by his partner in the business, the late Mr. Alfred Beit.

His Latin Helped.

There was a famous British officer, Lieut.-Gen. Sir George Murray, who served in the expedition to Egypt. When before Alexandria the troops having suffered severely from want of water, his literary acquirements were of the greatest service, instructing him that Caesar's army had been in the same predicament. Referring to his "Caesar" (which he always carried in his portable library), he found his recollection right—that water had been obtained by the Romans from wells dug at a certain spot in the sands. A trial was immediately made, and the result was a copious supply. The British troops braced up and conquered Egypt.

Father of Triplets at Eighty-Two.

A woman living in Columbus, Georgia, gave birth to triplets, the father of whom is 82 years of age. The happy couple are now the parents of twenty-five children. The inhabitants of Columbus, who are very proud of their fellow-citizens, claim that this is a world's record.

Pawnshop In Magistrate's Office.

A novelty in pawnshops is to be found in Ichang, China. The town contains a small pawnshop in the magistrate's office, run by the prisoners. The rate of interest is about 3-4d. per 1s. 6d. per month, except during the last three months of the year, when it is reduced to about 1-2d.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a gentlewomans magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk, embroidery, house decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 50 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

LORD DUDLEY BOYCOTTED.

Australia's Governor-General Has Fallen Foul of the Consuls.

Lord Dudley, the new Governor-General of Australia, is at loggerheads with the foreign consuls-general in that great dependency. In fact, the foreign consuls have inaugurated a social boycott of the court, which is likely to injure no one but themselves. For inasmuch as Lord and Lady Dudley are by virtue of their official rank, their wealth, and their great personal popularity, the hub of all social life in Australia, the refusal of the consuls to meet the Governor-General merely has the effect of their cutting themselves off from intercourse with all those people who constitute the best and most agreeable classes of the community.

Through the good nature, ignorance of official etiquette, and indifference of former governors of the various antipodean colonies, before Australia was transformed into a huge commonwealth, subject to the sway of a Governor-General, the consuls and consuls-general were permitted to gradually usurp diplomatic prerogatives, and status, until they have grown to look upon themselves as not mere consular officials to whom exequaturs had been granted to enable them to fulfill certain clerical duties in connection with the promotion of the trade and the clearing of the shipping of their respective countries, but as full-fledged envoys accredited as diplomatic representatives of their Government to the chief executive of the Commonwealth. They put forward, and by degrees secured, prerogatives that a minister plenipotentiary, or even an ambassador, would hesitate to demand, and were constantly squabbling, both among themselves and with the federal and state officials, about silly questions of precedence.

Lord Dudley, having heard about this before sailing for Australia, took counsel with the Colonial Department and the Foreign Office in London, and as a result thereof intimated quietly on his arrival in Australia as Governor-General that he did not propose to continue to accord to the consuls any exceptional privileges or to recognize in them envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of their respective countries.

International law and treaties unite in declaring foreign consuls have no special privileges beyond other foreigners, and are thus subject to the laws, civil and criminal, of the country in which they reside.

The Snake Eradicator.

When a native in India thinks there are snakes in his house, he sends for the "charmer" to remove them. He arrives with an assistant, a crowd of natives from the neighborhood is collected, and the show begins. The audience are ranged in a semi-circle round the entrance to the dwelling, and within this ring the two performers move slowly about, playing their primitive pipes, with the object of luring the snake from his concealment.

Then one of the two men will enter the house, cautiously peer this way and that, while the onlookers watch carefully for the capture. Darting into a dark corner, he will make a grab, and, amid the cries of the delighted audience, emerge with a fine cobra held tightly by the neck.

A close examination of the snake's mouth, however, would reveal the fact that it was quite harmless. The snake is, in fact, a pet animal, carefully concealed in the first instance in the loose folds of the clothing of the "charmer," and is smartly produced at the psychological moment. The house-owner is, however, thoroughly satisfied that his house is rid of the scourge, pays the snake-charmer his fee, and the latter then makes off in search of fresh fields and pastures new, where he is sure of finding other dupes.

Sir Robert Romer as a Poet.

Although noted more for his legal erudition than his wit, Sir Robert Romer, the late Lord Justice of Appeal, who recently celebrated his 65th birthday, possesses the knack of happy retort. Some few years ago there appeared in one of the legal journals some lines addressed to "Miss Equity," in which the writer, while admiring her beauty, described her principles as weak. "The Reply of Miss Equity," written by Sir Robert Romer, was as follows:

My beauteous features you extol,
Because I plainly show them;
My principles appear but weak,
Because you do not know them.

Like the Lord Chief Justice, Sir Robert Romer has always believed in working his muscles as well as his brains; "The harder I worked at sports the better I could work at mathematics," he once said. Rowing and cricket were the pastimes in which he excelled at Cambridge, and in later years he has always made a special point of walking at least eight miles every day.

The Stage Censor.

"He has exercised his important powers unobtrusively and with considerable tact." That is the opinion generally of the theatrical profession concerning Mr. G. A. Redford, whose official position as Examiner of Plays is threatened by Mr. Robert Harcourt's bill, recently presented in the House of Commons. It is with the office, and not the man, that the stage is so wroth—so wroth, indeed, that Mr. Redford has been called the "devil's disciple." Mr. Redford was formerly a bank manager, and does not court popularity. His pet aversion is the photographer, and he also dislikes four-wheelers, since one overturned and nearly killed his wife. Her escape was little short of a miracle, for the vehicle was laden with heavy luggage, which might have fallen through and crushed her as she lay helpless and imprisoned at the bottom of the cab.

One Pipe Lasted 2 Hours, 50 Minutes.

In a smoking contest held at the Walthamstow Baths, England, recently Mr. G. Smith smoked an eighth of an ounce of shag for two hours and fifty minutes without letting his pipe go out. Four hundred men competed, and twenty-five prizes were presented by Messrs. R. and J. Hill, Limited.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

12 TUMORS REMOVED WITHOUT AN OPERATION

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, leucorrhoea, &c

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Curran,—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."—Mrs. Louis E. Bolteridge.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it, if she will send me her address. Address with stamp

MRS. E. F. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen-written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

CANCER

R. D. EVANS, Discoverer of the famous EVANS CANCER CURE desires all who suffer with Cancer to write to him. Two days' treatment will cure external or internal Cancer. Write R. D. EVANS, Brandon, Manitoba

CLEAN Up INSIDE

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits safe to say that in the spring you feel poorly—have a throbbing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes. If not absolutely bilious the system is so full of bile that you feel heavy and tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh as a prize-fighter. "For ten years," says W. B. Sangster, of Concord, "I suffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite, suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt despondent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new. I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this grand tonic medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect spring medicine, they destroy germs and poisons of every description and strength whereby the system rallies and the patient quickly enjoys the blessings of Perfect Health. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today—25c. At all druggists.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

REMEMBER THIS

A Thorough Cleansing of the System Now is a Sure Protection against Spring and Summer Sickness.

After the long hard winter, system cleansing is badly needed. The blood must be purged and purified, otherwise pent-up impurities will heat through the skin and all through the summer you'll be tormented with rashes, pimples, humors and boils.

The best of all blood purifiers, and at the same time an unequalled tonic and appetizer, is Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will build up, aid the digestion of food, keep the system vigorous, healthy, strong. Being mild and pleasant in action, you need not hesitate to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Take them at night —note the difference in the morning, how fresh, bright and well you feel. No surer health bringer and health keeper known than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a 25c. box today. At all dealers.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1909

PERSONAL

Mr. Jas. A. Paterson of Toronto, is in the city on business.

Messrs. George Might and Wm. Grier, of Winnipeg, Man., are visiting friends here.

Mrs. G. Jones, of Peterborough, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. H. Courtney.—Millbrook Mirror.

Miss Annie Brown of Roseneath, is visiting her brothers in Peterborough, Orillia and Toronto, until after the millinery openings.

Mr. L. F. Cross left this week for Sydney, Cape Breton, where he will be for the next two months relieving the manager of the Bank of Commerce there.

Miss Allan, milliner, has left on a visit to New York, for the purpose of attending the wholesale millinery openings and noting new trend of fashions for spring headware.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Burns, accompanied by Mrs. Burns' sister, Miss A. Richardson, of Quebec, are in Peterborough, on a visit to their sister, Mrs. W. H. G. Armstrong, 296 Margaret ave.

Havelock Standard—Mr. John W. Mack of town, spent Sunday with friends in Peterborough. Mrs. R. Dinneny, of Peterborough, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Dineen, for the past month, returned home last week.

Mr. Ryerson Ritchie a well-known Peterborough man who has made good in the great republic to the south, is in the city. His latest achievement is the consolidating of the different trade and industrial associations of Boston into one body known as the Boston Chamber of Commerce. The unifications of a similar character which he has brought about in the chief cities of the United States, has given him a national reputation as an organizer. He comes home occasionally to get a rest and a "day off."

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Letter to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I have noticed by all the papers lately that the chief items of interest at the council has been to keep the tax rate down, down, down. The Board of Works is figuring on doing only what patch work is absolutely needed on the roads and no new work. They expect to get along with $12,500. Now, Mr. Editor, the council has been making a mistake for several years in putting the tax rate down below what was really necessary to carry on the business of the city. The assessments have been continually going up with the result that the individual property owners are paying heavy taxes while the big corporations with fixed assessments are getting off with practically no taxes. The people are beginning to wake up to this fact and are recalling to memory the big kick that was put up some time ago by one or two of the aldermen against lowering the rate. Nearly every year there has been an overdraft, or a lot of work paid for by debenture which should have been met out of current revenue, which nearly is the same thing as an overdraft. Now the debenture debt has climbed away up and the city's credit is not as good as it should be. While it will be difficult to sell debentures for big sums when the time comes and that is not far in the future.

The Finance Committee is this year compelled to raise the rate to meet last year's council and School Board overdrafts. The very lowest rate they can give will be 19 or 19 1-2 mills. The people will make a howl, that is certain. Granting that, and also granting that the council is prepared to bear the burden, will the howl be any greater if the rate is made 20 to 22 mills? With the higher rate all the manufacturers will help pay the bill, and the council will be enabled to keep up the roads and build new roads where necessary instead of allowing things to be neglected. A 17 mill rate in this city is a thing of the past, and with a stiff rate this year and good financing the rate can come down to normal next year, and everything will be lovely again.

Yours truly

CITIZEN.

Cattle Case in the Police Court

John Fustey, a young man employed on the farm of Mr. George Sexsmith, in Otonabee, was arrested Thursday evening, and yesterday morning at the police court was charged with having taken from the possession of John McDonald, bailiff, four head of cattle.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty and the case was enlarged until this morning at ten o'clock in order to allow the prisoner to return the cattle. He was given his freedom on his promise to appear.

He said the cattle were owned by Mr. Sexsmith, but Mr. McDonald went down to claim them for rent which was overdue. According to the story of Fustey, Sexsmith told him to take the cattle over to a neighbor's and leave them there and when the bailiff would come, to say that he had sold them to a butcher for sixty-five dollars, the money he would receive to be for wages in arrears.

Fustey promised to return the cattle before the morning.

"I was only acting on the instructions of my employer," pleaded the prisoner.

"Well, if your employer sends himself to hell, have you got to do so, too?" asked his worship.

"He says that his lawyer told him to do the same thing." Mr. McDonald said.

"Then his lawyer will be sure to go," the magistrate replied.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Officers of All Three Companies Re-Elected

The affairs in connection with the Peterborough Light and Power Co., the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., and the Peterborough Radial Railway Co., have been most satisfactory during the past year, the Light and Power Co., having enjoyed an especially prosperous season. The annual meetings of the companies were held this week in the offices of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, George street. The annual reports were received and adopted and the officers of all three companies for the ensuing year were re-elected. At the Railway Company's meeting the question of extending the line to Lakefield was thoroughly discussed and it was hoped that the company would be in a position to do the work in the coming summer.

The re-elected officers were;

Peterborough Light & Power Co;

President—T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.
Vice-Pres.—J. Stuart.
Secretary—R. Gordon.
Directors—The officers named and H. P. Crowell, W. H. Denham, J. H. Larmonth and R. Stuart.

Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co

President—R. Stuart.
Secretary—R. Gordon.
Directors—The officers named and H. P. Crowell, W. H. Denham, J. H. Larmonth, John Stuart and T. E. Wells.

Peterborough Radial Railway Co.

President—R. Stuart.
Vice-Pres.—J. C. Shook.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weaknesses and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and rush cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in just such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional indorsement of each of its several ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. "Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy. As above.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SETTLERS' TRAINS

TO

Manitoba, Alberta SASKATCHEWAN

By Canadian Pacific direct line

For Settlers travelling with live-stock and effects

SPECIAL TRAINS

will leave Toronto Each TUESDAY in MARCH and APRIL at 10.15 p.m.

Settlers and families without live-stock should use

REGULAR TRAINS

leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily Tourist Sleeping Cars Fastest Time

Colonist Cars on All Trains

NO CHANGE FOR BERTHS

LOW COLONIST RATES

Only Through Service to the West

Apply to nearest agent for full information and free copy of "Settlers' Guide" or write R. L. Thompson, D.P.A., C.P.R., Toronto.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

Secretary—R. Gordon.
Manager—J. H. Larmonth.
Directors—The officers named and T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., H. P. Crowell and John Stuart.

Case Dismissed

The case against Walter Herron for overdriving a horse away back in 1901 was heard before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning, and was dismissed.

CURLING.

Keene curlers took the measure of a Peterborough rink in two games yesterday afternoon in Keene. Both games were keenly contested as the small scores will show. The rinks were as follows;

Keene.	Peterborough
R. Brown	C. James
Moore	H. Taylor
McIntyre	M. Tooley
Dr. McWilliams—12.	A. Moore—10

SECOND GAME.

Keene.	Peterborough
R. Brown	C. James
Moore	H. Taylor
McIntyre	M. Tooley
Dr. McWilliams—10	A. Moore—7

BLOOD DISEASES CURED

Drs. K. & K. Established 20 Years.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

W. H. S.

We cure NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, VITAL WEAKNESS, BLOOD, SKIN and PRIVATE Diseases, URINARY, BLADDER and KIDNEY complaints of Men and Women.

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you helpless to marry? Has your blood been poisoned? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for others it will do for you. Consultation free. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Charges reasonable. Books Free—"The Golden Moulder." (Illustrated) on Diseases of Men.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. Everything confidential. Consultation fee and cost of Home Treatment Small.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

AGONY COLUMN FRAUDS

SOME CLEVER DODGES OF LONDON SWINDLERS.

Army of Parasites Who Live on Good Nature of Others In the Metropolis of Empire Frequently Use the Personal Columns of the Big Dailies—Sometimes Appeal For Themselves and Sometimes For Others.

The recent charge brought against a woman in London, England, of attempting to procure charitable contributions by making false representations through the medium of "agony" column advertisements calls attention to the fact that the "noble army of never-works," who prefer to live on other people's good nature instead of doing a day's honest labor themselves, often find this particular newspaper feature very useful and profitable.

People who usually ignore the advertisement pages of a paper—although there is often to be found therein much that is interesting and humorous—will, in nine cases out of ten, glance down the "agony" column, and when they see an appeal like this:

"Who will buy my crocket-work? Alone, in despair, and crippled with rheumatism. Cannot move from my chair; dependent entirely on kindness of landlady. Do, please, buy my work, and so help an unfortunate gentlewoman—"

the chances are that many of them will be moved by the pathos of the advertisement and send half a crown or five shillings.

It is by no means the contention of the writer that every appeal of "unfortunate gentlewomen" who have work to sell is a fraud, although the crippled "gentlewoman" who inserted the aforementioned advertisement in a London daily was ultimately proved to be an able-bodied rogue who had already served a couple of terms of imprisonment for gulling the public.

The majority of such advertisements, however, are probably genuine, for most newspapers nowadays exercise such care in regard to publishing advertisements of any kind that the scope for fraud has become limited in consequence. Even the newspapers, however, are deceived at times, and it is therefore always advisable to make inquiries, say from the clergyman of the district, as to the merits of the case before sending money. For the begging-letter writer has of late turned his or her attention to begging-advertisement-writing.

The favorite dodge is to appeal, not so much on their own behalf as on behalf of some charity in which they profess to be interested. Appeals for donations to "struggling infant missions" or "homes" are often very successful. Here is an example of one which is said to have brought in between $2,000 and $3,500 to the advertiser, whose home consisted of a dilapidated house in a London suburb, with three ill-clad, half-starved children, who were proved to be his own:

"In terrible distress. Home in debt, and likely to be sold up. Hopeless to carry on God's work unless I get £50. Shall be pleased to meet any generous-hearted reader and explain matters more fully."

And when a generous-hearted reader did visit this canting humbug, he found no children, but was told that a kind-hearted friend had taken them—ten altogether—away for the day. Voluble explanations as to distressful position of the home were offered, but the visitor's suspicions were aroused. He communicated with the police, but before they could take action the bird had flown. The evidence of the neighbors provided them with the true character of the man and the sad state of his three children.

Another illustration of the "agony" column fraud is provided by a sufferer from consumption, who appeals thus:

"Am dying for want of £20. Doctors say I have six months to live if I stay in this country. Suggest California. £20 necessary to take me there. Do help one suffering from the white plague."

One of these "consumptives" was brought to book in the Midlands a few months ago, and was sent to jail for six months to try the cure there.

"The poor stricken brother of the pen," who evokes the aid of other authors in the words, "For God's sake, help me to publish my book by a subscription," and who usually turns out to be an individual whose attentions have been mainly devoted to the pint pot instead of the pen, is a similar fraud to the broken-down musician, who is suffering from foreign competition, has a wife and three children, but has a chance of work if he can get his violin out of pawn. Only £5 is wanted.

Summed up, it may be said that the "agony" column fraud is very much akin to the begging-letter swindle, but often proves more successful, simply because one advertisement appeals to so many more people, and, on the face of it, seems so much more genuine.

Postmaster to Curate.

A very interesting personality is Mr. P. F. Hook, the postmaster of West Bromwich, England, who, having completed forty years' postal service, has just retired on a pension. In future Mr. Hook will act as curate of St. John's, West Bromwich, having passed the Bishop of Lichfield's theological examination. Not only, however, has Mr. Hook been acting as a lay preacher in the Church of England for some years, but he has sustained roles in grand opera, being a clever musician, both vocal and instrumental. Moreover, he has taken an active interest in athletics, and played rugby football until he was forty-two. In 1894, when holding a position in the Limerick postoffice, he was president of the Irish Rugby Football Union, and frequently assisted in the selection of the International fifteen.

Fountain of Youth.

In foaming stein his face he sinks
And finds restored his youth, he thinks.
He feels himself less full of years
The fuller he becomes of beers.

The Resemblance.

A promising young merchant recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp as a birthday gift. He was much flattered when she told him to give it his name until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when only half full, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime and is bound to smoke."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA IS EFFICIENT

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventive and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company,
Columbus, Ohio,

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd,
August 20, 1903. Montreal.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.

Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 68 years old Renoul Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Mrs. Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Canada, writes:

"I suffered with internal catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised, I can say I am now cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I think Peruna the best medicine for catarrh. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."

Peruna not only promptly relieves coughs and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phones—Office 483; House 483.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your life a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Bird Bread!

Cottam's famous food for birds, formerly sold at 10c. a package, now sold practically at cost. Two packages, two large cakes for 5c. A tremendous saving! Bird Bread has caused us to be appointed agents for Canada for many of the largest bird dealers in the United States. Send them 10c. for a sample package and they will tell you where to get Cottam Bird Bread.

Cottam Bird Seed

Cottam's Bird Seed is the best. All grocers. Address FREE, about Birds. Bird Book 4c. by mail.

Cottam Co. Dundas St., London, Ont.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th, 09

Grand Opera House

Reserved Seats $1.50, $1.00

Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. Walter Stocker, Peterborough, Ontario.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 44 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Terms of the Treaty Referring Matters to The Hague Published

Ottawa, Feb 20 — Announcement was made here last night of the terms of the Anglo-American treaty for the reference to the Hague Court of Arbitration of outstanding disputes between Canada, Newfoundland, and the United States, relative to the rights of American fishermen in the costal waters of British North America, under the terms of the treaty of 1818. It is hoped thus to settle disputes which have been outstanding for close on a century.

The Court of Arbitration will have a membership of five. Dr. Lammasch of Vienna, has been agreed on as umpire. Canada has nominated Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick as its representative. The United States will probably be represented by one of its supreme court judges, whose name is not yet announced. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick will also act for Newfoundland. In addition to the foregoing there will be two other members of the court to be chosen from among European countries. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, minister of Justice, is to have charge of the Canadian case.

Owing, however, to the time which is allowed in the treaty for the preparation of the American and Canadian cases and the filing of pleadings, counter-cases, and printed statements of arguments, it will be thirteen months before the matter will really come to hearing at The Hague, or not till after April 1st of next year.

The terms in which the treaty has been adopted are the result of protracted negotiation between the United States, Britain, Canada and Newfoundland. The Canadian government was determined that the form in which the reference was presented so The Hague should not be such as would at all prejudice the Canadian case in any respect. In this it was at last successful, but the result has been that on some of the points involved it has been necessary to present to The Hague a statement of the American and of the British contentions respectively, so that the arbitrators might say which of them is correct.

In the negotiations between Mr. Bryce and Mr. Root, which led up to the conclusion of the treaty, the latter was desirous of applying the term "rights" to the privileges which American fishermen enjoy. Canada, however, succeeded in having this word "rights" altered to "liberties."

THE THREE-MILE LIMIT.

One of the most important issues to be decided is as to the definition of the three-mile limit in question along the treaty coast. The American contention has been that this should closely follow the bays and indentations of the shore, while Canada has held that in the case of the bays whose entrance is less than six miles wide the three-mile limit shall be three miles from a line drawn from cape to cape.

Haldane's Plan for a Territorial Force in the Colonies

London, Feb. 20.—Speaking at Newcastle, this morning on the subject of the proposed imperial general staff for th earmy, Secretary of War Haldane gave a general outline of the strength of the overseas forces as contemplated under the imperial scheme.

Canada, he said, could easily raise five or six territorial divisions, Australia five, New Zealand one and South Africa four or five.

These, in addition to the existing 14 divisions of the territorial forces of the United Kingdom, would give a total of 30 divisions for home defence. With the 16 divisions of regulars ready for overseas service, it was thus hoped to attain an imperial army of 46 divisions, equivalent to 25 army corps.

This was just the strength of the German army, Mr. Haldane said, and no other army in the world had such a great organization.

Canada, added Mr. Haldane, had cabled, warmly accepting the general staff scheme. Mr Haldane hoped the other colonies would speedily follow suit.

Rumored That Sir Wilfrid will Hand Over The Leadership to Mr. Fielding

THE HON. SIR WILFRID LAURIER,

Premier of Canada

Other Important Cabinet Changes will Follow the Close of the Present Session

It Is the Unanimous Opinion That Mr. Fielding Would be an Acceptable and Capable Leader

Ottawa, Feb 20.—There are again persistent rumors in ministerial ranks of important cabinet changes to follow the present session.

It is asserted by competent authority that Sir Richard Cartwright, and Mr. Aylesworth will retire, but beyond a mere hazard there is nothing yet to indicate who their successors will be.

Fred Pardee is said to be in line for promotion, and if a place on the supreme court bench cannot be found for Hon. R. E. Sutherland, he will surely be one of the new ministers.

But the most likely and the most important change will affect Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself. It has been practically agreed that he will hand over the leadership to Mr. Fielding, but in order that this change shall become gradual the department of foreign affairs will be created with Sir Wilfrid in charge. The [illegible] minister of [illegible] Sir Wilfrid will remain and [illegible] the next general election.

Seventh Anniversay of All Saints' Parish, Rt. Rev. Dr. Reeve Spoke

The seventh anniversary of the setting aside of All Saints' as a separate parish was celebrated yesterday when very large congregations were present at both services. The Rt. Rev Dr. Reeve of Toronto, assistant to the late Bishop Sweatman, was the special preacher, and he delivered two eloquent, practical and highly scriptural sermons. The bishop's striking figure, and his 32 years of toil as bishop of the Mackenzie River District, gave a ring of unusual genuineness to his words.

In the morning his lordship took as his text, James 1 22;—"Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only." He spoke of the necessity of christian work as an evidence of a man's faith. Giving is not enough. For example, if another be destitute of daily food and one of you say, "depart in peace; be ye warmed and filled," what does it profit! That would be hearing and not doing. But before doing one must hear the word by reading and hearing it preached. Further, our Lord wanted us to be careful how we heard. Pay heed to the doctrine. The different ways people heard the word correspond with the difference in the ground, in the parable, upon which the seed fell. By doing the word the slow process of character building is wrought.

AFTERNOON

In the afternoon Rt. Rev Dr. Reeve addressed the Sunday school scholars and told them about the Eskimoux and his experiences among them in the Mackenzie River district.

EVENING SERVICE

In the evening his lordship took as his text, Matthew 22 20. "Whose is the image and superscription?" After explaining the context his lordship said that he wished to apply it differently. He wished his hearers to make it a personal matter. Just as the image on a coin told to what country it belonged, so each time you look into the mirror ask yourself whose image they bore. Did they bear Christ's image, Men had lost God's image through sin, but it could be restored in two ways. First, by presenting themselves as a reasonable sacrifice to God and secondly by the renewal of the heart by the Holy Spirit. Unlike the image on a coin the image of Christ becomes more nearly like Christ with the wearing.

In conclusion the speaker reminded his hearers that people like coins, some were good and some were very bad. The only true ones bear His image and they will receive their reward at the great judgment day.

Dr. Thomas Likely to Capture the $250-000 Brazilian Trophy

Montreal, Feb 20.—After a stay of almost four years in the fever-ridden districts of Brazil and States bordering on the Amazon, Dr. Wolferstan Thomas, who was the first to inoculate a monkey with yellow fever, has returned to his home in Montreal, confident that he is nearing the end of his long search for a cure for this dread disease.

Dr. Thomas was sent to South America by the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine to study fevers, and he will leave for Liverpool in a short time to present his report. It is most probable that he will carry off the prize of £50,000 offered by the Brazilian government for a cure for yellow fever, which seriously affects the progress of the country. The Montreal physician believes that in thinning out the virus of the fever, by passing it through the bodies of animals he can obtain one of vaccine. With this people could be inoculated, and could attack of the disease should [illegible] any further epidemic. At present it is a common occurrence for the [illegible] all white people living in tropical countries.

INOCULATED A MONKEY

Dr. Thomas, in his effort to obtain vaccine, inoculated a common ape with yellow fever. He was the first scientist to do so, and in this was the first step towards the cure of this terrible disease was carried ou

The fever [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Slowly Dying

Thousands are slowly dying from catarrh, but don't know their danger.

A CASE IN POINT.

Mr. Ulric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Swansburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone. I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doc or so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Berault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Headache, tired feeling across the eyes, nausea, all these well-known disagreeable symptoms are overcome by the medicated air of Catarrhozone.

Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler drive all the poisonous secretions of catarrh from the blood. One taken after each meal creates new appetite and digestion, strengthens the stomach, revitalizes and invigorates the entire system.

Catarrhozone is quite unsurpassed as a cure for Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis and Asthma, and for coughs and colds has no equal.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00; trial size 50 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22. 1909.

CULTIVATING THE SMALL INVESTOR

The thirty million dollars Dominion loan floated in London last month has brought forth a variety of criticisms. About fifty per cent. of the loan was left on the underwriter's hands. In the case of government loans floated in Great Britain, that is not unusual, according to the Monetary Times. The individual investor seldom takes more than about half the issue. The present loan is generally considered a success. Canada has drawn largely on the big British investor. Last year, Canadian Government loans amounted to $65,600,000, and this year already $39,000,000 have been applied for in Britain. Railroad, industrial and other loans considered, it will be seen that the strain on the overseas investor is strong.

It is argued by some that to satisfy our future monetary needs a new market must be created in Britain. This can only come of the small investor. The Dominion loan last month is thought by some to be a feeler in that direction. The London financial press have welcomed the innovation. The only note of regret therein seems to be that Mr. Fielding got ahead of Mr. Lloyd-George, in this mode of financing. As is well known, numerous loans catering to the small investor have met with success in Paris. A Pennsylvania issue of $50,000,000 not so long ago was well disposed of there. The Glasgow and Brisol municipalities, we believe, are recognizing the wisdom of cultivating the man of moderate means who desires a sound investment.

The diminutive capitalist is a big factor in Britain. Mr. F. W. Hirst, a financial authority in London, thinks that the co-operation of this individual will not only give stability to the credit of Canada, but increase and stimulate interest of people in the Motherland in the affairs of the Dominion. It may very well give an impetus to the right kind of emigration, he adds, and concludes that the small investor will not be long in finding his way to the handy, little ten-pound bonds, with coupons attached, yielding 7s. 6d. a year, together with perfect security. It would suit a little more to float such issues, and much educative work doubtless would have to be done before unqualified success would be met. Opinions differ widely concerning this question. Anyway, getting acquainted with the small British investor is a subject for interesting discussion and must likely for lumpy profits ultimately.

HOLLAND HOUSE.

One of England's Picturesque and Historic Mansions.

Few mansions in or near London are more picturesque in their surroundings or more interesting from their associations with the past than Holland House. The domain in which it stands is a perfect rus in urbe—a green oasis in a wilderness of bricks and mortar. When you pass from the noisy traffic of Kensington road and enter the great gates there is a transformation scene in a few paces London has disappeared, and you find yourself all at once in the heart of the country. You might be in the forest of Arden, a hundred miles from Piccadilly—lawns shaded by noble cedar trees, woodland glades, a green lane with over arching boughs, and farther on terraced walks, the stone balustrades and the formal parterre of the Dutch garden. The house itself has a long, irregular frontage, a fantastic medley of turrets, gables, arcades and oriel windows. The series of sitting rooms on the first floor are warm, comfortable and homelike and filled with a priceless collection of family portraits and heirlooms. No wonder that Charles Fox was devoted to the place where he had passed a careless and happy boyhood and in his last illness drove over from Chiswick to view once more the familiar scenes, which be regarded with a special tenderness and affection. Naturally his memory is cherished here, and he is still to some extent the tutelary genius of the place. There is a statue of him at the end of the avenue in the park; there is a bust of him by Nollekens in the entrance hall; there is a characteristic note in his handwriting on the back of a miniature of Robespierre—un scelerat, un lache, et un fou (a rascal, a coward and a fool—and there is a picture of him by Sir Joshua as a youth with two charming damsels, one of whom made a romantic marriage with an actor, while the other refused the hand of a king and lived to become the mother of the heroic Napiers. Almost every room has its tradition. In fact, wherever you tread "a history is beneath your feet."—Blackwood's.

DUELING IN ITALY.

How the Count of Turin Came to Fight Prince Henry of Orleans.

The greatest duel of modern days in Italy was that between the Count of Turin and Prince Henry of Orleans. It came about in a curious manner. Prince Henry had insulted the Italian army after the battle of Adowa and one day received a telegraphic challenge to a duel signed "Victor Emmanuel." The challenge was accepted, and thus Crispi, who was prime minister, came to know of the crown prince's impulsive action and interfered. "But," said King Humbert, his father, "how can it be stopped? Our honor is now involved." Crispi thought a moment and then exclaimed: "I have it! The Count of Turin is Victor Emmanuel also!" And thus he was the one who fought.

This was followed by one of those genial practical jokes which convulsed Europe. France at that time hated Italy and never lost an opportunity to sneer at her. It must be explained that in Rome there was always at carnival time a characteristic figure of a little old man with an immense sword riding a donkey, who was a caricature of the age of chivalry and was called "General Mannaggia la Rocca."

One day in the French papers appeared an imposing announcement that General Mannaggia la Rocca threw his glove at the feet of the entire French nation and cast their base insinuations in their teeth, inviting any or all to mortal fight. Replies were not long in coming, one of which was from a noted fencer and duelist of his day, M. Tomegueux, appointing his seconds and announcing their arrival in Rome. France was on the quivive, from government personages to the humble bargee, and when the trick played upon them was discovered all Europe shrieked with laughter, and France the loudest of all.—Pall Mall Gazette.

England's National Anthem.

There is a fourth verse of the national anthem with which very few Englishmen indeed are familiar. But it was given, apparently in all good faith, in an old Hanoverian musical work, and the daring of the last rhyme almost reconciles one to the shocking character of the sentiment:

God save great George, our king!
Long live our noble king!
God save the king!
Send us roast beef a store.
If it's gone, send us more,
And the key of the cellar door,
That we may drink.

—London Chronicle.

Bright Pupils.

"You have two very bright pupils, Miss Winsome," remarked Mr. Sweetly to the schoolma'am.

"Which ones do you mean, Mr. Sweetly?"

"Why, those in your eyes, to be sure."—Pathfinder.

A Righteous Judge.

One Sunday morning a minister's wife saw her son chasing the hens with a stick. She went to the door to investigate and heard him say, "I'll teach you to lay eggs in a minister's family on Sunday morning!"—Delineator.

The Growlers.

Stage Manager—I wish we could work in a few more realistic touches in this woodland scene. Now, how would it be to have some one growl like a bear? Author—The very thing! We'll call in the critics.—Kansas City Independent.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it soon, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909 We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Ar Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 Florence St. Ottawa

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops cas. of Winnipeg. Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Pousin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
F. H. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 26th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Articles for Sale

Three Second Hand Caligraph Typewriters in good condition to be sold at a bargain for cash. Apply at Times Bookstore.

One Walnut Office Desk with six drawers to be sold at a bargain. Apply to H. C. 369 1-2 Water street, over Rogers.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our fine wine many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

mean you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SETTLERS' TRAINS

TO

Manitoba, Alberta SASKATCHEWAN

By Canadian Pacific direct line

For Settlers travelling with live-stock and effects: SPECIAL TRAINS will leave Toronto Each TUESDAY in MARCH and APRIL at 10.15 p.m.

Settlers and families without live-stock should use REGULAR TRAINS leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily Tourist Sleeping Cars Fastest Time

Colonist Cars on All Trains

NO CHANGE FOR BERTHS
LOW COLONIST RATES
Only Through Service to the West

Apply to nearest agent for full information and free copy of "Settlers' Guide" or write R. L. Thompson, D.P.A., C.P.R., Toronto.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays MaritimeExpress

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30

From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from
W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45. Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA

Orignal Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets..33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEADOFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE. MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Denniston, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD. W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 13 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

Inventors who realize the importance of having their Patent business transacted by experts, Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our patents advertised at our expense. Many patents sold through our assistance. Highest references furnished. Write for our Guide Book, "How to obtain Patents," and "Mechanical Movements." Both sent free. Address: Patent Department, The Journal, Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—THE—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—THE—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont , Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 668, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calette Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 166 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 66 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 30th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. LeVeccata, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 250,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 20,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $ 600; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 5000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 30th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation only; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. H. K. & T. C. Whitaker of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada,

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their increase by feeding, fattening and curing all animals which to them seem meanly.

One agent only in each district who has sole command of the local trade for epizoo name, See future advertisements, etc.

MEAT IN AFRICA.

When the Butcher Murders a Bull the People Get Beer.

Travelers in Africa find the standard of living somewhat different from what they are accustomed to at home. Mary Hall in her book, "A Woman's Trek From the Cape to Cairo," throws a strong light upon the condition of market and kitchen in British Central Africa:

When the native butcher proposes to kill an ox, notice to that effect is sent round to the white people on the previous day. Once they were apprised of the fact by the following startling announcement: "A bule will be murdered tomorrow morning at 6 a. m."

This cold blooded crime, so carefully premeditated, even to the exact hour, was, however, not committed, as the next morning a second notice was issued as follows: "The bule ran away this morning, so was not murdered." But this was an exceptional case.

I heard one story which is so characteristic of the native that I repeat it. The man who related it told me that the incident occurred when he was on a journey and was suffering from a bad attack of fever. One evening he decided he would like some eggs and told his boy to get two and boil them lightly.

After a time they were brought to him as hard as bullets. He told the boy he must get some more and boil them less; but, alas, these were brought to him in the same condition, and the poor fellow wished he had never ordered them at all.

Being unwilling to give in, he made another attempt and told his boy, "Come to me when the water boils." The boy did so.

"Now," said his master, "put the eggs in, and when you have counted fifty take them out."

The native method of reckoning is to count up to ten and then begin again, arriving at the total by the number of the tens counted. The sick man heard the boy start fair and get as far as four tens, when a second boy interfered and questioned whether it were the third or fourth ten.

This started a discussion, and as they could not agree it was decided to begin all over again. Meanwhile the eggs were still boiling and getting harder and harder. This was about the last straw, and, ill as the man felt, he was compelled to get out of bed and put a summary end to the cooking operations.

SOME SURE THINGS.

Do Not Bet on Your Ability to Perform These Feats.

Bets to be avoided by those who are cocksure they can do all things are those relating to athletic feats. It would seem that a good runner could easily give a start of fifty yards in a hundred to a man who was doing the fifty yards by hopping on one leg. But few runners, if any, can afford to give that amount of start to any man who is at all strong on his legs. For the first five yards or so they go at practically the same pace, so that to run ninety-five yards while his opponent is hopping forty-five he has to go more than twice as fast, and it is a weak man indeed who cannot hop fifty yards in ten seconds.

An ordinary wooden match is easily broken in the fingers, but, although there are many who will bet they can do it, none succeed in accomplishing the task if the match is laid across the nail of the middle finger of either hand and pressed upon by the first and third fingers of that hand, despite its seeming so easy at first sight.

No one can crush an egg placed lengthwise between his clasped hands—that is, if the egg be sound and has the ordinary shell of a hen's egg.

It is safe to bet a man that he cannot get out of a chair without bending his body forward or putting his feet under it if he is sitting on it, not at the edge of it.

Another equally certain wager is that a man cannot stand at the side of a room with both of his feet touching the wainscoting lengthwise.

It is safe to bet any man, save one who is blind, that he cannot stand for five minutes without moving if he is blindfolded.

Very Different.

It is never embarrassing in a novel for a rich man to find a lot of poor kin. There is always a vacancy in a bank, where the rich man finds a good position for the oldest son, who soon becomes the bank's president. Another child shows a genius for painting, and the rich man sends him to Italy to study. In a month or two the child returns a great artist. But how different in real life! Ah, how vastly different!

She Had Often Studied It.

Little Marie had returned from her first visit to Sunday school.

"And what lesson are you to study for next Sunday?" her mother asked.

"Nuffin' much," said the four-year-old rather scornfully. "Her jest said to learn all about the cataklasin', and me knowed that already."—Lippincott's.

Like the Bee.

"I, sir," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "am like the busy bee. I have industriously stored the good things of life."

"Yes. And anybody who tried to stop you was very likely to get stung."—Washington Star.

Force of Habit.

Captain of Signalers—G—G—G, what the deuce does the fellow mean? There's no word with three G's running. Corporal—Beg pardon, sir, but Signaler Higgins he stuttered!—London Punch.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

A DARING BUCCANEER

Edward Thatch, Who Was Known as the Blackbeard Pirate.

HIS BATTLE WITH MAYNARD.

After the Hand to Hand Conflict the Desperado's Head Hung at the Bowsprit End of the Lieutenant's Sloop as She Sailed Back to Virginia.

It is almost 200 years since Edward Thatch, better known as the pirate Blackbeard, was a name with which to terrorize the Atlantic coast of the then new country of America. As a buccaneer whose deeds of desperate daring made him feared wherever his name was known he stands a close rival of the famous Captain Kidd, if indeed in some respects he did not surpass that notorious freebooter.

The date of Thatch's birth is lost in history, and his native place is variously given as Bristol and Jamaica. He first appears as a foremast hand to Major Stede Bonnet, a gentleman of Barbados, who, although a man of property and having small knowledge of the sea, thought proper to fit out a sloop and take to a life of piracy, the explanation of his being "a little distracted" being charitably given by one biographer. However that may be, his crew missed in the major the qualities of a successful commander. They deposed him and elected Thatch in his place. Bonnet was tried and executed in 1711.

Thatch's first independent exploit of which we have a detailed account took place in June, 1718, when he captured two French ships near the Bermudas, one laden with sugar, the other empty. Transferring to the latter the crew of the laden vessel and letting them go their way, he sailed with his prize of vessel and sugar for Bathtown, N. C., with the governor of—which place, Charles Eden, he had previously arrived at a pleasant understanding.

Thatch gave out that he had found the French ship deserted. Governor Eden received sixty hogsheads of sugar as his share. Tobias Knight, his secretary, took twenty, and the remainder fell to Thatch and his crew. Thatch lingered there for some months, plundering and insulting the merchants of the place. These, understanding at length the futility of expecting redress from Eden, applied to the governor of Virginia to rid them of the pest.

The governor, after consultation with the captains of the Pearl and Lime, then lying in the James river, agreed to provide two sloops, the warships to furnish a complement of men. Lieutenant Maynard of the Pearl was placed in command, and the punitive expedition sailed on Nov. 17, 1718. On the 21st the pirates were sighted in an inlet about sixty miles from Bathtown, and Maynard anchored for the night.

On the following morning Thatch, maneuvering to elude attack, ran his vessel aground, but Maynard's sloop, drawing more water, though she had no guns on board, failed to get to close quarters. The lieutenant, however, threw out his ballast and in answer to a truculent defiance from Thatch promised to be "soon aboard him with his sloop." Coming at last within close range, a broadside from the pirate killed or wounded twenty of Maynard's crew and nine on board his consort.

Maynard now ran alongside the pirate, when, under cover of a discharge of grenades, Thatch and fourteen followers boarded the king's ship. Maynard and Thatch, pistol and sword in hand, engaged in a desperate personal encounter. The lieutenant's sword broke, and more than once he narrowly escaped a fatal injury. But at last Thatch, having received sixteen wounds, fell dead in the act of cocking a pistol. His followers jumped overboard and cried for quarter. Maynard hung Thatch's head at the bowsprit end, sailed for Bathtown, where he seized the governor's storehouse, and then, still with his grisly sign of triumph swinging in the wind, rejoined his ship in Virginia, where thirteen of the captured pirates were hanged.

One of the Blackbeard's crew who obtained pardon was Israel Hands, who makes his appearance in "Treasure Island." Shortly before Thatch met his death Hands had been lamed for life by a pistol shot in the knee fired by Thatch from under the cabin table, at which he, with Hands and others, was carousing, just to remind his crew in general "who he was." Such an act was only one of the many eccentric brutalities of Thatch's career.

When he felt himself in the vein or was going into action his appearance was somewhat startling—his bushy black beard tied up with ribbons, the ends of which were thrown over his ears; a fur cap on his head, with a lighted match on either side, and three brace of pistols slung across his shoulder. Of the usual condition of himself and his crew much may be gathered from the fact that "our company somewhat sober" was a circumstance deemed worthy of note in the diary found after his death.—London Globe.

Not Yet.

"Do you desire a room with a bath?" asked the affable clerk.

"Gee whiz, no!" replied the gentleman with the canvas telescope. "This is only Tuesday, ain't it?"

Children have more need of models than of critics.—Joubert.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a gentlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 50 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed in Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to run over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a single question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, they have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

Whene'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.

Why He Didn't Rise.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let all you husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotion al preacher at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Aha!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are the one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up. I'm paralyzed!"

How Erastus Found Light.

Voting is something of a hazard at times if we do not happen to have the plain guidance of the old darky janitor in Princeton. Erastus, being asked how he had voted, replied: "In the mahnin', sah, I was inclined to de Republican cause, for they gave me $3, but in the afternoon de Democrats gave me $2. So, sah, I voted de Democrat ticket straight, because dey was de leas' corrup', sah—de leas' corrup', sah!"—Success Magazine.

The Real Reason.

"De po' child died fum eatin' too much watahmillion."

"Huh! Dar ain't no sich-uh thing as too much watahmillion."

"Well, den, dar wasn't enough boy."—Puck.

It Had Been Read.

"That old tightwad uncle of mine is dead."

"Has his will been read yet?"

"Did you hear what I called him?"—Cleveland Leader.

To be proud of learning is the greatest ignorance.—Taylor.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

ASK FOR THE

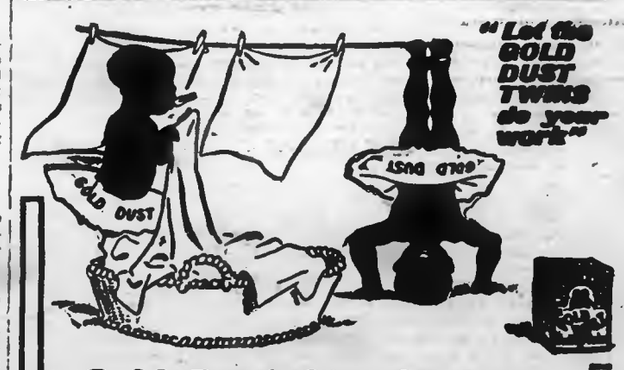
ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty



Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.

Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER GENERAL USES FOR GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing clothes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, silverware and tinware, polishing brass work, cleansing bath rooms, paint, etc., and making the finest soft soap.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

New Antitoxins for Some Diseases

Boston, Mass., Feb. 20.—The announcement of the perfecting of anti-toxins for typhoid fever, pneumonia and blood poisoning by Dr. Timothy Leary, head pathologist at Tufts medical school, created a sensation in the medical world. If it is successful in actual practice, the general opinion is that it will revolutionize the practice of medicine.

While probably a score of the leading physicians and pathologists of Boston knew of the work that had been done at Tufts, to the rest of the medical world it came as a complete surprise. The physicians who have been working with Dr. Leary in perfecting the anti-toxin speak in the highest terms of the results from the use of the serum.

"In cases where pneumonia has been treated with the vaccine," said one physician today, who has been associated with Dr. Leary in his experiments, and who has used the vaccine in his own practice, "the results have been surprisingly favorable. There is an almost immediate effect, and it seems continuing. The use of the vaccines is still in its infancy, and there is still much to do.

"For example, it is now impossible for us to define the exact limitations for the treatment. Again, in cases of general blood poisoning it has been learned through these experiments that there are more bacilli concerned in this condition than were supposed, and that the streptococcus is not a single individual, but a large family with similar characteristics. Despite this, we have made such a blood poisoning vaccine, but it must be used almost immediately after it is made fresh, to obtain the best results."

Weary, Worn Out, Tired

If You Feel Poorly this Spring this Article is worth Considering.

Nothing in life keeps people from advancement like poor health. If the nerves are weak, if the stomach, liver, bowels or kidneys fail to work properly, healthy surely suffers. Spring is the hardest time on health—the season when the system calls for active cleansing medicine.

The best plan is to entrust your condition to a physician of reputation like Dr. Hamilton, who has had years of experience in compounding tonics. For the ills and tired feeling of spring Dr. Hamilton says nothing is better than Mandrake and Butternut Pills, and this is well proven in the case of James Burton of Lewistown. "I had grip and it left me very weak. The disease settled in my back and side, which ached day and night. I had a nagging cough. My appetite was all gone. My nerves unstrung. I could not sleep well. I struggled against growing pale, thin and weak—but it was no good. Spring brought depression, or spoverlin weakness and bad headaches. But my life was spared, simply because I learned off the wonderful merit in Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. The result was marvellous. I gained rapidly, became strong, ruddy, vigorous, perfectly well. I urge every man and woman to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly.

You'll brighten up, have cleaner blood, stronger nerves, better spirits after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c at all dealers. Guaranteed safe, sure helpful for old and young.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phones—Office 461, House 461.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1909.

Work Progressing

The work on the new Wilkinson's mat factory on the old Hilliard farm in the north end of the city is progressing as rapidly as the weather will permit and the foundation is nearly completed. The building will be a fine structure. This progressive concern is to be congratulated on their new enterprise.

Salvation Army Orchestra

Mr. J. M. Greene, musical director of the Salvation Army Band, is launching out a new orchestra which will be heard for the first time on Thursday evening next at a band concert in the barracks. It is learned that the orchestra is practically complete and includes some of the players some of the best musicians connected with the corps. The concert should be well received, as it is some time since the band has been heard in concert music.

Brotherhood Tea

A five o'clock tea today afternoon the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in connection with St. John's church, held a tea in the Guild room, at which about sixty were present. The programme included addresses by Rev. Canon Davidson, Messrs. Johnston, R. J. Derry, Maitland, Conway and Grey.

Notes: Boston Soloist

Miss Blanche Welsh, whose [illegible] an engagement at the Theatre Royal today, Miss Welsh has been touring to appreciative audiences in Toronto during the past week. She is a refined vocalist, an attractive figure on the stage and was leader in Symphony Clubs of Boston, where she has appeared before most critical musical audiences in that cultured city. Her little daughter, ten years of age, will also appear and give some rare performances on the piano, for one of her age. She will also sing a number of her song gems in a very fascinating manner.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for rheumatism! Not a remedy that will [illegible] but a remedy that will drive the disorted limbs of chronic cripples, restore growths back to flesh again. That is what I can now surely tell the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the city Barmenade—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was perfected, a valuable prescription. With that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, can literally cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These acid-like granules, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as easily as does sugar when added to pure water and then, when dissolved, these poisonous masses easily pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no [illegible] to suffer longer with this hate. We will, and in confidence [illegible]

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy

"ALL DEALERS"

PERSONAL

Miss Seward is visiting with friends in Port Hope.

Mrs W. Oscar LaBelle will not receive on Tuesday, being out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall were in Toronto for a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hall returned from New York last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Downham returned to Peterborough on Friday evening.

Miss Lillian Hurley, Hunter street, is in Toronto on a few days' visit with friends.

Mrs. Samuel Campbell of Carberry, Man., has returned home after an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Andrew Goodfellow, 141 Park street.

Mr. George Chandler, who has recently returned from a trip to England, was welcomed back by the choir of St. John's church yesterday.

The many friends of Mr. Sam Milligan will be pleased to hear he has recovered from a short but severe illness and will soon be around again.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. H. Ellwood of Chatham, is home on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, Hunter street, east. The friends of Mrs. Fitzgerald will be pleased to hear that she is recovering from her recent illness.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Father McColl of Peterborough, and Rev. Father Phelan were the guests of Mr. John Hayes of Wednesday. They also visited the House of Refuge and were well pleased with the condition of affairs at that institution.—Lakefield News.

Mr. Herb Long, the fast center of the Strathcona hockey team, leaves for Fort William today, where he has secured a good position. His place on the team will be a hard one to fill as he could always be relied upon to deliver the goods. His many friends in the city will wish him every success in his new home.

Mr. Roscoe Kendry, who recently went to Texas to look after the interests of his property in that state, is making a success of his new venture. "Bab" has been greatly missed by his large circle of friends who will be pleased to hear of his continued success.

Mr. Walter Stocker, Wilton St., received the sad intelligence Saturday morning of the death of his mother, Mrs John Stocker, which occurred at here home in Rawdon, near Leeds, England, about two weeks ago. She was 75 years of age. Her husband predeceased her eight years ago. Four sons in this country are left to mourn her loss. They are, Messrs. Walter, of this city; E.R., in Ohio; Arthur in Calgary, and Douglas in San Francisco.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY

MRS. JEFFREY PEARSON.

A very sad and sudden death occurred last evening when Mrs Jeffrey Pearson of 537 Elm street, passed away after an illness extending over only ten days. The deceased was 39 years of age, and had resided here for several years and had a large circle of warm friends who will be grieved to learn of her death. She leaves husband and two young children to mourn her loss. [illegible]

MICHAEL CAVANAGH

The death occurred in Peterborough Thursday morning of Michael Cavanagh. The deceased was 87 years of age and had resided in Ennismore for a number of years.

ARNER CATARBY

The death occurred early Friday morning at the Home for Incurables of Abner Catarby. The deceased had been an inmate of the Home for five years, having come here from Millbrook. He was 74 years.

Church Notes

ST. PAUL'S

Monday evening—Young People's Guild. The subject will be St. Columba.

Tuesday evening—A special meeting of the Board of Managers will be held in the Deacon Bank chamber.

Wednesday evening—Prayer meeting.

[illegible]

Thursday—Ash Wednesday. Services will be held as usual.

Meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary and Ladies' Aid will be held this week.

A special effort is being made by the Bible class to have a large number of the members of the congregation attending the Sunday afternoon class meetings for Bible during the Lenten season. Next Sunday will be welcome Sunday and all that can possibly attend are asked to be present.

GEORGE STREET.

Monday 3 p.m.—Ladies' Aid will meet.

In the evening the Epworth League will meet.

Wednesday evening—Prayer meeting.

A special meeting of the officials of the church will be held after words.

ALL SAINTS'

Monday—The men's banquet will be held in the basement and a first class time is expected. A feature of the evening's program will be Bishop Reeve's address on [illegible] Western Canada and the Mackenzie River, and Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P. Ash Wednesday service at 7 [illegible] Wednesday evening.

ST. JOHN'S.

At yesterday morning's [illegible] Rev. Canon D[illegible] [illegible]

Saturday—Boys' [illegible]

9 a.m. Evening service 5 [illegible]

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

An At Home for the Congregation

The ladies of the congregation of St. Andrew's church purpose holding an at-home in the school house on Wednesday, March 3rd, for the benefit of the members and adherents of the congregation. The object of the reception is to give those attending St. Andrew's an opportunity to get better acquainted one with the other. It is expected that a large number will be in attendance.

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulas, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great, blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and bang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Posts," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order.

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department, will not be paid for it.

Ash Barrel was on Fire

The fire brigade had a pretty fair run last night at eleven o'clock. Rev. Father Sweeney, who resides at 372 Burnham street, has several barrels of ashes in the back yard, and one of the barrels took fire. Some young fellows saw the little blaze and instead of throwing a pail of water on it they ran up to the corner of Mark and Hunter streets, and sent in an alarm. The firemen responded in splendid time, but if the chief could find the "freal Alecs" who sent in the alarm he should land them in the coop where they could ponder over their clever antics for a while.

SOME PENSION DRAMAS

COMEDIES AND TRAGEDIES UNDER NEW BRITISH LAW.

Old Woman Aged 104 Announced That She Would Spend Her Money on Boats—Another Expected Arrears—Irishwomen Were Afraid It Meant Military Service For Their Sons—Wealthy Pensioners.

Tragedy, pathos, and humor are strangely intermingled in the incidents connected with the payments at the half-million old-age pensions at postoffices all over the British Isles. Much of the humor was provided by the old dames, many of whom could scarcely be persuaded that the pension scheme was not a myth until the five shillings were clasped in their hands.

And then their delight led them to do some funny things. At Tobermory, for instance, one old lady, disappointed at the somewhat cool thanks of the pensioners who had preceded her, made her farewell by declaring, "Thanks be to the Lord in the firmament; thanks and glory to the gentleman who proposed to give us this; and thanks to the man through whose hands the money came."

"What will you do with the money?" Mrs Rebecca Clarke, London's oldest pensioner, who is 104 years old, was asked.

"Buy boots," said the old lady, promptly. "I'm a plaguy one for kicking out boots."

The Birmingham old lady of 87, who was annoyed because she thought she was going to receive—as she expressed it—"back money" in respect of the number of years she had exceeded the regulation three score and ten, had a counter-part in an old man at Sheffield, who wanted his pension for a quarter in advance in order to start a business.

And then there were the two old women of Walworth who considerably embarrassed the postmaster by presenting him with two rashers of bacon and the wing of a goose as a thank-offering for the pension; while yet another grateful old dame insisted on giving the postmistress an orange in gratitude for the money. It was a genuine peel of joy.

Glasgow pensioners preferred to go to the General Postoffice for their pensions, although many of them had to walk considerable distances. Various reasons were given for this preference for the central office, but probably one of the most quaint was that of an elderly woman who, in fine Scots Doric, said she went to the "General" because she "couldna trust the district officers."

Others were desirous of keeping the fact that they were pensioners to themselves, and avoiding the idle curiosity of neighbors.

Referring to the doubt in the minds of some of the pensioners as to the reality of the scheme, it might be mentioned that the worthy people of Dunmow, the little Essex town from where the primest of prime flitches of bacon used to come, were very sceptical about getting the 5s., and even now they are wondering how long the pension will last.

They remind one of the old women from the Chaddagh Settlement, in the city of Galway, who got the idea into their heads that, in return for the pension, the Government claimed the right of enforcing military service from their sons. For this reason some of them refused to accept the 5s until they received the explicit assurance that their "bhoys" would not have to go "to fight the blacks."

At Kingstown, near Dublin, one old lady created a scene by demanding to be paid at a special counter, as she could not mix with the class of people who were besieging the pay counter. The official regulations, however, were inexorable, and the lady was obliged to conform.

Yet another old person in Dublin refused a pension, as she believed it came from the Salvation Army, and, as such, was likely to be prejudicial to her religious [illegible].

In the County of Ireland, it might be mentioned that the figures for the County of [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] an applicant won [illegible] her full pension admitted possession of three cows, several pigs, and a market garden.

Pathetic in the extreme were some of the incidents connected with old-age pension day.

A particularly hard case is that of a Portsmouth man of seventy-five, who, after having his claim allowed and getting his papers signed, was taken seriously ill. The town hospital was so full that he had to be accommodated in the workhouse infirmary. [illegible] was compelled to [illegible] parish relief on account [illegible] was with

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA IS EFFICIENT

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventive and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company,
Columbus, Ohio,

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd,
August 20, 1903.
Montreal.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.

Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 68 years old. Renoul Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Mrs. Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Canada, writes:

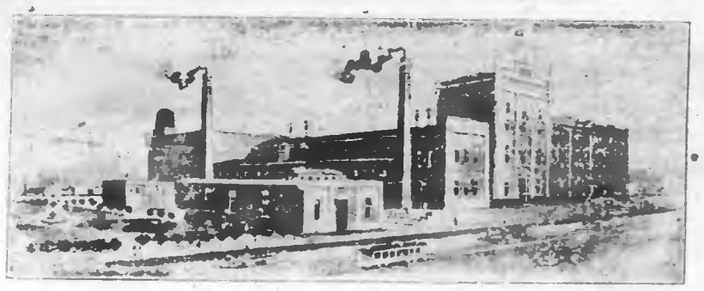
"I suffered with internal catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised, I can say I am now cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I think Peruna the best medicine for catarrh. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."

Peruna not only promptly relieves coughs and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh, than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.



LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. [illegible]

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from [illegible] Canadian Barley, best Canadian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

BARGAINS

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

[illegible]	2.25
[illegible]	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Rev. Dr. Talling will Preach at St. Paul's

On Sunday next Rev. Dr. Talling of Ottawa, who is well known in this city, and who occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's church for three months before Rev. Mr. Pogue came, will occupy the pulpit at both services. Rev. Mr. Pogue will preach the anniversary services in Rev. Dr. Talling's church, and on the following Monday night will give a lecture.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing [illegible]

The Ink People Use.

[illegible] you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. [illegible] Manufactured by

THE KEARNS INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof.

Select Groceries at Lowest [illegible]

To boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect it can be purchased at [illegible]

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 45 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

David Hartley and Higgins will Represent Canada in Big Event

Thirteen of the Greatest Long Distance Athletes in Europe Left Liverpool Saturday for the Six Day Race in New York

New York, Feb 22.—Thirteen of the greatest long distance athletes in Europe left Liverpool Saturday on the Cunard Line steamer Lucania to compete in the international six-day-go-as-you-please race in Madison Square Garden during the week of March 8-13.

The European representatives were selected from over one hundred and fifty applicants, and the list includes several runners who have played important parts in recent professional races throughout Europe. The countries represented by the athletes who sailed yesterday are England, France, Ireland, Italy, Holland and Belgium.

The race marks a departure in the history of professional athletics. Unlike the oldtime six-day walking matches, this event will be a six-day Marathon contest in all that the name implies, and as it is a team competition new world's records will probably be hung up for all the distances after the first fifty miles.

SMALLWOOD IN RACE.

To meet the European champions the best men in the United States have been selected, and although the pairing of the men has not yet been completed, the teams already selected give every indication of putting up a stiff argument with the foreigners. In addition to the American teams, which will probably number ten and comprise the greatest distance runners in the country, Perry Smallwood, champion of Wales, has entered the contest, with James Curran, champion of Scotland, as a partner.

The list of entries also includes teams of Indians, Canadians, Germans, Greeks, Swiss and an extra Italian pair. The United States army will also be represented by the best endurance men in the service, and it is probable that a Hindu combination will be added to the list.

THE TEAMS ENTERED.

The teams officially selected up to date are;

Italy—Ettore Ferri and Guido Pallanti.

Holland—W. W. Walkker and C. Jansen.

France—Louis Orphee and Edouard Cibot.

Belgium—Alexander Naves and A. Bert Doms.

Ireland—Francis Curtis and Pat. Feegan.

England—Jack Sandford and Fred Wooledge.

Canada—David Hartley and Anthony Higgins.

Italy—Mario Rovere and Umberto Rovere.

Indians—W. Davis and partner.

Greece—N. G. Athanasiades and Andrew Devaris.

United States Army—Harvey Endtish and G Hunt.

United States—Mike Spring and Ed. Adams, Frank Annable and J P. O'Driscoll, P. J. Dineen and Albert H. Corey, Henry Shelton and James Fraser, George Harrington and Jerry Sullivan, Edward con Kaenal and Irving Coleman.

Fowler vs Fanning and Brumwell Settled for $400

The case of Fowler vs. Fanning and Brumwell, was heard by Mr. Justice Clute at the Winter Assizes yesterday afternoon, and after the evidence of the twelve or more witnesses was heard, his lordship stated that this was a case of settlement between the parties interested, and suggested that this be done. The legal representatives of the parties got together and finally settled upon a payment of $400 to the plaintiff. This was satisfactory and the court was closed.

The story of the case was that Fowler brought an action against Matilda Fanning and Jacob Brumwell to recover $1250 for boarding for the late Jane Brumwell, aunt of the plaintiff, who was old and infirm and had resided with the plaintiff from October 1902 until March 1906. The defence claimed that there was nothing owing the plaintiff as the deceased lady had rendered valuable service to him in the past. Matilda Fanning and Jacob Brumwell are the administratrix and administrator of the estate of the late Jane Brumwell. The legal difficulty was to prove that there had been any promise to pay on the part of the deceased.

Messrs. Donnistoun, Peck & Kerr appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Dumble & Johnston for the defendants.

The Winter Assizes of the High Court were opened Monday afternoon at one o'clock before Mr. Justice Clute of Toronto. There was a very small court, a number of the cases having previously been settled. The members of the bar present were Messrs. D. O'Connell, F. D. Kerr, E. L. Goodwill, A. E. Dixon and D. W. Dumble, and Crown Attorney Drayton of Toronto.

The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury;

Messrs. Harry Phelan, foreman; W. Butler, W. Browne, R. J. Devey, J. E. A Fitzgerald, Robt. A. Edmison, J C. Oke, J. Lancaster, T. Mahoney, D. Maloney, A. Montissambert, R. C. Strickland and J. Trotter.

His lordship in addressing the grand jury remarked that their labors would be rather light. Apart from examining the jail and such other public institutions as they deemed advisable to visit There is one matter which I desire to ask you to give your earnest consideration." he continued. "In the county jail at the present time there is seventeen prisoners, twelve of whom are confined there for no more serious offence than vagrancy. I am further informed that several of these are very old and should be in a poor house instead of a jail. It is, I believe, because the county and city cannot come to terms that these persons are not living at the County House of Refuge. If you have a poor house in the county it is not proper that these people should continue incarceration in the jail, but suitable terms should be reached."

The grand jury then retired.

Ideal Life Is Happy.

Quit tea and coffee and for ten days drink

POSTUM

The joy of returning health will tell its own tale.

"There's a Reason"

HOPE'S BRIDGE WILL BE REBUILT, PERMANENT ONE TO COST $3,000

County Council Held Special Session to Consider the Report of the Bridge Inspector—Several Thousand Dollars to be Spent—Agricultural School for Norwood

Although the County Council was in session only one evening a lot of important business was put through. The chief item was the report of the special committees sent out to inspect the bridges in the county. As a result several thousand dollars will be spent in that way this year.

Those present were;—Warden Scott. Councillors Breault, Kidd, Knox, Comstock, Russell, Tucker, Hales, Darling, Moher, Perdue, Cohen, Shaw, Brown, Fife, Stewart and Graham.

Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald asked the County Council to solicit the Game and Fisheries Department of Ontario to consider him and thereby take him on the staff again. On motion of Messrs. Moher and Breault the request was granted and the Ontario Government will be notified.

Mr. Lees, the public school inspector, was allowed to address the council and explained the system employed in paying public school inspectors, suggesting that Peterborough County advance more money by way of the county's here. On motion the matter was referred to the June session.

On motion Messrs. McWilliams and Armstrong were heard in reference to the Orange Order using the court room this summer for their annual convention. On motion the request was granted.

On motion of Messrs. Breault and Comstock the account of the Havelock Standard of $16 56, balance on minutes of 1908, and $60 on account of assessment schedules 1909, was passed.

Warden Scott brought up the matter of the caretaker of the Burleigh bridge. Mr. Bates was appointed overseer of the work done there and rendered good service. He was never paid anything and was entitled to something. On motion he was given $5.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Mr. R. Lees notified the council that it was the intention of the Ontario Government to establish three more agricultural schools in the province. Norwood was trying to get one located there and the East Peterborough Agricultural Society and Board of Education were working it up and it was desired to have the county co-operate with them. The council was favorably impressed and a committee composed of Messrs. Breault, Comstock and Darling were appointed to work with the Norwood people and to go with them to the Ontario Government during the present session.

ROADS AND BRIDGES

The special committee appointed to inspect the different bridges in the county made the following report;

To the members of the council;—

Gentlemen.—We, your committee appointed at the January session to inspect certain bridges with a view to report on the same at this a special meeting called for the purpose.

HOPE'S BRIDGE, OTONABEE.

We found as expected an old bridge that now, and has been for some time, a county bridge, in a bad state of repair. The timbers are rotten and in such a condition that all traffic of heavy loads have ceased to pass over it. The old bridge is 100 feet long at present, but would not only recommend the rebuilding of a permanent bridge, but the shortening of the same to 75 feet between abutments.

Steel's bridge and Davidson's bridge your committee also visited. Steel's bridge, being a county bridge at present we would recommend the same to be scraped and re-painted. With reference to Davidson's bridge we found a wooden one that is in our opinion adequate for the traffic at the present time, and with small expenditure would do for several years yet.

WELBECK'S BRIDGE

The above is a county bridge, 100 feet long and requires reflooring and possibly some new stringers.

ROBSON'S BRIDGE.

The above bridge is at present a county bridge and the flooring and upper part of the bridge is completely gone. The piers apparently being in good condition. We would recommend new top on bridge, also shortening by one span and fill in where shortened.

HYNES BRIDGE.

Your committee visited the above bridge and found a bridge 46 feet in length.

The same not being a county bridge and your committee do not feel that they should recommend the assuming of the bridge, do not express any opinion as to what repairs should take place.

Your committee also visited Snelgrove bridge in Smith, and do not consider this should be assumed by county, it being some 40 feet long. We do not say as to what repairs should take place for the same reason as in the case of the Hynes bridge.

McCOLL'S BRIDGE, ANSTRUTHER.

Your committee visited the above bridge and find that it is now 95 feet long and in so far as bridge is concerned, rotten, but the west abutment being natural rock and the center pier sound, would only necessitate the building of one abutment.

We would recommend the assuming of this bridge by the county and have it rebuilt at a length of 75 feet using west abutment and present center pier.

A wooden structure from the fact that timber is plentiful in that municipality would be the most advisable structure.

LOCKIES BRIDGE, MONAGHAN.

We herewith express ourselves with regard to this bridge, for the same reasons as in the Hynes bridge, that we would not recommend the

(Continued on page four.)

Charity Board Handed Out Good Advice to Men Who Seek City Charity

The seekers after charity got hauled over the coals last night and were told a few things by the members of the Charity Board. Ever since the board has been in existence there have been men applying for wood and fuel and some of the same men come year after year. In many cases it is evident that the fellows consider that the city owes them a living as they make no provision in the time of plenty for the rainy day. Some of the applicants have carried the thing a little too far and the expenses of the board has been crawling up at a rapid rate.

Relief Agent F. W. Miller decided that he would bring the matter before the board in a somewhat different way from the usual, and invited all the men who applied for charity to meet the board in the council chamber on Monday night. There were about thirty accepted the invitation and these occupied the benches in the rear of the chamber, while the members of the board filled the aldermen's chairs.

His Worship Mayor Rush was the first to speak and he was followed by Messrs R. C. Braund, Geo. Cochrane, Malcolm McIntyre, Kent and Fowler and Rev. Father McColl. They all gave about the same line of talk to the unfortunates, who were told that while the city was perfectly willing to assist anyone who needed help, the means were limited and the citizens could not afford and would not try to support men and their families all winter when these men either refused to work or spent more time looking for charity than they did for employment. Allowances were made for new arrivals who were probably not acquainted with Canadian winters or were ignorant of the labor market during that season. Allowance was also made for those who had met with misfortune. But for those who had been here for some time there was no excuse. There is no reason why men who work all spring, summer and fall cannot lay away a little money to tide them over the slack season. The great trouble with the average laboring man was that no matter how much money he received he spent it as fast as he got it and never had anything left. This kind of thing had to stop. The city owes no man a living and anyone who cannot or will not support himself and family will have to suffer the consequences. Some good sound advice was given to the men to save their earnings next summer as it would be difficult for them to get charity in the winter.

MEN'S REPLY.

Three of the men made replies to the board, and each told a hard luck story. One was a Canadian, who had been here for 20 years, and had never asked for charity before. But he had had trouble and he thought that Canadians should receive charity as well as Englishmen.

Another fellow had been here two years and not knowing the conditions the first year he went along spending his money as fast as he made it, and last winter got into debt to such an extent that it took all summer to get squared away, and now he is out of work and has nothing.

The third man told of his having had all kinds of sickness in the family which took all his money.

This satisfied the members of the board who sent the men home with the good advice still ringing in their ears.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

The Charity Board passed accounts to the value of $372 19; this sum being principally for groceries and provisions for the past week.

Sad Drowning Accident, Little Girl Lost Her Life

Colpoconk, Feb. 22.—A sad drowning accident occurred here by which the eight-year-old daughter of Mr Henry Bradford lost her life.

The little girl, it appears, went down to the river to get a pail of water, when she slipped on the ice and fell into the hole and was drowned. She was missed and a search almost immediately instituted. Her body was found half a mile down the river under the ice.

Charity Concert in St. Peter's School

A very successful and greatly enjoyed charity concert was presented jointly by the Catholic Order of Foresters and the Ladies' Aid of St. Peter's cathedral in St. Peter's school last night. The feature of the evening was Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's address, but in addition to that several musical numbers were rendered by the following;

Instrumental duet—Misses Doris.
Vocal Solo—Mr. J King.
Vocal Solo—Miss L. Hallihan
Vocal Solo—Mr. Geo. Lynch.
Comic Dialogue—Mr McLearn and a boy from the audience.

The subject of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was "Liberalism in Religion." He treated his subject very ably and forcefully, while his delivery was excellent. The arguments produced furnished an abundance of food for careful thought and everyone was much impressed. He showed that indifference in religion was contrary to reason and to revelation, and he went carefully into these two points and made his talk very interesting.

P.C.I. Debaters Won from the Normalites

On the evening of the 22nd of February, a very interesting recital was held in the Assembly Hall of the new Collegiate Institute.

The purpose of the concert was to open the Literary Society, and the different parts were given to advantage.

The chief part was a debate, which has been long standing between the Normal school and the P.C.I. It was proven very undisputably that that the rather formal Normal scholars are not able to compete in debates with the well educated pupils of the Institute. All the speeches were handled perfectly while special mention could be made of Mr. O'Brien and Miss Stinson, both on the affirmative. They proved to the large audience that the Normal scholars are not in the class of the Institute. The nature of the debate was very interesting it being, "Resolved that a lawyer should not defend a criminal whose guilt is certain." The Collegiate took the affirmative and displayed to the people in words both proficient and qualifying that they are superior to the Normalites. The concert was closed very nicely and the audience helped the interest of the society by joining in God Save the King.—Com.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Police Department to Collect Dog Taxes

It is likely that a change will be made in the manner of collecting the dog taxes of the city of Peterborough. At present it is in the hands of the city tax collector but it is proposed to transfer it to the police department.

The matter was considered at the last meeting of the Finance Committee and a resolution was passed recommending that the collection of dog taxes be transferred to the police department, the city clerk to furnish the chief of police with a list of persons having dogs and the police to co-operate with the tax collector in collecting the taxes.

Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the several schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle-wrapper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodical pains, disagreeable, catarrhal, pelvic drain, dragging-down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks dancing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or other derangement of the feminine organs, you can not do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examinations and treatments of the "family physician can be avoided and a thorough course of successful treatment carried on in the privacy of the home. "Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, contains no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription;" it will not perform miracles: it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health in most weaknesses and ailments peculiarly incident to women as any medicine can. It must be given a fair chance by perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this remedy of known composition.

Still women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly sacred, and properly so. Addresses are protected envelopes. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic. Easy to take as candy.

Second Annual Banquet of Men of All Saints'

The second annual banquet of the men of All Saints' church, was held last night in the basement and proved to be a decided success. There were about 100 men present and they thoroughly enjoyed the excellent menu provided by the ladies of the congregation who did themselves much credit. Rev Mr. Trumpour, rector of All Saints', occupied the chair, and short speeches were made by Messrs. Edgar, T. Hooper, J. J. Howden, R. A. Layfield, A. L. Davis, Abl Buller and Rev Mr. Keith of Knox church.

Bishop Reeves, late of the Mackenzie River district, was the chief speaker and he gave a most interesting talk on his life in the far north where he spent over 30 years related many experiences and told of the characteristics of the Indians, their manner of living, their customs, their language and the methods adopted in teaching them.

Mr. Boyle, M.P.P., was unable to be present.

Greys Lost to Iroquois

The Greys were unfortunate last night in losing two games to the Iroquois. They rolled the highest number of pins, but could not divide them evenly. The Iroquois also added a new man to their team in the person of Sutherland, of St. Thomas, who has joined the staff of the Morning Times. He blew into the bowling alleys last night, and although it was his first game on the new alleys, he rolled a total for the three games of 465, and gives promise of being a decided strength to the team. The scores were as follows;—

IROQUOIS—
Sutherland	148	139	187	465
Adams	153	128	145	424
Martin	171	171	160	502
	469	429	512	1401
GREYS—
McFadden	134	153	165	452
Perry	193	180	168	541
Clancy	115	192	132	429
	442	525	445	1412

County Council on Trip to Ottawa, Want Aid for New Ball Lake Bridge

The County Council leaves at noon today where they will interview the Dominion Government for the purpose of securing substantial assistance towards building a float-bridge over Ball Lake Narrows, in Harvey township. This bridge will be over a third of a mile long, and will cost it is estimated from $10,000 to $12,000. It will be a great benefit to the people of Harvey, especially South Harvey as it will lessen their drive to Bobcaygeon by some 15 miles. This bridge will give them access to the railway at that town to which the township is paying a subsidy. Naturally the majority of the farmers will make Bobcaygeon their shipping point, and thus that town will derive much benefit. The bridge also cuts down the distance for several people coming to this city by ten miles, but that will not benefit the city materially as the people come here now.

The council will ask the Dominion Government to grant $7000 towards this bridge. If the request is refused the matter will be dropped. If only half the amount is voted the Ontario Government will be asked to grant the other half.

A deputation from Bobcaygeon Board of Trade and council will accompany the county council.

The committee on bridge inspection reported to the council last night as follows;

BALL LAKE NARROWS.

Your committee visited the above site with members of the Council of Harvey, members of the Council of Bobcaygeon, and members of the Board of Trade, Bobcaygeon.

The length of proposed bridge is 2130 feet. By erecting the bridge the distance to Bobcaygeon for a large number of ratepayers of Harvey would be shortened by 15 miles also the distance from points of North Harvey to Buckhorn, would be shortened by 15 miles, and on the other hand across to the city of Peterborough would be made easier by 10 or 12 miles to a large number of ratepayers of the county, from the above observations we would strongly recommend the County Council to assist the ratepayers interested, to urge upon the governments to assist towards building proposed bridge

"To Them That Hath"

A SHORT SERMON TO FAT FOLKS.

"To them that hath shall be given" is a sentence that applies to fat people very neatly. It is common knowledge that once a human being begins to fatten up, to what they have already is added more that— they want until finally a stage is reached where reduction must be made on decided diss vantage results.

Then comes forward the ages-old query, "Reduce—but how?" To the uninformed the thing suggests itself but the (to them) twin evils—less eating—more activity. They contemplate a more or less lengthy siege of dieting and exercising so it may be said safely that every man or woman in the land now undergoing the fattening-up process has his or her mental eye fixed dubiously on that not far distant day when he or she will have to don the "ashes and sackcloth of reduction."

This is not an enlivening prospect, and so it is with considerable satisfaction that we announce the emancipation of the fat. Nowadays one may reduce much or little, a pound a day if desired, or hold their fat in check, absolutely stationary, without doing a tap of exercise, missing a single meal, doing a particle or harm or causing a solitary wrinkle. All that is required, as hundreds testify, is the taking after meals and at bedtime of one Marmola Prescription Tablet, which tablets are sold by the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or any good druggist at the uniform price of 75 cents, this sum being accepted for a case of tablets so well and generously filled that even one produces desirable results.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Programme of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Concert

The following interesting numbers will be played at the orchestra concert on Friday evening, and a rare treat is promised. The soloists will be Miss Bertha May Crawford, soprano of the Metropolitan church, Toronto, and who is well known as a singer of great ability and attraction, and also Miss Lina Dreschsler Adamson, who has won considerable reputation in Toronto and Peterborough as a violiniste of great ability.

Overture—The Merry Wives of Windsor... ..... Otto Nicolai
Grand Waltz—Barber of Selville..... Venzano
Miss Bertha May Crawford.
The unfinished symphony..... .....
....Franz Schubert
Violin Concerto ... . Mendelssohn
Miss Lina Dreschsler Adamson.
Vorspiel to the 3rd Act of.....
"Kunihild" ... ... Kistler
Elegalo melody for stringed instruments ... ... Edward Grieg
Spanish Dance ... ... Moszkowski
Overture—The Hebrides Mendelssohn
Group of songs—
'Twas April ... ...Nevin
When the Roses Bloom.Reichardt
May Morning ... ... Denza
Miss Bertha May Crawford.
Three dances from "Henry VIII"
....Edward German

LUNG TROUBLE

PROMPTLY RELIEVED AND PERMANENTLY CURED BY INHALING CATARRHOZONE.

Mrs. Bliny Brown, of Tenecape, N. S., was cured by Catarrhozone of lung trouble and Catarrh after hundreds of other remedies failed.

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an anomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the inhaler the local symptoms such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Catarrhozone tablets, which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

Complete outfit costs $1; small size, 50c. At druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1909.

A WORLD POLICE FORCE

Rather an interesting suggestion is made by a United States sailor, Admiral Goodrich, in a magazine article on the world's armaments. He thinks it possible, in the light of the development of the principal of arbitration and the existence of the Hague Tribunal, that the time may come when the Tribunal may act as both a supreme court for civilization and a policeman with a big stick.

"Assuming merely for the purpose of argument, and not in the least as representing the true state of affairs, that a fleet of twenty battleships in the Atlantic and another of twenty battleships in the Pacific would preserve the peace of the world on the seas, why would it not be well for the principal powers to contribute to the maintenance of these two fleets a sum proportionate to their concern, turning their surplus ships over to the common police and reducing their naval budget to an amount merely necessary to maintain a proper coast guard service? Supposing, on the other hand, there was at the disposition of the Hague tribunal a thoroughly prepared and highly trained force of say 250,000 men ready to move at a moment's notice, why should the great powers maintain huge standing armies? Imagine the weight of the decision of the Hague tribunal backed by an army of a quarter of a million of troops."

That is pretty much what each citizen does in the average civilized community. He abandons his right to enforce his ideas by his own physical force. He assents to law whereby he is forbidden to carry a weapon. He constitutes instead a court and police force with the privilege and the power to judge between citizen and citizen, and compel acceptance of the decree.

Why should not the nations do the same? Is any national interest conceivable of more importance to any nation than some interests of his own to each private citizen?

In the case of a private citizen, if his person is assailed, he is legally entitled to resist. If a burglar enters his house, the citizen is legally entitled to shoot. But this is so merely because common sense and the law recognize that such cases are emergencies in which the law and the police can not be brought into action in time. Before they can appear in response to a call, the citizen may be dead. This consideration permits a citizen under such circumstances to use violence, or to keep a pistol in his house. But there need be no such reservation in the case of nations in connection with a world police force under the direction of a court like the Hague Tribunal. There would always be either time for a nation to call for help before damage was done, or even if sudden unforseen and successful attack were to be made by one nation upon another, no harm would be done which could not be subsequently remedied by the police—unless resistance had been made causing bloodshed. The nation attacked would merely need to sit tight, let the assailant have his own way, and subsequently collect full damages through the court.

The possibility is striking that if Great Britain, the United States, Germany, Russia, France, Austria and Japan, the seven chief powers, were to agree to each abolish their armies and navies, and instead furnish between them the Hague Tribunal with the means to maintain an army and navy of not more than the cost of the smallest annual war budget of any one of these powers, the world's peace would be assured.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

SHOWED HIS TICKET.

An Obliging Passenger and a Cranky Station Master.

A cranky station master while examining tickets came across a cattle dealer, well known in the district, who held a season ticket. The station master, being aware of this, usually passed without troubling him to show it.

On this occasion, however, he ordered him in a not very polite manner to produce it, adding in a severe tone:

"Mind, I want to see it every time you stop at this station."

Of course the ticket was produced, and the official passed on, looking very important and self satisfied.

A few days later as the early morning mail train drew up at the platform at about 3 o'clock a passenger accosted the solitary porter on duty and asked peremptorily for the station master.

"He's in bed, sir," replied the porter.

"Tell him I want him," said the passenger.

The porter disappeared and after some delay returned, closely followed by the station master, who was audibly grumbling at being brought out of bed in the cold.

The latter then found himself confronted by his old friend the cattle dealer, who handed him his season ticket, politely asking him to examine it, at the same time reminding him that he had a few days ago expressed a wish to see it "every time he stopped at the station."—London Answers

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book
Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 Florence St. Ottawa

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

PERPETUAL YOUTH.

It Can Only Be Imparted to the Body Through the Mind.

The elixir of youth lies in the mind or nowhere. You cannot be young by trying to appear so, by dressing youthfully. You must first get rid of the last vestige of thought, of belief, that you are aging. As long as that is in mind cosmetics and youthful dress will amount to very little in changing your appearance. The conviction must first be changed; the thought which has produced the aging condition must be reversed.

If we can only establish the perpetual youth mental attitude, so that we feel young, we have won half the battle against old age. Be sure of this, that whatever you feel regarding your age will be expressed in your body.

Nothing else more effectually retards age than keeping in mind the bright, cheerful, optimistic, hopeful, buoyant picture of youth in all its splendor, magnificence; the alluring picture of the glories which belong to youth—youthful dreams, ideals, hopes and all the qualities which belong to young life.

One great trouble with us is that our imaginations age prematurely. The hard, exacting conditions of our modern, strenuous life tend to harden and dry up the brain and nerve cells and thus seriously injure the power of the imagination, which should be kept fresh, buoyant, elastic.—Success Magazine.

Eating the Pie.

"I remember one man from my home town," a western senator said recently, "in the good old days before civil service examinations, whose dream of earthly attainment was a government place. When his party was finally successful he immediately set out for Washington and was 'on the job' long before the 4th of March, but there seemed to be a hitch somewhere. All through the spring he was about town. By June he was seedy, but still appeared to be 'game.' Finally I found him in the gallery of the senate chamber apparently endeavoring to kill time.

"'Well, have you given it up?' I asked, trying to be sympathetic.

"'Oh, I got the job, all right,' he replied, with a satisfied smile. 'I'm working now.'"—Success Magazine.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 15th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PERRY,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 15th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PERRY,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than frauds. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatments for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $21 a week in a moulding shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

HENRY G. LOCHIE.

HAS YOUR BLOOD BEEN DISEASED?

BLOOD POISONS are the most prevalent and most serious diseases. They tap the very life blood of the victim and unless entirely eradicated from the system will break out in repulsive sores, blotches of blemishes. It only suppresses the symptoms—our NEW METHOD cures to stay cured.

YOUNG OR MIDDLE AGED MEN—Improvident acts or later excesses have broken down your system. You feel the symptoms stealing over you. Nervous, irritable, easily, and why you are not the man you used to be or should be. Will you heed the danger signals?

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you trembling in misery? Has professional treatment failed to cure you, or has it only relieved? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. When it has done for others it will do for you. Consultation Free. No matter who has treated you, write us or bring us your case. Free of Charge Book Free—"The Golden Medium," (Illustrated) on Diseases of Men.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. PRIVATE. No names published. Correspondence confidential. Question list and cost of Treatment FREE FOR HOME TREATMENT.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

TRANSPORTATION.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SETTLERS' TRAINS
TO
Manitoba, Alberta SASKATCHEWAN
By Canadian Pacific direct line

For Settlers travelling with live stock and effects
SPECIAL TRAINS
will leave Toronto Each TUESDAY in MARCH and APRIL at 10.15 p.m.

Settlers and families without live stock should use
REGULAR TRAINS
leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily Tourist Sleeping Cars Fastest Time

Colonist Cars on All Trains
NO CHARGE FOR BERTHS
LOW COLONIST RATES
Only Through Service to the West

Apply to nearest agent for full information and free copy of "Settlers' Guide" or write R. L. Thompson, D.P.A., C.P.R., Toronto.

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return
$2.30
From PETERBOROUGH

With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show

Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.

Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA

The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from
W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45. Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BINNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members { New York Cotton Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE: McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets...33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

KENNEDY, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

We assist the business of Manufacturers, Engineers and others who realize the advantage of having their Patent business transacted by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Patents Attorney must obtain satisfactory results or no fee. Marion, New York Life Bldg., Washington, D.C. and Montreal, Can. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—THE—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—THE—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Estate claim, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Calcite Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 186 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 40 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 10 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 20th December, 1906, and which may be inspected at the offices of E. C. Le-Vesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties in consideration of 200,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 24,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $ 000; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 16th of December, 1906.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed Bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these foods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, see future advertisements, etc.

TENDENCY OF THE TIMES

TENDENCY OF MEDICAL SCIENCE TOWARDS PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

Pneumonia, One of the Most Dangerous and Often Fatal Diseases, Can Be Prevented.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza, (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied on with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always c

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACINERY AND FITTINNGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order.

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals.
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Pougin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

St. Patrick's and Easter cards galore now on bargain at Times Bookstore.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. For truly, and one could hardly be more literal in it, all sensation, all emotion, is in almost primary a matter of the nerves. And so really is all or (with the exception of the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve simply made, and must have, more power, more stability, more endurance, more persistency than the nerves of the rest of the body. And so it is that the diseases of the heart are always those which most quickly develop nervous

This quickly explains why, on a condition, the remedy that is to be the best must be one which will work and strengthen the nerves of the heart. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a nerve remedy, and it is a remedy for the heart because it is a remedy for

HOW TO TELL

If the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney disease that could have been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's tiredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—it's put down to loss of sleep.

Joints ache, muscles get sore,—that's all put down to bad weather.

Then digestion gets poor, appetite fades away, color bleaches, spirit droop.

Can't you see it's all from your over-worked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills" writes C. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainsville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot, at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every little duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick, suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharp twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles, and joints lack of apetite, and loss of sleep. Teach the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c. at all dealers.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

60--PLAYERS--60

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th, AT 8:15 P.M.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Reserved Seats $1.50 and 1.00

Public sale of seats opens Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cut ting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phone—Office 488; House 488.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1909.

Committee of the Whole

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council will be held this evening when a lot of important business will come up. The Financial Committee will figure prominently as they have the estimates ready for consideration, and also a recommendation in reference to the Board of Education's overdraft and demand for the issue of debentures to meet the sum.

5ct.--Bargains--5ct.

6 H B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE.
Hunter street.

OBITUARY

JAMAICA A. THEOBALD.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Theobald, 372 Rogers street, Ashburnham, will sympathize with them in the loss they have sustained by the death of their infant son, Jamaica Aubrey; who passed away Sunday. The child was six months old.

The funeral took place yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Lundy and Miss Lundy will receive today.

Mrs. R. G. Kirkpatrick, 205 Aylmer street, will receive today.

Mrs. Pearce, 387 Walton street, will receive this afternoon.

Mr. Bruce Bell is the guest of his parents, 532 Charlotte street.

Miss Ida Mulholland of Toronto, is visiting her parents for a few days.

Mr. Herb Cooney has returned to Toronto after spending a week in Peterborough, the guest of friends.

Miss Edna Harris, of Hillsdale, and Miss Eva Hill of Richmond Hill, have returned home after visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald, have returned from their bridal tour which included Canadian and American cities.

Mr. Alex Haggart, K.C., M.P., for Winnipeg, spent Sunday in the city the guest of his niece, Mrs. Alex Gibson, George street.

Mrs. S. F. Chertte of Pittsburg, is, her many friends in Peterborough, will be pleased to learn, nicely recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. G. Walter Green is able to be at his office again, having been confined to the his home suffering from a painful attack of lumbago.

Mr. Gliddon, director of the Conservatory of Music, went to Toronto last evening to hear the Pittsburg Orchestra and the Schubert Choir.

Mr. Oscar Davidson, who has been one of the staff of the C.P.R. telegraphers, has been moved to Ottawa and will reside there in future.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —50c Sold by all dealers.

Mr. R. A. Dutton is spending a few days in Brantford and Toronto Mrs. Dutton, who has been the guest of friends in Brantford, will return on Wednesday.

Mr. John Fowler of North Monaghan, who has been ill, is able to be out again. His many friends will be pleased to hear of his improved condition.

Miss Lina D. Adamson, one of the most brilliant of the first rate violinists of Toronto and a member of the staff of the Peterborough Conservative of Music, will be the solist at the approaching local concert of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stich in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. (Dr.) Frank C. Neale left yesterday morning for Saranac Lake, N. Y., where she will spend the next couple of weeks with Dr. Neal. The many friends of Dr. Neal will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly recovering from his recent severe illness.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

WEDDING BELLS

DEVLIN—DWYER.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's church, Douro, Monday morning, when Miss Bridget Dwyer, daughter of the late John Dwyer of Douro, was united in marriage to Mr. William Devlin, of Otonabee, son of Mr. Matthew Devlin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Kielty. Miss Clara Dwyer, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Thomas Flattery was best man. Both young people are very popular and numerous wedding presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Devlin will reside in Otonabee.

County Council

(Continued from page one.)

assumption, by the county, the bridge being only 35 feet long in a comparatively quiet place in so far as much traffic is concerned.

It was decided to rebuild Hope's bridge at a cost of $300, and Messrs. Graham, Comstock, Moher and Fife were appointed a committee to look after it.

Steele's bridge will be scrapped and repainted, and Mr. Comstock will also look after this.

Robson's bridge will be fixed up. It will be in charge of Messrs. Darling and Comstock.

McColl's bridge will be rebuilt, and made 75 feet long instead of 95 feet.

The council read a bylaw providing for issuing debentures for $4,000 for the construction of Hope's bridge at a cost of $3,000. Robson's bridge $400, and Auburnther bridge $600. The bylaw was given two readings and will be read a third time and passed at the June session. They are 4 1-2 per cent. debentures.

An invitation was extended to the City Council to send a committee to Ottawa with the county at the expense of the city, to interview the government in connection with the new bridge in Harvey.

BRAINS

Rule the World.

Grape-Nuts

made of wheat and barley—is a true food for brain workers

"There's a Reason"

Fell and Broke Her Left Wrist

Mrs. Thomas Smiley, Hunter St., east, was the victim of a very painful accident while returning home from church Sunday. She had been attending the Mark St. Methodist church, and on reaching the corner of Mark and Hunter streets, slipped and fell heavily to the pavement, breaking her left arm at the wrist. The injury, although painful, is not serious.

171st Annex

Dollar French Kid Gloves — A Quarter

Wednes. Feb. 24

THE LAST SALE OF KID GLOVES: BUY NOW

MARCH 1st ends the Kid Glove Sales, so here is a clean-up of lines which means "We'll be it" for Kid Gloves on Wednesday, and you'll be in it if you take advantage of this timely offering. 27 dozen (324) pairs French Kid Gloves —an odd lot; in sizes 5½, 5¾, 6, 6½, 6¾; White, Greys, Modes, Tan and Black; mostly two-dome wrists. Regular 75c and $1.00 quality. In the Annex on Wednesday 25c

SEE WINDOW

CORSET COVERS
29 and 35c values 22c

15 dozen in this lot of new Corset Covers, two styles, one line made with lace insertion trimmings, the other with embroidery. Regular 29 and 35c values. In the Annex, Wednesday 22c

Cressman's "Bargain Annex" Registered

OUR BED OUTFITS
$9.00 complete $5.98

White Enamelled Iron Beds with good sengrass and wool Mattress and reinforced coiled wire Springs. Complete $5.98. Bed $2.40, Mattress $2.30, Springs $1.80. Sizes 3 ft., 3 ft. 6 inches, 4 ft., 4 ft. 6 inches.

Soiled Cut-Work
90 cent Value
29c

Over 200 pieces Soiled Cut-work, including Shams, Runners and Table Covers, also pure linen, hemstitched embroid'r'd tray cloths. These have been soiled and mussed while on display. Worth up to 90c. In the Annex See window 29c

White Drawers
59c value 44c

10 dozen Ladies' and Misses new White Drawers, made of fine English Cambric, tucked, with lace and insertion trimmings. Our special 59c line. In the Annex Wednesday 44c

English Tweeds
40c value 21c

3 pieces light grey English wash Tweeds, 40 in. wide, neat small and large checks. Reg. 40c value. In Annex Wed. per yd 21c

BRASS EX RODS
15c value 11c

Brass Extension Rods with pink, blue and green trimmings, splendid for the bedrooms. Reg. 15c value. In Annex, complete .. 11c

CARPET SWEEPERS
$3.00 values $2.29

You will need a Carpet Sweeper this spring. After house cleaning you will have your rooms sweet and clean—free from dust, why not keep them so by using a roller bearing Carpet Sweeper,—no dust no noise, saves labor and carpet. $3.00 roller bearing Carpet Sweepers. In the Annex .. $2.29

EMBROIDERY BLOUSE FRONTING
35c value 17c

185 yards of new Swiss Embroidery Blouse Fronting, five very pretty patterns for your selection, 13 inches wide with three rows of open and solid work. Reg. 29 to 35c yd. In the Annex Wed. per yard 17c

RIBBONS RIBBONS RIBBONS RIBBONS

New Taffeta Ribbons

20c Value | 25c Value | 35c Value
11½c | 15c | 19c

Three widths of new Taffeta Silk Ribbons in all the new and staple shades; splendid quality. This was a tremendous purchase bought only for the Annex.
4 inch width, regular 20c, for 11½c
5 inch width, regular 25c, for 15c
6 inch width, regular 35c, for 19c
See display of these lines in the window Monday and Tuesday.
It will pay you to purchase your Spring Wants now

Flannelette Blankets
Annex Prices

The best quality Flannelette Blankets in White or Grey. In the Annex Wednesday at greatly reduced prices. Reg. $1.10 value 89c. Reg. $1.25 value 98c. Regular $1.65 value $1.28

Princess Night Gowns
$1.25 Value
79c

A shipment of our new Princess Night gowns; beautifully trimmed with deep tucked and embroidered lace yoke; all sizes, generously made; better than most $1.25 values. In the Annex Wednesday .. 79c
See Window

D & A CORSETS
50c value 29c

A noted maker's noted brand "D & A" "Triumph" splendid grey coutil with nickle plated eyelets, neatly made. Reg. 50c line. In Annex 29c

Sen-Sen Veiling
50c value 20c

Another lot of Russian Sen-Sen Veiling similar to the line sold last week in the Annex. Black Brown and Toupe Worth 50c. In Annex 29c

SAMPLE BLOUSES
$1.50 value 39c

This lot comprises many natty styles from the manufacturer's samples which we bought recently, 50 more will be on sale this week, just as good as the two previous lots. Reg. prices up to $1.50. In the Annex Wednesday 39c

CARPET SAMPLES
$1.88 value 99c $1.35 value 49c

67 Carpet Samples in Brussels and Wiltons in lengths of 1¼ yds. Regular $1.00 to $1.25 per yd. In the Annex, Wednesday, an end 99c
Tapestry and Balmoral samples worth 50c to 90c yd. In the Annex, per end 49c

MEN'S WORKING SHIRTS
50c value 29c

All sizes in Men's Working Shirts of dark grey striped Harvard shirting. Regular 50c value. In the Annex, Wednesday 29c

VICTORIA LAWN
15c value 8 1-2c

400 yards fine close Victoria Lawn, full yard wide. Regular 15c value. In the Annex Wednesday, per yd 8 1-2c

WIDE APRON GINGHAM
12½ and 14c values 10 1-2c

Three pieces widest width Apron Gingham with or without borders. Reg 12½ and 14c qualities. In the Annex 10 1-2c

FACTORY COTTON
10c Value 8 1-2c

400 yards of good factory Cotton, full 36 inches wide, close, even weave and nice round thread Regular 10c value. In the Annex Wednesday 8 1-2c

VISIT THE ANNEX AT TWO O'CLOCK

Nottingham Lace Curtains

No. 1—About 100 pairs Nottingham Lace Curtains, 2½ yds. long, finished with colbert edges, good patterns, Worth 45c. In the Annex Wednesday at 2 o'clock 25c

New Embroideries

200 ends of Embroidery Edging and Insertion, 6 yards in each end; up to 4 ins. wide. Regular 8c and 10c yd. In the Annex at 2, per end 29c

Positively not more than 4 ends to any one customer. Remember 6 yards in an end

Men's Underwear
50c value 39c

10 dozen fleece lined Underwear: shirts and drawers, sanitary wool fleece, all sizes. Regular 50c. In the Annex per garment 39c

Cressman's
385, 387, 389 George Street
Peterborough
WE SELL MUSIC

NEW LACES FOR SPRING SEWING 2 1-2c

We have a goodly supply of these new Torchon and Valencienne Laces and Insertions—just what is needed for the spring sewing. 1 to 3 ins. wide; good patterns. Regular 7c to 15c values. In the Annex Wednesday 2 1-2c
25 cents per Dozen Yards

Cressman's
385, 387, 389 George Street
Peterborough
WE SELL MUSIC

BARGAINS : IN : BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at 2.25
at $3.00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only 1.00
Regular $4.50 Springs for 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

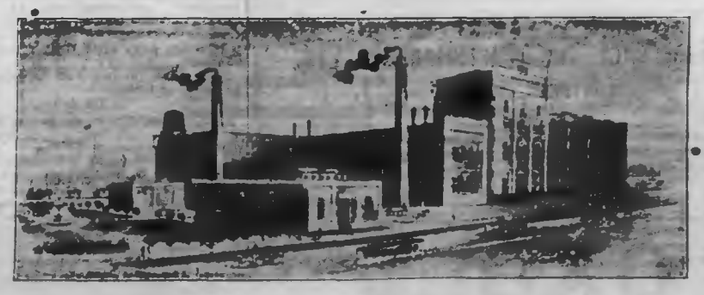
Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.



LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

Wedding Presents

Anything and everything in the line of wedding presents at worth-while prices. January sale of china and

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 46 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Burglar Held for Murder in New York City Had Model Home in Berlin

Mother Doted on Him and Would Not Believe Stories of His Wrong Doing---He, in Turn, Idolized Her

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The manner in which Nelson Dessler, who yesterday shot and killed a police captain at Glean, N.Y., after a desperate fight, being terribly wounded himself, has capped off his career is not a very great surprise to people here. He has had criminal instincts ever since he was a young boy, the general belief being that he went astray in the first place as the result of reading cheap paper-backed tales of murder and robbery.

His aim has apparently been to be a gentleman thief of the Raffles order. He was polite as a boy, and growing into manhood was fond of dress, even to extremes of fashion. His parents, who are exceptionally fine people, provided him with a musical education, and the home life of Dessler was ideal.

His mother doted upon him and could not believe reports against him, while Nelson idolized her. It came out that many gifts he made her had been stolen by him in his raids.

He was guilty of a series of Sunday night burglaries, during church hours, and nearly every house in Ahrens street, where he lived, received visits from him. He would accompany his parents to church and slip out at the time of the first prayer, but would be back at church, going home with his parents, in the meantime having committed burglary.

He is also believed to have been the incendiary who set fire to half a dozen barns about the same time of these robberies. Dessler, it was marked, was always one of the first at the fire, helping to lead out the

(Continued on page two.)

An Excellent Paper on Medicine by Dr. McCulloch

There was a large attendance, in spite of the disagreeable weather, at the third meeting of the series being held by the Peterborough Historical Society last night. The meeting as usual was in the Collegiate Institute hall, and the speaker of the evening was Dr. J. Malcolm McCullough. His subject was "Beginnings in Medicine." The doctor handled his subject in a very fine and interesting manner and gave out much information which was of value to the members of the society.

In opening Dr. McCullough gave an outline of the many discoveries of facts which have now become matters of household information, but which at the outset had to combat the vigorous prejudices of centuries of superstition, ignorance and mysticism.

The earliest records of the practice of the art of healing is found in the Scriptures where Joseph commanded his servants to embalm him. This was in 1700 B.C. The Egyptians originally exposed their sick to the public so that if any passers-by had had suffered from the same symptoms they might help the sufferer. These symptoms and the help received were carefully recorded in the temple and then studied by the priests and thus started the exoulsive practise of medicine. The Indian and Chinese systems are very primitive, the Chinese last continuously however for about 4000 years.

The Greek system is that from which our present day system traces its origin mainly. At first those versed in medicine transmitted their knowledge one to another as a family heritage. Then the speaker gave a very interesting account of the early practice of medical men and the frauds perpetrated upon the people. Later on good sound common sense entered into the practise.

The intellectual improvement of medicine under Hippocrates was commensurate with the moral. The so-called faith of Hippocrates enacts that the physician among other things is to help the sick according to his knowledge and power to rightly abstain from every evil, criminal abuse of the means and instruments of his art, to supply no poison, to keep an inviolable silence about the secret which he learnt in his calling or even outside it.

The dissection of human bodies began in the school which was erected by Alexander the Great, and which was probably the greatest university the world has ever seen. At this time also surgery and pharmacy were progressing also and new remedies were being compounded.

From that time on medicine and surgery made progress but the great men had to fight battles as well as those in all other walks of life. Still wonderful advances have been made and the public little appreciate the value of medical men today as compared with those of years ago. Nothing is known today by the average person of the cruelty which was suffered in the old days by patients undergoing operations before the discovery of anaesthesia. In conclusion the doctor stated that he could go on for hours talking of the advances that have been made medicine and surgery.

A vote of thanks was moved to Dr. McCullough for his able address and it was carried unanimously.

Electric Blanket Being Placed on the Market

The Collier Electric Company are placing another new article on the market. It is an "electric blanket" and it is used for much the same purposes as the ordinary hot water bottle. The blanket is composed for safety of asbestos, is made in convenient sizes, is pliable and can be kept at any temperature desired by the regulation of the electric current.

The electric blanket is something new, Mr. H. B. Collier being the inventor.

Hydro-Electric Commission Award Part of Big Contract to the C.G.E.

For the Electrical Equipment of 12 Stations on the Transmission Lines---The Price is About $750,000

The Cost of the Equipment will be $350-000 Less Than the Estimated Cost

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 23.—The Hydro-Electric Power Commission has awarded contracts this afternoon for the electrical equipment of twelve stations on the transmission lines between Niagara Falls and Toronto, and Niagara Falls and St. Thomas. The contract was awarded to the Canadian General Electric Company for about two-thirds of the total equipment and the Canadian Westinghouse Company for about one-third. The apparatus includes a thorough modern protective system for the transmission lines and a spare transformer for each station. Notwithstanding these important additions the cost of the equipment will be $350.000 less than estimated.

The installation will provide for the supply of power to the following municipalities; Niagara Falls, Dundas, Hamilton, Toronto, Weston, Brampton, Acton, Milton, Brantford, Paris, St. Mary's, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Norwich, Guelph, Preston, Hespler, Galt, Berlin, Waterloo, Elmira, New Hamburg, Baden, Stratford, Tillsonburg, London, St. Thomas.

The contract price is approximately $750.000.

THE HON. ADAM BECK,

Chairman of Hydro-Electric Power Commission

Board of Education Hauled Over the Coals

The Board of Education got another shaking up at the Committee of the Whole meeting last night when the question of issuing a by-law to raise $10,000 by debenture to meet the deficit of the Board on the Collegiate Institute. Ald. Hicks was the chief speaker for the opposition, but the committee decided to grant the Board of Education's request.

In connection with the action of the Board of Education in reference to their finances, said Ald. Hicks, is a very smooth way of doing business. He told the Board of Education had their demand for $50,000 defeated. Then the board asked for $21,000, thinking the people would pass that. The people did and the board said that they would have about $2800 to come and go on. Yet they did not say a word about the $10,000, and they must have known that they would need equipment. The board did not deal fairly with the council or with the people. He would oppose the council passing any such by-law as $10,000 to pay the Collegiate Institute deficit until next January, and then submit it to the people. In the meantime let the board pay interest on their deficit until that time. The interest

(Continued on page four.)

Princess Chrysanthemum Presented Successfully

One of the prettiest and most enjoyable amateur affairs attempted here this season was the production of the Princess Chrysanthemum at the Conservatory of Music last night. This charming Japanese operatta was put on by the young people who are students of the Conservatory, about 60 in number, under the superintendance of Mr. R. Gliddon. The work of the young musicians was very clever, and reflected much credit upon themselves and upon their leader and the institution to which they belong. The principals in the cast were exceptionally good and gave evidence of very careful and thorough training. The fancy marches by the sprites of night and the sixteen little fairies under the leadership of Miss Mabel McCaw, a very talented member of the Conservatory staff were especially good and were greatly admired by the large audience. The stage setting and the costumes were beautiful. The musical numbers were accompanied by a small orchestra under the direction of Mr. Mendel.

STORY OF THE PLAY.

Act. I.

A great fete is being held in honor of the coming of age of the Emperor's daughter, Princess Chrysanthemum. She is loved by Prince So-true, and returns his affections; but he has a rival in the person of Prince So-sli, who seeks the aid of Saucer-Eyes, the Wizard Cat, who carries off the Princess to the cave of Inky Night, leaving the Emperor and Prince So-tru distracted at her strange disappearance.

Act II.

Princess Chrysanthemum imprisoned in the Cave of Inky Night, with the aid of a magic ring summons the Fairy Moonbeam, who is about to help her when she drops the ring and cannot find it. Fairy Moonbeam disappears at the loss of the ring, and the unhappy Princess is left to bewail her fate. Prince So-tru manages to obtain entrance to the cave, and finds the ring, which at once causes Fairy Moonbeam to return and aid him. At this moment the Emperor arrives with his attendants, and takes Saucer-Eyes prisoner, bearing him in triumph to his palace.

Act. III.

Threatened with torture, Saucer-Eyes confesses the complicity of Prince So-sli, whom the Emperor orders to instant execution. This is, however, frustrated by the appearance of Princess Chrysanthemum, accompanied by Prince So-tru and Fairy Moonbeam with her band. The Emperor pardons Saucer-Eyes and So-sli at the Princess's request, and gives her hand in marriage to Prince So-tru, thus bringing everything to a happy conclusion.

ESTIMATES PRESENTED FOR 1909 RATE WILL LIKELY BE 20 MILLS

Financial Committee Recommended Only 19 Mills—Appropriations were Too Small—Some Hot Shots Handed Out to the Board of Works

There is every probability that the tax rate for 1909 will be 20 mills on the dollar an increase of 2 1-2 mills over last year. The Finance Committee only recommended a rate of 19 mills but this was considered too low by the majority of the aldermen, and the matter was left over until Monday night. There is every possibility of it being 20 mills.

Ald. Morrow, chairman of the Finance Committee read the estimates for the year 1909, which he stated had been decreased every dollar that it was possible to do. The extra money is required to meet the overdraft of last year. The estimates were as follows:—

ESTIMATED REVENUE FOR 1909

Arrears of taxes	$ 200 00
County registrar	200 00
Dog tax	900 00
Licenses—License Com.	5200 00
Licenses—Other sources	3000 00
Market tolls	1600 00
Police court	1500 00
Percentage on taxes	500 00
Provincial Railway tax	800 00
Rents	1200 00
Separate labor tax	600 00
Surplus from 1907
	$14600 00

GENERAL RATES.

Assessments and taxes	$ 2700 00
Charity	2700 00
Concrete walks—maintenance account	100 00
Dog tax	35 00
Elections and bylaws	600 00
Fire department	11500 00
Health	1450 00
Heating	500 00
Insurance	225 00
Interest	580 00
Law and legislation	1100 00
Light	9100 00
Market	400 00
Miscellaneous	1100 00
Municipal government	4400 00
Parks	50 00
Property	700 00
Printing, stationery and advertising	400 00
Streets and bridges	12500 00
Snow removal	1500 00
Special grants	2500 00
Voters' lists	475 00
Water Commissioners	9000 00
Loss on taxes and discount allowed	4300 00
	$67835 00
To apply on deficit from 1908	1117 00
	$68952 00
Less estimated receipts, 1909	14600 00
Total to be raised by general rates	54352 00

SPECIAL RATES.

Administration of justice	$ 9780 00
Collegiate Institute	14937 50
Public schools	41294 99
R.C. Separate schools	9333 00
	$75265 49

CITY TRUST COMMISSIONERS.

Public school debentures	$ 7832 95
City General debentures	12290 04
Local improvements debenture.
city share	8494 45
Collegiate Institute deb	4602 34
	$33219 78
Totals	$162337 27

Ald. Buller pointed out that the Fire, Water & Light Committee were only allowed $11 500. This did not provide for any new hydrants or electric lights. The appropriation was too small anyway.

Ald. Morgan stated that there was no use having a nineteen mill rate if it would not cover the expenses of the city. He favored it being 21 mills.

Ald. Hicks also stated that the 19 mill rate was too low, he gave figures showing that by spending no more this year than last year, the rate would have to be 20 1-2 mills this. He also stated that the city might find it necessary before long to add new men to the fire department.

Ald. Phelan said the Finance Committee had gone into the matter carefully and decided it was best to keep the rate down to 19 mills.

In discussing the estimates for this year a hot argument arose over the expenditures of the Board of Works last year. Ald. Hicks pointed out that only nine thousand some odd dollars was spent for permanent work while the total expenditure was over $24,000. One other year the appropriation was $16,700 and the permanent work expenditure was only $75 less than last year.

Mayor Rush made a statement which Ald. Duncan took as a slur at the Board of Works of previous years, and he hotly replied that the Board of Works last year made just as many mistakes as in any other year. Last year's chairman knew no more than any other man. Ald. Duncan pointed out several mistakes made last year.

Mayor Rush stated that the extra expenditure last year was due to the large number of unemployed in the city and so others had to be done.

Ald. Phelan said he had done

(Continued on page four.)

Com. of the Whole

A very lengthy session of the Committee of the Whole Council was held last night when many matters were taken.

Those present were Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan, Duffus, Gillespie, Bradburn, Buller, Turner, Morgan, Morrow, Duncan, Metherel, McIntyre and Hicks.

His Worship Mayor Rush opened the meeting by reading a letter from Chas. P. Hall in reference to repairing an old building for library purposes. He submitted plans and the city still has them. He had not heard of any contract being let. He was, however, preparing plans for a Carnegie library and asked the city to postpone any decision for a week or so until he could complete the plans he is now working on.

Ald. Duncan asked that the date be made the 10th of March as some others desired to put in plans.

Unknown Man Slipped Over American Falls

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Feb. 22.—The body of an unknown man was rescued in a most sensational manner at 1.30 o'clock today by Percy Page, an employe of the State on the elevator work at Prospect Point.

The body was discovered lying on the rocks at the foot of the American Falls just beneath Prospect Point. Page volunteered to go after it. His companions tied a rope about his body and lowered him down, a distance of 150 feet. Page made fast to the body, and the men above pulled both up.

The rescue was made possible owing to the diminished flow of water over the falls.

The dead man had evidently slipped off the ice mountain on to the rocks as the condition of the body precluded the idea that he had gone over the falls.

The body is that of a man in middle life, 5 feet 11 inches tall, light hair.

Water Commissioners' By-law for $120,000 to be Submitted

The Water Commissioners' bylaw for $120.000 for new water works dam and pumping house will be submitted to the ratepayers at an early date. Along with this bylaw will be another for the purpose of raising $15.000 for constructing a power house, wheel pits, etc., for developing the power which will be available at the new dam. There was a lot of discussion on the subject. The majority of the aldermen wanted more information which Ald. Morrow, for the Property Committee, gave to the best of his ability. Ald. Hicks was opposed to the $15,000 bylaw at the present time pointing out that no good could be derived from it. Now as the council has decided upon no definite power plan yet and in the event of the city going into street lighting, for which purpose the water works power is being developed, another bylaw will have to be submitted to provide for the distribution of the power. Both bylaws could be made one at a future date and submitted.

The Committee of the Whole Council, however, decided to abide by the request of the Water Commissioners.

THE DISCUSSION.

The mayor introduced the matter of the water works dam and stated that the commissioners were present and were anxious to have their bylaw for $120,000 passed.

It was stated that the Power Committee had a recommendation to present that the bylaw be submitted to the people for $120,000, and another bylaw at the same time for $15,000 for the purpose of erecting a power house and install a plant and putting in sluice ways, etc., for developing electric power.

Ald. Buller asked how much power the city would get from that dam after the Waterworks Commissioners got what they wanted.

Some one said 700 horse-power.

This has not been put on record by the commissioners, and Ald. Buller stated that he would not support taking any action until the city had something definite. His idea was to purchase, or at least have an expert examine and report on the Auburn dam. This he thought would be the city's best policy.

Ald. Hicks stated that he thought the city would be very unwise in committing itself to any power scheme at the present time. He said that the city did not need a power house yet and when it did want one it could be built just about as cheap as at present. If the city was going into the street lighting question there would no doubt be enough

(Continued on page four.)

Fred Simpson is Hot After Records

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 23.—Looking as fresh as a daisy, and feeling better than that, Fred Simpson jumped off the train at the Union Station this morning with his manager, Tom Eck.

Simpson has undertaken a big task on short notice, namely, the setting up of a Canadian ten-mile record, and also a professional ten-mile record indoors. And there is a strong probability that Simpson will do it. He is the picture of health, and consequently in fine condition every way.

Simpson and Eck left Savannah, Georgia, where the Caldway has been doing his training on Saturday, and from New York came straight through to Toronto.

At Savannah on Friday the Indian did fifteen miles alone. He says confidently that his time was faster and the performance was easier than the day he made the record for the same distance. He also did two miles, one out and one back in less than ten minutes, which is traveling some, considering the turn. So Fred seems to be in shape for something.

As everybody knows, he is a steady reliable fellow. As a member of the Canadian Olympic team he was a favorite with everybody. Mr. Eck is willing to match Simpson with Longboat, Shrubb, Dorando or Hayes, for any distance from fifteen miles to the full Marathon distance.

The American professional ten-mile indoor record is held by Dorando, at 56 minutes 30 1-5 seconds. Simpson says he can smash it, and after the skating at Riverdale rink tomorrow night he will go after it. That will be about ten o'clock. A good board track is being put down and a fine exhibition is assured.

Prize Food

Palatable, Economical, Nourishing

A Nebr. woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes:

"After four long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost continually for seven years.

"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all.

"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Postum and Grape-Nuts, I was a nervous wreck. I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, had no interest in life.

"After using Grape-Nuts a short time I began to improve and all and all these ailments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts, which they eat three times a day.

"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptoms of stomach trouble, even though the most severe siege of whooping cough they could retain Grape-Nuts when all else failed.

"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor's bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," on pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

SUCCESSFULLY RESCUED

Mr Harry Gibson, of Kingston, was rescued from an enemy that had resentlessly pursued him for years.

Mr. Gibson was born and brought up in Kingston. Hyprofession he is a school teacher. He received his training in Queen's University, where he took a course in arts and medicine that well befits him to talk on almost any subject.

The enemy that for 25 years relentlessly pursued Mr. Gibson is a menace to our entire population—it is the demon, Catarrh.

Mr. Gibson says:—"For years I was never free from Catarrh of the nose and throat. It bothered me winter and summer and kept me so continually coughing and hawking that I found it a great impediment to the proper performance of my duties at school. I used every available means of obtaining a cure, took bottle after bottle of medicine prescribed by local doctors, but never got more than temporary relief. I consulted a well known specialist in the States, but, after spending a considerable amount of money with him to no advantage, was forced to look elsewhere for relief, which I first received from Catarrhozone.

I consider Catarrhozone a genuine cure for Catarrh. It drove that loathsome disease completely out of my system, and today I am as well as if I never knew what the word Catarrh implied."

A straightforward proof of cure, coming from a well-known gentleman like Mr. Gibson carries conviction of the fact with it that Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it. As a cure for Catarrh and Bronchitis it positively has no equal. All druggists, price $1; small size, 50 cents. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1909

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

For the information of its army of policy-holders, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, has issued a statement of its standing at the end of the year 1908. The facts set forth show that this great insurance organization continues to carry more policies and to distribute greater benefits among the whole people than any other like institution, while its own resources gain steadily in proper ratio to its increasing volume of business.

The magnitude of the Company's operation is astounding. To fully understand the meaning of the figures dealing in totals for the year, it is necessary to bring them down to the smallest division of time. For example the mind can scarcely comprehend the significance of the statement that the total amount of outstanding policies at the end of the year was $1,861,890,803, but we can easily grasp the no less astonishing fact that during the business hours of every day in the year an average of 6,343 new policies were issued and paid for. Every day—taking the average for the year—841 persons received from the Company the full value in cash of policies which had been carried for their benefit. Every day the Company paid out to its policy-holders and added to the policy-psying fund (reserve fund) more than $166,000. The value of property owned and acquired by the Metropolitan Life during 1908 increased at the rate of $127,000 per day. A policy-holder of the Company dies every six minutes, and the Company pays during business hours a death claim on the average every six seconds.

The Company owns nearly one hundred million dollars' worth of United States bonds, city bonds, and railroad bonds and stocks; more than ninety millions of bonds and mortgages; more than twenty-two millions of real estate, and much other tangible property, all held as assets available for the payment of its obligations. Nearly ten million policies (9,909,108) are carried by individuals in the Metropolitan Life. If these policy-holders were gathered into one community they would constitute a city of more than the combined population of the twelve largest cities in the United States.

Perhaps nothing brought out in this report is more wonderful to contemplate than the fact that one force of executive officers and office employes transact a business of this complicated nature with so vast a number of people.

It is obvious that the Metropolitan Life is managed and controlled by men of consummate ability, but so are thousands of business organizations that never approach this Company in magnitude of operations. It is not merely executive ability, but the ability to inspire and hold public confidence that has counted most in building up this greatest of all insurance companies. The Metropolitan Life deals directly with the people. Its policy from the beginning has been one of entire frankness with the people. No man, however, unused to the making of business contracts, can fail to understand exactly what are the terms of his contract with the Metropolitan Life. Every promise of the Company is set down in terms as definite and clear as the English language permits, every obligation of the policy-holder to the Company is equally plain. No inflated premiums are collected for "estimated" benefits; every payment to the Company represents the lowest cost of bona fide insurance.

Instead of leading its policy-holders to hope for more than they eventually receive, the Company has voluntarily taken a directly opposite course. Within the past few years it has distributed sums amounting to nearly eighteen millions of dollars among its policy-holders in bonuses in addition to what the policies promised. This has been done under no other obligation than a moral conviction that the Company should share its prosperity with those who contribute towards its success.

The confidence and good-will secured under this enlightened policy account for the fact that for fifteen consecutive years, including 1908, the Metropolitan Life has received more new business than any other insurance company in the world.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Had a Model Home

(Continued from page 1.)

horses and generally playing the hero.

When he was finally caught, the evidence produced was so strong that he got five years at Kingston, but the fact that he was allowed out on parole after serving only two years, attests to his ability in the good behavior line. He had exceptional powers of ingratiating himself with friends.

Mrs. Dessler is lying in a precarious condition with heart disease, and has not been told of this new escapade. Mr. Dessler was called to his wife's bedside from his work at Hilner's furniture factory on Saturday afternoon, and it is feared if she learns of the affair it will mean her death.

Besides Nelson they have two other children, a boy and a girl 11 and 14 years of age.

When Dessler was home a couple of weeks ago, he told his parents he was on the road representing a number of implement houses, which he named, and located in Detroit and other United States cities. He was as spruce as ever, and left the impression that he had reformed completely and was getting along well.

BROKE NEWS TO MOTHER.

Later—Mr. D. Hilner, where Nelson Dessler's father is employed as foreman, received a message from Toronto on Sunday evening, giving brief details of the affair, and when Mr. Dessler arrived at work this morning, Mr. Hilner informed him of Nelson's rash deed, and the news was gently broke to the boy's mother by her husband. Naturally, they are grief-stricken, and are anxiously awaiting the result of the bullet wounds, received from the revolver of the patrolman.

Dessler parents received a letter from their son last week stating that he was doing well, and had a good job selling fruit at $35 a week. He asked his family to send a reply to the general delivery, Buffalo. Dessler kept his parents informed of his movements from the time he visited them three weeks ago, and they were under the impression that he was leading an upright life.

LIKELY TO RECOVER

Olean, N.Y., Feb. 22.—Nelso Dessler, who killed Police Capt. Bissett yesterday morning, rallied well after an operation at General Hospital this morning, and the doctors say he will recover unless gangrene sets in.

Three bullets were removed from his abdomen, but none of the intestines, it is stated, were pierced.

The fourth bullet, which had pierced his thigh, was found in his shoe.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A pimple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book
Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 Florence St. Ottawa

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS
IN
BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at 2.25
ar $3.00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

After Feb. 1

OUR PREMISES WILL BE

432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SETTLERS' TRAINS
TO
Manitoba, Alberta SASKATCHEWAN
By Canadian Pacific direct line

For Settlers travelling with live-stock and effects
SPECIAL TRAINS
will leave Toronto Each TUESDAY in MARCH and APRIL at 10.15 p.m.

Settlers and families without live-stock should use
REGULAR TRAINS
leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily
Tourist Sleeping Cars
Fastest Time

Colonist Cars on All Trains
NO CHANGE FOR BERTHS
LOW COLONIST RATES
Only Through Service to the West

Apply to nearest agent for full information and free copy of "Settlers' Guide" or write R. L. Thompson, D.P.A., C.P.R., Toronto.

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Fridays Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

TORONTO and Return $2.30
From PETERBOROUGH
With 50c added for admission to Automobile, Motor Boat and Sportman's Show
Good going Feb. 18, 20, 22 and 23rd.
Return limit February 26th 1909.

COBALT and GOWGANDA
The established route to these SILVER FIELDS is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Ry's.

Full information from
W. BUNTON TOWN AGENT
DEPOT AGENT F. SANDY

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND
TO LIVERPOOL
CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Helfast and Glasgow $27.50

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,700 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members { New York Cotton Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO
David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager
Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891
General Banking Business Transacted
Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.
A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO
PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL
HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING
LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.
METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED
We assist the inventor who realize the advantage of having their Patent business transacted by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Inventor's Advisor sent upon request. Marion & Marion, New York Life Bldg., Montreal; and Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Maple Leaf Mines, Limited

No Personal Liability

Authorized Capital, $150,000.00, Divided Into 600,000 Shares of 25 Cents Each.

DIRECTORS—Robert Curran, Publisher, Orillia Ont., Pres.; J. J. Hatley, Merchant, Orillia, Ont., Vice Pres.; . Collins Davies, Broker, Orillia, Ont., Sec-Treas Chars Gifford, Mine Operator, Cobalt, Ont.; J. C Ritche Agent, Toronto, Ont.

This company owns 40 acres of patented land in the southern part of Coleman, south of the Ophir, Gifford Extension, and Temiskaming Mines. The entire formation is Diabase, and by trenching across the property two splendid veins have been uncovered showing Calcite and Bloom.

Immediately adjoining the property on the west is the Ontario Development Company, who have recently discovered a very fine silver vein, the trend of which indicates that it crosses the Maple Leaf in a northeasterly direction. With these indications in the richest part of Coleman, it would be reasonable to expect very favorable development.

The attention of mining men has been recently directed to the new field at Gowganda, where some remarkable surface showings of silver have been located. Indications would warrant a very considerable investment in this district.

We have staked for the company claim M.R. 868, containing 40 acres, situated about 80 chains from the Bartlett, and adjoining other claims of great value.

The formation is Diabase and the discovery on our claims was made with little effort and is an eight-inch vein of decomposed vein matter showing good silver values. We believe that slight development on this claim would have warranted a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Claims like this are selling at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each, surface indications being the basis of valuations.

On Cuelte Lake we have staked claim No. 1869, containing 23 acres.

This claim is surrounded by claims that have splendid native silver showings.

One of these rich veins crosses this fraction and forms the discovery of same. With a total of 160 acres, 40 acres of which are in the rich Cobalt field, 60 acres in the new Bonanza district, with 200,000 shares in the treasury, for development purposes, with no purchase price to be charged against same, it would seem that this proposition, based on a capitalization of $150,000, was the very thing you have been waiting for.

In order to comply with the Ontario Companies Act, we append the following information:

No special qualification for directors; minimum subscription for allotment, 20 shares; agreement between Charles Gifford and the company dated 28th December, 1908, and which may be inspected at the offices of R. C. LeVesconte, 20 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., solicitor for the company, provides for sale by Gifford to the Company of the properties, in consideration of 600,000 shares of the said Capital Stock to be issued to him as fully paid, and out of which he has set apart 20,000 shares to be sold and the entire proceeds thereof used for development purposes; no payment in stock or cash for good-will; usual brokerage of 5 cents per share may be paid; preliminary expenses estimated at $500; Gifford has sold at 15 cents per share, 2000 each to the said Curran and Hatley, 1000 to the said Ritchie, and 6000 to the said Davies; prospectus dated and filed with Provincial Secretary 28th of December, 1908.

Our claims are as good as the best, our capitalization the lowest, and our ability to develop to your profit is equal to that of any syndicate now operating.

These claims are excellently located, titles are perfect, and the development fund will be economically and properly expended. Is not this a better proposition than those of enormous capital?

The company reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

A limited amount of this stock to be sold at par—25 cents.

Make your checks payable to Maple Leaf Mines, Ltd., and send same to—

J. COLLINS DAVIES, Secretary, Orillia, Ont.

Further information at Room 712, Traders' Bank Bldg., Toronto.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name, See future advertisements, etc.

SOME PENSION DRAMAS

COMEDIES AND TRAGEDIES UNDER NEW BRITISH LAW.

Old Woman Aged 104 Announced That She Would Spend Her Money on Boats—Another Expected Arrears—Irishwomen Were Afraid It Meant Military Service For Their Sons—Wealthy Pensioners.

Tragedy, pathos, and humor are strangely intermingled in the incidents connected with the payments of the half-million old-age pensions at postoffices all over the British Isles. Much of the humor was provided by the old dames, many of whom could scarcely be persuaded that the pension scheme was not a myth until the five shillings were clasped in their hands.

And then their delight led them to do some funny things. At Tobermory, for instance, one old lady, disappointed at the somewhat curt thanks of the pensioners who had preceded her, made her farewell by declaiming: "Thanks be to the Lord in the firmament; thanks and glory to the gentlemen who proposed to give us this; and thanks to the man through whose hands the money came."

"What will you do with the money?" Mrs. Rebecca Clarke, London's oldest pensioner, who is 104 years old, was asked.

"Buy boots," said the old lady, promptly. "I'm a plaguy one for kicking out boots."

The Birmingham old lady of 87, who was annoyed because she thought she was going to receive—as she expressed it—"back money" in respect of the number of years she had exceeded the regulation three score and ten, had a counter-part in an old man at Sheffield, who wanted his pension for a quarter in advance in order to start a business.

And then there were the two old women of Walworth who considerably embarrassed the postmaster by presenting him with two rashers of bacon and the wing of a goose as a thank-offering for the pension; while yet another grateful old dame insisted on giving the postmistress an orange in gratitude for the money. It was a genuine peel of joy.

Glasgow pensioners preferred to go to the General Postoffice for their pensions, although many of them had to walk considerable distances. Various reasons were given for this preference for the central office, but probably one of the most quaint was that of an elderly woman who, in fine Scots Doric, said she went to the "General" because she "couldna trust the district officers."

Others were desirous of keeping the fact that they were pensioners to themselves, and avoiding the idle curiosity of neighbors.

Referring to the doubt in the minds of some of the pensioners as to the reality of the scheme, it might be mentioned that the worthy people of Dunmow, the little Essex town from where the primest of prime flitches of bacon used to come, were very sceptical about getting the 5s., and even now they are wondering how long the pension will last.

They remind one of the old women from the Chaddagh Settlement, in the city of Galway, who got the idea into their heads that, in return for the pension, the Government claimed the right of enforcing military service from their sons. For this reason some of them refused to accept the 5s. until they received the explicit assurance that their "bhoys" would not have to go "to fight the blacks."

At Kingstown, near Dublin, one old lady created a scene by demanding to be paid at a special counter, as she could not mix with the class of people who were besieging the pay counter. The official regulations, however, were inexorable, and the lady was obliged to conform.

Yet another old person in Dublin refused a pension, as she believed it came from the Salvation Army, and, as such, was likely to be prejudicial to her religious faith.

Talking of Ireland, it might be mentioned that the figures for the County of Fermanagh are remarkable. Out of the total population of 63,000 there are 3,600 pensioners, so that, roughly, one person in every fifteen in the county is an old-age pensioner.

The suggestion that a man or woman may be foolish enough to keep a large sum on deposit at 1 per cent. in a bank, or invest several thousand pounds in building sites, yielding no immediate revenue, and ripening for the benefit of heirs, in order to claim a pension, is not quite so absurd as at first appears.

A man who received an old-age pension at Great Bentley, Essex, for instance, has $1,400 invested, owns a house worth $1,500, and is in receipt of $1 a week sick pay from a benefit society. His wife has $2,500 invested at a low rate of interest.

Another example of a wealthy pensioner is provided by a woman at Wood Green, who has $4,500 invested at small interest, and who is said to have $1,000 in the bank and some small house property.

In a third case, an applicant who received his full pension admitted possession of three cows, several pigs, and a market garden.

Pathetic in the extreme were some of the incidents connected with old-age pension day.

A particularly hard case is that of a Portsmouth man of seventy-five, who, after having his claim allowed and getting his papers signed, was taken seriously ill. The town hospital was so full that he had to be accommodated in the workhouse infirmary. This was equivalent to parish relief and meant his disqualification for the pension which was within his grasp.

Into an East-end office came a little boy with a pension-book carefully wrapped up in a piece of newspaper. "If you please, miss," he said, without any preamble, "here is grandfather's book; he won't want it, because he died this morning."

Biggs—I'm afraid I am working too hard.

Diggs—Whom are you working?

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Prevention. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed the stitch in time. Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BOOKS DANGEROUS THINGS.

English Writer Defends Naturalness In Education.

At a recent luncheon Harold E. Gorst, an English writer on political affairs, gave out some unusual ideas about the fundamentals of education. He is in this country for a year to study our educational systems.

Mr. Gorst's address was a comforting defence of naturalness in education. "Ignorance," said he, "is a stimulus to the imagination, while cramming the mind with theoretical or book knowledge destroys its normal functions of observation, reflection and of giving out in an original form a creation of its own.

"Books are therefore dangerous things unless handled with discrimination. The aim of the majority of schools and colleges seems to be to cram the mind with knowledge beyond its normal capacity and without paying the least regard to individual powers of mental digestion.

"If I were asked to advise young people I would recommend them never to set before themselves as an ideal of culture the widest possible range of reading. You cannot expect in a single lifetime to read one tenth part of the books that you will constantly hear referred to as indispensable to a cultured mind. And if you did you would become that terrible thing, a well read person. Your mind would no longer be yours. It would only be a pale and cosmopolitan reflection of a conglomeration of standard authors."

AUSTIN ON WOMEN.

Poet Laureate Says They Are Not Fitted For Great Affairs.

"Of all national and imperial issues that can arise that of peace or war is the most important," says Alfred Austin, in a recent article, "and the preservation of peace, the most precious of all things, consistently with honor and self protection, is much more likely to be imperiled by indulgence in sentiment than by any other cause.

"Calm, deliberate judgment, free from all untimely or too generous emotion, is its best protection. Will anyone deny that in great emergencies men are, as a rule and collectively, calmer and more submissive to sound judgment than women, whose virtues reside rather in another direction?

"Give emotionally combative women the franchise and it is conceivable that war might be brought about by women, against the effort of men to avert it, and in that event it would be men, and men alone, who would have to fight and, if need were, to die, while the very utmost women could do would be to act, as one is pleased to remember a poet has called them, as ministering angels.

"I own I share the terse conclusion of a French wit: 'One politician the more, one mother the less—behold the practical outcome of female franchise!'"

A Famous Sportswoman.

Few women have had a more interesting and adventurous career than Mrs. Alec Tweedie, the English woman who has been working so hard to aid the victims of the Messina earthquake. She has traveled through most of the countries of the world, not by rail, but astride a horse; has climbed Alpine peaks on snow-shoes, thinks there is nothing so delightful as ice-boat sailing, shoots and drives with the best—in a word, is a splendid type of the strenuous sportswoman of to-day. Her most exciting adventure occurred during her trip through Mexico some years ago, when she was the guest of President Diaz. She was careering down one of the biggest mountain passes in the world on a trolley car, an engineer on either side of her and Mexican Indians behind working the hand-brakes. Suddenly she was seized by the neck and hauled off the car. As she tumbled a dejected mass on the side of the road, she perceived a huge engine drawing a goods train coming thundering along round a turn of the pass. Crash it went into the trolley-car, not a scrap of which was left. Yet no one was hurt, and Mrs. Tweedie arose with a smile on her face.

Hanged For Leafing.

Old-time Englishmen hated idleness. An act passed in 1531 decreed that any person "being whole and mighty in body and able to labor" found begging might be arrested, and if unable to give a satisfactory account of himself he was brought to the nearest market town, tied to the end of a cart, stripped of his clothes and beaten with whips through the town, bleeding and ashamed, after which degradation he was sent to his native place, on his oath to "put himself to labor like a true man ought to do." If the sturdy vagabond were caught a third time in idleness he was to suffer death "as an enemy to the commonwealth."

Washerwomen Feasted.

A curious feast takes place every year in the Pendleton Town Hall, England, which had its origin in the generosity of the late Mr. Thomas Costley, member of the board of guardians. He used to entertain every year a party of Pendleton washerwomen, and when he died his family kept up, and still keep, the custom. This year's party consisted of 300 women, all of whom had qualified for the treat by earning some part of their livelihood over the tub.

Izaak Walton's Will Sold.

A collector bought the official copy of Izaak Walton's will at Hodgson's Rooms in Chancery lane, London, recently for $150. It is engrossed in a law hand of the period on a sheet of parchment, twenty-nine by twenty inches, has attached the probate dated Feb. 4, 1683, signed by Thomas Welham, registrar, and bears the seal of the Court of Canterbury.

New Box Trick.

The audience at St. George's Hall, London, is being mystified by a new box trick, in which a girl suddenly appears in a box which has been lined with plate glass.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a needlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 50 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a test of immediate membrane proportion remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal tonic. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, making the repair of all weak cells, and all blood alliances.

The "Night Cure", as the name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, more slow in enrichment, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about real strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well Dr. Shoop's Night Cure.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure

"ALL DEALERS"

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 18th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

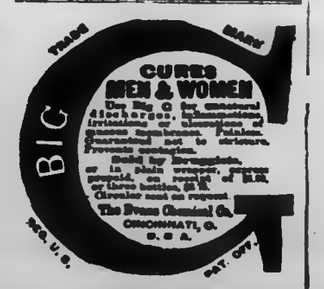
By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.



Number of Lectures on Astronomy

Peterborough, center of the Royal Astronomical Society, has arranged a series of lectures that should prove of great interest to the public. Several noted astronomical authorities have been secured, and the first lecture will be given on Friday evening of this week when Prof. C. A. Chant of Toronto University, will speak on "The Universe of Stars." The meeting will be held at the Collegiate Institute. Prof. Chant, it will be remembered, lectured here last year.

The other lectures arranged are as follows:—

March 9—G. Parry Jenkins, F.R.A.S.G. of Hamilton. His subject will be "Skyland," illustrated.

March 23—John A. Paterson, M.A., K.C., of Toronto. His subject will be "Astronomy for Everybody."

April 6—Prof. Mitchell, of Columbia University, a noted authority on astronomy.

April 20—Dr. Warner of Cleveland, the millionaire manufacturer of telescopes. His subject will be "The Pyramids of Egypt."

May 4—Rev. Dr. Marsh. His subject will be "The Phenomena of the Photosphere," illustrated.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Fenman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a penwritten original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—L. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

With grateful acknowledgment for their confidence to the holders of its 9,960,106 Policies, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents the following summary of its condition and affairs for the year ended December 31, 1908, showing it to have been THE BEST YEAR IN THE COMPANY'S HISTORY

RESOURCES

United States, City and R. R. Bonds, and Stocks	$99,630,935.56
Bonds and Mortgages	90,795,319.02
Real Estate	22,444,627.78
Demand Loans on Collateral	2,192,702.00
Cash	4,775,988.79
Loans to Policy-holders	8,966,362.78
Premiums, deferred and in course of collection (net)	5,300,922.97
Accrued Interest, Rents, etc.	2,820,502.29
	$236,927,361.19

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds, in fact, the COMBINED POPULATION of 34 of the States and Territories out of the 52 forming the American Union; and as to CITIES, it exceeds the combined population of Greater New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, New Orleans and Buffalo.

ASSETS, $236,927,361.19

The Metropolitan paid its Policy-holders in 1908 for Death Claims, Endowments, Annuities, Paid-up Policies, Dividends, Bonuses, etc., with the amount set aside on their behalf as increased Reserve

$50,656,701.34

It has paid to its Policy-holders since organization, plus the amount invested and now on hand for their security

$470,366,769.36

HOME OFFICE BUILDING
The largest Office Building in the world; Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 23d and 24th Sts., New York City

OBLIGATIONS

Dividends Apportioned, payable 1909, on Participating Policies, Intermediate Branch	$1,382,722.00
Same on Participating Policies, Ordinary Dept. (NOTE. Nearly all this Company's Ordinary Policies are Non-Participating—issued at low rates of premium.)	104,203.73
Bonuses Apportioned, payable 1909, on Industrial Policies	2,650,000.00
	$4,136,925.73
Reinsurance Fund and Special Reserve	208,134,891.00
All other Liabilities	2,532,637.34
Capital and Surplus	22,122,907.12
	$236,927,361.19

The Metropolitan has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company.

The Metropolitan has in force one-third of all the legal reserve policies in force in the United States. Its Industrial policies in force nearly equal in number all the Industrial policies of all the other companies in the country combined.

The Company OF the People,

Metropolitan

(INCORPORATED BY THE STATE OF NEW YORK. STOCK COMPANY)

BY the People, FOR the People

Life Ins. Co.

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, President

THE DAILY AVERAGE of Business During 1908 was 441 per day in Number of Claims Paid.
6,343 per day in Number of Policies Placed and Paid for.
$1,202,352.87 per day in New Insurance Placed and Paid for.
$166,633.89 per day Paid Policy-holders and Added to Reserve.
$126,996.37 per day in Increase of Assets.

COMPARISONS, ETC.

Income in 1908	$76,732,343.24
Gain over 1907	$3,618,182.35
Surplus in 1908	$22,122,907.12
Increase over 1907	$8,171,007.98
Total Number of Policies in Force	9,960,106
Gain over 1907	340,097
Total Amount Outstanding Insurance,	$1,861,890,803.00

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $526,939,378

The Company issues policies for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

All policies are non-participating. They are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER THAN ARE OFFERED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY

In the Intermediate Branch policies are adapted to the working classes. Each policy is for $500 and the rate lower than that offered by the Savings Bank system of Massachusetts. Two of the Metropolitan's Intermediate forms recently standardized by the New York and Massachusetts Departments provide for attractive combinations of insurance and annuities at the lowest rates offered anywhere.

The Ratio of Expense to Premium Income was the Lowest in the Company's History being over 8 per cent. less than five years ago and more than 15 per cent. less than ten years ago

The Company wrote more business in 1908 than any other Company in the world, and this for the fifteenth consecutive year

The number of policies paid in 1908 averaged one for each sixty-five seconds of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $128.48 a minute, the year through.

The value and timeliness of its policy payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 3,479 were under polices less than three months old, 6,890 were on policies under 6 months, and 12,806 were within the first year of insurance.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $1,334,951,425

Number of Industrial policies in force, 9,301,001—insuring over six and a half millions of individual lives in the families of wage-earners. While the contracts are and always have been non-participating, the Company will this year have spent nearly EIGHTEEN millions of dollars in voluntary bonuses and concessions to the holders of these policies in thirteen years.

Cash bonuses on all whole life policies are annually allowed, amounting to over 8 per cent. of the premiums for a year. Additions of from 5 to 30 per cent. are made to policies maturing as claims, according to time policies have persisted. By the Company's present practice whole life policies are made free after age 75 or paid as endowments at age 80.

Industrial Insurance is Family Insurance, covering all ages from 1 to 70 on life, endowment and annuity plans.

Amount of Canadian securities deposited with the Dominion Government for the protection of policy-holders in Canada, over $5,500,000.

JOHN ROTHWELL, Supt., 398 & 400 George St., Peterboro, Ont.
Frederick Whatley, Dt. Asst., Borsbery Block, King St. East, Oshawa.
H. H. Gray, Dt. Asst., Lewis Block, 379 Front St., Belleville.
R. W. Percival, Dt. Asst., Exchange Chambers, 114 Brock St., Kingston.

WOOD
POINT ST. CHARLES
has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.
McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON
Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.
34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)
Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.
SPECIAL.—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.
Bell 'Phone—Office 461; House 661.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1909

Services at St. John's

Services will be held in St. John's church today (Ash Wednesday), at 11 a.m., and 8 p.m. Rev. Canon Davidson, the rector, will be the guest of Mrs. J. G. Stevenson, 362 Simcoe street, for a few weeks.

For Children's Aid

Mrs. Edwards of the Crystal will donate to the Children's Aid Society the entire proceeds of today's afternoon's entertainment. The admission will be the usual sum of five cents, and an unusually good program will be put on.

Sox Social

A very successful social event took place last night in the school room of St. Luke's church. The disagreeable weather no doubt kept many away that nevertheless there was a large attendance. It was a sox social and was a novel thing and created much interest. The Ladies' Aid deserve much credit for the success of the affair as they raised a goodly sum which will help along their work.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Chimney Fire

Fire broke out in the chimney of the house occupied by Mrs E. F. Atkinson, 528 Bolivar street, yesterday afternoon. The brigade was called but no damage was done.

Children are Well

The Children's Shelter now has a clean "bill of health." There was an outbreak of chicken-pox among the wards, but it has been stamped out and the doctors have pronounced the Shelter free from contagion. There are now six children there.

Fair Directors

A meeting of the Peterborough Agricultural Society will be held in the City Council chamber tomorrow afternoon when arrangements will be made for the campaign for the exhibition next fall. A full attendance is requested as matters of importance will be taken up.

Enjoyable At Home

A most enjoyable at-home was given in the A.F. & A.M., hall George street last night under the auspices of Moore Perceptory and Corinthian Chapter. There were over a hundred present and a very pleasant time was spent. Music for dancing was furnished by the orchestra under the leadership of Mr. B. J. Devy.

Canadian Club

The next meeting of the Canadian Club will be held on Wednesday evening the tenth of March at the Hotel National, when Prof. Kylie of Toronto university will give an address on the "Menace of Socialism." Prof. Kylie is a very clever and interesting speaker. He is well known here, being a nephew of Mr. John Kylie, Hunter street.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the 57th Regiment will be held on Monday evening, March 1st, when reports for the past year will be presented and other important business transacted. The meeting this year will be of a particularly interesting nature in view of the fact that the opening of the new armories will likely be discussed. Splendid progress is being made on the new home of the militia in Peterborough and it will be ready for occupation in the latter part of the spring.

Take a New Lease on Life
by a change from tea and coffee to
POSTUM
It makes the Red Blood of Good Health.
"There's a Reason"

Victoria House Changes Hands

The Victoria House, the summer hotel at McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, has been purchased from Messrs. Freeman and Carveth by Mr. E. Pickens, of Lakefield, who will be in charge of the popular Kawartha Lake tourist house during the coming season. Mr. Pickens is well and favorably known in Lakefield and with the capital reputation attached to the Victoria House, should have no difficulty in making a success of his new venture. He has in mind comprehensive improvements that will make the building even more commodious and comfortable than it has been hitherto.

Mr. Pickens has also purchased the trim steam yacht, the Alberta, one of the neatest and fastest of the Kawartha Lakes smaller craft, and he will use the boat in connection with the hotel, so that his guests may depend upon having many enjoyable outings during the season of 1909.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY

HUGH O'CONNOR

One of Dourо's old landmarks passed away yesterday morning in the person of Hugh O'Connor at the age of 86 years.

Death took place at his own residence, lot 1, con. 9, Dourо. He had been ill for about three months. Mr. O'Connor was married to Miss Maria O'Reilly 18 years ago, who still survives him. There are also two daughters, Mary and Sarah, both living at home, and one brother, James O'Connor, of Otonabee. The funeral will leave the family residence, Dourо, Thursday morning at nine o'clock and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, and interment will take place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

PERSONAL

Mr. Wm. Fowler, Rubidge street, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Douglas Lundy will not receive again this season.

Miss Maggie Brown, of Hastings, is at the home of Mr. James McGhee, 960 Water street.

Mr. T. F. Matthew's travel talk has been postponed from Thursday until Tuesday, March 2nd.

Mrs. A. H. Brace of Cobourg, will return to her home on Thursday afternoon after ten days' visit at 158 Westcott street.

Miss Rennie is in New York studying the latest designs in millinery for the well known fosal firm of R. Fair & Co.

If your would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. Geo. Scott and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Jennie, of Gilbert Plains, Man., are the guests of Mrs. Scott's sister, Mrs. Arthur Everson, Wescott street.

WEDDING BELLS

The marriage took place at St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning, of Mr. Rocco Morocco to Miss Maria Grazia LaPenna. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Father McColl in the presence of a number of the countrymen of the contracting parties. The bride arrived in Peterborough from Italy about two weeks ago being a daughter of Philippo LaPenna, of Forgia Province. The groom is a young Italian who has resided here for some time. The witnesses were Nicholas Fobbo and Miss Rose Thompson, both of Peterborough.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

Water Commissioners

(Continued from page one.)

power at the water works dam. But if the city was going into commercial power the water works dam would be no good as there was not enough power there. He thought that the Auburn power was a pretty good proposition. He would also like to have something definite from the Water Commissioners as to how much power the city was to have. He would like to have a clause inserted in the resolution to the effect that the commissioners be allowed 500 horse power and the city get the balance. Ald. Hicks said he would like to have an arrangement made with the commissioners to the effect that they go ahead and build the dam and develop the power. Then when the city wanted power for street lighting that the city pay for the power in proportionate to the cost of the interest and sinking fund on the original cost.

Aldermen Morrow, Buller, Gillespie and others were in favor of going ahead with the Water Commissioners.

Ald. Hicks said he would favor a bylaw being passed for the Water Commissioners to build the dam and leave the power house out. Then next January submit a power bylaw for the full amount necessary for the power house and for the delivery of power. In any case another bylaw must be submitted to provide funds for the delivery of power.

It was moved by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Morgan that the recommendations of the Power Committee be adopted.—Carried.

Hauled Over Coals

(Continued from page one.)

would only amount to $100.

Ald. Buller asked if the city would not have to pay that deficit out of current rate unless the debentures were issued.

Ald. Morrow was in favor of the bylaw being passed, stating that to carry the overdraft over was going to cost the people more money. It had to be paid anyway as the money had been spent and it might better be paid now.

Ald. Hicks stated that he did not criticise the way in which one dollar had been spent by the board. What he wanted to do was to point out the poor method of doing business the board had. They had no right to spend that $10,000 without first coming to the council or going to the people. It is up to the council to show the Board of Education that the council is capable of looking after its own business.

Ald. Bradburn stated that he had agreed with Ald. Hicks at the last meeting but since at the finance meeting he had changed somewhat. He thought the people were at fault in not paying enough attention to the election of their school trustees.

Moved by Ald. Hicks and Ald. Duncan that the bylaw for $10,000 for Board of Education be submitted to the people at January elections.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Buller that the recommendation of the Finance Committee be adopted.

The amendment was carried.

Estimates Presented

(Continued from page one.)

his beat and had heard on all sides that he had done well and had had never heard anything contrary until this meeting.

Moved by Ald. Phelan and Ald. Bradburn that the recommendation of the Finance Committee in reference to the rate be adopted.

It was moved by Ald. Turner and Ald. Gillespie that the rate be 20 mills.

It was moved by Ald. Duffus and Ald. Bradburn, that the matter of the rate be left over until Monday night.

The last motion was carried on a vote of 7 to 5.

Appetite Gone--- Nerves Badly Run Down

A Strong Moral Well Established In Mrs. Wilson's Case

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sorely tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Watmere, P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, biliousness and depressing headache. I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleansing, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essences in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to indue renewed activity and strength to every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut—today—25c. at all dealers.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings from plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra
60--PLAYERS--60
CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th,
AT 8:15 P.M.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE
Reserved Seats $1.50 and 1.00
Public sale of seats opens Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 47 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Belleville Flooded--The People were Rescued from Their Houses

(Special to The Times.)

Belleville, Feb. 24.—This city was visited by one of the biggest rainstorms experienced for years during the winter period. It began to rain yesterday afternoon and continued incessantly till ten o'clock today, coming down in torrents during the night. As a result much inconvenience has been caused. The rolling mills plant had to close down owing to the premises being flooded, while many furnaces were put out of business by the high water.

Hundreds of cellars were flooded, involving much loss.

Several streets are impassable, and in very many cases householders have had to be assisted from their homes.

Business is practically at a standstill, as it is difficult to get about. Sleighing has gone.

The oldest residents say they cannot remember such remarkable weather as that experienced this winter. The water is several inches above the floors in a lot of residences, causing the occupants to move upstairs.

It is thought the rain will break up the ice in the Moira River, an event generally occurring in April.

WATCHING THE RIVER.

The flood at two o'clock this afternoon was still unabated. Water was running a foot deep over Coleman street, and employes in the factories have to be driven to and from work. The water is two feet deep in the Deseon shirt factory. Many persons have not been able to leave their homes all day.

The ice in the river looks dangerous, and is expected to break up any minute. All along the river huge streams of water are flowing, and the sight is being witnessed by large crowds.

Special Lenten Services in St. John's Church

Yesterday was Ash Wednesday and religious services, special for the occasion, were held in all the Anglican churches in the city. Ash Wednesday is the beginning of Lent, one of the most sacred seasons of the year to all members of the Church of England. Last night special services were held in St. John's church and St. Luke's church and large congregations were present at both.

The program for the Lenten services in St. John's is as follows:

SERVICES AND ADDRESSE .

Afternoon devotional services.—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 5 p.m.

Twenty-first annual course of special Lenten addresses—Wednesdays, 8 p.m.

Ash Wednesday—Rev. H. R. Trumpour, Peterborough.

March 3—Rev. F. L. Barber, Bobcaygeon.

March 10—Rev. A. J. Fidler, M.A., Toronto.

March 17—Rev. E. C. Cagley, M.A. Toronto.

March 24—Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, D.D., (Confirmation.)

March 31—Rev. R. Seaborn, M.A. Toronto.

Easter Day, April 11, Holy Communion, 7 and 8 a.m., 12.15 p.m. —Preacher, Ven. Archdeacon Warren, B.A.

Prepare for the Great Easter Communion.

Thanksgiving offertory.

THE LENTEN LETTER

"The observance of Lent comes to us once more as a definite religious duty, and as a valuable opportunity for the renewal and development of our spiritual life.

"In fellowship with our brethren throughout the world we respond loyally to the call, and prepare to make the most of a healthful period of increased abstinence, of devotion to duty and especially of communion with God.

"We share in the increased blessings showered at this time upon the church, and gain inspiration and strength for permanent advance in the Christian life."

One Hundred and Thirty-Four Students Had Ptomaine Poisoning

Oysters.
Fish.
Green peas.
Ice cream.

Which one of these was it that doped one hundred and twenty-six champion athletes and eight university professors?

They came, these heroes of the gridiron and the track, they attacked the eatables as if striving for another championship, and the next morning one hundred and twenty-six championship interiors, as well as eight of the more learned class, were in an uproar of violent protest.

It was a feast of champions, held in Varsity gymnasium, and was booked to be one of historical interest, as VVarsity managed to clamp down under her hatches last year every championship that was held out to be won. The members of the various teams who had been so successful in gaining for their alma mater such an enviable record, were justly proud of their accomplishments, and might have been pardoned for wishing to get together and dine over the victories that they had won. As was expected the banquet proved one of historical interest, but not just in the way in which the interest had been set down on the program by the executive committee.

IN THE GYMNASIUM

There sat down together in the gymnasium, about one hundred and forty men. No women were allowed on the place, as they were not championship athletes, and had had their chance before this to admire the heroes. Among the one hundred and fifty were nine professors who came innocently to dine with the rest.

The eating proved eminently successful, but not so with the digesting. The sun rising the next morning over the city, and peeping in where only the sun and moon may peep without permission, beheld 90 per cent. of the banqueters writhing in the agonies of ptomaine poisoning. Eight of the number were the professors. One was Dr. James W. Barton, and the rest were the champions.

The immediate effects of the poison were severe pains in the abdomen. None of the cases were dangerous, although all served to keep the owner thereof from forgetting that he was alive for the three days immediately following the banquet.

NO DOUBT AS TO THE POISON.

"There could be no doubt as to the cases being ptomaine poisoning," said Dr. Barton, the physical director and medical examiner of Varsity to the News reporter this morning. the doctor, as was stated before, being one of the unfortunate many who partook of the tainted food. "The effects are exactly the same as in all cases of this nature, but fortunately not very severe. As far as I know, though nearly a week has passed, most of the men has recovered from the worst part of the trouble, and will soon be around again. Just what article of food was responsible for the trouble, I cannot say. Some ate one thing and some ate another, and all are down with the same trouble. We are therefore not able to attach the blame to any one item on the menu. I remarked at the banquet to a man who was seated beside me that I thought the peas were a very bright shade of green, but it might just as easily have been the oysters or the fish or the ice cream.

DOES NOT BLAME THE CATERER

"I do not blame the caterer, and will not give out his name. I do not think that it was through any fault of his. He is the same caterer that we always have, and he is very good to us. I think that it is just such an unfortunate occurrence as might take place anywhere. I would not hesitate to have the same caterer next year, so sure am I that it was no fault of his."

The guests of honor at the banquet were Principal Hutton, Dean Clarke, Prof. De Lury, Prof. C. H. C. Wright, Prof. Fletcher, Prof. Johnston, M.D., Dr. Hooper and Dr. Hendry.

All of these men suffered from the effects of the ptomaine poisoning with the exception of Principal Hutton.—Toronto News.

Keep the Coal Areas from the Japanese

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 24.—In the debate on the second reading of the bill to amend the Coal Mines Act in the legislature last night, Parker Williams, Socialist, urged an amendment prohibiting the granting of leases to Japanese. Speaking to this, J. Hawthornewaite, Socialist, stated that aggressive Japanese were invading every industry in the Province. They constituted two-thirds of the employes in the sawmills, and openly boasted that they had captured the fishing industry, which they meant to hold. Legislation was necessary to prevent these Orientals from acquiring the remaining unleased coal areas in the province.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

The soft weather of the past few days has put the curling on the rough. All schedule games were called off although a couple of several games were played in the wet. h

FRED SIMPSON CUT OVER FOUR MINUTES OFF WORLD'S RECORD

Ran 10 Miles, Unpaced, Over Twelve Lap Track, in 52 Minutes, 30 1-5 Seconds—Toronto Fans Surprised at His Marvelous Speed —Is Hot After Longboat, Shrubb and Dorando

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 24.—Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha Indian, is the greatest distance runner in the world today, and he will take all kinds of records home to Peterborough and Hiawatha before he has been in the game very long. Last night he made his first appearance in Toronto as a professional runner, and he did 10 miles indoors in the remarkably fast time of 52 minutes and 30 seconds, which is 4 minutes and one-fifth second faster than the world's professional record of 56 minutes and 30-1-5 seconds.

The race was run in the Riverdale rink, Toronto, on a 12-lap track, and was witnessed by a large crowd of sports, although it was only an exhibition race. But Simpson has run many good amateur races, and his great staying powers and strong finishes have made for him many admirers who were confident that he would make good if handled properly.

The features of last night's race were that Simpson travelled the whole journey unpaced and he finished in great shape. If Alfie Shrubb desires a real race at his own pet distance Simpson is the man who will give him a pretty good workout.

The track was a hard board one with the end banked up.

The previous world's record was made by Dorando in Buffalo a month ago.

The first five miles by Simpson was made in 25 minutes and 30 seconds.

At eight miles Simpson had cut only two minutes off the record so that the last two miles were made in fighting speed, he having gained two more minutes or a minute a mile.

Simpson was what might be called a green runner until Tom Eck took hold of him a few months ago, and took him down south. Fred had never before been trained for speed and did not realize what was possible for him. He knew he could run and run almost any distance. But he did not know how to speed. Eck put him through a course of training which has made him one of the greatest runners the world has ever known. Simpson has demonstrated his ability to run and he is now in a position to demand a race from any and all of the great runners. He is after them too and prefers to take on Longboat first, at any distance, preferably the full Marathon course. Dorando, Hayes, Shrubb, or any other will be welcomed to a race from 10 miles up.

Watch Simpson run. See if you can count his steps. When Tom Eck took charge of Simpson he got the greatest proposition he or any other trainer ever had. Simpson has speed, he has stamina, and he has lots of brains, and no bad habits, except that he can eat as hearty a meal as any big nigger ever could. He is an easy man to manage as his whole heart is in his work. Fred's career is being watched with deep interest by every sport in this city as well as the entire Dominion.

Retail Hardware Assoc. May Meet in this City

Toronto, Feb. 24.—The next annual convention of the Ontario Retail Hardwaremen's Association may be held in Peterborough. Secretary Watson Wrigley stated today that there were but two places under discussion—London and Peterborough—and as yet the association was undecided as to which would be chosen.

If Peterborough can provide a hall to accommodate some 250 or 300 persons as well as a hall for an exhibit and has sufficient hotel accommodation it will be seriously considered.

The convention this year met at Hamilton and was a big success, hardwaremen being present from all parts of Ontario. Mr. Wrigley, the secretary of the association, is the editor of the Hardware and Metal, Toronto.

Fair Directors' Special Meeting

An important meeting of the fair directors will be held in the council chamber this afternoon at three o'clock. The chief objects of the meeting is to have the various committees make changes in and additions to the prize lists, to decide on what new prizes to offer and to organize a white oats competition. The aim of the directors is to make the fair a little nearer perfection each year and to make the prize list more attractive to the exhibitors.

C.P.R. Buys Millions of Government Bonds

(Special to The Times.)

Montreal, Feb. 24.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R., officially announced this morning that the company had purchased five million dollars' worth of the recently issued Dominion 3 3-4 per cent. debentures.

Having money on hand for which they had no immediate use, the directors decided to make this investment, as they considered it good security.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY,

President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Collecting Funds in Canada to Arm Bengalese Against British

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 23.—Sensational statements regarding the collection of funds with which rifles and ammunition are purchased by a Bengalese in Seattle to arm disaffected natives in Bengal against the British Government, were made in the police court here yesterday afternoon by Narain Singh, a Sikh giving evidence in an assault case.

It was alleged that a local teacher and a Vancouver priest are collecting the moneys to send munitions of war to Bengal.

Investigation is being made by the attorney-general's department.

The witness stated that after the assault a mass meeting was held, at which the local priest said that instead of paying money to lawyers the disputants should settle and give the money to him to send rifles and ammunition to India.

Canadians Saw the Wedding of Hetty Green's Daughter

New York, N.Y., Feb. 24.—Sylvia, daughter of Mrs. Hetty Green, whose income is $5,000 a day, is on a secret honeymoon with her husband, Matthew Astor Wilks. It is believed here that the couple have gone to the Wilks' country home in Galt, Ont. Later they will go abroad. Mr. Wilks is over 50 years old, and his bride is thirty.

At the wedding Miss Green led the way on the arm of her cousin, Mr Howland Peel, of New York, who gave her away. Next came Mrs. Hetty Green alone. The bridegroom walked with his best man, young Woodbury Langdon, who is also his nephew. The shorter Episcopal service was used. The doors were closed during the marriage, and no outsiders except a few villagers who had slipped inside early and preempted the rear pews, saw the wedding.

The guests, who numbered about 40 all told, filled the front of the little auditorium. They included Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury, G. Langdon, his Wilks' three sisters, Miss Catharine Wilks of Galt, Mrs. Ryan Stevens, brother-in-law, Woodbury G. Langdon, his two nieces, the Misses Sophie and Helen Langdon, who are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Langdon; his brother, Langdon Wilks; his brother-in-law, and Major W. Napier Keefer, of Toronto, formerly of the British army.

TO TOUR EUROPE

While nothing definite in regard to the honeymoon plans can be learned, it is believed that Mr. and Mrs. Wilks will make an extended European trip following their sojourn in Galt, after which they will make their permanent residence in New York.

Mrs. Green, the bride's mother, practically admitted that such was the program after the ceremony yesterday.

Cairns Made New Bowling Record Last Night

Geo. Cairns threw himself last night in the game with the Examiner A. vs. the B.A.C. He rolled a total of 688, beating the previous record of the alleys which was made by himself, by eight pins. He rolled the three games without a single blow. He was certainly in shape last night and the other fellows will have to go some to beat his record. The Examiner A took three straights. The B.A.C. then turned around and won two out of three from the Hams. The scores were:—

B.A.C.—

Rest	96	106	130—	332
McRae	174	154	155—	483
Campbell	113	143	151—	407
	383	403	436—1222

EXAMINER A—

Cairns	209	183	216—	608
Glover	172	162	152—	486
Lachcur	178	137	180—	495
	559	482	548—1589

HAMS—

Clancy	123	158	159—	440
Hurtubise	134	108	168—	410
Rickey	158	135	142—	435
	415	401	469—1285

B.A.C.—

Rest	160	149	97—	406
McRae	171	147	166—	484
Campbell	133	168	129—	429
	464	464	391—1319

Beautiful Lenten Sermon by Rev. Trumpour

Rev. Mr. Trumpour, rector of All Saints' church, conducted the Ash Wednesday evening service at St John's last night. Rev Canon Davidson taking charge of the service at All Saints.' The attendance at St. John's was large for a week night service and Rev. Mr. Trumpour delivered a beautiful and appropriate sermon, exceptionally applicable to Ash Wednesday when Anglican congregations are called upon to enter a forty days' period of self denial of worldly indulgences. Thus following the example set by Christ Himself.

The rev. gentleman took for his text, St. Luke 4.1. "And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jordon and was led by the spirit into the wilderness." From this passage he gave his hearers three lines of thought as follows;—

1st—A period of forty days of greater religious devotion and left worldly pursuits is necessary to all christians because Christ who lived a perfect life needed a like period of retirement in the wilderness before commencing his ministry. The benefit to be derived from following Christ's example in this respect has even been exemplified in the world's history for noted men have accomplished their greatest deeds after a period of retirement. If Christ found it necessary to get away from men for forty days in order to live His perfect life, christians cannot live the life of Christ if they live the Lenten season in the same manner as the remainder of the year, and indulge in luxuries, cards, dancing, theaters, parties, cater to their appetites and surfeit themselves in secular literature. Then the observance of Lent must be complete and whole hearted. The sacrifice should be clean cut and entire from the first day to the last, for Christ's example is equally binding upon men today as it was in the past.

Rev. Mr. Trumpour's second thought was that the influence that led Christ into the wilderness for forty days was the Holy Ghost, while His human nature directed Him back to the world. The same influences set upon christians today; the Holy Spirit calls them as it called Jesus into retirement for forty days, while the world allured them to secular indulgences. He urged upon the congregation their need of resisting worldly temptations during this season and following the example set by Christ. The servant is no better than his master.

The reverend speaker's third thought was, "What is the use of living these forty days as Christ lived?" He pointed out that one thus gets away from the world which is living too fast a life these days. The observance of Lent gives one an opportunity to live with God, and there are times when christians must do so.

In conclusion Mr. Trumpour left his hearers with three suggestions to fill up the void created by a sacrifice of worldly pleasures during Lent.

First—Scripture read. The Bible is not read today as it should be nor as earnestly and regularly as it was in earlier days of the christian era. During these 40 days of Lent the scriptures should be read again, again and again.

Second—Prayer. We should cultivate the art of speaking to God morning, noon and evening.

Third—Meditation. The curse of the world today, the reverend gentleman contended, to be that men don't think enough either on religious or secular matters. Some people ask for short sermons, while others want none at all, and he was of the opinion that thinking on religion was one of the practices that has passed away.

To sum up he offered that to live a christian life Lent must be largely observed by the practice of scripture reading, prayer and meditation.

ST. LUKE'S

There was a good attendance at St. Luke's church last night at the first Lenten service. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt occupied the pulpit and delivered a splendid address on "Loyalty." He took his text from I. Samuel 14, 6-7. He pleaded for the loyalty of the laity to the clergy in all their works connected with the church.

Special evening services will be held twice a week during Lent and outside ministers will be here to deliver the sermons, of which mention will be made later.

Hit the Spot

Postum Knocked out Coffee Ills

There's a good deal of satisfaction and comfort in hitting upon the right thing to rid one of the varied and constant ailments caused by coffee (or tea) drinking.

"Ever since I can remember," writes an Indianatown, "my father has been a lover of his coffee, but the continued use of it so affected his stomach that he could hardly eat at times.

"Mother had coffee-headache and dizziness, and if I drank coffee for breakfast I would taste it all day and usually go to bed with a headache.

"One day father brought home a pkg. of Postum recommended by the grocer. Mother made it according to directions on the box and it just "hit the spot." It has a dark seal-brown color, changing to golden brown when cream is added, and a snappy taste somewhat to mild, high-grade coffee, and we found that its continued use speedily put an end to all our coffee ills.

"That was at least ten years ago and Postum has, from that day to this, been a standing order of father's grocery bill.

"When I married, my husband was a great coffee drinker, altho he admitted that it hurt him. When I mentioned Postum he said he did not like the taste of it. I told him I would make it taste all right. He smiled and said, try it. The result was a success, he won't have anything but Postum."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations."

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 50 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1909.

RESPITE FROM GREAT QUAKES ?

Despite the terrible cataclysm of December 28, a seismological writer has pointed out in the English scientific journal Nature, some reasons for hoping that the recently convulsed regions in and around Southern Italy may now expect a long era of comparative repose. This apparently sanguine inference is based chiefly on the facts that the similar Calabrian cataclysm of 1783 was followed by a sixty years' respite from destructive earthquakes and that the lesser quake disaster of 1638 was not repeated on a large scale for twenty one years.

In examining the intensely interesting question whether the devasted district may now look for repose the scientific correspondent of Nature notes that the Italian earthshocks of 1905 and 1907 may possibly be regarded as preparatory to the greater earthquake of 1908. It is recalled that the analogous great Japanese cataclysm of 1891, which occasioned deep displacements along a fault-line sixty-five miles long, was preceded by minor shocks at both ends of the line. It is suggested, therefore, that such minor quakes give only partial and temporary relief to the gradually increasing strain, but are premonitory of final rupture of the deep rocks, which is regarded as the primary cause of all seismic cataclysms.

Plausible as is this interpretation of the preparatory shocks, no absolute conclusion as to its applicability in respect to Italian convulsions can be confidently drawn as the British scientists admits. Nevertheless, observation seems to show clearly that after earthquakes of high intensity occur the danger of very rare seismic disasters gradually passes away for a period of several years.

Victoria House Changes Hands

The Victoria House, the summer hotel at McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, has been purchased from Messrs. Freeman and Carveth by Mr. E. Pickens, of Lakefield, who will be in charge of the popular Kawartha Lake tourist home during the coming season. Mr. Pickens is well and favorably known in Lakefield and with the capital reputation attached to the Victoria House, should have no difficulty in making a success of his new venture. He has in mind comprehensive improvements that will make the building even more commodious and comfortable than it has been hitherto.

Mr. Pickens has also purchased the trim steam yacht, the Alberta, one of the neatest and fastest of the Kawartha Lakes smaller craft, and he will use the boat in connection with the hotel, so that his guests may depend upon having many enjoyable outings during the season of 1909.

Scent In Divorce Court.

Sir Gorell Barnes, the English justice, who has been making some remarks lately on the manner in which the oath should be taken, is the judge who once complained about the scent used by ladies who came before him in the Divorce Court. He was suffering from a headache, and said to his hostess one day that it was caused by scent. "Scent!" she exclaimed. "What do you mean?" "The ladies of the Divorce Court love perfumes," he replied. 'It has been a hot and trying day for me, for each of the witnesses, who are placed in the box quite close to the judge, has come into court and waved a dainty handkerchief saturated with scent. I have inhaled patchouli, white rose, heliotrope, and a dozen other perfumes since breakfast, and, unfortunately, the more emotional ladies become the more they wave these pretty pieces of scented cambric and apply them to their eyes."

Not Exactly What She Meant.

Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, who has just entered on his 74th year, tells the following amusing story. A day or two after he had been to Windsor to receive his knighthood he gave a big reception at his beautiful house at St. John's Wood. Most of the callers had something appropriate to say, but one of them, a well-meaning old lady, managed to go astray. "Oh, dear Sir Lawrence," she said "I was awfully glad to hear the news. I suppose that now you will give up painting and live like a gentleman."

Might Have Been Said Differently.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian supplies a rather amusing experience of his own at a "literary guild meeting" where he was giving an address on Stevenson. "We had a prayer," he says, "then we had a hymn, after which the chairman announced that the So-and-so quartette would render an item. But the members of the quartette were not complete, so the chairman called on me to speak on Stevenson. 'After Mr. — 's address,' he added, 'we'll have the quartette to brighten things up a bit.'"

URGED TO SUICIDE.

Dabbler In Spiritualism Finds It Was a Curse to Him.

The tragic suicide of a man to whom, in his own words, "spiritualism had been a curse," was investigated by the coroner in Manchester, England, the other day.

The victim was John Houghton, a school teacher, and the evidence showed that he had shot himself in the head with a revolver. His widow stated that he had dabbled in spiritualism and had been upset by it.

"Some time ago he asked me to take poison or drown myself with him," she added, "and when I refused and spoke of bringing in the doctor he threatened to kill me."

A number of remarkable letters were left by Houghton. In one of these, addressed to a friend, he wrote:

The spiritualism which I thought such a blessing has turned out to be a curse to me. I am doing better, as far as money is concerned, than ever I have done, and still I am forced into this awful action against my own wish in a way you cannot understand.

If you do anything at any time for my wife and children I shall be pleased, and God will reward you.

To his wife he wrote:

Dear Agnes,—I love you more than ever I did and yet I take this step believing that ultimately it is better for you and the children. I have unintentionally been the cause of your sorrow and sickness, and believe that you will be healthier and, when things are settled, happier. Had I taken this step sooner you would not have had this last sickness, but I hated to leave you unprovided for.

I have been urged into this for the last twelve months by the unseen world, which I wish I had never found out.—Yours, John.

P.S.—For you to go and live away from me would not help you a bit.

Dear Children,—I love you dearly, and I long to stay with you, but I dare not. Never miss church, and always be good.—Your loving Father.

Dear Sisters,—Please be good to Agnes (Mrs. Houghton) and my children. I have been a curse to her. This would never have happened if I had not bothered with spiritualism.—Yours, John.

The coroner said spiritualism seemed to have affected Houghton's disordered mind, and probably was the direct cause of it giving way.

A verdict of "Suicide while insane" was returned.

Old Time Sports.

Hard riding was an achievement in which our great grandfathers excelled, says London Tit-Bits. "Squire Osbaldeston rode 200 miles in under nine hours on relay horses, and wanted to back himself to ride the distance in eight hours. A queerer test, according to our standards, was the match arranged between Horatio Ross, riding his horse Clinker, against Lord Kennedy's Radical, ridden by Captain Douglas. Ross knocked Douglas head over heels over a gate, as the riders had agreed that jostling, charging, and crossing were to be allowed at the jumps and anywhere else. Those conditions of racing do not belong to our day, but the hardihood has not left modern polo grounds. Everybody knows the story of the polo player with a broken collar-bone who rode off his man again and again as if nothing had happened."

Then there is the extraordinary record in markmanship of Horatio Ross, who in a pigeon match with Lord Macdonald gave five yards and then won the match with a total of fifty-two pigeons out of fifty-three shots at thirty-five yards. Another extraordinary feat not frequently performed was that he would go out and kill as many as twenty swallows before breakfast. It was Ross who offered to walk anybody to London for $2,000, and nobody would accept the challenge.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to base failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it soon, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909. We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book
Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore
Hunter Street Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR
Positively Restored
Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

ent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 28, Montreal.

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge
has opened up a new grocery business at the
Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS
where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in
Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS
IN
BEDS
MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25
$3.00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY
Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.
M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.
Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

After Feb. 1
OUR PREMISES WILL BE
432 GEORGE ST.

If you want a house complete from start to finish let us build it for you.

If you want any Plumbing, Heating or Wiring done have our prices, they are right everytime and our work speaks for itself.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perwith the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO., Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent,
Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Pacific Coast Excursions
In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.
45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.
44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from
PETERBORO
Tickets sold to certain other points in proportion. Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC
COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars. Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take
SPECIAL TRAINS
from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST
Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY
MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships
FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL
CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45. Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships
LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.
MEGANTIC
15,100 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BANNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Orignal Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO
David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager
Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891
General Banking Business Transacted
Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.
A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO
PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.
4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.
MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

BENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, B. B. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S. F. MEDD, W. S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.
For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING
METAL
LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.
Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
Munn & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED
We assist inventors who cannot afford the services of patent attorneys. Highest references furnished. Write for terms and full particulars. Manual of Information and Advice sent free. Patents procured through us advertised free in World's Progress, a monthly illustrated magazine. Subscription price $1.00 a year. Sample copy free. Address: The Patent Record, Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

THE

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, see future advertisements, etc.

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

For the information of its army of policy-holders, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, has issued a statement of its standing at the end of the year 1908. The facts set forth show that this great insurance organization continues to carry more policies and to distribute greater benefits among the whole people than any other like institution, while its own resources gain steadily in proper ratio to its increasing volume of business.

The magnitude of the Company's operation is astounding. To fully understand the meaning of the figures dealing in totals for the year, it is necessary to bring them down to the smallest division of time. For example the mind can scarcely comprehend the significance of the statement that the total amount of outstanding policies at the end of the year was $1,851,690,903, but we can easily grasp the no less astonishing fact that during the business hours of every day in the year an average of 6,343 new policies were issued and paid for. Every day — taking the average for the year— 441 persons received from the Company the full value in cash of policies which had been carried for their benefit. Every day the Company paid out to its policy-holders and added to the policy-paying fund (reserve fund) more than $166,000. The value of property owned and acquired by the Metropolitan Life during 1908 increased at the rate of $127,000 per day. A policy-holder of the Company dies every six minutes, and the Company pays during business hours a death claim on the average every sixty-two seconds.

The Company owns nearly one hundred million dollars' worth of United States bonds, city bonds, and railroad bonds and stocks; more than ninety millions of bonds and mortgages; more than twenty-two millions of real estate, and much other tangible property, all held as assets available for the payment of its obligations. Nearly ten million policies ($9,989,169) are carried by individuals in the Metropolitan Life. If these policy-holders were gathered into one community they would constitute a city of more than the combined population of the twelve largest cities in the United States.

Perhaps nothing brought out in the report is more wonderful to contemplate than the fact that one force of executive officers and office employes transact a business of this constitutional nature with so vast a number of people.

It is obvious that the Metropolitan Life is managed and controlled by men of consummate ability, but so are thousands of business organizations that never approach this Company in magnitude of operations. It is not merely executive ability, but the ability to inspire and hold public confidence that has counted most in building up this greatest of all insurance companies. The Metropolitan Life deals directly with the people. Its policy from the beginning has been one of entire frankness with the people. No man, however, unused to the making of business contracts, can fail to understand exactly what are the terms of his contract with the Metropolitan Life. Every promise of the Company is set down in terms as definite and clear as the English language permits, every obligation of the policy-holder to the Company is equally plain. No inflated premiums are collected for "estimated" benefits; every payment to the Company represents the lowest cost of bona fide insurance.

Instead of leading its policy-holders to hope for more than they eventually receive, the Company has voluntarily taken a directly opposite course. Within the past few years it has distributed sums amounting to nearly eighteen millions of dollars among its policy-holders in bonuses in addition to what the policies promised. This has been done under no other obligation than a moral conviction that the Company should share its prosperity with those who contribute towards its success.

The confidence and good-will secured under this enlightened policy account for the fact that for fifteen consecutive years, including 1908, the Metropolitan Life has received more new business than any other insurance company in the world.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

MEAT IN AFRICA.

When the Butcher Murders a Bull the People Get Beef.

Travelers in Africa find the standard of living somewhat different from what they are accustomed to at home. Mary Hall in her book, "A Woman's Trek From the Cape to Cairo," throws a strong light upon the condition of market and kitchen in British Central Africa:

When the native butcher proposes to kill an ox, notice to that effect is sent round to the white people on the previous day. Once they were apprised of the fact by the following startling announcement: "A bule will be murdered tomorrow morning at 6 a. m."

This cold blooded crime, so carefully premeditated, even to the exact hour, was, however, not committed, as the next morning a second notice was issued as follows: "The bule ran away this morning, so was not murdered." But this was an exceptional case.

I heard one story which is so characteristic of the native that I repeat it. The man who related it told me that the incident occurred when he was on a journey and was suffering from a bad attack of fever. One evening he fancied he would like some eggs and told his boy to get two and boil them lightly.

After a time they were brought to him as hard as bullets. He told the boy he must get some more and boil them less; but, alas, these were brought to him in the same condition, and the poor fellow wished he had never ordered them at all.

Being unwilling to give in, he made another attempt and told his boy, "Come to me when the water boils." The boy did so.

"Now," said his master, "put the eggs in, and when you have counted fifty take them out."

The native method of reckoning is to count up to ten and then begin again, arriving at the total by the number of the tens counted. The sick man heard the boy start fair and get as far as four tens, when a second boy interfered and questioned whether it were the third or fourth ten.

This started a discussion, and as they could not agree it was decided to begin all over again. Meanwhile the eggs were still boiling and getting harder and harder. This was about the last straw, and, ill as the man felt, he was compelled to get out of bed and put a summary end to the cooking operations.

SOME SURE THINGS.

Do Not Bet on Your Ability to Perform These Feats.

Bets to be avoided by those who are cocksure they can do all things are those relating to athletic feats. It would seem that a good runner could easily give a start of fifty yards in a hundred to a man who was doing the fifty yards by hopping on one leg. But few runners, if any, can afford to give that amount of start to any man who is at all strong on his legs. For the first five yards or so they go at practically the same pace, so that to run ninety-five yards while his opponent is hopping forty-five he has to go more than twice as fast, and it is a weak man indeed who cannot hop fifty yards in ten seconds.

An ordinary wooden match is easily broken in the fingers, but, although there are many who will bet they can do it, none succeed in accomplishing the task if the match is laid across the nail of the middle finger of either hand and pressed upon by the first and third fingers of that hand, despite its seeming so easy at first sight.

No one can crush an egg placed lengthwise between his clasped hands —that is, if the egg be sound and has the ordinary shell of a hen's egg.

It is safe to bet a man that he cannot get out of a chair without bending his body forward or putting his feet under it if he is sitting on it, not at the edge of it.

Another equally certain wager is that a man cannot stand at the side of a room with both of his feet touching the wainscoting lengthwise.

It is safe to bet any man, save one who is blind, that he cannot stand for five minutes without moving if he is blindfolded.

Very Different.

It is never embarrassing in a novel for a rich man to find a lot of poor kin. There is always a vacancy in a bank, where the rich man finds a good position for the oldest son, who soon becomes the bank's president. Another child shows a genius for painting, and the rich man sends him to Italy to study. In a month or two the child returns a great artist. But how different in real life! Ah, how vastly different!

She Had Often Studied It.

Little Marie had returned from her first visit to Sunday school.

"And what lesson are you to study for next Sunday?" her mother asked.

"Nuffin' much," said the four-year-old rather scornfully. "Her jest said to learn all about the cataklasin', and me knowed that already."—Lippincott's.

Like the Bee.

"I, sir," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "am like the busy bee. I have industriously stored the good things of life."

"Yes, And anybody who tried to stop you was very likely to get stung."—Washington Star.

Force of Habit.

Captain of Signalers—G—G—G, what the deuce does the fellow mean? There's no word with three G's running. Corporal—Beg pardon, sir, but Signaler Higgins he stuttered.—London Punch.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed the stitch in time. Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed in Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to run over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a single question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, they have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

Whene'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.

Why He Didn't Rise.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let all you husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Ahe!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are the one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up. I'm paralyzed!"

How Erastus Found Light.

Voting is something of a hazard at times if we do not happen to have the plain guidance of the old darky janitor in Princeton. Erastus, being asked how he had voted, replied: "In the mahnin', sah, I was inclined to do Republican cause, for they gave me $3, but in the afternoon de Democrats gave me $2. So, sah, I voted de Democrat ticket straight, because dey was de lean' corrup', sah—de lean' corrup', sah!"—Success Magazine.

The Real Reason.

"De po' child died fum eatin' too much watahmillion."

"Huh! Dar ain't no sich-uh thing as too much watahmillion."

"Well, den, dar wasn't enough boy."—Puck.

It Had Been Read.

"That old tightwad uncle of mine is dead."

"Has his will been read yet?"

"Did you hear what I called him?"—Cleveland Leader.

To be proud of learning is the greatest ignorance.—Taylor.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Employment Magazine, distributing a gentlewoman's magazine, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 50 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ANNIVERSARY OF CORUNNA.

Centenary of Sir John Moore's Death Is Observed.

La Corunna, where Sir John Moore fell in the hour of victory, just a century ago, celebrated, on Jan. 16, the centenary of the hero's death.

The general's tomb stands in the Alameda or public gardens, on a height which overlooks the bay. Palms and flowering shrubs wave green branches round the monument, built in the more forbidding style of the early twenties. Dark-eyed children run races along the sanded paths, and tie their toy horses to the formidable railings.

The spot, with its glorious view across the harbor, is a favorite resort of mantilla-draped ladies and picturesque peasant nursemaids.

There was the gleam of official gold lace, and the grandiloquent flow of Spanish eulogies, and music suitably solemn, around the tomb at the celebration, but every English participant in the fiesta thought of Charles Wolfe's well-known lines—

"We buried him darkly at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning,
By the struggling moonlight's misty light
And the lantern dimly burning."

Just a few devoted friends stealthily came to the ramparts to scoop a shallow grave for the mighty dead. "I hope my country will do me justice" were his last words. His country will certainly appreciate the honor paid by the Spaniards to the British warrior.

La Corunna to-day is a prosperous town with wide, well-paved streets, in the upper quarter, a mule tramway service and modern ideas on the subject of town-planning and electric lightning. But the lower quarter is full of narrow, winding alleys and curious old squares, which have changed very little since the exciting month of May when the invincible Armada was fitted out at La Corunna for the disastrous expedition of 1588. The women still fill their heavy water-pots at the fountain of St. Andrew; the brass basins dangle outside the barbers' shops, reminding one of Don Quixote, the lean knight of La Mancha; the heavy ox-carts creak over the cobble stones. The corner round the old church of Santiago is redolent of the Middle Ages.

Older still is the famous lighthouse of La Corunna, built over Phoenician foundations, a landmark known to sailors the whole world over.

Round the harbor runs a road, bordered with palms and aloes, which grow with southern luxuriance in the warm Spanish winter.

Cupid on a Railway Platform.

There is a charming story told concerning the manner in which the Duke of Portland, who recently celebrated his 51st birthday, first met his wife. It is to the effect that the duchess—who before her marriage was Miss Dallas Yorke—was on a railway station platform, and the duke (who was waiting for the same train) was so struck with her beauty that he fell in love with her at first sight, and promptly secured an introduction. Whatever truth there may be in the story, it is a well-known fact that the duke preferred to marry for love. Amongst the many splendid jewels possessed by the duchess is a set of diamond horses, which have been given to her from time to time by the duke on the occasions of his successes on the turf. The duke has very strong opinions, which he expresses most frankly, on the absolute folly of betting. All the money his grace makes in racing is devoted to building almshouses and schools, and Welbeck Abbey is a model estate, in so far as it is entirely self-contained and self-providing. It contains workshops of every description, from a model dairy to a fire brigade.

Mania of a Man-Hater.

Miss Harriet Evans, an elderly spinster on whom an inquest was held at Hackney, England, recently, was said to have been a confirmed man-hater.

"She was so much against men that she would not have a coin with the King's head on it," her landlady said. "If one was given her, she would throw it into the fire. She would only deal in money bearing Queen Victoria's head."

Miss Evans went to the office of a local newspaper some time ago, but refused to enter it until a woman was sent to transact business with her. An advertisement for apartments which she published stipulated that there should be no man in the house.

She even declined to receive letters because the stamps bore the King's head.

A verdict of "natural death" was returned.

The "Cat House."

A curious little building stands at the end of a private walk on the shores of the river Orwell in Suffolk, England. It is known as the "cat house," for the reason that in the "good old times" a white cat used to be exhibited at a window visible from the river as a signal to smugglers, who flourished in the locality. When the animal was shown the "free traders," as the contrabandists were euphemistically called, knew that the coast was clear and promptly sailed up and landed their cargo, secure from the attention of the "preventives." Near the cat house" is Downham reach, which was the scene of some of Margaret Catchpole's most exciting adventures.

12,000 Candle-Power Lamp.

Experiments have been made at Hounslow, England, with the Sylverlyte lamp, whose light is guaranteed to penetrate the murkiest "pea-soup" fog. An electric bulb sits into the powerful lens of the lamp, which magnifies its twelve candle-power light to 12,000 candle-power.

Dentistry Extraordinary.

During the past year the dental staff of the Great Western Railway Medical Fund Society, Swindon, England, which has a membership of about 15,000, extracted a total of 15,-861 teeth. In addition 190 teeth were treated, and 501 stopped.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Sheop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, cured. Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Nervous, Diseased Men

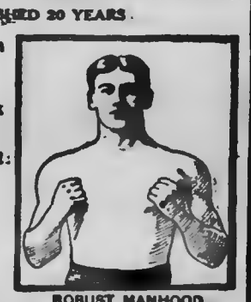
DRS. K. & K. ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS.

A NERVOUS WRECK

Consultation FREE.

Question Blank for Home Treatment sent: FREE.

Reasonable Fees for Treatment



ROBUST MANHOOD

We Guarantee to Cure all Curable Cases of Stricture, Varicocele, Nervous Debility, Blood Poisons, Vital Weaknesses, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases, and all Diseases Peculiar to Men and Women.

Don't waste your time and money on cheap, dangerous, experimental treatment. Don't increase at your own cost your sufferings by being experimented on with remedies which they claim to have just discovered. But come to us in confidence. We will treat you conscientiously, honestly and skillfully, and restore you to health in the shortest possible time with the least medicine, discomfort and expense practicable. Each case is treated as the symptoms indicate. Our New Method is original and has stood the test for twenty years.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen-written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer shou'd wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

Gold Dust Stands Alone

In the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.

Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER COMMERCIAL ARTICLES CALLED GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing clothes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, all sinks, silverware and windows, painting brass work, cleansing bath rooms, pipes, etc., and making the finest milk soap.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

Says This Medicin Has Mystic Powers

It's in the spring that health gives out—that folks begin to feel draggy, weary, restless,—hate to eat, look pale, feel discouraged.

If you're reached this state read what J. W. Sewell, well known in Morristown, has to say about the medicine that cured him. "Last winter I caught a heavy cold that settled in my back. My kidneys and liver were affected and my health failed. By spring I was in bad shape—couldn't sleep like I used to—felt tired in the morning—ate very little—was terribly depressed, pale and anxious looking. Twinges of rheumatism, frequent neuralgia attacks over the eyes, etc., made matters worse. Had doctor prescribed three times, but didn't help. Then I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.—They possess mystic powers surely, for I gained and improved day by day and now am in perfect health again. I will praise and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I die."

The ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills are pure and wholesome—come right from the storehouse of Nature in the form of vegetable juices and extracts,—consequently this gentle invigorating laxative tonic and blood purifier is safe for old and young alike. We assure you of enormous benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which revitalize delicate glands, search out the seat of hidden disease, flood the body with vigor and health that has caused thousands of broken-down, despairing men and women to join in a mighty song of praise for the beneficent aid that comes from this king of all tonics. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day. 25c at all dealers.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell Phone—Office 493; House 493.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1909.

Winnipeg--$21.00

from Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate, a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the travel via the Grand Trunk and this attractive route is steadily increasing. Baggage checked through in bond, no examination. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before deciding on your trip.

No Hockey Game Owing to Soft Ice

Water on the ice in the Lakefield rink put a damper on the sport scheduled for last night. The Strathconas were to have played the returned game of the home and home series. The contest will likely be played to-morrow night.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it he has created a Rosie pink tablet. The tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—presses blood pressure away from pain centers the effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently through safely. It gently normalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful peristalsis with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Stomach pain, neuralgia, and dizziness in part red, an ear ache, and pain pent! Of course it does. It is congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it whose pain is always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

"ALL DEALERS"

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

60--PLAYERS--60

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th, AT 8:15 P.M.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Reserved Seats $1.50 and $.00

Public sale of seats opens Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock.

PERSONAL

Mr. H. Flanders, Sydney, B.C., is at the Oriental.

Mrs. Grant, Gilmour street, will receive this afternoon, and not again this season.

Miss Mary Benman left yesterday for her home in Manvers, to spend a few days with her mother.

Mr. R. L. Sergimson left yesterday afternoon for Manvers to attend the funeral of his mother-in-law this afternoon.

Miss Elsie G. Davidson left Tuesday for Elgin, Manitoba, after spending two months with her mother, 643 Water street.

The many admirers of the singing of Mrs. Marguerite Walsh, now at the Royal Theater, will be pleased to learn that her little daughter, who was ill at the National Hotel, was yesterday reported as convalescent.

Messrs. F. J. Francis, C.E., and Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal, were in the city yesterday morning. They were here only a short time changing trains from the C.P.R. to G.T.R. stations.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth: No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY

MISS ANNIE CROLY.

The many friends in Peterborough of Miss Annie Croly will be grieved to learn of her death which took place yesterday morning in the Red Cross Hospital, New York City. Miss Croly was a former resident of Peterborough, and was a daughter of the late T. M. D. Croly. She was very well known in Peterborough, and the intelligence of her death will come as a shock to those who knew her. She left here last autumn to take up her residence in New York, and was not in the best of health at the time of her departure. She is survived by one brother, Mr. Louis Croly, and an aunt, Miss Croly, both residing in New York.

The remains will arrive in Peterborough on the C.P.R. 7.23 train this morning. The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

MRS. EDWARD BUTLER.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mrs. Edward Butler, at the age of 69. They came from Ireland 18 years ago and have always resided in this city, at No. 7 George street. She is survived by her sorrowing husband and one son, James, who resides at home. The funeral will be held from the family residence at three o'clock this afternoon, and will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral and interment will take place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

MRS. HUGHES GRAHAM.

Another respected resident of Emily township was called by death early Friday morning in the person of Mrs. Hughes Graham. Mrs. Graham was born in the township of Otonabee 52 years ago and by her kind hospitality she won for herself a large circle of friends. She leaves to mourn her loss a sorrowing husband and one son, Charles, residing at home.

The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Chas. Fee and Mr. John Blackwell of this township.

The funeral was held on Sunday, February 21st, and was largely attended. Service at the house was conducted by Rev. G. McKenzie, pastor of Bethel circuit, after which the remains were taken to Lindsay cemetery where they were interrd.

Big Job Opening Up Storm Drain

The soft weather and heavy rain of Tuesday night caused nearly all the snow to disappear, and in its place was left small lakes and running brooks. Lawns and cellars were flooded and in some places the streets were turned into regular river beds. The storm drains and catch basins in several parts of the city had become frozen and blocked up and the water could not get away. Street Commissioner Harry Evans had his hands full all day getting the drains opened up and the water run off before any serious damage was done. He succeeded remarkably well although in two instances it was necessary to get the fire engine out to thaw the drains. One hard place was on McDonnel street, and the other at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets. The colder turn of the temperature last night however put a stop to the career of any brooks that were still running, and there will be no more trouble until after the next heavy snow storm.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 12 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals.

Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Local Option Campaign

Copy Furnished by the Campaign Committee

Local Option Campaign Objections Answered

In a recent address Rev. A. E. Pearson dealt with two of the main objections that are raised to local option. A brief summary of part of his remarks are as follows;

The people have at last come to the conclusion that the remedy is in their own hands and that that remedy is law. The first method of meeting the ravages of the drink habit was Moral Suasion. But we have come now to see that it is waste of time to coax a mad dog or argue with a rattle snake. The conviction of the people today voices itself in this way;

"Mental Suasion for the man who thinks.
Moral Suasion for the man who drinks;
Legal Suasion for the drunkard maker;
Prison Suasion for the Statute breaker."

After moral suasion the people came to favor regulation of license. But slowly and surely this method is coming into disrepute as men see that every vote cast for license—high or low—is the personal permission given by the voter to the traffic to carry on its work of making the earth a hell.

Apart from Suasion and Regulation the only alternative is prohibition. Local option is simply prohibition by separate single municipalities. By this method in America wonderful progress is being made toward national Prohibition.

OBJECTIONS REPLIED TO.

There are two main objections urged against Prohibition or Local Option.

1st. It is an interference with personal liberty. To put it bluntly the friend of the liquor traffic says "Mind your own business." If you don't want to drink, refrain from it and don't meddle with us." But surely this old cry about personal liberty and sumptuary legislation is worn out today. A great liquor journal in the United States recently stated that henceforth the liquor trade must fight its battle from the standpoint of the general good as opposed to personal freedom for "the people today will not have it otherwise." Surely we see that the only freedom we have in this country is not personal but social freedom. "Salus Populi suprema lex"—the welfare of the people is the highest law. And we are all within our rights in Peterborough in passing Local Option, even though it curtail the personal liberty of some, if such action is for the general good of our city. Every red placard on the door of a dwelling in Peterborough, indicating that Scarlet Fever is in that home, means to us, and we make no objection, that the welfare of the people must override personal liberty.

Two statements once made in my hearing by Dr. Haverson, the legal adviser of the liquor party in Ontario, will show the unbrotherly and unchristian viewpoint of many of our opponents. When urged at the meeting of a certain Liquor Board, to desist from seeking to secure a bar license for a certain young man, as it would be a blessing to him to be free from the business, his reply was "If he swims in whiskey, that is his own concern, not mine." Again, he said, "whiskey is a heaven sent method of weeding out the incompetents of the world."

Lovers of humanity, what think you of such statements! Has not this liquor dragon devoured many of our brightest and best!

2nd. It is claimed that Prohibition does not prohibit. If this means that it does not wholly prevent the use of intoxicating liquors, the point is well taken; but a like objection can be made against any of the Ten Commandments. In neither case should failure to prevent the evils aimed at be given as a good reason for displacing them to make way for license laws. But the facts are all against this statement. Nobody says that Local Option in Peterborough will mean the entire elimination of the consumption of liquor, but every body whose eyes are open, sees and knows that it will be enormously lessened.

If Prohibition does not prohibit, 'what fools these mortals be," who oppose it. If prohibition does not prohibit, who's to blame! The makers and sellers of intoxicating drinks, who, generally speaking, have always been arrayed against and willing to break the law. The liquor traffic is the greatest law-breaker in the community today; and those who thus wink at our laws should receive the same treatment that any law breaker would receive at the hands of justice.

We are in this fight to win—victory may be delayed, but it is assured.

"For right is right since God is God
And right the day must win
To doubt would be disloyalty
To falter would be sin."

A Mother's Talk to Mothers.

What Zam-Buk did in a Western Home.

Here is just one illustration of the wisdom of keeping a box of Zam-Buk always handy. It is a true record of the varied uses to which this great balm was put—with highly satisfactory results in every case—in just one family and during a few months only. Mrs. C. J. Irlam of 907 William avenue, Winnipeg, makes the report as follows;—

"I have found Zam-Buk so very useful as a household balm that I want to make its merits still more widely known. Some eight weeks ago my brother, Mr. C. Procter, happened a serious accident. While at work, a rusty nail penetrated the palm of his right hand. The rust of the nail poisoned the flesh and inflammation set in quickly. He went to the General Hospital, and consulted a doctor, who advised poultices to draw out the poison. This was applied, but when there was no improvement after a few days, I began applying Zam-Buk balm, leaving off poultices.

"The effect was almost magical! Zam-Buk soothed the pain, drew out the poison, and allayed all inflammation. Healing then commenced, and in a few days he was able to resume work.

"Six weeks ago my husband, Mr. C. J. Irlam, while returning from work quite late in the evening, was bitten by a dog, the dog's teeth penetrating the flesh on his thigh just above the knee. Directly he came home Zam-Buk was applied to the wound, and in a few days the soreness was gone and the wound thoroughly healed.

"A third instance of the healing power of Zam-Buk was provided when my little boy had a nasty fall. He is five years old, and was playing one day when he fell. His head struck on a sharp stone, which cut a nasty gash. As soon as I had washed the cut I applied Zam-Buk in the usual way, and it was really wonderful how quickly it relieved the little fellow's pain. Within a week the cut—a deep one—was quite healed.

"Every mother who once proves the all-round value of Zam-Buk will never again be without it."

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal balm, and cures cuts, burns, bruises, abscesses, ulcers, sores, ringworm, chapped hands, cold-sores, fever-bite, bad leg, inflamed patches, etc. It also cures piles. Used as an embrocation it will be found to remove rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgia. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Condemns Cheap Shows

A Halifax Writer Would Like to See Low Vaudeville Cleaned out

(To the Editor of The News.)

I think the time is ripe for steps to be taken to check some of the performances given by these cheap vaudeville and moving picture shows which can be found now in most every town in Canada. Many of them are giving a class of amusement that is not fit to be produced before women, young girls and small children, who seem to be their largest patrons. Some of their acts are made up of nothing more than the lowest kind of vulgar jokes, sayings and acts, and they have been allowed so far to run seemingly without much protest. I have never seen anything much worse in any of the low theaters in the slums of large cities than what I see exhibited right here in these cheap shows in Halifax. I know it must be the same all over the country. The police should be awakened in this direction, as they seem to give the matter but little attention.

GEO. WRIGHT.

Halifax, Feb. 18. —Toronto News

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known in medical science for the permanent cure of the diseases mentioned. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the curative roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Profs. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authors and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York products

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 25th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

HOCKEY

Great interest is being taken in the Church League semi-final games at Brock street rink tonight, and there promises to be a big crowd of fans on hand to see the double-header for which the prices have been fixed at the regular City League fixtures, 15c and 10c. George street meet Knox Church in the first game, while Park street and St. Andrew's come together in the second. A win for St. Andrew's and Knox Church will leave them tied for the championship, while on the other hand a defeat for one and a win for the other will mean the championship for the successful team.

Chimney Fire

About 10 minutes to ten o'clock last night an alarm was sent in from box 16 at the corner of Perry and Bethune streets. The brigade turned out in quick time but when they arrived it was found that only the chimney was burning. The blaze was caused by the high wind which arose early in the evening and had it not been discovered until late at night a serious blaze might have resulted. The chimney which was burning was on Mr. McClarty's house at 20 Jackson avenue.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 48 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1909 — PRICE TWO CENTS

Peterborough Fair Directors Held a Meeting Yesterday

The greatest meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Agricultural Society that has been held in many years was the one yesterday afternoon. The board this year appears to be composed of faithful workers, who have a keen interest in the success of the show. Then too the financial success achieved last year has put a lot of ginger in the members and they felt that there is something now to work for. There will be a fair this year and it will be bigger than ever and with a favorable consideration from Jupiter Pluvius, it will be more successful.

The object of yesterday afternoon's meeting was to revise the rules and regulations and this was done although there were no very radical changes made. The prize list was the next thing taken up and this was handed over to the various committees who will revise their individual classes and report to the board at the next meeting.

DEPARTMENT JUDGE.

At the request of the Department of Agriculture of Ontario, the Peterborough Association took up the question of selecting men who were capable of judging to act at the fall fair for the Ontario department. The members appointed Mr. R. H. Leary, to be a judge of light horses and his name will be sent to the superintendent of fairs. Mr. Leary is a first-class judge of horse flesh and any fair at which he judges will receive the best satisfaction in his class. Mr. Jas. Baptie was also chosen as a judge on poultry and he is a good man too.

FIELD CROP.

There will be a competition this fall for the best standing field crop The directors decided that this competition would create a great interest among the farmers. The seed selected will be white oats, and all the farmers who have a good clean field will be asked to enter.

SEED FAIR.

Another new feature introduced this year will be a winter seed fair to be held early next winter. This is a most important branch of the farmer's work, and to get good clean grain is also an important matter for all parties concerned. The need of a seed fair has long been felt in this county and no doubt it will be a big success.

An application was received yesterday from a local party for the dining hall privilege at the fair grounds next fall. It is pretty early in the season and the matter was left over for the time being.

A resolution of thanks and appreciation of service rendered was passed to Miss Melville, who has acted as judge of ladies' work and fine arts at the exhibition for several years past. Miss Melville is leaving the city and her services will be greatly missed.

President R. H. Leary was authorized to communicate with the department at Toronto in reference to the suggested rural mounted police service. The local association is strongly in favor of the scheme but content that it should be under the control of the provincial authorities.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Tuesday, March 18, at 2.30 o'clock.

Those present yesterday were President R. H. Leary, Secretary F. J. A. Hall and Directors Dwyell, Collins, Kennedy, Young, Oke, Cox, Bell, Garbutt, Jones, Storey, Conway, Milburn, Baptie, Turner and Dr. King.

Urgent Necessity for an Isolation Hospital

The Board of Health met yesterday morning and again took up the matter of an Isolation Hospital.

Those present at the meeting were Dr. Burnham, chairman; W. J. Johnston, Dr. Young, James Murty and Mayor Rush.

It was moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Dr. Young, that it shall be a regulation of the local Board of Health, under sec. 91 of the Public Health Act, that except the physician or clergyman, no person affected with smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or cholera and no person affected with any of the said diseases shall leave the house in which any of the said diseases is or mingle with the public until the Medical Health Officer has prescribed such sanitary precautions as he deems advisable nor until such precautions have been complied with, and it shall be the duty of the medical health officer in each case of such disease to prescribe such precautions as he deems necessary for the protection of the public.—Carried.

It was moved by Dr. Young and seconded by W. J. Johnston, that the attention of the City Council be again called to the urgent necessity for a hospital in which contagious diseases may be treated, and that the council be reminded that the board has repeatedly called attention to this matter.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

Port Hope Suffered Much from Flood---Man Drowned at Hagersville

Belleville, Feb. 25.—The sudden change from mild to cold weather has abated what looked like a serious flood, and now the worst is over. Last night at seven o'clock the ice in the river broke up for a couple of miles, passing quietly out into the bay. The most serious damage done was the flooding of the cellars of stores on Front street, many merchants not taking the precaution to remove goods. At the mouth of the river the ice jammed up, causing the water to flow out over the ice on the bay like a tidal wave.

A number of ice cutters with teams had to race to get out of the way. One team and driver had a narrow escape from a dangerous position.

The water in the houses subsided and the river is now gradually lowering.

Floors are still covered with ice and some residents came out today for the first time since yesterday morning.

DAMAGE AT PORT HOPE.

Port Hope, Feb. 25.—The worst flood in thirty years occurred here yesterday afternoon, when the Ganeraska River, swollen by the previous night's downpour, became a raging torrent and overflooded its banks. The flood was precipitated by the breaking of the Canton dam, four miles north of Port Hope. Two town bridges were demolished and dams and factory properties on the river damaged. A local lumber yard was submerged and about $1,500 worth of lumber swept away. Residents of the eastern part of the town were isolated from the business section for some hours, the G.T.R. viaduct being the only means of crossing.

DROWNED IN FLOOD.

Hagersville, Feb. 25.—About two miles from Hagersville William Boyle and his son were returning from town about noon, and they had to pass over the spring creek on the reserve. On reaching there they found the road for nearly a quarter of a mile under water. Thinking they knew where to find the bridge, they attempted to cross, but missed that structure, and went over the embankment into deep water and sank. The team were drowned, and Mr. Boyle is supposed to have been seized with cramps. His son reached land, and called for help. Two men were attracted by the outcry, and succeeded in getting Mr. Boyle out. He died almost immediately from exposure, having been in the water for nearly two hours. Mr. Boyle was a white man living on the reserve, and leaves a small family.

Shrubb Defeats Italian in Record-Breaking Time in 15-Mile Race

(Special to The Times.)

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 25.—Leading his opponent from the crack of the pistol to finish, Alf. Shrubb, the English distance runner, easily defeated Pietro Dorando, the Italian, in a 15-mile race at the 74th Regiment armory here tonight. Every American indoor record from the first to the fifteenth mile was smashed. In the first mile Shrubb took a commanding lead which he gradually increased to three laps in the tenth mile. Dorando made several game efforts to regain the lost ground in the 12th and 13th miles. But Shrubb never allowed him to get more than fifteen yards away from him. The time for the fifteen miles was;—

First mile—4.49 2-5.
Second mile—10.05 4-5.
Third mile—15.47 1-5.
Fourth mile—21.17.1-5.
Fifth mile—26.43.
Sixth mile—32.17 2-5.
Seventh mile—37.58 3-5.
Eighth mile—43.36 2-5.
Ninth mile—49.09 2-5.
Tenth mile—54.50 3-5.
Eleventh mile—1.00.37 3-5.
Twelfth mile—1.06.23 2-5.
Thirteenth mile—1.12.21 2-5.
Fourteenth mile—1.18.18.
Fifteenth mile—1.24.06 4-5.

Fred Simpson and Shrubb May Meet Here in a 15-Mile Race

As a result of Shrubb's victory over Dorando in Buffalo last night when he broke all the American indoor records up to fifteen miles, a great effort will be made to have him race Simpson here some time next month. Simpson's record of Wednesday, when he clipped over four minutes off the professional indoor world's record for 10 miles, is better time by over two minutes, than that made by Alfred Shrubb last night. p

Efforts will be made by some local citizens to have the great race pulled off in the Brock street rink for a big purse.

Another Business Has Changed Hands

Mr J. A. Storey, who has been in in the floor, feed, harness and farm implement business in this city for the past year has retired, and will devote his whole time and attention to the agency of the Victoria County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Mr Storey first went into business with Mr. R. H. Leary, and later with Mr. Simpson, who bought Mr. Leary's interests. Now Mr. Storey has sold his interest to Mr. W. J. Young, a well known farmer of Smith township, and he took possession with his partner on Feb. 15th last.

Mr. Storey has been connected with the Victoria County Mutual Fire Insurance Company for the past two years and has worked up a very nice business. He has a good connection in the city and no doubt will do well for the company.

Radial Railways from the South

The Cobourg, Port Hope and Havelock Railway Company is applying for a charter for an electric road to the north. The Cobourg, Peterborough Kawartha Lakes Co. is applying for a similar charter. The main line is to be from Cobourg to Peterborough. Both companies are asking for privileges to run branch lines here, there and everywhere. Cobourg and Port Hope are both taking notice. The Peterborough City Council and the Board of Trade should do likewise.

Committee of the Whole Council

An important meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council will be held this evening, and all the members are requested to be present. Several matters will be taken up.

Funeral of Late Mrs. Pearson

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jeffrey Pearson took place this week from the family residence, Elm St., to the Little Lake cemetery. The service was conducted by Staff Captain Walton of the Salvation Army, of which the deceased was a faithful member. The band was in attendance. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. T. T. Sleight, W. Gadd, W. Payton, F. Gray and F. Gandy.

Murderer Stewart Going to the Asylum

Toronto, Feb. 25.—George Ernest Stewart, who horrified the whole country by a brutal double murder in Melancthon township near Shelburne, and was so violent that the authorities feared to remove him from Orangeville jail to stand his trial, has been adjudged insane, and will be removed in a few days to the ward for the criminal insane at Hamilton Asylum.

Following an investigation by the attorney-general, Mr. Foy, as to Stewart's mental condition, in which three doctors examined him at the jail a governor's warrant has been issued for his committal to the asylum. There he will remain at the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor, and the judicial trial for his terrible crime will probably never be held.

For the past two weeks Stewart has been much more tractable, and daily may be seen walking up and down the corridor of the jail conversing with his father. The reports as to his violence, the authorities claim, were much exaggerated, and beyond violently shaking the bars of his cell and demanding freedom, Stewart has given no trouble." This was a special report made to the department.

Former Montrealer Killed Wife and Himself in Picture Gallery

London, Feb. 25.—It was learned today that John Tempest Dawson, the aged man who yesterday shot his wife while they were together in the National Portrait Gallery and then committed suicide, was a Canadian and lived in Montreal. Mrs. Dawson died in a hospital shortly after.

Mr. Dawson was a wealthy retired business man, and he and his wife had lived for the past ten years at Brighton. Papers on the man's body showed that his act was premeditated.

Remarkable Gathering of the Old Folks

Picton, Feb. 23.—A supper party of the unlucky thirteen, with the youngest guest aged sixty-seven and the eldest eighty-eight, had its setting in the Roblin homestead, a few miles from town, the other night. Mr. James P. Roblin, the venerable 86-year-old father of Manitoba's premier, was the host on the occasion in the house that is over a century old, and where the United Empire Loyalist forefathers of the Roblin family settled. The guests on this occasion were Jeremiah Cole, aged 88, and his 82-year-old wife; John Lambert, 86; Mrs. Lambert, 75; Mrs. Sarah Ketchepaw, 84; Mrs. Walter Roblin, 82; Aaron Foster, 71; his wife, 67; Alfred Foster, 72; Mrs Foster, 69; Mrs. Sarah Losee, 77, Mrs. Sarah Foster, 73.

Programme of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Concert

The following interesting numbers will be played at the orchestra concert this evening, and a rare treat is promised. The soloists will be Miss Bertha May Crawford, soprano of the Metropolitan church, Toronto, and who is well known as a singer of great ability and attraction, and also Miss Lena Dreschsler Adamson, who has won considerable reputation in Toronto and Peterborough as a violiniste of great ability.

Overture—The Merry Wives of Windsor... ... ... Otto Nicolai
Grand Valse—Barber of Selville... ... ...

Bronchitis

SCIENTIFICALLY TREATED.

The best authorities agree that bronchitis is treated most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which goes right to the root of the trouble.

Bronchitis can be treated successfully only by a remedy carried direct to the affected parts along with the air breathed.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic and is inhaled at the mouth, and afterpassing through all the air passages of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, is exhaled through the nose.

The healing vapor of Catarrhozone goes wherever the air you breathe goes, and reaches every part that is affected. No matter how deep-seated the bronchial irritation may be, Catarrhozone is sure to reach it.

Catarrhozone protects and heals the mucous membrane, stops the cough, heals up the sores, and is guaranteed to bring speedy relief and sure cure.

By means of the inhaler Catarrhozone treats the local symptoms of bronchial trouble very effectually. The poisons and impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone, which is a wonderful tonic and stimulant for the entire system.

Ferrozone is a muscle and tissue builder, increases the appetite aids digestion and makes the body so healthy and strong that bronchitis goes away for good.

A prominent steamboat owner, well known throughout Eastern Ontario, Captain Dunlop of Kingston, was perfectly cured of Bronchitis by Catarrhozone. The Captain had suffered for more than 20 years, and says that Catarrhozone is the best cure for Bronchitis on the face of the globe.

Mr. A. J. Calhoun, a prominent citizen of Neepawa, Manitoba, speaks very appreciatively of Catarrhozone as a specific for Bronchitis, and states that his wife could not get along without it.

Everyone that has used Catarrhozone is satisfied that it is superior to all other remedies. It is delightful to inhale, simple and convenient to use, and relieves from the first breath taken through the inhaler.

Better try Catarrhozone. All druggists sell and recommend it. Complete outfit, price $1.00; trial size 50c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1909.

DEALING WITH TRUSTS

Some time since a number of companies engaged in the manufacture of wall paper in the United States entered into a combination for the purpose or controlling prices and limiting output, says the Farmer's Sun. The arrangement made provided that each company should manage its own factory and makes it own sales, but that prices and output were to be regulated by a joint committee representing all those concerned.

Subsequent to the creation of this combination one of the companies forming part of it found it necessary to sue a jobber, who had purchased large quantities of wall paper from it, for a balance of $50,000. The jobber set up the plea in his defence to the action that the plaintiff, being a member of a combination which existed in open defiance of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, had no right to use the law to recover a debt. The case went from court to court, and finally to the Supreme Court of the United States. The latter body has sustained the jobber's plea. It has declared that the plaintiff, by becoming part of an illicit combine, has put itself outside the pale of the law and cannot therefore use the law for the collection of debts, enforcement of contracts, or any other purpose whatever. The same judgment applies of course, to all other companies in the combination, and the effect will be to dissolve the illegal combination, to compel each company to carry on business on its own account —to restore competition between them.

This is another case in which our American neighbors have set us an example in law enforcement. We have plenty of laws against trusts here, but they are not enforced. We have the Criminal Code, which makes it a crime to create such organizations, but this part of the Code has been allowed to become practically a dead letter. The Customs law also empowers the Dominion Government when a trust is formed to prevent domestic competition, to let down the tariff bars and allow British or foreign competition to enter the field. Trusts have been formed, any number of them, but the Dominion government ignores all suggestions looking to the application of the remedy by which relief from the burdens imposed upon consumers by these illegal organizations could be obtained.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

England's National Anthem.

There is a fourth verse of the national anthem with which very few Englishmen indeed are familiar. But it was given, apparently in all good faith, in an old Hanoverian musical work, and the daring of the last rhyme almost reconciles one to the shocking character of the sentiment:

God save great George, our king!
Long live our noble king!
God save the king!
Send us roast beef a store.
If 'T's gone, send us more,
And the key of the cellar door,
That we may drink.

—London Chronicle.

Bright Pupils.

"You have two very bright pupils, Miss Winsome," remarked Mr. Sweetly to the schoolma'am.

"Which ones do you mean, Mr. Sweetly?"

"Why, those in your eyes, to be sure."—Pathfinder.

A Righteous Judge.

One Sunday morning a minister's wife saw her son chasing the hens with a stick. She went to the door to investigate and heard him say, "I'll teach you to lay eggs in a minister's family on Sunday morning!"—Delineator.

The Growlers.

Stage Manager—I wish we could work in a few more realistic touches in this woodland scene. Now, how would it be to have some one growl like a bear? Author—The very thing! We'll call in the critics.—Kansas City Independent.

Cheering.

A nervous young minister, in visiting a remote village, had an unpleasant experience. The old lady at whose house he stayed, in showing him to his room, said:

"It ain't anybody I'd put in this room. This here room is full of sacred associations to me," she went on. "My first husband died in that bed with his head on these pillows, and poor Mr. Jenks died sitting in that corner. Sometimes when I come into the room in the dark I think I see him sitting there still. My own father died layin' right on that lounge right under the window there. Poor pa, he was a spiritualist, and he allus said he'd appear in this room after he died, and sometimes I am foolish enough to look for him. If you should see anything of him to-night, you'd better not tell me. It'd be a sign to me that there was something in spiritualism, and I'd hate to think that. My son by my first man fell dead of heart disease right where you stand. He was a doctor, and there's two whole skeletons in that closet there belonged to him, and half-a-dozen skulls in that lower drawer. If you are up early, and want something to amuse yourself with before breakfast, just open that cupboard there, and you will find a lot of dead men's bones. My poor boy thought a lot of them. Well, good night, and pleasant dreams."

Nine Years' Solitary Confinement.

The Earl of Lauderdale, who has celebrated his 68th birthday, is the hereditary Standard Bearer of Scotland. At the King's Coronation the Standard was borne by Mr. Henry Serymgeour Wedderburn, of Birkhill, Fife, to whom the Court of Claims decided that the office belonged. The decision of the court was challenged by Lord Lauderdale, who contended he was rightfully the Standard Bearer, the office having been granted by Charles II. to his ancestor, Charles Maitland, of Hatton, afterwards Earl of Lauderdale, and the Court of Sessions in Edinburgh decided in his favor. The family of Maitland have been seated at Thirlstane Castle for six centuries. The most distinguished Lord Lauderdale's ancestors was the second earl, who, as a devoted servant of Charles II., was persecuted by the Covenanters, and at the battle of Worcester was taken prisoner and confined in the Tower for nine years. When he was released, in 1660, honors were heaped upon him. He was made Prime Minister and given various high offices the other side the Tweed. Lord Lauderdale owns about 25,000 acres, and his heir is Viscount Maitland, now 40 years of age.

Polygamy in Africa.

The Geographical Journal of London, in an article on the marital relations among the people of Ilegria, says: "Polygamy is the rule, the reason given being that it is impossible for one woman to do all the work of the house, look after the children, prepare and cook the food, fetch the daily supply of water (often an arduous job), cultivate the plantation and go to market. The African is an exceedingly hungry person. It is the custom to eat several times a day when at home, and the men spend most of their day sitting in the palaver house, or market place, while the women bring the food all day long. One wife could not possibly do this. Besides, the African lady encourages it, for she says: 'The more wives the less work'."

Ireland's Wittiest M.P.

Mr. Tim Healy, M.P., does more traveling in the course of a session than any other member of the House of Commons. He not infrequently arrives in London from Dublin at six in the morning and leaves again for the land of his birth the same evening, while on numerous occasions, after spending the night journeying to Dublin, he has opened a case in the law courts without getting a wink of sleep. Few people on this side of the water are aware that Mr. Healy is one of Ireland's leading barristers.

Beresford's Bulldogs.

The fact that Lord Charles Beresford has just presented bulldog pups to four of the battleships in his command reminds one that bulldog breeding is only one of "Charley" Beresford's hobbies. Carpentering and turning are numbered amongst his land recreations, which also include gardening and horse breaking. He has long been a member of the Society of Ornamental Turners, and at his suburban home on Kingston Hill he has a good workshop.

Dizziness. If a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to base failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause by those failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it soon, and see. Sold by all druggists.

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909 We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book
Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore
Hunter Street Nearly Opposite post Office

GREY HAIR
Positively Restored Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by
E. CARNOCHAN
106 Florence St. Ottawa

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

NEW GROCERY
T. O. Yonge
has opened up a new grocery business at the
Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS
where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in Select Groceries
at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS
IN
BEDS
MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25
$3.00 Bed to 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY
Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.
M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.
Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space, for bazaars, etc., apply at Times Business Office.

USE KEARNS' INK
IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF
Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.
We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.
The Ink People Use.
Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by
THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
— OF —
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED
They are finest and purest in the market
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Central Division.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our fine wine many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you should get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 12.00 o'clock, February 27th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Pacific Coast Excursions
to effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.
45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.
44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from
PETERBORO
Tickets sold to certain other points in proportion. Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC
COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars. Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY 2ND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains
VIA
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY
MARITIME EXPRESS
Famed for excellence of
SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE
leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express
Carries the European Mails
and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships
FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL
CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships
LAURENTIC
15,840 tons, triple screw.
MEGANTIC
15,700 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.
Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade
TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO
David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager
Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891
General Banking Business Transacted
Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.
A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO
PAID UP CAPITAL, . $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.
4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.
MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.
W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

LENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, B. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.
For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1891. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary, Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL
Local Agents:
Peterboro Hardware Co.
Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.
THE CANADA METAL CO
'Phone Main 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED
Business direct with Washington saves time, expense, and often secures better patents than those who are remote from the Capital can obtain. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our clients are in every State and County. Write, or come to see us. Letters from Peterboro Clients: Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada; Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals; Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster General; Hon. Wm. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue; Hon. Jas. Sutherland, Speaker of the House of Commons; Hon. Jas. Murphy, Minister of Customs; Hon. Wm. Paterson, Minister of Customs

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

THE

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep prepared by Messrs. A. E. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the, compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, see future advertisements, etc.

The Ontario Election Act will be Amended

Toronto, Feb. 23.—There seems every probability that some important amendments to the Election Act will be proposed by the Ontario Government some time during the present session, although nothing in the nature of an official announcement has yet been given.

A provision which is said on good authority to be under consideration will be concerned with an arrangement whereby sailors, railway men, commercial travelers, and others whose business takes them away from home a great deal will be enabled to vote. Commercial travelers in particular have already asked for some arrangement of this nature.

The method which may be adopted will be one whereby for a certain specified period before an election men whose duty makes it impossible to be at home on election day will be enabled to vote. Their votes will be kept in a ballot box which will subsequently be used by a deputy returning officer without, of course, having been opened, and, by this means, ensuring that no trace shall be obtainable of the identity of the voters.

It is also understood that certain obligations will be laid upon corporations and large employers to labor, to prevent alleged shipping of voters out of a constituency before an election.

Other amendments will probably be concerned with questions of patronage, and will be based largely on disclosures arising from the recent investigation into the Marine Department, and on problems arising from civil service reform affecting the Province.

Although nothing definite is yet known, it is most likely that the same course will be pursued with this as with the government's measure of law reform last session, that is, that the Attorney-General will prepare a resolution which will be laid over till next session, pending the gathering of further information and public opinion.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

Miss Lina D. Adamson, one of the most brilliant of the first rate violinists of Toronto and a member of the staff of the Peterborough Conservative of Music, will be the soloist at the approaching local concert of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PHOTOGRAPHING A SPOOK.

W. T. Stead Tells of His Ghastly Experiments With Camera.

In the January issue of "The Fortnightly Review" Mr. T. W. Stead writes an article under the title "Do the Dead Return?" "I have the gift of automatic handwriting," he declares, and he justifies this assertion by relating the following anecdote: "A lady friend of mine, who can write with my hand at any distance with even more freedom than she can write with her own, had been spending the week-end at Haslemere. Late on Monday afternoon I wished to know if she had left the country, and, placing my pen on the paper, I mentally asked if she had returned to London. My hand wrote as follows: 'I am sorry to tell you I have had a very painful experience, of which I am almost ashamed to speak. I left Haslemere at 2.27 p.m. in a second-class carriage, in which there were two ladies and one gentleman. When the train stopped at Godalming the ladies got out, and I was left alone with the man. After the train started he left his seat and came close to me. I was alarmed, and repelled him. He tried to kiss me. I seized his umbrella and struck him, but it broke, and I was beginning to fear that he would master me when the train began to slow up before arriving at Guildford station. He got frightened, let go of me, and before the train reached the platform he had jumped out and ran away. I have the umbrella.' I sent my secretary up with a note, saying merely I was very sorry to hear what had happened, and added, 'Be sure and bring the man's umbrella on Wednesday.' She wrote in reply: 'I am very sorry you know anything about it. I had made up my mind to tell nobody. I will bring the broken umbrella, but it was my umbrella, not his.'"

The following story furnishes seasonable reading. Referring to the authenticity of spirit photographs, Mr. Stead states that he once paid a visit to a photographer whose mediumship enables him to photograph the Invisibles: "I had hardly taken my seat before the old man said, 'I had a great fright the other day. An old Boer came into the studio carrying a gun. He fairly frightened me, so I said to him, "Go away; I don't like guns." And he went away. Now he's back again. He came in with you. He has not got his gun now, and he does not look so fierce. Shall we let him stay?' 'By all means,' I replied. 'Do you think you could get his photograph?' 'I don't know,' said the old man; 'I can try.' So I sat down in front of the camera, and an exposure was duly made. Before the plate was removed I asked the photographer: 'You spoke to the old Boer the other day. Could you speak to him again?' 'Yes,' he said; 'he's still there behind you.' 'Ask him what his name is!' The photographer appeared to put a mental question and to listen for a reply. Then he said: 'He says his name is Piet Botha.'

"When he developed the plate there was seen standing behind me a hirsute, tall, stalwart man, who might have been a Boer or a Moujik. When Gen. Botha came to London I sent the photograph to him by Mr. Fischer, who was Prime Minister of the old Orange Free State. Next day Mr. Wessels, another Free State delegate, came to see me. 'Where did you get that photograph?' he asked, 'the photograph you gave to Mr. Fischer?' I told him exactly how it had come. 'Why,' said he, 'that man was a near relative of mine. I have got his portrait hanging up in my house at home.' 'Really,' I said. 'Is he dead?' 'He was the first Boer commandant killed in the siege of Kimberley.' 'And what was his name?' 'Pietrus Johannes Botha,' he replied, 'but we always called him Piet Botha for short. I still have the portrait in my possession.'" Mr. Stead adds that no one in England, so far as he was able to ascertain, knew of the existence of Piet Botha.

"Sweet Lavender."

A man of many parts is Mr. Edward Terry, the popular London actor-manager and present Master of the Turners' Company, the city guild that claims to have pioneered technical education. As a comedian, of course, Mr. Terry is at the top of his profession, and probably the majority of readers need no reminder that it was he who first produced "Sweet Lavender," the original run of which was 670 nights. Out of this play Mr. Terry is said to have cleared $250,000, and its author, Mr. Pinero, about one-fourth of that amount. But Mr. Terry has known what it is to "rough it." He made his debut forty-five years ago with a fit-up company, at a salary of $4 per week. An engagement at 35 cents for the first performance and 50 cents for the second, out of a promised weekly salary of $5, followed; and for this he played eighteen parts a week, sang four songs (which he wrote himself) between the acts, and also supplied the songs for a pantomime. Truly, actors worked strenuously in those days.

"Peggy" Bettinson.

Why the genial manager of the London National Sporting Club is called "Peggy," no one seems to know. But he has been "Peggy" since his school days, and "Peggy" he will always be. "Peggy" was a very fine type of the all-round athlete in his younger days. At swimming he could beat most men at any distance up to five miles; he was a fine Rugby player and a brilliant two-handed fighter, winning the lightweight championship in 1888. Mr. Bettinson has many amusing stories to tell of old-time boxers, and apropos of modern methods of training as compared with those of years ago, he says, "I shall never forget the horror of one old boxer who came here (the National Sporting Club) to look after Freddy Welch for one of his fights. The former champion had implicit faith in raw steaks, or, at any rate, in big meat meals, and he almost collapsed when Welch said he was just slipping round the corner for his dinner—at a vegetarian restaurant."

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness in all important cases. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed the stitch in time. Carried in pocket, or purse, Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SUNKEN TREASURE.

Company Has Made Unavailing Efforts to Recover Some.

The ship Alfred Nobel, which some twelve months ago sailed from London to cruise in search for hidden treasure, and which was to have returned to Blackwall piled high with gold and silver and precious stones from sunken wrecks uncharted even in Lloyd's, is, alas and alack, coming back as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. She was the property of the South African Salvage Co., and one of her objectives was Paul Kruger's lost treasure ship, the Dorothea, which lies in seven and a half fathoms of water two miles east of Cape Vidal, on the Tenedo Reef, off the Zululand coast. The Kruger gold, which Oom Paul, so the story runs, sent out of the Transvaal for safety, was said to run to the value of $3,900,000, and it was supposed to be cemented into the bottom of the Dorothea with 200 tons of sand ballast spread over it. Altogether, the Alfred Nobel's program included 38 charted wrecks to work upon along the South African coast. One of these was the Middelburg, an old armed Dutch merchantman, which went to the bottom in 1714 in Saldanha Bay, with $100,000 in doubloons on board.

Capt. C. A. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, was in charge of this treasure expedition. He is essentially of the type of whom the apopthegm might have been written, "Adventures are to Adventurous." He was midshipman on board the Condor under Lord Charles Beresford at the bombardment of Alexandria; and later acted as despatch rider to Lord Roberts in the Boer war. He was sanguine of having a sniff at six millions all told of sunken treasures that lay round and about the South African coast. He had an arrangement with the Cape Government by which once he had attacked a sunken ship no permits would be granted to rivals; and, on the other hand, whatever he raised was to bear a tax of 25 per cent. And now, alas, that tax will never be levied. The picturesque treasure of Oom Paul lies where it did. At the very first set-off disappointment fronted the gallant crew of the Alfred Nobel, for they found that treacherous coast too dangerous, and battered continuously by huge rollers from the Indian Ocean. And the attempt to get into the depths of the Dorothea ended in failure.

Thereupon the Alfred Nobel sailed away to Swakopmund, in German Southwest African territory, where she anchored near the steamship Dunbeth, which lies secure on the teeth of the rocks there, as the result of a fatal foggy night, until the waves batter her to fragments. Here again the quest ended in bitter disappointment, for it was found that even the copper and brass fittings had been "jumped" by previous visitors. Discouraged, but not beaten, the Alfred Nobel, brought up in Saldanha Bay, where lie the ribs of the old Middelburg. Here her divers brought up, after pumping out 10 feet or so of sand, a quantity of old china. Unfortunately, some fine collections of china have been recovered from the Middelburg on many previous occasions, so that this output has become in the nature of a drug in the market.

Again, not deterred, the Alfred Nobel made a course for Table Bay, and had a nibble at the Australian liner Thermopylae, which about ten years ago nearly pushed her nose into the hen-roost of the keeper of the Flash Lighthouse at Three Anchor Bay, which event was made history by Mrs. Langtry's horses, which were on board, swimming ashore. Arriving at the wreck of the Thermopylae, the Alfred Nobel did a lot of blasting; but all the efforts accomplished nothing beyond making an even more complete ruin of the once stately liner. A trip to the sailing ship America followed. The America lies off the Woodstock beach. She went ashore about 1900 in a gale that crippled other shipping in the bay. Her chief cargo was beer and coal, and she was uninsured. A good deal of the coal was got out of her a year or two ago, and realized $10 a ton. Much of the beer was also salved, but it hardly realized custom dues. Then the Alfred Nobel had a look at her. There is still a good deal of beer on board. And that is the painful history of the expedition of the Alfred Nobel, which is shortly due in London.

"A Hero of Friendship."

So Mr. Theodore Watts-Dunton was once described by Rossetti, and certainly the friendships formed by the famous poet and critic are amongst the most interesting features of his career. He was bound to Tennyson, Browning and Rossetti by feelings of almost brotherly love, and he still lives with Swinburne — whose house he has shared for many years—at The Pines, Putney, although he married three years ago. The intimacy which exists between Swinburne and Watts-Dunton might well be described as one of the most beautiful friendships formed by Watts-Dunton. Thirty years ago, when he was leading critic on the "Athenaeum," one of James Russell Lowell's first questions on arriving in England was, "Who is this writer on the "Athenaeum" whose articles are attracting as much attention in America as they surely must be attracting in England?" The enquiry led to a personal meeting, and a friendship was thus formed which was only broken by Lowell's death.

Ninety-Seven Years With Family.

An old servant has just died at Lisburn in the person of Susan O'Hagan, who had been in the service of one family for ninety-seven years. She had been with four generations of the family, and had nursed three. For some time past she had been frail, but enjoyed good health and the full use of her faculties, and could sew and knit without the aid of glasses.

Tax on Horseflesh.

One of the new taxes contemplated in Paris is a duty of 1s. 5d. per cwt. on horseflesh used for human consumption. Strong objections have been raised on the ground that the tax would fall on the very poor and the sick—horseflesh is recommended for consumptives—and would bring in only about $35,000.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a Canadian magazine devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and dainty fancywork. Subscription price 25 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Magician Who Cures Toothache.

Hundreds of sufferers from toothache at St. Petersburg, rich and poor alike, besiege the house of a doorkeeper named Lazaroff, who is widely believed to have magical powers to charm away the pain. Lazaroff claims to have inherited his powers from an uncle. His methods consist in the repetition of a prayer and the gift to each sufferer of a sheet of paper to lay against the ache. He accepts no fee for his cures.

The Resemblance.

A promising young merchant recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp as a birthday gift. He was much flattered when she told him to give it his name until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when only half full, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime and is bound to smoke."

FRUITS OF QUEENSLAND.

Coffee and Banana Are Two of Its Biggest Crops.

The Beachcomber of Dunk Island, North Queensland, thus describes coffee growing in his book "The Confessions of a Beachcomber": In the case of coffee a plentiful supply of cheap labor is essential to success. Those who by judicious treatment of the aboriginals command their services have so far made a profit. A coffee plantation suggests pleasant, picturesque, and spicy things. The orderly lines of the plants, in glossy green adorned for a brief space with white, frail, fugitive flowers distilling a deliciously sweet and grateful odor, the branches crowded with gleaming berries, green, pink, and red, present a pleasing aspect. As a change to the scene of the jungle a coffee estate has a garden-like relief. But picking berry by berry is slow and monotonous work, vexatious, too, to those mortals whose skin is sensitive to the attack of green ants. Then come the various processes of the removal of the pulp, first by machinery, finally by the fermentation of the still adhering slimy residuum; then the drying and saving by exposure to the sun on trays or tarpaulins until all moisture is expelled, and the hulling which disintegrates the parchment from the twin berries; then winnowing, and finally the polishing.

Do drinkers of the fragrant and exhilarating beverage realise the amount of labor and care involved before the crop is taken off and preserved from deterioration and decay? A few berries that may have become mildewed during the slow, tedious and anxious process of drying in the sun may violate the delicate flavor and aroma which the grower has been at pains to secure and fix. No one need starve or pine for lack of wholesome, appetising, and nutritious food while the banana grows as it does in North Queensland, and, common as it is, the banana is one of the curiosities of the vegetable world. One writer says: "It is not a tree, a palm, a bush, a vegetable, nor a herb; it is simply a herbaceous plant with the stature of tree, and is perennial." He adds that the fruit contains no seed, though he qualifies the latter statement by remarking that he had heard of fully-developed seeds occasionally appearing in the cultivated fruit "when left to ripen on the tree," and further that wild varieties of the banana which propagate themselves by seed are reported to be found in some parts of Eastern Asia.

In the most popular of the cultivated varieties, the far-famed Musa Cavendishii, there is little of graceful form save the broad leaves mottled with brown. All the vitality of the plant is expended in astonishing results. A comparatively lowly plant, its productions in suitable soil are prodigious. In nine or ten months after the planting of the rhizome it bears under favorable conditions a bunch weighing as much as 120 pounds to 160 pounds, and comprising as many as 48 dozen individual bananas. So great is the weight that to prevent the downfall of the plant a stake sharpened at each end—one to stick into the ground, and the other into the soft stem—is needed to buttress it. Before the fruit has fully developed other shoots have appeared; but each plant bears but one bunch, and when that is removed the plant is decapitated and slowly decays, and the second and third and fourth shoots from the rhizome successively arrive at the bearing stage, and are permitted to mature each its bunch, and then fated to suffer immediate decapitation.

Fascination of the Footlights.

An illustration of the fascination which the footlights exercise over life-long votaries is furnished by the return to the stage of Miss Dolores Drummond, who, in February, will celebrate her 73rd birthday. Some little time ago Miss Drummond retired after completing fifty-two years of active stage career, but when, recently, she was asked by Miss Millard to play a small part in the revival of "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," she could not resist saying "Yes." Miss Drummond, the granddaughter of an R.A., emigrated to Australia with her mother, a miniature painter, in 1853, and first appeared on the stage when she was eighteen. She supported a "walk on" part in an old iron theatre in Melbourne. The play was "Timour the Tartar," and Miss Drummond was a "beautiful slave," who was sold in the market-place. Later, at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, where "Hamlet" was being staged, the leading lady fell suddenly ill, and Miss Drummond, on invitation, straightway took the part, achieving great success. Since then she has played all sorts of parts with all sorts of actors. The veteran actress's first memorable part as a leading lady was with the great Irish tragedian, G. V. Brooke, who was drowned in "The London" while traveling from England to the colonies.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes. cures! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 25 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

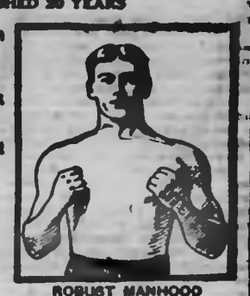
ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Nervous, Diseased Men

DRS. K. & K. ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS

A NERVOUS WRECK

Consultation FREE. Question Blank for Home Treatment sent FREE. Reasonable Fees for Treatment



ROBUST MANHOOD

We Guarantee to Cure all Curable Cases of Stricture, Varicocele, Nervous Debility, Blood Poisons, Vital Weaknesses, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases, and all Diseases Peculiar to Men and Women.

Don't waste your time and money on cheap, dangerous, experimental treatment. Don't increase at your own cost your sufferings by being experimented on with remedies which they claim to have just discovered. But come to us in confidence. We will treat you conscientiously, honestly and skillfully, and restore you to health in the shortest possible time with the least medicine, discomfort and expense practicable. Each case is treated as the symptoms indicate. Our New Method is original and has stood the test for twenty years.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Fenman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

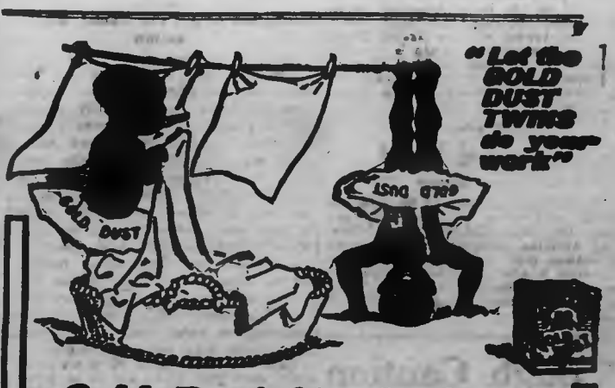
It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"—Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED



Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use or something inferior—there is no middle ground. Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

Gold Dust Washing Powder

GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing dishes and clothes, cleaning woodwork, cleaning silverware and windows, painting brass, washing bath rooms, pipes, etc., and making the finest soft soap.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P.Q.—Makers of PEARY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

What Every Woman Requires for Headache Langour

Miss your strength given out?
Do you feel languid and tired this spring?
Are you pale, somewhat nervous, finding it hard to do your housework?
Thousands feel just the same,—feel the enervating influence of spring, whether that brings out latent symptoms of disease and weakness. You should do like Mrs. Flannigan of Essa Junction—here is her experience. "I will never again suffer the torture of deadening spring illness — never will I have headaches, such sleepless nights, such pale cheeks and lack of appetite. I lived through it all several times, but now I know the medicine that cures. I urge every person, young and old, to try the invigorating effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. When I was so played out, listless,—Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me appetite —I relished my meals and grew strong. Rosy color came to my cheeks, every day I felt brighter and better. All my old strength has been restored and the great tonic, blood purifying powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."
Women who are continually pale, tired and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, aching muscles, bearing, downs pains, lack of sleep and loss of appetite—they are the poor women that surely need Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c at all dealers.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.
SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.
Bell 'Phones—Office 483; House 486.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1909.

OBITUARY

MRS. THOS. ARGUE.

Mrs. Thos. Argue of Manvers, passed away at her home on Tuesday evening, at 6 o'clock. She had slowly declined since a paralytic stroke some time ago. Among the surviving children are Mrs. R. L. Sargisson, Mrs. F. C. Rooke, and Mrs. Emma Argue of this city. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at two o'clock.

DONALD STEWART LAING.

The funeral of the late Donald Stewart Laing, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Laing, took place yesterday morning from the C.P.R. station on the arrival of the early morning train from the east. His death occurred at Lachine on Tuesday, at the age of 3 years, 16 days. The parents of the deceased are both well known in Peterborough and their friends will grieve to learn of their bereavement.

Winnipeg--$21.00

from Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate, a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the travel via the Grand Trunk and this attractive route is steadily increasing. Baggage checked through in bond, no examination. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before deciding on your trip.

Stamped Wood

Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; plaques, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your home. Hyomei cures—cures from a simple cold only—just check a cough, heal, soothe, and cure the inflamed throat and lungs. Don't blindly experiment with a cough mixture. Hyomei cures. Long before you finally cure about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned you not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or other poisons. And now a little pine-like Hyomei—Dropine says: "Follow the trail of pine" and you'll find Hyomei. Then the inhaler breathes it to the sore, raw throat, inflamed bronchial tubes and lungs. Every breath carries the healing, germ-killing essences of Hyomei to the sore, sick spot. No poison stays in the stomach to injure the digestion. Hyomei is breathed, not swallowed. Breathe it 5 minutes four times a day and it cures. Don't dose your stomach. Breathe Hyomei. Complete outfit, including inhaler, only $1.00. Extra bottles, if afterwards needed, 50c. Sold by druggists everywhere, or by Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Ingersoll, Ont.

Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure

"ALL DEALERS"

PERSONAL

Mrs. W. H. Robertson will receive today.

Miss M. Flag of Smiths Falls, is the guest of Misses Flynn, of Dennistoun avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Henshwood, of Winnipeg, are the guests of Mrs. Yelland, Harvey street.

The many friends of Mr. Gordon C. Miller will regret to learn that he is confined to the house on account of illness.

The many friends of Mr. B. Cooney will be glad to learn that he is progressing favorably and a complete recovery is looked for shortly.

Miss Edna E. Armstrong of Peterborough, spent a few days of the past week with Mrs. G. A. Kingston.—Campbellford Herald.

Miss Gertie Allison and Mr. Norman Allison entertained a number of their friends at their home Wednesday evening.

Mr J. G. Coughlin of Peterborough, was in town today on business. —Lindsay Warder.

Miss E. Justice of Bobcaygeon, who has been the guest of Miss Fowler, Ashburnham, returned home yesterday.

Mr. W. E. Brooks, the genial proprietor of the South Beach hotel, at Young's Point, is spending a day or awo in the city.

Mr. E. Manning, the well-known wall paper man of this city, has accepted the management of the new Room Decorating Department of A. W. Cressman's, which is being opened this week, and will be assisted by Mr. Frank L. Wanzer, of Birge and Co., Buffalo, for the next two weeks.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —50c. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., is a member of the following standing committees of the Legislature;— Private Bills, Standing Orders, Municipal Law, Fish and Game, and Mr. Thompson, M.P.P., of the following; Railways, Standing Orders and Agriculture and Colonization

Read advt. re sacrifice sale in another column. Times Bookstore.

Jim Hill as a Cain Raiser

(Kaslo Kootenian.)

With a great blare of trumpets and bang of cymbals the Vancouver press has announced that Jim Hill is going to connect up a number of stray railroad links from Galveston to Vancouver, put on a five-day passenger service between these cities and make the latter a cotton export point. Oh, yes, Jim Hill is always going to raise Cain. It is Jim Hill who is always planning to put on a limited train between St. Paul and the Pacific Coast that will knock all existing speed records into a cocked hat. It is Jim Hill who is going to collar the trans-Pacific trade with a huge fleet of ocean going steamships. Some years ago when the Kaslo & Slocan Railway was added to the Great Northern, it was predicted that the line would be standard gauged and extende from Sandon to Slocan City by way of New Denver and Silverton. The projected program was not only not carried but but the original Kaslo & Slocan has been topped in two and the service cut down to tri-weekly. Yet it was Jim Hill who was going to make a great line for traffic between the Kootenays and Spokane, out of the Kootenay Valley line, extending from Bonner's Ferry to Kootenay Landing. The service on that is now a tri-weekly one also. Jim Hill was going to push the V. V. & E. through to the coast in record order and smash all existing freight rates to Gebenna open up the Similkameen and develop the country thereabouts. Just now the people of that neighborhood are wondering whether the crack of doom or the V. V. & E. will come along first, but are now beginning to suspect that it will be the former.

Young's Point

Formation of a New Social Organization

The new club known as the "Independent Order of Dead Game Sports," which was recently organized at Young's Point, gave a very enjoyable euchre party and dance on Monday evening last in the town hall. Refreshments were served by Caterer Pinot, after which dancing was indulged in to the music of the local orchestra led by Mr. Wm. McFarlane, who was elected to the position of High Chief Ranger of the club. The lively music furnished was appreciated by those present, who were obliged to indulge in some serious ankle twisting in order to keep in line with the music.

This was the first of a series of social functions that are to be given by the club during the season. The Committee of management were; Messrs. Ed. Young, A. A. Smith, W. E. Brooks and Mr. W. McFarlane.

At a business meeting of the club the following gentlemen were elected honorary members; Dr. J. R. Fraser, Jimmy Ridpath and W. H. Cressman, Lakefield; Ald. Hicks, A. Gibson and Geo. W. Hatton, Peterborough; G. B. Stone, W. Webster and George Bausb, Rochester, Dr. Clarke and W. H. Brodish, Buffalo.

Just before the meeting adjourned the president suggested that an effort be made to get the club into affiliation with the Lime Juice Club, which was about to be reassociated, but the suggestion was almost unanimously voted down, after which the meeting went home.

Large wire post card racks 15c. or we for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Fred Simpson Visiting at His Home

Mr. Fred Simpson, the breaker of records, arrived in the city yesterday morning after his triumph in Toronto on Wednesday night. He is feeling fine and is in great shape. He is confident that he can win from Shrubb this summer at ten and fifteen miles. Fred will spend several days with his family at Hiawatha where he will rest for awhile before again reporting to his manager, Tom Eck.

Yesterday afternoon Simpson went to the Crystal theater, where he was given a great reception by the audience. Manager Edwards has also arranged for Simpson to sing in the Crystal on Saturday.

Since Fred made his record in Toronto he has been placed in the front ranks of runners and already there is a movement on foot to have a three-man race here between Simpson, Shrubb and Dorando. If the promoters are successful the event will be a great drawing card, and the rink will be packed to the doors.

Horse and Buggy Go Through Ice

Yesterday morning while Mr. Norman Andrews, who is an employe of Drummond and Duffus, Massey-Harris agents, Peterborough, was driving a traveller up the back line between the 2nd and 4th Concession, he had an experience which he will likely remember for a while. There is a swamp about 165 yards long, which was covered with ice, and Mr. Andrews, thinking there was only about three or four inches of water under the ice, faced his horse for the opposite side. He had only got a few feet out on the ice when it began to break, and the horse to make matters worse started to jump around which was anything but pleasant to the occupants of the rig. The front wheels struck against strong ice and stuck, but the horse left the rig and struck for more comfortable surroundings, which happened to be a bridge close at hand. Farmers living close to the scene came to the rescue with ropes, and after much hard labor the rig was put on the road again.

The only damage done was to have the whiffletree broken, and they landed home, the buggy looking like a block of ice, and the horse coated with the same material.

A Master of the Art of News-Letter Writing

William E. Curtis, the famous correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, probably has a more enviable position and is read by more men and women daily than any other newspaper writer in the United States. He can go anywhere in the world and write on any live topic that he chooses, so long as he interests his hundreds of thousands of readers. He has travelled several times around the world and written entertainingly about almost every country under the sun.

Every day in the year, without vacation or intermission, Mr. Curtis has a two-column letter in the Record-Herald. The remarkable thing about these letters is their power to interest all classes of readers. Women read them with the same enjoyment as men. Whether the subject be politics, travels, a new kink in the Monroe doctrine, an interview with the newest money king or the personal history of an Egyptian mummy the story is always told with a limpid simplicity and an unfailing sense of interest that keeps one reading to the end. No other correspondent now living can match the record of Mr. Curtis as a popular purveyor of timely and useful information. Whether he writes from his home in Washington or from the wilds of Mexico, or from the gay streets of Paris or some remote temple in India, he always has something fresh and entertaining to tell.

Mr. Curtis began his newspaper career in Chicago as a reporter in 1872, speedily became a managing editor, resigned to serve as secretary of a government commission sent to South America, and fulfilled his duties so brilliantly there that Secretary James G. Blaine placed him at the head of the new bureau of American republics. He is almost as widely known in South America and Europe as in the United States. At the world's fair in Chicago he was the executive head of the Latin-American department. He is a member of almost every learned society in Washington and many in Europe.

Nobody outside of the Record-Herald office knows under what flag Mr. Curtis will next be hanging up his hat, but everybody knows that, wherever it be in Patagonia or Kamchatka, he will find something interesting to write about. Merely to read his daily news-letters is a liberal education. He does his full share toward making the Chicago Record-Herald the best home newspaper in the West.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. He so publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York products.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

"Buns" of Winchester.

Amongst Parliamentary nicknames this is one of the most curious. It was bestowed upon Sir Frederick Banbury, who recently celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday, when he was at Winchester. At school he won as much distinction at football as he has since done in the House of Commons on account of his clever, though lengthy, speeches. He is the champion talkist of the House, and can speak on any subject at any time and at any length. Nevertheless, he is popular, even with Sir Carne Rasch, the avowed enemy of long speeches. For Sir Frederick possesses a geniality which attracts many friends. By one of the pleasantries of nature he is as little like the popular conception of him as could possibly be imagined, being perfectly groomed, bright-eyed and bright-colored, and favored with a most friendly smile.

British Millionaires in the Making.

That America has no monopoly of the romances of commerce is proved by the career of the late Mr. George Singer, who has just died at Coventry, England, and who, starting as a mechanic, amassed one of the greatest fortunes ever made in the cycle industry. Sir William Arrol, whose career has been still more romantic, began his working life, as a child of nine, in a cotton-mill; Sir Christopher Furness's fortune was cradled behind a grocer's counter. The late Sir John Lang's start was as an ill-paid reporter; and at nine years of age Sir Thomas J. Lipton is proud to recall that he was able to add a weekly half-crown to the poor family purse by errand-boy's work in Glasgow.

Burst Water-Pipes.

Prof. Vivian B. Lewes, lecturing in London, England, on the wonders of water, had something to say about the bursting of the domestic water-pipe after a frost. He gave a simple remedy. If a householder has an outside leaden pipe which is in the habit of bursting, all he has to do is to gently tap it with a mallet so as to slightly flatten it. When the next frost comes round there will be no bursting, but the pipe will force itself a little towards the circular again, and the succeeding frost will probably bring the pipe back to its original rotundity, when the mallet will have to be again brought into use.

In William IV.'s Employment.

One of the old-age pensioners at Hampton-on-Thames is Mr. Thomas Foster, who is 90 years of age, and has lived in Uxbridge road for sixty years. When a boy he was in the employ of the Duke of Clarence, afterwards William IV., in Bushey Park, and had to open and shut the paddock gates when the duke went for a ride.

Dowries For Brides.

Miss Agnes Boyle and Miss J. Metcalfe, two domestic servants at Rothesay, Scotland, who are about to be married—one to a member of the Dreadnought's crew and the other to a local mechanic—have been chosen to share the late Marquis of Bute's marriage dowry of $175.

Mrs. Geo. Scott and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Jennie, of Gilbert Plains, Man., are the guests of Mrs. Scott's sister, Mrs. Arthur Everson, Wescott street.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhilarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra

60--PLAYERS--60

CONCERT, FEBRUARY 26th,

AT 8:15 P.M.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Reserved Seats $1.50 and 1.00

Public sale of seats opens Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock.

RESPITE FROM GREAT QUAKES?

Despite the terrible cataclysm of December 28, a seismological writer has pointed out in the English scientific journal Nature, some reasons for hoping that the recently convulsed regions in and around Southern Italy may now expect a long era of comparative repose. This apparently sanguine inference is based chiefly on the facts that the similar Calabrian cataclysm of 1783 was followed by a sixty years' respite from destructive earthquakes and that that lesser quake disaster of 1638 was not repeated on a large scale for twenty one years.

In examining the intensely interesting question whether the devasted district may now look for repose the scientific correspondent of Nature notes that the Italian earthshocks of 1905 and 1907 may possibly be regarded as preparatory to the greater earthquake of 1908. It is recalled that the analogous great Japanese cataclysm of 1891, which occasioned deep displacements along a fault-line sixty-five miles long, was preceded by minor shocks at both ends of the line. It is suggested, therefore, that such minor quakes give only partial and temporary relief to the gradually increasing strain, but are premonitory of final rupture of the deep rocks, which is regarded as the primary cause of all seismic cataclysms.

Plausible as is this interpretation of the preparatory shocks, he absolute conclusion as to its applicability in respect to Italian convulsions can be confidently drawn as the British scientists admits. Nevertheless, observation seems to show clearly that after earthquakes of high intensity occur the danger of very rare seismic disasters gradually passes away for a period of several years.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 18th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poupin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
F. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 49 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

A Commissioner of Industries was Chosen

Ald. Bradburn announced to the committee of the whole council last night that he had intended in the early part of the year to introduce a motion to appoint a commissioner of industries for the city. But as the city is this year so short of funds he finds it is impossible to take such action. He proposed, however, that the city clerk be authorized to assist the Manufacturers' Committee and the power committee. To do this it may be necessary for the clerk to be out of the city an occasional day and for the protection of that official he moved the following motion which was carried unanimously:

That, as the council is not in a position this year to provide for the appointment of a commissioner of industries or a similar officer, the city clerk be instructed to assist the manufacturers and power committees so far as he can give them assistance in the work they have to do.

Immense Distances Between the Earth and Sun is Surprising

The few who availed themselves of the opportunity to hear one of the most learned astronomers in Canada were given a lot of food for thought last night. Prof. C. A. Chant of the Toronto University, gave an illustrated lecture in the Collegiate Institute before the Peterborough branch of the Royal Astronomical Society. Prof. Chant is a most interesting speaker. His long connection with students and his his matter of fact conversational manner in speaking adds a great charm to his lecture. He has a large number of very beautiful slides which were thrown on a canvass by means of the electric lamp at the school.

The chief feature of the talk was the immense distances between the earth and the stars. Light, he said, travels at the rate of 186,000 miles per second. The light from the sun requires about eight minutes to reach the earth. Neptune is one of the nearest stars and it requires four hours for the light to reach the earth, thus Neptune is 30 times the distance from the earth that the sun is. Outside of three or four planets the nearest star is so far away that it requires the light, travelling at the same rate of speed, viz., 186,000 miles per second, four years to reach the earth. There is not a star in the sky closer than that.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was moved by Rev. J. W. Henderson and seconded by Mr. T. A. S. Hay.

Large wire post card racks 15c, or wo for 25c. Times Bookstore.

PETERBORO' RADIAL RAILWAY CO. INTEND TO START WORK

On Extension to Lakefield and Stony Lake This Summer—Also Have Plans for Extensions in This City—Arranging to Place Their Bonds on the Market

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company, have serious intentions of constructing the extension of their line to Lakefield and Stony Lake during the coming year. Mr. J. H. Larmonth has been in Chicago for several days taking the matter up with Mr. Robt. Stewart. Not only does the company intend to build to Lakefield this year, but are also preparing plans for extensive extensions within the city. These plans include extensions to the R. C. cemetery and also around to the Normal school. Mr. J. H. Larmonth stated that the Chicago office was now making arrangements to place their bonds on the market.

The matter was taken up in the Committee of the Whole Council when the following discussion was indulged in;—

Ald. Phelan read a letter he received from the Peterborough Light & Power Co., which referred to their desire to re-arrange their pole line on Simcoe street from George to the Peterborough Cereal Company and some other changes.

of the chairman of the Board of Works and city engineer.

RAILWAY EXTENSION.

On motion it was left in the hands Mayor Rush stated that Mr. Gordon, secretary of the Quaker Oats Co., had called upon him in reference to the company's application to the legislature for an extension of time in which to build their line to Lakefield and Stony Lake. His worship stated that if the council received a definite statement in writing from Mr. Stuart as to when they would start the work the council would be satisfied.

The mayor read a letter received from Mr. Stuart outling their intentions in regard to the extension of their lines. The letter stated that they were considering the matter seriously and if they succeeded they expected to take the matter up immediately.

Mr. J. H. Larmonth, manager of the street railway company, who has just returned from Chicago, was heard. Mr. Larmonth said he went to Chicago for this purpose especially. He said Mr. Stuart was particularly anxious to have the city support them. In Chicago they do not feel that they can do anything before the time expires. But they were doing their best and felt that the work would be started this summer. Mr. Stuart has very large interests here but he does not feel that he would like to put $100,000 of his own money in o it. He wants to sell bonds and he is making arrangements towards that end. This is a pretty good time to sell bonds and they fully expect to get the work under way this summer.

The mayor asked if it would cost $100,000.

Mr. Larmonth stated that the company is contemplating making several extensions to their lines in the city which will cost $25,000 or $30,000.

Ald. Gillespie asked if the extensions in the city would include Ashburnham.

Mr. Larmonth said that if they could only get over the river they would build that line at once. They had figures for a new bridge, but it ran into so much money that they could not consider it.

Mr. Larmonth said that if the council would support the company for one year's extension the legislature would no doubt grant it. He spoke on behalf of the company in perfect good faith.

The local extensions in city are down the C.G.E. line to Albert and along Albert to the R.C. cemetery, and also that another line on McDonnell street around to Argyle and up to the Normal school and back to George street.

He added that it would certainly be of more interest to the city to have a local company build a line than for an outside company to come in.

Moved by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Buller that the city support the company's application for one year's extension on the undertaking that some action will be taken.

Ald. Morgan moved in amendment that a clause of "written guarantee be given the city by the company."

The original motion carried.

The Toronto Symphony Orchestra Made Great Impression on People

One of the most delightful entertainments ever given in this city was that rendered by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Frank S. Welsman. This musical organization is recognized as the best in the Dominion and those who were present enjoyed a rare treat while the absent ones missed an opportunity of a life time. There are 60 members in the orchestra and everyone is a musician. The whole program was a delight to all present and the Symphony Orchestra is an organization which Toronto might well feel proud of and it is one which will bring fame to that city and place it in the front ranks of the music loving cities in America.

Peterborough cannot be called a music loving city as the people here do not appreciate music and especially music of the higher class. This has been demonstrated on several occasions, and it is something to be greatly regretted. The attendance last night was very small. Those who were responsible for the visit of the orchestra are to be commended upon their enterprise. They have done what they could to give Peterborough an opportunity to hear the best.

Among the numbers which were very popular were [illegible] selections by Miss [illegible] and the violin solo by Miss A[illegible] of Toronto, who is also [illegible] of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music.

The program was [illegible]

Overture—The Merry [illegible] ..... Otto Nicolai
Grand Valse—Barber [illegible] ..... Solvik
[illegible] ..... Vongino
Miss Bertha May [illegible]ford.
The unfinished symp[illegible] ..... Schubert
Violin Concerto [illegible] ..... Goldmark
Miss Lina Drech[illegible] Adamson.
Vorspiel to the 3rd Ac[illegible] of..... Kaiser
"Kunihild" [illegible] ..... Kaiser
Elegaic melody for stringed instruments [illegible] ..... Grieg
Spanish Dance [illegible] ..... Moszkowski
Overture—The Hebrides ..... Mendelssohn
Group of songs—
'Twas April [illegible] ..... Nevin
When the Roses B[illegible] ..... Richardt
May Morning [illegible] ..... Denza
Miss Bertha May Crawford.
Three dances from "Henry VIII"

Several Grants Made Last Night

A meeting of the Finance Committee was held yesterday afternoon when several minor matters were dealt with. Those present were Ald. Morrow, Mayor Rush, Aldermen Bradburn, Gillespie and Phelan.

Moved by Alderman Bradburn and Gillespie that a grant of $25 be made to the Peterborough Teachers' Institute—Carried.

Moved by Aldermen Phelan and Bradburn that the city's annual membership fee of $30 be paid to the United Canadian Municipal Union.—Carried.

Moved by Aldermen Gillespie and Phelan that one copy of Ontario Gazette be subscribed for for the city office.—Carried.

The City Medical Association Met

A largely attended [illegible] Medical Association was held on Thursday evening in the Board of Montreal rooms. [illegible] Dr. Morgan was in the Chair. Papers were read by Drs. [illegible] and Macpherson. Dr. [illegible] subject being "Epelamp [illegible] Dr. Macpherson's being "[illegible] Feeding" Both were interesting and instructive. They were followed by a discussion by the members.

Douro Protest Case Adjourned Until Wednesday, March 3rd

Evidence of Several Witnesses Taken by His Honor Judge Weller—Edward Welsh Gave Evidence of Receiving $3.00 from Wm. Moher to Pay for His Services as Scrutineer at the Provincial Elections in June

Mr. D. Maloney charged Reeve F. Moher with bribery during the last election. Case was heard by Judge Weller. Evidence was not all taken and the case was enlarged until next Wednesday.

Mr. Moher had not returned from Ottawa when the court adjourned.

Evidence in first charge, viz. that Wm. H. White had received $2, was not sufficiently strong for a conviction and more evidence will likely be taken.

"In the County Court of the County of Peterborough, Province of Ontario, County of Peterborough.

Be it remembered that on the 13th day of February A.D., 1909, before one Charles Alexander Weller, Judge of the County Court of the County of Peterborough cometh Dennis Moloney of the township of Douro in the said County of Peterborough, farmer, and John P. Leahy of the said township, farmer, and Daniel Moloney and acknowledged themselves severally and respectively to our Sovereign Lord, the King, as follows, that is to say, the said Dennis Moloney, the sum of two hundred dollars and the said John P. Leahy and Daniel Moloney, the sum of one hundred dollars (each)—the word each was left out of the recognisance by the stenographer who wrote from the draft prepared.

That little word being omitted was the cause of an objection by Mr. E. A. Peck, the counsel for Mr. Daniel Moher, reeve of Douro, in the protest of the election for reeveship of that township, the protest being made by Mr. Dennis Moloney, Mr. Moher's opponent.

The hearing in connection with the protest opened yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the County Council chambers before his honor Judge Weller. Deep interest has been taken in the matter by the ratepayers throughout the county and especially in Douro, and a very large audience of interested spectators was in attendance. None of the evidence was taken however, the entire morning being devoted to the consideration of the objections of Mr. Peck on what he considered irregularities and the contra arguments of Mr. R. F. McWilliams, who appeared on behalf of the relator. His honor after hearing both decided to go on with the case subject to the objections and it was enlarged until 2.30 in the afternoon.

THE EVIDENCE.

The protest case against the election of Mr. Moher of Douro, was resumed yesterday afternoon, when the evidence was taken.

Ed Welsh, a voter of Douro, who voted last January and the past few years. For several years there has been a close contest between Mr. Moher and Mr. Maloney.

At this point Mr. E. A. Peck arrived and on behalf of Mr. Moher, who was out of the city asked that Mr. Welsh be left over until Mr. Moher returned. His honor consented.

Mr. Edward Fitzgerald was next called. When this witness was called Mr. Peck asked for a specific charge being made. His honor said the request should have been made in the morning. It was too late now.

Mr. Peck asked his honor to note his objection to this evidence being taken.

Mr. McWilliams stated that Mr. Fitzgerald was not on any one of the charges named.

His honor then stated that he could not take that witnesses evidence.

Mr. Morris O'Brien of Douro, was the next witness. He was always known as a supporter of Mr. Moher. He canvassed Mr. Wm. H. White and his son. He stated that he did not pay any money to the Whites. Mr. Jas. Welsh was with him. He did not think Michael Welsh was with him at any time. Witness and Jas. Welsh were not always together. Witness did not see Welsh make any payment nor did he hear of any promise. He did not make any promise to White and paid nothing. He did not say that anyone else would pay them anything. He only drew two voters to the polls but he had talked to a great number of voters. He had often talked with Mr. Moher and he asked witness to see White. White was being taken to the polls by another man, Mr. Jas. Welsh, and witness took him away from Welsh and drove him to the polls.

He did not see White get $2.00 for his vote and does not know anything about it.

James Welsh was called next but did not answer.

Michael Welsh was called. He is a voter in Douro, and a member of

(Continued on page four.)

Lakefield Won from Strathconas by 13 to 6

(Special to The Times.)

Lakefield, Feb. 26.—The mighty Strathconas from Peterborough once more went down to defeat at the hands of the speedy city league team from this town. The return half of the home and home games which resulted from a keen desire on the part of the Strathconas to show that they are a better team than the Lakefield bunch. The first game was played in Peterborough, and resulted in a win for the home boys by four goals to one. But when the end of the second game arrived the score was 13 to 6 in favor of Lakefield or a total of 14 to 10 in favor of Lakefield.

The rink tonight was packed fully three hundred people were crowded in and it represented the largest crowd that has been in the rink for years. The whole of Lakefield are supporters of the hockey team and naturally the big win tonight was the cause of great jubilation.

The game was very fast and clean. Referee Murcoff had very few penalties to hand but and he kept the players well under control. The play was decidedly in favor of Lakefield as the score would indicate. All the boys were on their mettle and played great hockey. The local rink is somewhat smaller than Brock street rink and as Lakefield is more accustomed to it they were at home while the Strathconas were at some disadvantage. The visitors were also minus Dusty whose place was taken by Chas. Barber, who put up a pretty fair article.

A couple of sleigh loads of enthusiasts accompanied the Peterborough team.

The County Council Arrived from Ottawa

The deputation from the County Council which went to Ottawa on Tuesday morning, returned home last night after a very pleasant visit at the capital, and what they think will be a successful one. They had the pleasure of interviewing several of the ministers in connection with the construction of bridges, etc., in this county. The Minister of Railways and Canals, Hon. Geo. P. Graham promised to widen the approaches to the Buckhorn bridge, and the swing will also likely be moved from the locks as it it was at Young's Point.

The bridge for the Indians to connect Ennismore with the Indian village was taken up by the superintendent of the Indian department, Mr. Pedley. He will look into the matter carefully.

Hon Mr. Pugsley was interviewed in connection with the new bridge over Ball Lake Narrows and he promised to take it into his serious consideration. The cost of the bridge was estimated at $70 0 somewhat lower than [illegible] and the government was only asked for $[illegible] the county expects to get [illegible]

Warden Sco[illegible] but while in Ottawa the[illegible] accompanied by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P. for the House of Commons. He gave them a first-[illegible] and also worked hard [illegible]

HOCKEY

An exciting [illegible] played at the Park street rink last night when the [illegible] of the Peterborough Hardware Company put a [illegible] the Counter Hoppers from A. W. Cressman & Co's store. The score was 4—2 in favor [illegible] The exhibition [illegible] of shinny, [illegible] lacking, catching [illegible] tag. At the [illegible] me the Counter Hoppers [illegible] account's. The [illegible] rough and several of [illegible] orations won in honor of their service to the [illegible] team.

Grits and Tories Play Tie Game in Curling, Seven Rinks Entered

The great battle between the Grit and Tory curlers which used to be an annual affair, was received last night and seven rinks waged war as earnestly as though they were in a political fight. It is true that the Grits induced several Tories to desert and play with them and this evidently was the cause of the closeness of the contest. The final score was 75 all, and as it was the aggregate number of points which counted the game was a tie, and a new election has been demanded. The date has been fixed for Monday and all the curlers are requested to bear this in mind as a great deal depends on the results. The Tories won the last contest two years ago, and they do not intend to allow their flag to drag in the mud this time. There were two tied games between Skips Hicks and J. H. Ferguson, and W. Lang and G. H. Giroux. But the real fight was the last end between Skips W. G. Ferguson and C. N. Brown. The Grits in this game got one 4-end which took the wind out of the Tories sails. At the 12th end the Grits were four shots up which gave them the lead of one on the total. Skip Brown started out to get a big end and was laying his stone around the small ring in good shape for a five end. But T. Brightman came up with a beautiful shot and just moved in far enough to be third. Then R. Neill shot but missed and Brightman took another shot and missed. Neill also missed. Skip Ferguson placed a good one and it was just hard enough to touch Brightman's stone up for shot with his own account. Plainly it was up to Skip Brown to save the Tories' honor. He tried but struck one of the guards. Ferguson's last stone did not count so it was up to Brown to do some fancy work. This he did by taking out the Grits' two stones and laid shot himself. A mighty cheer went up and the veteran skip smiled quietly to himself. His last shot won the day and made it a tie so that another game will be played. The rinks and scores were:—

M. Lyle	G. Tovey
G. Ferguson	H. Evans
Dr. Eastwood	J. Montgomery
W. M. Lang—13.	G. H. Giroux—13
R. Donne	T. Minnecla
F. N. Barber	C. James
S. D. Hall	G. McFadden
W. J. Thompson—11.	W. E. Talbot—15
H. Hall	J. D. Craig
L. Hall	G. Maitland
W. Taylor	J. H. Knapman
D. Davidson—10	S. Ray—7
G. Hill	L. Dobbin
W. G. Read	J. W. McDermid
D. Hall	W. H. Denham
Fitzgerald—4.	Matthews—15
Grit	Tory
R. Horstone	W. Adamson
W. T. Hall	R. Carton
T. Brightman	R. Neill
Ferguson—12.	Brown—9
A. Gibson	G. Beckham
A. Stewart	Dr. Buchanan
G. L. Guy	H. A. Morrow
Morrow—15.	Dr. Greer—6
J. D. Collins	W. S. Dodd
E. J. Winch	Dr. Cameron
W. H. Bradburn	D. R. Davidson
R. Hicks—10.	J. H. Ferguson—10

High School grammar and composition book left by mistake in Times Bookstore, awaits an owner.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Hamilton Girl Shot Dead in Her Own Residence

THE MAN WANTED.

Age about 25 years.
Height about five feet seven or eight inches. Pretty stout.
Medium dark complexion.
Long, wavy, dark-brown moustache, drooping over mouth.
Wears dark suit and dark overcoat, and a black slouch hat pulled down over the eyes.

Hamilton, Feb. 26.—To be foully murdered in her own home, in broad daylight, by a man, who emptied the contents of a 38-calibre five-chambered revolver into her body before making good his escape, was the cruel fate that befel Ethel Kinrade, twenty-three years of age, second eldest daughter of T. L. Kinrade, principal of the Cannon street school, yesterday afternoon. The deed appears to be the work of a tramp or of a burglar working in that disguise.

A remarkable feature of the tragedy is that the mother of the dead girl was at police headquarters appealing for protection against the brute, who slew her daughter, when the murder was committed.

The case is one replete with pathetic feature[illegible] doubtful if before a c[illegible] history created su[illegible] or stirred [illegible]

During T[illegible] entered the [illegible] residence [illegible] Bethune [illegible] six turkey[illegible] ducks and two sides of bac[illegible] not aware of the [illegible] next morning. The matter was referred to the police, who are making an investigation. Mr. Hamilton has his suspicions as to who the guilty party is.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Makes delicious hot biscuit, griddle cakes, rolls and muffins.

The only Baking Powder Made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Cigarette Smokers Will Have to Pay Cent More Per Package

New York, Feb. 28.—The proposed increase in the price of cigarettes announced yesterday will not be more than a cent or two per package. While this may sound like a small affair, it will actually mean millions of dollars per year to the cigarette smokers of the country.

According to official government figures 55,462,290,113 cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year.

In round numbers this means 5,500,000,000 packages, ten cigarettes to a package. An increase of one cent a package for those consumed in this country, as well as those exported, would mean an additional tax of $55,000,000 on the cigarette smokers.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "The stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE BREW

One may have a Delicious, Wholesome cup of

POSTUM

if it is properly brewed—but Postum, like all good things, can be spoiled in the making. If cook has abused you, have another try. It's easy—follow directions on pkg.

"There's a Reason"

IF YOU H V .

Catarrh . .

Remember the Best Catarrh Medicine that Money can Buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it.

Catarrhozone is a rational common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of Catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure, costs $1, or a trial size 50c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is widely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be delivered to subscribers in the city for 25c per month, and can be had by mail at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY.

Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1909.

KEENE.

Miss Jennie McGregor of Peterborough, spent Sunday in Keene the guest of her sisters.

Mr. Geo. L. Gall spent a few days in Peterborough, on business.

A picked hockey team from Peterborough drove down to Keene on Monday evening, and were defeated by the home team. The score being 9—1. We will say it was the poor light and the small rink; not the good home brew from the small village.

Miss McKittrick of Petrolea, who has been in the village for a number of weeks returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. Nicholas Doris spent Monday in Hastings.

Mr. Jno. B. Doris while hauling out a block of ice slipped, and allowed the block to take him into the hole. John being an active young fellow escaped with only a partial wetting.

Mr. Jas. Dirkson who has spent the last two weeks in Toronto, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLachlan entertained a number of their friends on Monday evening. The evening was spent playing euchre and tripping light fantastic. At twelve o'clock a dainty luncheon was served, and all reported an excellent time.

Mr. Herbert J. Miller of Bonafort, was in the village this week on business.

We are pleased to report that Mr. Jno. Reid, who has been laid up with la grippe, is able to be out again.

R. J. McManus spent a couple of days in Roseneath the guest of Jno. Murphy.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to base failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all druggists.

Winnipeg—$21.00

from Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate, a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the travel via the Grand Trunk and this attractive route is steadily increasing. Baggage checked through in bond, no examination. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before booking on your trip.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SPARING HER NERVES.

A Careful, Considerate Visitor and Her Timid Friend.

The mistakes which were plentifully sprinkled along Mrs Comer's career were never regretted by any one more than by Mrs. Comer herself. "I used the very best judgment I had," she said, referring to one unfortunate occurrence, "but, as usual, everything went wrong.

"You see, I went to Greenville in the morning with Mrs Hobart, intending to go on to Nashua, but I changed my mind when the weather turned cool and spent the day with Anna Woods, going home at dusk. I'd forgotten my little bag with my key in it, so I went right over to Mrs. Hobart's.

"She'd gone down the road to Mrs. Cole's, but I found her key behind the left hand blind and went right in.

"The house was dark, but I said to myself, 'I won't light a lamp for fear of scaring her, a timid woman, living all alone, as she does.' So I sat in the dark till I heard her coming up the walk.

"When she found the door was unlocked she gave a kind of a gasp, so I stepped forward and then, long as I had a cold so my voice didn't sound natural and I was afraid twould scare her, she being so timid. I put out my hand and laid it on her arm.

"And, if you'll believe me," finished Mrs. Comer plaintively, "she fell right over in a faint and cut her forehead on the edge of the rocking chair, and I though I'd never bring her to!

"There's no use trying to be careful with a woman like her."

CIRCUS CHILDREN.

The Making of Acrobats Begins at an Early Age.

It is nothing unusual for the larger circuses to carry thirty and forty children, ranging all the way from mere babies to boys and girls of fifteen and sixteen years of age. The majority are traveling with their parents, both the father and mother doing daily duty in the ring, and while often they are trained to follow in the steps of their elders they are seldom allowed to perform in public.

It is a common belief among circus men that the performer whose training is not started until after the age of six will seldom make a distinctive record. Following the afternoon show I often saw groups of boys, some of whom could not have been over four and five years old, practicing rudimentary somersaults and hand springs, while their parents looked on with a gratified smile. These were the families of the circus aristocracy, who treasure the records of their ancestors with the pride of a son in his father's sword and who see no more inspiring calling for their own children than that of the great white canvas.

Not that their education is neglected in other respects. Several of the families often hire an instructor—perhaps one of the performers who has the time and ability for such work—to coach their children in the standard studies. One circus has a traveling school for the youngsters. If they are to be acrobats, they are to be educated acrobats.—Bohemian Magazine.

A Sponge That Works.

"Here is a clever notion—a fog bell," said an old New England fisherman.

On a bleak, gray afternoon they stood at the seashore—the old man and his city cousin from Boston. A great bell hung from a scaffold, and under a metal cover hung a great sponge.

"This here machinery is wound up regular," the fisherman explained, "and this here sponge is kept under cover so as the rain can't get at it. In dry weather, natch'rally, the sponge is dry and light; in foggy, though, it gets heavy with fog natch'rations, just heavy enough for to press down the lever that starts the machinery a-going. Then, ding-dong, ding-dong, sounds the bell in the fog, savin' many a fisherman from wreck on this rock bound coast."—Exchange.

A Persistent Hen.

Ever hear about our little red hen? Well, sir, she was on the set for keeps. Couldn't keep her off. Old doorknobs, soda bottles, lamp chimneys, match safes—anything was good enough for her. Finally I put her on three mud turtles, and I hope to die if she didn't hatch out alligators—yes, sir, three of 'em! One of 'em ate her up, and when we opened him there was the hen settin' on his back teeth, and they'd swelled up so they choked him to death.—Exchange.

Unreasonable.

"My husband is so very unreasonable."

"Most husbands are. What did yours do?"

"He fixed a fishhook in one of his pockets because he pretended to suppose that I robbed him at night, and then he blamed me because he forgot it was there."

Coarsely Defined.

"What is the distinguishing quality of the problem play?"

"It makes you think. The first half keeps you wondering what the question is, and the second half keeps you guessing what's the answer."

The Mean Thing!

Mrs. Oldham—Why are you so down on that lively Mr. Bachelor? Mrs. Youngling—Oh, he snubbed our precious Alfred! He said he thought baby might some day become vice president.—Exchange.

In order to love mankind we must not expect too much of them.—Helvetius.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not write me to-day and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. I hope this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 5c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. B. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forge s that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

ent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN

106 Florence St. Ottawa

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS

: IN :

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
$3.00 Bed to	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed. size 4 x 6 feet.....	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perwith the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Office of the General Superintendent, Winnipeg, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Central Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 25th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Central Division.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley china. See the bread and butter plates with lift lock on each, selling at only 25 cents.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

make you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

Canadian Pacific Railway

Office of the General Superintendent, Calgary, Feb. 1, 1909.

Sealed tenders for supply of board to bridgemen and laborers employed on the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a period of one or more years, commencing May 1st, 1909, will be received by the undersigned up to 10.00 o'clock, February 25th.

Full information as to the standard of board required to be furnished, number of men and size of gangs may be obtained on application at the office of the undersigned.

A. PRICE,
General Superintendent, Western Division.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Needle cases, blotters, ticket holders in burnt leather, each stamped "Souvenir of Peterborough," on bargain at 4 for 25 cents. Mail orders filled promptly. Times Bookstore.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Pacific Coast Excursions

in effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from

PETERBORO

Tickets sold to certain other points in proportion. Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars.

Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cot. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854
Six Offices in Toronto
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa

Established 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 118 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL — HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING — METAL

Local Agents:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
Phone Main 1709
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

Trade Marks Designs Copyrights &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

Munn & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

We assist the inventor by procuring patents and others—realize the advantage of having valuable patents introduced by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Associate's Advisor and guide book sent free. Address, New York Life Bldg. Montreal, and Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

12 TUMORS REMOVED WITHOUT AN OPERATION

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, leucorrhoea, &c

Silver Lake, Ont.,
Sept. 20, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 13 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."—Mrs. Louis E. Bolteridge.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it, if she will send me her address. Address with stamp

MRS. K. F. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

—: THE :—
CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.
MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, See future advertisements, etc.

CANCER

R. D. EVANS, Discoverer of the famous EVANS CANCER CURE desires all who suffer with Cancer to write to him. Two days' treatment will cure external or internal Cancer. Write R. D. EVANS, Brandon, Manitoba

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 B.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Package of 25 envelopes 5c.

Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.
Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

Stamped Wood

Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; plaques, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

DASH ACROSS SAHARA

BRITISH OFFICIAL MAKES THE DARING TRIP.

At His Own Expense Hans Vischer Travels Across the Desert to Protect British Mahometan Pilgrims and Restore Imperial Prestige Among the Wild Tribes of the Interior.

Hans Vischer, who has made a remarkable hazardous journey from Tripoli across the Great Sahara by Northern Nigeria, has arrived in England to lay before the Royal Geographical Society the results of his 1,700 mile journey, says The London Express.

For a considerable time prior to starting Mr. Vischer was at Tripoli learning Arabic and acquainting himself as far as was possible with the political and social conditions of the great desert route which, since it was traversed over 40 years ago by Nachtigal, had become an unknown land to Europeans.

From the first he encountered much fanatical opposition at Tripoli, and even when, through the intervention of the British Foreign Office, permission was obtained from the Turkish authorities, he met with great difficulties in getting men and camels to accompany him.

One object which led Mr. Vischer to ask permission to make the journey was that he might escort to their homes in Northern Nigeria British pilgrims who had been on pilgrimage to Mecca, and whose treatment had certainly not added to British prestige. Mr. Vischer personally defrayed the cost of escorting these people back to their homes, and, in fact, the whole expedition was carried out at his own charges.

There can be no doubt, says Reuter, that the plucky enterprise of this young British official has been of great value in rendering a real service to the British Mahometans of the Central Soudan, whose pilgrimage had often been subjected to terrorism and fanaticism when endeavoring to return from Mecca by the desert route to their homes in the British protectorate.

The feelings of the Mahometans in Northern Nigeria may be summed up in a remark made to Mr. Vischer by a prominent Mahometan. "In Northern Nigeria the British official is a great chief, but at the coast (Tripoli) I find he is only a poor Kaffir." This feeling has been entirely modified since Mr. Vischer's successful trip.

The explorer states that when he left Tripoli his party consisted of 30 natives. Of these 12 were armed men, liberated slaves, whom he had personally trained. The rest of the party comprised 18 pilgrims from Mecca, with their wives and families. Mr. Vischer continues:

"Through the whole of the journey I never attempted to travel as an Arab. I made it always quite clear that I was British. The Union Jack was always in evidence, and I purposely emphasized the fact that I was a British official returning to a British colony by way of what had become a closed route. To this I attribute the success of my journey.

"From the very first I had continual trouble with the negroes and Arabs accompanying me. They were always fighting among themselves, and I had constantly to be acting as peacemaker. The constant fear of attack, combined with the physical difficulties, made the journey an anxious one, and I do not think that from begining to end I got more than half an hour's sleep at a time.

"From Tripoli the journey across the desert to Fezzan was over mountainous country, inhabited only by nomad bands, who welcomed any caravan as legitimate booty. While we were going through a high Turkish official returning to the coast from Fezzan was murdered, simply because he had with him a box supposed to contain treasures. We had great difficulties with the water supply, owing to the presence of large quantities of sulphur which brought about speedy putrefaction.

"The first place of any importance was Murzuk. The town was full of Turkish political exiles, including 45 Bulgarian prisoners, who were all herded together in one cell in the prison. All have been released since the Turkish constitution has been granted. I remained a month at Murzuk, being delayed by the difficulty I experienced in getting together a caravan for what was the most difficult and most dreaded part of the journey. Even the traders feared this route owing to the scarcity of water and the presence of marauding bands of Tuareg and Tebus.

"The whole region between Tripoli and Murzuk was studded with ruins of ancient towns — probably Roman remains—including castles and monuments. All the way to Murzuk I was accompanied by Major Djamy Bey, the governor of Ghat, through whose influence I was able more closely to study some of the otherwise unapproachle religious sects.

"As soon as we left Murzuk I became aware that we were being followed by Tuareg. We saw their fires at night, and had to take most rigorous measures against surprise. One night they made two attacks on the camp, but were driven off. On the following day we had a regular fight from 10 in the morning till sunset with a band of masked Tuareg.

"Fortunately none of us were hit, and we drove them off after killing four of the party and 25 of their camels. The distance between Murzuk and Bilma—about 500 miles—is a waste of stone and sand; absolutely uninhabited, and with wells three or four days distant from each other.

"Here we saw remains of the ancient caravan camps, consisting of great circles of stones, with praying places in the centre. The route was in places marked by bleached bones of men and camels.

"When eventually we reached Northern Nigeria, the people of Bornu, who had continual reports of my death, were greatly surprised at the accomplishment of the journey."

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Sheop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

GIVES UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

Best Remedy in the Market For Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough---It Always Cures And Is Pleasant and Safe to Take.

"I never had a medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Mr. P. M. Shore, of Rochester, Ind. "It is the best remedy to-day on the market for coughs, colds and whooping cough. One of my lady customers told me recently that she could not keep house without it, that since they have been using it they have had no need of a doctor." In case of a severe attack of croup a physician will usually call twice, and perhaps half a dozen times in a severe and long protracted case of whooping cough, while in pneumonia it is often necessary that he calls once or twice a day for a week or two. All of this trouble and expense may be saved by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for it is a certain cure for croup, and when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. Pneumonia can also be prevented. This fact has been fully proven, as during the almost forty years in which this remedy has been in general use, no case of a cold or attack of the grip has ever resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, so far as we have been able to learn. It will be seen that a little forethought and by doing the right thing at the right time, all danger and expense may be avoided. Bear in mind that every bottle of this remedy is warranted and if not as stated it will not cost you a cent.

The Canada Life

The Report for 1908 Very Satisfactory

"A decrease in the rate of expenses, a decrease in the rate of mortality, and an increase in the rate of interest—all combining to bring about a very gratifying gain in surplus."

That sums up about all that it is necessary to say or that can be said in connection with the successful operations of a life company, and being an extract from the address of Senator Cox, President of the Canada Life, it indicates that the company had a particularly successful year in 1908.

The Canada Life secured applications amounting to over $11,875,000, so that in this regard the year was a successful one, but doubtless it is recognized by life company managements more than ever before that the business men of today look for results on their individual investment in premiums rather than the piling up of a huge amount of new business.

By the modern and sane test the Canada Life has had a splendid year, and at the same time has been carrying out its function of granting protection, for in 1908 over $1,300,000 was paid in death claims. The payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in the year, including dividends, totalled nearly $2,000,000

The Canada Life assets were increased in the year by over $2,000,000, exclusive of appreciation in market values, and now stand at $8,713,000

The report from every point of view indicates careful, competent management, and the success which should result from that is already indicated in the figures of the year.

Water Commissioners Held a Meeting

A meeting of the Water Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon in the city clerk's office when several small matters were taken up. The principal item of business was the city's proposal to erect a power house at the proposed new water works dam, and in this connection the following motion was passed;

Moved by Messrs. Moore and Hill that provided the city of Peterborough shall build an electric power house in connection with the new waterworks dam for the purpose of generating electricity, the bity be charged by the water works department for the water used for that purpose, such proportion of the interest and sinking fund on the cost of the dam and also cost of the maintenance of the dam as the quantity of water power used by the city for such purpose bears to the whole water power available at the dam, it being expressly understood that the water works department shall reserve sufficient water power for its purpose.

A New Store at Kawartha Park

The summer residents of Kawartha Park, Clear Lake, will be pleased to know that, in addition to having a post office of their own, they will also, next season, have a general store. It is understood that Mr. C. N. Brown, who owns "Woodside" will build and conduct a store for the convenience of the residents of the park. Mr. Brown is also building an addition to his summer home.

The popularity of Kawartha Park is continually growing, and each summer sees a larger number of tourists there than the previous one. The cottagers in this section of the Lakes would no doubt be glad of the chance to buy their supplies nearer their homes.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN ARAB SURGEON.

His Own Story of a Wonderful Operation He Performed.

Mr. Walter B. Harris in his account of a journey to Tafilet tells the story of a wonderful operation in surgery as it was reported to him by a native doctor who was traveling in his company:

"I think the old man fancied that I doubted his skill. At least, he was always holding forth upon the subject and continually repeating the story that when in Algeria he had been offered a fabulous salary—the sum varied each time the tale was told—to remain in charge of the military hospital at Algiers, an honor which he had declined.

"He never tired of narrating the facts and details of his most successful operation. There is a sect in Morocco called Hamacha, who are followers of a certain saint buried near Mekinez. These devotees amuse their audience—and themselves, too, let us hope—by throwing into the air heavy cannon balls, which they allow to fall upon their shaven crowns. On the occasion in question a Hamdushi had unfortunately been wanting in religious power, for the cannon ball crushed his skull.

"My old shereef friend had been called to the rescue. According to his account, he removed the broken patch of skull, replacing it with the rind of a green pumpkin, and closed the skin over it. In a month's time, he said, the patient was not only convalescent, but was once more hard at work practicing his religio-acrobatic feats, with not only a remodeled and renovated skull, but even a new crop of hair."

THE SILVER FOX.

He Is a Glorified Freak of the Red Fox Breed.

Only those wise in the woodlore of the north can fully know the magic in the name silver fox. The silver fox is not of different kind, but a glorified freak of the red race. His parents may have been the commonest kind of red foxes, yet nature in extravagant mood may have showered all her gifts on this favored one of the offspring and not only clad him in a marvelous coat, but gifted him with speed and wind and brains above his kind to guard his peerless wealth. And need he has of all such power, for this exquisite robe is so mellow rich, so wonderful in style, with its gloss black and delicate frosting, that it is the most desirable, the most precious of all furs, worth many times its weight in gold, the noblest peltry known to man. It is the proper robe of kings, the appanage of great imperial thrones today, as was the tyrian purple in the days of Rome. This is indeed the hunter's highest prise, but so guarded by the cunning brain and the wind and limb of the beast himself that it is through rare good luck more than hunter skill that a few of these fur jewels are taken each year in the woods.

There are degrees of rank among these patricians. They range in quality even as diamonds range, and the hunters have a jargon of their own to express all shades between the cross and the finest silver black.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Century Magazine.

Influence of Food.

"What do you think of the theory that food has a potent influence in determining character?" asked Mr. Smithfield as he put three lumps of sugar in his coffee.

"I guess it's all right," replied Mr. Wood as he severed a portion of his beefsteak. "It always seems a little cannibalistic to me when you order lobster."

"Well," retorted Mr. Smithfield good humoredly, "I ought to have known it was dangerous to lend you money after I discovered your fondness for beets. But, seriously, if there were anything in the theory, wouldn't it make a man sheepish to eat mutton?"

"It would, and prize fighters ought to restrict themselves to a diet of scraps."

All in the Mind.

On the opening day of one winter session the late Professor Tait of Edinburgh university entered the natural philosophy class room in the midst of the uproarious applause common to those occasions.

Presently he looked up at the tumultuous benches above him with the smile of one who had known the ways of students for a lifetime. At last, when a momentary lull came, he remarked, his gray eyes twinkling:

"Gentlemen, I must remind you that there is really no such thing as noise. It is merely a matter of subjective impression."

No Flies on Him.

Two Irishmen, just landed, stopped at a private boarding house on one hot July night. Retiring early, they left the window open and the light burning brightly. The mosquitoes swarmed into the room and began biting.

Mike, awakening, called to Pat to put out the light. Pat got up and put it out and crawled back to bed again.

Pat awoke about an hour later and found the room full of fireflies and said: "It's no use, Mike. They are coming in with lanterns!"

Pleasure Trips.

"Going to the north pole is no pleasure trip," said the sympathetic friend.

"Well," answered the arctic explorer "it reminds me somewhat of the average pleasure trip. Everybody is so anxious to start and so glad to get home."

They never taste who always drink. They always talk who never think.—Prior.

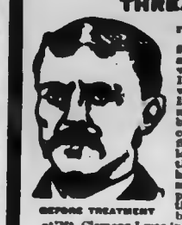
Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be on hand—for promptness in all important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carry in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and mental systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.



BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter F. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic. I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

We treat and cure VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD AND URINARY COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES and all Diseases peculiar to Men.

CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. If unable to call write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Fenman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a penwritten original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.
OF TORONTO, LIMITED

Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.
Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing dishes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, linoleum and windows, painting brick work, cleansing bath rooms, sinks, etc., and making the finest suds ever.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

CLEAN Up INSIDE

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits safe to say that in the spring you eel poorly—have a throbbing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes—if not absolutely bilious the system s no full of bile that you feel heavy nd tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh s a prize-fighter. "For ten years, says W. B. Gangster, of Concord, "I uffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt despondent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this grand little medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect spring medicine, they destroy germs and poisons of every description and strength whereby the system rallies and the patient quickly enjoys the blessings of Perfect Health. Get Dr Hamilton's Pills today—25c. At a druggists.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 648

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. 'Phones—Office 488; House 488.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure. 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money today. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1909.

Dog Lost

Black and white spotted hound, finder will be rewarded by leaving dog with Mr. O'Brien, butcher, McDonell street.

Ran 'way

The fire team after returning from being shed became a little frisky on Aylmer street and got away from the driver. They made a dash for the fire hall, which was only a hundred yards or so distant and stopped in front of it. The team was not attached to any vehicle and the driver lost his footing on the slippery ice.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test dose will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —25c. Sold by all dealers.

BOWLING

The Hums took two games from the Lockworks last night in the ten pin competition The scores were as follows:

HAMS—
Clancy	179	178	162—	459
Hurtubise	157	124	166—	447
Rickey	169	144	152—	445
	425	446	480—	1351
LOCK WORKS—
Lachaur	127	141	146—	414
Lang	131	178	136—	445
LaPlante	118	132	122—	372
	376	451	404—	1231

Sion Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Miss Rose Montgomery of Lakefield, was in the city yesterday morning.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PERSONAL

Mr. C. E. Hubbs of Renfrew, was in the city yesterday.

Miss E. Benson of Port Hope, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Miss Clara Kidd returned home Thursday evening from Picton, where she has been assisting the Rev. T. Salton in evangelistic services for some time.

Mr. Louis M. Brooks, of this city, who has been spending the past few days in Oshawa, returned home last evening.

Mrs. G. H. Noble of Peterborough, after spending a few weeks with her son J. E. Noble of Toronto, will return home Saturday, the 27th inst. Mrs. Noble who is over 82 years of age, says that the Toronto air has done her good, but that the city or the people there are not anything like as good as dear old Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Stroud who for the past few years conducted a tea business in Peterborough left last night on the midnight train for Montreal, where he has accepted a position. His many friends in Peterborough will regret to learn of his departure from the city. He has been prominent in athletics and has always been of assistance to the different organizations with which he is connected. The Iroquois team of the Peterborough Bowling League will especially miss him as he has done great work for them in the league race.

If you would have a safe, yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. MORROW.

The death occurred at Nicholls hospital at noon yesterday of Mrs Alexander Morrow, a lady who had many friends here. She was a native of England, her maiden name being Mary Watson. She formerly resided in Barrie and was seventy-four years of age. She was a member of George street Methodist church and took an active part in missionary work and also in the Y.W.C.A. Bright's disease was the cause of death.

The funeral service will be held on Sunday evening at 8.15 at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Mason, 60 Murray street, and the remains will be taken to Barrie for interment on Monday morning.

Coal was Scattered Over the Street

A combination of school boys and snow balls proved too much for a team of horses attached to a coal sleigh in charge of Mr. Bruce Fee, an employe of R. Hicks and Company, yesterday morning and a lively runaway ensued. Mr. Fee was unloading his sleigh in the lane west of Water street, between Smith street and Inverlea street, and while he was in the house with a sack of coal a number of school boys happened along and proceeded to demonstrate their great control by stinging the horses with a fusilade of snowy missiles. It was more than horse nature could stand and the horses concluded to get out of range as soon as possible. They made a wild dash out of the lane and headed for George street swinging around the corner Smith street, and tearing down the main thoroughfare at a 2.40 clip. In the meantime they had been distributing bags of coal all over the scenery so that at Smith street, there was nothing left of the load. The team was captured a few blocks down the street.

Douro Protest

(Continued from page one.)

the council. He was a supporter of Mr. Moher. He did not think he talked to either Mr. Whitesides during the campaign. He saw Mr. White jr., on election day, but had no conversation with him. He did not send anyone to White. He did not have any conversation with O'Brien during the month of December.

Wm. White, sr., was called but was not present, being ill in bed. Mr White jr., was therefore called. Witness voted on election day. His father went to the polls with O'Brien. A Mr. Welsh was on the farm at the time. Welsh worked with his father but witness was not present. Witness did not see any money paid, and had not asked him anything about it until this action was entered. His father had not told him that he got any money.

This was all the evidence taken on his charge, and it was allowed to stand, although the judge stated that nothing had been proved.

Mr. Ed. Welsh was recalled. He said that before the last election he was a supporter of Mr. Moloney who was successful a year ago. Mr. Moher knew witness to be a supporter of Mr. Moloney. Moher canvassed him the day after the nomination. It took place in his house and his wife and other members of the family were present. There was a little money passed between witness and Moher. Witness said he had been asked to act as scrutineer at the last provincial election. Witness did act, and Moher wanted to know if he had been paid. He replied no. Moher asked him how much it was, and witness said he did not know. Moher then gave him a $5 bill and asked for $2 change. He had never spoken to or heard from Mr. Moher in reference to being paid and had no expectation of being paid. Moher again asked witness to vote for him and witness replied that it would be all right. He lives about a mile from Mr. Moher. They attend the same church when they go.

Mrs. Ed. Welsh, wife of last witness, was called and gave evidence of Mr. Moher coming to the house and canvassing Mr. Welsh.

Mr. John Welsh, son of the previous witness, was called and he corroborated the evidence of his father and mother.

Mr. Martin McManus of Douro, was called. He stated that on election day he had a team driving for Mr. Moher, but it had not been hired. Mr. Moher had however, given him 50c to pay his railway fare to Lakefield, but he said he had given that back fearing that there might be some trouble.

This closed the case for the time being and his Honor Judge Weller enlarged it until next Wednesday.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and is itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, but they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that stirred and favor to Dr. Shoop an His Restorative. Will you that original and highly vital principle n such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Farmer's Wife

is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for treatment of the above symptoms and conditions, regardless of the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

TO THE POLICY HOLDERS

OF THE

Canada Life Assurance Company

While the year 1908 has been in some respects an uneventful one in life insurance generally, the Report and Balance Sheet shows that in all that goes to make for stability, strength and permanent progress, the Company has enjoyed a large measure of prosperity.

The three outstanding features of the Report for the year have been a decrease in the rate of expenses, a decrease in the rate of mortality, and an increase in the rate of interest, all combining to bring about a very gratifying gain in surplus.

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS.

The number of applications received during the year was 5,445 for new assurances, amounting to $11,875,383. The policies issued (including revivals) were for $11,226,040.

It is very gratifying that the Canadian new business paid for exceeded that of the previous year. The paid-for new business from Great Britain and Ireland was about the same as the satisfactory amount obtained in 1907. Owing to the disturbed financial conditions prevailing throughout the United States during the Presidential election year, and also to the fact that the Company had less territory under agency contract, the new business from the United States was somewhat less than in the previous year.

The business in force upon the Company's books at the close of the year was $120,629,360.50, upon 56,937 policies. It may be of interest to point out that this amount includes over $3,400,000, which has been added from time to time by the Company to the sums assured of those policyholders who elected to apply their profits to increase the face of their policies.

RECEIPTS AND PAYMENTS.

A survey of the income and disbursements shows that the cash received for premiums and annuity considerations was $3,746,541.44, while the income from interests, rents, etc., amounted to the very satisfactory sum of $1,589,501.10, making a total income of $5,336,042.54. This represents an increase of $355,602.63 over the corresponding figures of the previous year. The payments to policyholders and annuitants during the year amounted to $1,979,249.59, including $1,348,361.46 for death claims, $317,153.29 for matured endowments, and $313734.84 for cash profits, surrender values and other benefits.

THE EXPENSES.

A substantial reduction in the amount of expenses of management has again been effected.

THE ASSETS.

During the year the ledger assets increased by $2,410,193.66, exclusive of the appreciation in market values, and the total assets, as shown by the balance sheet, now stand at $36,713,115.24. In view of the large payments made to policyholders, the Directors consider this increase very satisfactory.

THE ACTURIAL VALUATION.

A detailed valuation of the assurance and annuity contracts of the Company has been made as at 31st December, last, the basis of valuation being as follows: For all participating assurances issued after 31st December, 1909, the Hm. 3 per cent. basis; for all other assurances, Hm. 3½ per cent., and for the annuity contracts the British Government annuity Experience Table, with interest at 3 per cent. and 3½ per cent. After providing for the above liabilities, and for outstanding claims, miscellaneous liabilities and capital stock, the balance sheet shows a surplus over all liabilities of $2,127,639.27, which, of course, includes the unallotted profits on policies that will be distributed to policyholders from time to time.

GROWTH OF THE CANADA LIFE.

The table hereunder shows the steady, solid progress that has been made in building up one of the strongest, soundest and most useful institutions in Canada:

Year.	Income.	Assets.	Business in Force.
1878	$ 698,482	$ 3,348,702	$ 18,603,975
1888	1,691,379	8,954,064	43,975,251
1898	3,005,293	20,038,817	75,234,240
1908	5,336,042	36,713,115	120,629,360

GEO. A. COX, President

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 15th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Bird Bread

COTTAM'S famous food for birds, formerly only sold with COTTAM BIRD SEED. Now sold separately at 10c. the package. Four large cakes. The high reputation enjoyed by BIRD BREAD is assured us by results this delicious cake is finding for itself. Ask your dealer for COTTAM BIRD BREAD.

Cottam Bird Seed

Use Cottam Bird Seed and Sweetbrier. All grocers. Book FREE, about Birds. Bird Book 05, by mail.

Bird Cottam Co. Dundas St., London, Ont.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Berlin Pilsener Beer

BEST BEER BREWED IN CANADA.

LION BREWERY, BERLIN, ONTARIO—C. N. HEUTHER, PROPRIETOR.

Berlin Pilsener Beer is made from choice Canadian Barley, finest Californian Hops and sparkling spring water. Refreshing, healthful and exhiliarating.

AT ALL LEADING LIQUOR STORES AND HOTELS.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

— NEW —

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's

432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..	$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..	$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to..	50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to....	25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to	35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to.....	2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

MARCH

1909

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 50 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

The Chief Engaged Three New Men

Although the fire department was badly crippled on Saturday night by the arrest of three men and the inability of a fourth to remain on duty, it was but a matter of a few minutes before Chief Howard had their places filled and a full staff was on duty. The chief has always kept himself posted so that he can secure men in case of emergency. As soon as the three men were arrested a messenger was sent out for three men at once and in a short time they were on duty. It will thus be seen that the chief, even in times of excitement, has the interests of the people in mind, so that in case of fire there will be no loss through a lack of men on the brigade. The chief is to be congratulated upon his promptness.

Young Conservative Club Bid Good-Bye to Mr. Layfield

On Saturday night the Young Conservative Club assembled in large numbers to bid farewell to one of their former members Mr. R. E. Layfield.

The chairman called upon Mr. Peter Gardiner the secretary, who read the address expressive of the very high esteem in which Mr. Layfield was held throughout the city and making due acknowledgement of the great service that he done Conservatives in the county and city of Peterborough in founding the club. On completion of the reading of the address Mr. Jas. Kendrey, ex-M.P., presented Mr. Layfield, on behalf of the club with a handsome case of pipes and accompanied the presentation with a fine tribute to Mr. Layfield's worth.

Mr. Layfield made a feeling reply. He said that he had conceived the idea of founding the club on the night of Mr. Kendry's defeat five years ago. Hitherto it had been a ease in both parties of the 90 per cent. being run by the 10 per cent., and he thought that it was time the tail ceased wagging the dog. If the club had been in existence prior to that election Mr. Kendry would never have been beaten.

The club was a wholly democratic institution under the best best sort of auspices and doing well and he could say to all his old comrades that he would bid them a very regretful farewell.

The president of the club, Mr. Burnham then expressed further acknowledgement on behalf of the members and testified to the integrity and fairmindness of Mr. Layfield, who had earned a reputation that any man might well envy.

The Mock Parliament then proceeded to business passing the Women's Suffrage bill by one vote. The interest in parliamentary matters is keen and the rivalry sharp and effective. Many good speakers are developing.

A 15,000-Mile Trip in the Arctic Wilds

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Mr. Harry Vincent Radford, an American journalist, naturalist, and explorer, has arrived in Montreal on his way to North-Western Canada, where he intends to take a lone trip of exploration through to the Arctic coast.

Mr. Radford's idea is to start from Edmonton, whence he will drive 170 miles to Lac le Biche. From this point he means to take a snowshoe trip to Fort Resolution, a distance of 600 miles, with the addition of a 500-mile loop westwards from Fort Smith to look for wood bison, the largest and rarest animal on the North American continent, and one which no hunter has ever shot. It is not Mr. Radford's intention to shoot one, his purpose being merely to observe the animal's habits and get photographs of it.

From Fort Resolution Mr. Radford will proceed towards Bathurst Inlet, in the hope of discovering a new route through to the Arctic Ocean by striking the head of the inlet. The Arctic waters have previously been reached only by following the Backs, Coppermine or Mackenzie Rivers, and a new route such as he hopes to discover should considerably shorten the overland journey. Such a route would be useful, says Mr. Radford, both from the point of view of commerce, and as affording a quick way for hunters after Polar bear, etc., to get to the Arctic Ocean.

EXPLORING WORK.

"I shall also do a good deal of exploration and geographical work in this district," said Mr. Radford. "I shall decide on one of two courses. If I can find Eskimos who will agree to accompany me, I will follow along the coast to the mouth of the Mackenzie River, exploring and mapping the region as I go. Failing this, I shall reach that point by another route, possibly along the Upper Coppermine River and the Great Bear Lake.

"I shall then enter Alaska via the Porcupine and Bell Rivers. On reaching the Yukon River I shall follow its course for several hundred miles upstream, exploring as much new country as possible as I do, and noting the fauna of the region.

"Returning down the Yukon to the mouth, I shall cross from Nome to the East Cappe of Asia, where I shall spend several months studying the native and animal life of that part of the world. I shall then return along the West coast of Alaska and Canada. If the new new Transcontinental road is finished by that time I may come across the Dominion over its tracks. If not, I shall probably follow the coast to Seattle or San Francisco, and thence return by rail to New York, the starting point of my peregrinations.

"The trip will occupy me some three years, and the distance I intend to cover is something like 15,000 miles.

"During the trip I shall collect zoological specimens for the United States Biological Survey, and small also make observations for various other scientific institutions.

Land Nearly All Leased

Boring for oil and gas will be commenced within ten days or two weeks in those parts of North Monaghan which Mr. C. E. Dettman of Wayneaburg considers are the most promising for the products. This it has been learned is practically assured. Mr. Robert Leary who with Mr. Dettman is interested in the concern, stated to a Times reporter that he had secured leases for practically all the desired lands, and those who had been holding out had practically to a man, given a lease of their property. Mr. Leary stated that he was sending the welcome news to Mr. Dettman who had been waiting until all the leases had been secured. It would be but a short time until the work was begun, and machinery will be brought here for boring several thousand feet.

Mr. Dettman is sanguine of striking gas, which if found and in large quantities, will be supplied to the city.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of this system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Hurtubise Stayed with Gotch Fourteen Minutes

It was a lively bout between Hurtubise and Gotch in Toronto on Saturday night and the plucky Peterborough man stayed with the big champion for fourteen minutes. The wrestlers went on the mat at the Star theater and Gotch was to throw Hurtubise in less than fifteen minutes for $50. Gene put up a pretty stiff argument and stood a lot of very rough handling by Gotch. To stay fourteen minutes with the champion wrestler of the world, is a big feather in the Peterborough man's cap. There was a big crowd present and Gene had many admirers among them.

ASSISTANT CHIEF GRANGE BADLY BEATEN BY SOME OF FIREMEN

Firemen Hawse, Chapman and Craig were Arrested and Placed in the Lockup—Were Refused Bail--Attack Result of Petty Jealously—Grange in Serious Condition

Three firemen resting in the police station for trial this morning and Assistant Chief George Grange lying in bed in a serious condition, is the result of a most disgraceful affair, which occurred about 7.35 o'clock Saturday evening in the fire hall. The men in the police cells are Firemen Craig, Hawse and Chapman, and they will be charged with assault, maybe aggravated assault, on Assistant Chief Grange, and they will appear before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

It appears that the assault, from all accounts, is the outcome of a standing grudge and petty spite among some of the men in the fire hall. Grange was selected as assistant chief temporarily. In other words he was to be given a trial for the position. Some of the other men wanted the position and were sore that they did not get it. Grange, as his new duties compelled him to do, reported in the regular way when the men were late coming on duty. This with other little things stuck in their craws.

On Saturday evening Grange was on watch duty, and when Chief Howard went to supper, Hawse, Craig and Chapman had not returned from supper and the watchman was instructed to notify the chief when they returned. At about 7.35 Hawse returned and told Grange that, as he was so fond of reporting, to report him five minutes late. Grange made out the report on the black board in the office.

As Hawse passed out of the office to the apparatus room he told Grange he was a sneak and some other things. Then Craig and Chapman, who had been standing outside went in and said, "You had better report us five minutes late too." As Grange turned to the black board to write down the time, it is alleged Craig grabbed hold of him with one hand and with the other struck him a heavy blow on the side of the head which caused him to fall and strike his head on the radiator. Then it is said two kicks were administered, one on each side of the head and at the same time. Grange got up, but was dazed and also weak from a recent illness. He was struck again and fell backwards striking his back on the corner of the table. Then he got up and ran out to the apparatus room followed by the two men who caught him and gave him a very severe beating and kicking. Fireman Heatherington attempted to interfere but was thrown aside, it is stated, by Chapman. By this time a crowd began to gather, and as soon as Grange could be got away he was taken to Dr. Greer's office.

In the meantime the chief of the department who was at supper, was notified, and he hurried to the hall. The police were also notified and they hurried down. Chief Howard immediately tried to ascertain the trouble but no one would say anything. He looked all over the building, knowing that several men were missing, but could find no one. Then he rang the gong and lined the men up. Still several were missing and none would state what had happened. Then Craig appeared on the scene and when questioned stated that he knew something about the matter and went on to relate that he had punched Grange. He also added that he was not the only one. No one would say where Grange was, all claiming that they did not know.

BADLY BRUISED.

Then the chief went out to the front and someone told him Grange was in Dr. Greer's office. The chief followed by the police went to the doctor's office and found Grange in a semi-conscious condition and badly bruised. The doctor examined the patient and found a band of lumps around his head as if he had suffered a series of kicks. The lumps were all about the same size. His back also showed signs of kicks and altogether he was in a very serious condition.

MEN ARRESTED.

One of the police was allowed to interview the patient alone, and as a result the three firemen, viz., Chapman, Hawse and Craig, were placed under arrest and taken to the police station where they were kept over Sunday. An attempt was made to bail them out, but the magistrate refused to grant it.

GRANGE TAKEN HOME.

After dressing the wounds Grange was removed to his home on George-street north, where he was visited by the doctor. On Sunday morning the doctor again called upon him and found him still in a semi-conscious condition and physically worse if anything than the night before, and he could not say at that time just how serious the injuries would be nor whether any bones were broken. But one thing was sure and that was that the unfortunate man would be confined to his bed for some time, and would not be in any condition to attend police court this morning.

CHIEF OF POLICE.

The chief of police was called up yesterday and he stated that the three firemen were still in the lock-up. He understood that the men, or some of them, had been drinking a little before returning to the fire hall. This would put them in good condition to raise a row without much cause.

SERIOUS MATTER

For three men to attack one man is a serious matter at any time. But the affair of Saturday night is particularly regrettable inasmuch that it occurred in the city's fire hall and among civic employes. The men had no cause to complain and they are all old enough to have more sense. In the eyes of the law the assault is serious, and the ultimate results of the attack will have considerable bearing upon this side of the question.

The case will be called in police court this morning, but it will likely be enlarged until such time as Grange can appear or it is known what the extent of his injuries are.

The Pacifics Took Three Straights

The Pacifics greatly improved their position as leaders of the ten pin tournament on Saturday night by taking three straights from the Examiner B. The score was as follows;

EXAMINER B—
Dela Fosse	107	132	133—	372
Craig	159	152	141	452
Clarke	111	151	172—	434
	379	435	446—1258
PACIFICS—
Lillie	136	139	158—	433
Connors	156	155	169—	480
McIlroy	138	162	202—	502
	430	456	529—1415

Prize Money Won by 24th Field Battery

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—This is military week here and the Executive Council reports of the annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association shows what prize money the members of the 24th Field Battery, Peterborough, won in the annual artillery competitions.

Winners for efficiency of personnel and equipment call;

Peterborough— 1st Gunner Hillier, five dollars; 2nd Gunner Brightman. In gun laying and fuse setting the Peterborough battery's practice was not carried out.

For driving the horses Driver O'Toole won $5 and a special badge, and Driver Wm. Crough $3 and a special badge.

The annual session of the medical officers of the Canadian militia is being held here.

New Idea

Helped Wis. Couple

It doesn't pay to stick too closely to old notions of things. New ideas often lead to better health, success and happiness.

A Wis. couple examined an idea new to them and stepped up several rounds on the health ladder. The husband writes;

"Several years ago we suffered from coffee drinking, were sleepless, nervous, sallow, weak, and irritable. My wife and I both loved coffee and thought it was a bracer."

(Delusion).

"Finally, after years of suffering, we read of Postum and the harmfulness of coffee, and believing that to grow we should give some attention to new ideas, we decided to test Postum.

"When we made it right we liked it and were relieved of ills caused by coffee. Our friends noticed the change—fresher skin, sturdier nerves, better temper, etc.

"These changes were not sudden, but relief increased as we continued to drink and enjoy Postum, and we lost the desire for coffee.

"Many of our friends did not like Postum at first, because they did not make it right. But when they boiled Postum according to directions on pkg., until it was dark and rich they liked it better than coffee and were benefited by the change."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Whole Province is Stirred by Atrocious Crime at Hamilton

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—The latest theory is that the man who is said to have committed the murder was disguised. Mrs. Abbott, mother of Rev. Canon Abbott, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, says that shortly after four o'clock on Thursday afternoon a man answering the description given out, with the exception that he was clean-shaven, got on a car at the corner of Park and Herkimer streets, a short distance east of the Kinrade home. He was terribly agitated, and it was with difficulty that he got money out of his pocket to pay his fare, his hands trembled so. The theory is that this may have been the murderer and that he wore a false moustache when he went to the Kinrade door. This is considered one of the most likely clues the police have got yet. They give it considerable weight because of the reliability of their informant.

On making further inquiries from the car crew, the police discovered that the man referred to by Mrs. Abbott, who got on the car at Park and Herkimer streets immediately after the crime, went direct to the Grand Trunk Stuart street station. The clerk there says a man of that description purchased a ticket for Buffalo.

The magistrate this morning authorized the Board of Health to close up the cheap lodging house of Edward Leonard, York street. This was where Mrs. Kinrade went on the day of the murder to complain about the number of tramps sent to her residence.

WENT TO BUFFALO.

Provincial Detective Miller arrived here this morning and immediately went to work on the case. He had a consultation with Detective Bleakley and was put in possession of all the information the police have. He is now at the scene of the murder, and this morning will interview Florence Kinrade and other members of the family.

GET OUT DRAG-NET.

Provincial Detective Miller, when seen by a newspaper correspondent at noon today, gave his deductions. He does not incline to the tramp story, but is taking no chances. One point that must be emphasized, he said, is that the police are absolutely in the dark. There is absolutely nothing to go on, not even an accurate description.

Chief Smith has afforded him every facility for handling the case, and placed the entire force at his disposal. One of the biggest man-hunts in the history of this section of the country will be under way this afternoon.

None of the "Profesh" Did That, Say Tramps

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—Tramps in the cheap lodging houses of the city were loud in their praises last night of the kind treatment they had received at the Kinrade house, and indignant that any one of them should be charged with the crime.

It must have been a crazy man or something like that. We ain't such a bad bunch. There's some of us that isn't very fond of work, but there a in't what you'd call a tramp in ten thousand who'd do such a thing."

"You never got turned down there," said one of them. "I know fellows here who all this season have been getting tickets there. You was never hazed whitter at any house in town, and no grouching about it neither. They kept a supply of tickets there and it was never any trouble to get one."

"That's right, pardner," said another hobo of the little circle warming their plins against the fire.

"You can bet none of the profesh did that job," chimed in a third. "I've been on the road many a year and I've bumped up against nearly all of them. No ordinary sull is going to do something so horrible as that and for such a little stake."

Twenty-Nine Yeays of Progress and Prosperity

Bell Telephone Company Held Annual Meeting in Montreal with President C.S. Sise in the Chair

The 29th annual meeting of the Bell Telephone Company was held recently at headquarters in Montreal. The President Mr. C. F. Sise occupied the chair, and Mr. Wm. H. Black officiated as secretary. There was a large attendance of shareholders; among those present were;—C. F. Sise, Hon Robt. Mackay, Robert Archer, Hugh Paton, R. W. Shepherd, E. Rawlings, M. S. Foley, Herbert Wallis, John Black, A. E. Watson, W. E. Cheese, W. H. Evans, Geo. A. Greene, W. F. Robertson, W. R. Miller, John Patterson, R. P. McLea, Alex Robertson, Jas. Crathern, W. H. Blackader, P. R. Gault, Wm. Stanway, Abner Kingman, T. B. Macaulay, E. A. Macnutt, H. J. Mudge, W. McLea Walbank, W. E. Cunningham, Bart McLennan, A. D. Fry, Geo. Cuerhill, Robt. Brodie, Forbes Sutherland, Dr. Alex. Johnson, Anson H. Campbell, Geo. R. Prowse, L. B. McFarlane, W. H. Black.

The Secretary, Mr. Wm. H. Black, read the report as follows;

The Directors beg to submit their Twenty-Ninth Annual Report.

7,816 subscribers have been added during the year, the total number of sets of instruments now earning rental being 103,081.

The Company now owns and operates 480 Exchanges and 1,224 Agencies.

3,908 miles of wire have been added to the Long Distance System in 1908. The Long Distance Lines now owned and operated by the Company comprise 46,879 miles of wire on 8,193 miles of poles.

The governments of the Provinces of Manitoba and Alberta having announced their intention to inaugurate systems of government owned telephones, applied to the Company to know if it would sell its Plant. After due consideration, and a visit by the President to Winnipeg, the Board decided that it would be advisable for the Company to sell its plant in those Provinces rather than to compete with the governments; and a sale was concluded. The accounts are not yet finally closed, and it is impossible to state at present what the result to the Company will be, but the growth of the business outside of those provinces has been such that the loss of income will be comparatively small.

As a result of these sales the plant of the Company was decreased by 17,146 instruments earning rental; 92 Exchanges; 101 Agencies; and by 6,778 miles of wire on 1,594 miles of poles of our Long Distance System.

From the balance of Revenue Account, amounting to $490,499.06, $90,654.28 have been charged off Building Account; $115,517.32 carried to Insurance Reserve Account; $53,670.06 to Accident Reserve Account, and $150,000.00 to the Contingent Account, leaving a balance of Revenue Account to be carried to 1909 of $80,657.40.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT MACKAY, Vice-President.
C. F. SISE, President.

Montreal, February 25th, 1909.

REVENUE ACCOUNT, 31st DECEMBER, 1908.

RECEIPTS

Exchange Service (less Unearned Rebate)	$3,116,794.04
Long Distance Service	1,164,974.73
Private Lines	14,033.67
Miscellaneous	284,803.61
	$4,580,606.05

EXPENSES.

Operating	$2,902,028.66
Legal	16,991.33
Insurance	40,376.13
Bond Interest	182,450.00
Miscellaneous	14,482.56
		$3,156,331.67
Net Revenue, 1908		$1,424,274.38
Less Dividends (Inc. January 15th, 1909)		1,000,000.00
		$ 424,274.38
Balance Revenue from 1907		66,224.68
Balance Revenue Account 1908		$ 490,499.06
Distribution of Revenue Balance;
Charged off Buildings	$ 90,654.28
Carried to Insurance Reserve	115,517.32
Carried to Accident Reserve	53,670.06
Carried to Contingent Account	150,000.00
	409,841.66
Carried forward to 1909	80,657.40
		$ 490,499.06

In moving the adoption of the Report, the President referred to the overtures on the part of the Government of Saskatchewan to purchase the Company's business and rights in that Province, which is now approaching finality. The Long Distance service was as yet very expensive in that part of the Dominion.

The Company's general business was expanding at a rate that promised to fully restore all that had been curtailed through the purchases made by the North-West Provinces.

The affairs of the Company were never in better shape than they are today, one of the evidences lies in the fact that they have 2 millions of Manitoba bonds at present in bank.

A number of the bylaws which had been amended by the Board were explained by the President, and all were unanimously accepted and ratified by the meeting.—The Report, seconded by Senator Robt. MacKay was adopted without comment.

A vote of thanks was tendered to President Sise, the Directors and Officers of the Company, on motion of Mr. W. H. Evans, seconded by Mr. John Patterson, and which was received with applause. Mr. Sise responded in brief, well-chosen terms for the Directors, the Staff and himself.

The balloting for Directors resulted in the re-election of the old Board, save, one, as follows;—C. F. Sise, Hon Robert Mackay, Theo. N. Vail, Robert Archer, Wm. R. Driver, Hugh Paton, Charles Cassils, Thos. Sherwin, L. B. McFarlane.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board, Mr. C. F. Sise was re-elected President, and Hon. Robert Mackay, Vice-President.

Port Hope has Had 24 Cases of Small-pox in Three Months

Port Hope, Feb. 27. — In three months there have been twenty-four cases of light smallpox in Port Hope. No deaths have occurred, and while two hotels have been closed the public seems perfectly satisfied that the trouble is well night extinguished. Practically all the pupils in the High School and Public schools have been vaccinated. A civic proclamation has also been issued requiring all citizens to take that precaution, and these steps, with the best of local medical supervision, have been approved by such experts as Dr. Bell of Toronto.

In Hope township there are five cases, all of which it is said may be traced to town, but only two of these are at all serious. Cobourg, it is said, has some cases well isolated and the homes from which they came have been fumigated and quarantined.

Letters to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times)

Dear Sir,—With your permission I would just like to ask through the columns of The Times, a question of the City Council. A new City Trust Commission was appointed and without commenting upon the men selected, would the mayor and aldermen kindly state whether or not there is a qualified quorum in the City Trust? Can all the men appointed, serve on the commission? If I am not mistaken there are only two members who are legally qualified.

Yours truly,
ONE WHO KNOWS.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They're indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Deaf

For Thirteen Years

Mr. Geo. Warner, publisher of The Masonic Register, Toronto, was almost totally deaf in both ears for a number of years. He experimented with a thousand different remedies, and only got relief by using Catarrhozone, and it cured.

Mr. Warner says:—"For the past thirteen yers my hearing has been badly affected. The streets were as quiet to me as if I lived in the city of the dead. I could neither hear the noise of street cars or sound of horses' feet on the pavement. Before I had used Catarrhozone Inhaler three days I was able to notice a great change in my condition, which gradually improved until now I can hear a whisper across the room. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate Catarrhozone or the wonderful results I have derived from using it. Catarrhozone has my strongest endorsement and I am quite willing that you should use it."

Mr. Warner's unsolicited testimonial furnishes abundant proof that deafness can be cured, even in old age, if Catarrhozone is used. This remedy scientific in its application and meets with the endorsement of prominent ministers and doctors all over Canada. Our best equipped health institutions always keep it on hand, and cases are recorded where it has been used with great success in the Government deaf and dumb institutions where other means proved futile.

If your hearing is poor, if you have head noises, or ringing in the ears, be sure and use Catarrhozone. It is a regular miracle worker and is sure to help you. Complete outfit costs $1; trial size 50 cents. Sold by all druggists and N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1909.

MALONE'S SENTENCE

A life sentence is a more severe form of punishment than that inflicted at the hands of the common hangman. Life, with hope gone, with the companionship of friends cut off, with part in and knowledge of the world's activities at an end and a certain looking forward to an ignominious death at the end, is not life at all; it is a prolongation of mental and physical agony. Still, bitter as the punishment is, there are times when it is called for, and one such time occurred when Simcoe's ex-Chief of Police was convicted of the crime charged against him.

For the youth led away by evil companions there is some excuse, and in his case there is some hope of reform. For the man who strikes a fatal blow in a torrent of passion palliation of the offence committed can be found. The offence of Malone were in a different class altogether. He was not led away; he was the leader. He did not act under and en impulse or strong temptation. A career of incendiarism such as he followed was possible only in the case of an incorrigible criminal, and his minor offences found a natural climax in an attempt at murder for the purpose of covering up lesser crimes. Finally, all the offences committed were magnified by the fact that the offender was a trusted officer charged with the sacred duty of upholding the law and protecting citizens in person and property. For such a one the community has no place but the prison cell.

THE TRAMP EVIL

The terrible tragedy at Hamilton may arouse public interest in the tramp danger. In the United States they are fully alive to the danger, and there is an association which distributes literature about tramps, and discusses plans for dealing with them. In many States the tramp is handled with a severity which we in Canada might think extreme. We go to the other extreme of good nature, buying boot laces from beggars, feeding them and handing them the dimes for which they ask. Every man who begs is a public danger, and when we encourage him, instead of handing him over to the police, we endanger the lives of helpless women and children.

With the spring the tramps begin to move northward, and this is a good time for taking energetic measures to cope with the evil.

Winnipeg—$21.00

From Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate, a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the travel via the Grand Trunk and this attractive route is steadily increasing. Baggage checked through in bond, no examination. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before deciding on your trip.

THE SHIPWRECKER.

His Life Made Up of Hardships, Adventures and Accidents.

The career of the shipwrecker consists of a series of hardships and adventures and accidents and narrow escapes from the first day he enlists with a big wrecking company up to the time he is brought ashore from the grim ship he calls "home" crippled or fatally injured. Of all the professions that demand heavy toll of human life none, not even mining or powder making, is as dangerous as the one of these wreckers. Every year these daring men, who brave storm and wave and tempest to save the stranded liner, to raise the sunken ocean greyhound, to rescue the ship impaled upon rocks and, if nothing else, to salve what valuable cargo may be removed from helpless wrecks, meet death by the score. Many of them, exposed often for days and nights to the icy blasts of winter seas, to driving blizzards and to drenching storms that bite to the marrow, succumb to pneumonia. Others at work on the pitching, tossing barges have legs or arms shattered during the risky operations of removing masts or of slinging wrecking pumps or other castings that weigh tons. Others have hands or feet so dreadfully frozen that these must be amputated, and still others are wiped out of existence after suffering hours of untold agony and exposure before the eyes of their helpless comrades.—Appleton's Magazine.

HICCOUGHS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May Be Cured.

Did you ever take nine swallows of water to cure the hiccoughs? Do you remember the time some one scared the hiccoughs away by telling you of a whipping due for some meanness?

Well, science has been studying hiccoughs and caught the hiccoughs by the "nape of the neck." The nine swallows of water had a little science in it, and so did the scare cure. The scientific hiccough cure consists in pressing down to numbness the nerve that connects the stomach, heart, lungs and brain, the pneumogastric nerve. The pressure partially and locally paralyzes this nerve and of necessity the hiccoughing must cease.

Have the hiccoughing patient sit down and be at ease, with the muscles of the neck relaxed as much as possible. Grasp both sides of the neck somewhat toward the back part and press down steadily and as hard as the subject may permit for about one minute, having the patient work the head from side to side. Within about one minute the nerve will be numbed and rested, and the spasmodic motion will cease. It may require longer pressure in some cases, but the result is sure if patience is maintained.

A Thirteenth Century Drink.

Thirteenth century tastes in food had few limitations. Besides the "fowl of Africa and the rare gadwit of Ionia" mentioned by Fitzstephen, gourmets in the time of King John used to regale themselves on herons, cranes, crows, storks, cormorants and bitterns. Some would wash their meals down with wine, but the majority drank mead or metheglin. Mead, according to Holinshed, was only the washing of the combs after the honey had been taken from them and so poor a beverage that it had to be spiced, peppered or made palatable with sweetbrier or thyme. But metheglin contained one hundredweight of honey to twenty-four gallons of water and must have been much more intoxicating than the strongest old ale of the present day.—London Chronicle.

Calling the Deaf.

"To waken a deaf person who wishes to be called at a certain time in the morning is about the hardest proposition a hotel clerk runs up against," said a member of that fraternity. "To ring the telephone is useless, because the man can't hear. Knocking, for the same reason, is futile. Now and then a guest who has lost his hearing suggests that he leave his door open so we can walk right in and shake him, but even if he does appear to be dead game there are so many chances of somebody less guileless than ourselves walking in ahead of us that we can't consent to that simple expedient. It seems to me the man who can patent a device for waking the deaf is sure of fame and fortune, not to mention the gratitude of the brotherhood of hotel clerks."—Exchange.

To Save the Tablecloth.

Nothing is more provoking to the careful housewife than to have a perfectly clean tablecloth liberally bespattered with gravy the first time it is used. Get a large table napkin—one to match the tablecloth if possible—and a piece of white oilcloth cut an inch shorter and an inch narrower than the napkin. Place the oilcloth where the meat dish will stand and spread the napkin over it. The gravy cannot penetrate through the oilcloth. Thus there is a considerable saving in the washing bill.

How It Looked.

"I think you ought to turn the lights up a little when your beau comes," said the boy who is beginning to use big words to his older sister. "I wouldn't sit in the dim light if I were you. It looks too conspicuous."

The Real Reason.

"Why don't you go down Mill street?"

"Well, you see, on one side of it lives my tailor and on the other side my shoemaker, while a canal runs through the middle."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

For ten big bargains read the Times Bookstore advt. in another column.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for $o (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. B CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS

—: IN :—

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
$3.00 Bed to	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed. size 4 x 6 feet.....	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. J. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perwith the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed the "stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Large wire post card racks 15c, or two for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

make you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from

PETERBORO

Tickets sold to certain other points in proportion. Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars.

Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND - TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,500 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cot. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg
J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets...33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary, Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS
Heavy-Pressure
BEARING

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS

PROMPTLY SECURED

We solicit the business of Manufacturers, Engineers and others who realize the importance of having their Patent business transacted by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Inventor's Advocate sent upon request. Marion & Marion, New York Life Bldg., Montreal; and Washington, D.C.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

12 TUMORS REMOVED WITHOUT AN OPERATION

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, leucorrhoea, &c

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 30, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."—Mrs. Louis E. Bolteridge.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. If she will send me her address. Address with stamp

MRS. E. F. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation. No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep prepared by Messrs. A. E. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name. See future advertisements, etc.

CANCER

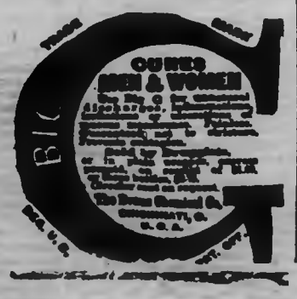
R. D. EVANS, Discoverer of the famous EVANS CANCER CURE desires all who suffer with Cancer to write to him. Two days' treatment will cure external or internal Cancer. Write R. D. EVANS, Brandon, Manitoba

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Package of 25 envelopes 5c.

Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.
Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE, Hunter street.



Stamped Wood

Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; plaques, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Young Folks

SPREADING THE SEEDS.

Nature's Methods of Distributing Plants Over the Earth.

Nature has provided almost countless ways of scattering and distributing the seeds of plants so that the various species may be propagated. Some seeds are borne on the wind, as those of the dandelion and the thistle, the elm and the ash. Others are thrown from their pods by the explosion of the latter when the time comes. But these methods are effectual for only a limited area. Where a wider distribution takes place, say from one part of a continent to another, or even from one continent to another, or from inland to inland, birds, animals and men are the carriers.

It has been noticed that many plants not native to the region grow in and near the yards of trunk line railroads, showing that the seeds have been brought by the cars in one way or another. The new soil suits them, and they thrive and gradually spread over the surrounding country. Many plants, for example, are found in the Mississippi valley that were brought by railroads from the Atlantic seaboard, from the gulf region and from the west side of the Rocky mountains. All through the east are found weeds and grasses that are peculiar to the west and the southwest, and there is no doubt that the seeds from which they sprung were brought in the hoofs of cattle imported by the meat dealers.—Chicago News.

The Toad Survived.

An experiment bordering close to the wonderful was recently made in the clay testing department of a machinery company at Bucyrus, O., in which a toad was placed in a twenty ton brick press and was four times subjected to a pressure of 11,000 pounds without injury. The question at issue was whether such a pressure would kill the toad or whether its ability to compress itself was sufficient to allow it to come out of the ordeal alive. The toad was first placed in a lump of granulous clay and the whole pressed into a brick. After the huge press had done its work the solid brick was lifted from the machine, and the toad winked its eyes contentedly, stretched its legs and hopped away.—Popular Mechanics.

A Parliamentary Scene.

Talking about dramatic scenes in parliament, of which we have had several in both houses this session, we wonder if our readers have heard of the scene some weeks ago in the assembly of South Australia. During a debate the prime minister stated that some gamblers had cut off a comrade's finger because he had joined the Salvation Army. A member questioned the truth of this statement, when the prime minister astonished the house by dramatically stretching forth his hand with a bottle in it, exclaiming, "Here is the finger and the deposition accompanying it!" Our daughter parliament has beaten us for gruesomeness this time.—London Chronicle.

Whistling Sign of Contempt.

A Moroccan shows his contempt of anything by whistling. A conflict between tribesmen and a battalion of French troops was recently precipitated by the whistling of a locomotive on a railway being constructed near Casablanca. "The giaours are laughing at us," said a chieftain when the construction engine gave a toot to warn the natives at work on the line to look out. The Arabs went wild, mounted their horses and rode on the whistling enemy. They had to be calmed with the whistling of rifle balls.

LADY SNAKE CHARMER.

Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson Partial to Serpents.

Sir Edward and Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, who are on a round of visits to friends in America, are fond of unconventionality. Their marriage, five years ago, was a romantic one. The banns were published in the quaint little town of Tain, in Ross-shire, and the world at large knew nothing of the event until after the nuptial knot had been tied. A few guests were invited by telegraph, and the instruction to the clergyman was so delayed that in the end some difficulty was experienced in getting one to officiate. To crown the unconventional procedure the bagpipe took the place of the organ, and played the bridal pair in and out of church. Sir Edward derives his title from Nova Scotia, and is the fifteenth holder. The family motto is "Honor gained by valor." At one time Lady Constance was partial to snakes and other denizens of the creepy world. She used to carry a pet serpent twined round her wrist or nestled in the bosom of her dress. Not so very long ago she showed her prowess in the United States as a huntress of big game. Among the wild hogs of Texas she had a startling adventure. She started in pursuit of her first animal—a kind which has been known to kill or maim every one of a pack of dogs within a few minutes—and when near enough drew a revolver and fired. The shot struck the animal, but did not disable it. It turned with an angry roar on its fair pursuer. Lady Constance leaped from her horse, and running towards the maddened beast, met the attack half-way. When the animal was within springing distance she fired again, and with a great shudder, it rolled over dead.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes. sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain, 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SUNKEN TREASURE.

Company Has Made Unavailing Efforts to Recover Some.

The ship Alfred Nobel, which some twelve months ago sailed from London to cruise in search for hidden treasure, and which was to have returned to Blackwall piled high with gold and silver and precious stones from sunken wrecks uncharted even in Lloyd's, is, alas and alack, coming back as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. She was the property of the South African Salvage Co., and one of her objectives was Paul Kruger's lost treasure ship, the Dorothea, which lies in seven and a half fathoms of water two miles east of Cape Vidal, on the Tenedo Reef, off the Zululand coast. The Kruger gold, which Oom Paul, so the story runs, sent out of the Transvaal for safety, was said to run to the value of $3,900,000, and it was supposed to be cemented into the bottom of the Dorothea with 200 tons of sand ballast spread over it. Altogether, the Alfred Nobel's program included 38 charted wrecks to work upon along the South African coast. One of these was the Middelburg, an old armed Dutch merchantman, which went to the bottom in 1714 in Saldanha Bay, with $100,000 in doubloons on board.

Capt. C. A. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, was in charge of this treasure expedition. He is essentially of the type of whom the apopthegm might have been written, "Adventures are to Adventurous." He was midshipman on board the Condor under Lord Charles Beresford at the bombardment of Alexandria; and later acted as despatch rider to Lord Roberts in the Boer war. He was sanguine of having a sniff at six millions all told of sunken treasures that lay round and about the South African coast. He had an arrangement with the Cape Government by which once he had attacked a sunken ship no permits would be granted to rivals; and, on the other hand, whatever he raised was to bear a tax of 25 per cent. And now, alas, that tax will never be levied. The picturesque treasure of Oom Paul lies where it did. At the very first set-off disappointment fronted the gallant crew of the Alfred Nobel, for they found that treacherous coast too dangerous, and battered continuously by huge rollers from the Indian Ocean. And the attempt to get into the depths of the Dorothea ended in failure.

Thereupon the Alfred Nobel sailed away to Swakopmund, in German Southwest African territory, where she anchored near the steamship Dunbeth, which lies secure on the teeth of the rocks there, as the result of a fatal foggy night, until the waves batter her to fragments. Here again the quest ended in bitter disappointment, for it was found that even the copper and brass fittings had been "jumped" by previous visitors. Discouraged, but not beaten, the Alfred Nobel, brought up in Saldanha Bay, where lie the ribs of the old Middelburg. Here her divers brought up, after pumping out 10 feet or so of sand, a quantity of old china. Unfortunately, some fine collections of china have been recovered from the Middelburg on many previous occasions, so that this output has become in the nature of a drug in the market.

Again, not deterred, the Alfred Nobel made a course for Table Bay, and had a nibble at the Australian liner Thermopylae, which about ten years ago nearly pushed her nose into the hen-roost of the keeper of the Flash Lighthouse at Three Anchor Bay, which event was made history by Mrs. Langtry's horses, which were on board, swiming ashore. Arriving at the wreck of the Thermopylae, the Alfred Nobel did a lot of blasting; but all the efforts accomplished nothing beyond making an even more complete ruin of the once stately liner. A trip to the sailing ship America followed. The America lies off the Woodstock beach. She went ashore about 1900 in a gale that crippled other shipping in the bay. Her chief cargo was beer and coal, and she was uninsured. A good deal of the coal was got out of her a year or two ago, and realized $10 a ton. Much of the beer was also salved, but it hardly realised custom dues. Then the Alfred Nobel had a look at her. There is still a good deal of beer on board. And that is the painful history of the expedition of the Alfred Nobel, which is shortly due in London.

"A Hero of Friendship."

So Mr. Theodore Watts-Dunton was once described by Rossetti, and certainly the friendships formed by the famous poet and critic are amongst the most interesting features of his career. He was bound to Tennyson, Browning and Rossetti by feelings of almost brotherly love, and he still lives with Swinburne — whose house he has shared for many years—at The Pines, Putney, although he married three years ago. The intimacy which exists between Swinburne and Watts-Dunton might well be described as one of the most beautiful friendships formed by Watts-Dunton. Thirty years ago, when he was leading critic on the "Athenaeum," one of James Russell Lowell's first questions on arriving in England was, "Who is this writer on the "Athenaeum" whose articles are attracting as much attention in America as they surely must be attracting in England?" The enquiry led to a personal meeting, and a friendship was thus formed which was only broken by Lowell's death.

Ninety-Seven Years With Family.

An old servant has just died at Lisburn in the person of Susan O'Hagan, who had been in the service of one family for ninety-seven years. She had been with four generations of the family, and had nursed three. For some time past she had been frail, but enjoyed good health and the full use of her faculties, and could sew and knit without the aid of glasses.

Tax on Horseflesh.

One of the new taxes contemplated in Paris is a duty of 1s. 5d. per cwt. on horseflesh used for human consumption. Strong objections have been raised on the ground that the tax would fall on the very poor and the sick—horseflesh is recommended for consumptives—and would bring in only about $38,000.

Call and See Sample

We are agents for the Canadian Home Needlework Magazine, distinctly a housewife's publication, devoted exclusively to art needlework, silk embroidery, home decoration and things fashionable. Subscription price 10 cts. Subscribe at Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

I FLEE MY PEN.

I see my pen when heavy grows the brain,
When for a happy rhyme I search in vain.
The ink well closed, the pen laid in its place,
I seek for other scenes in outer space.
What though the wind be keen, what though it rain?

I ask a change, nor can I well complain
If by a wetting I my end attain.
So at a steady, blood bewarming pace
I flee my pen.

Yes; just as pigiets see a tempting lane
Leading to meadows ripe with golden grain,
Break from their sodden sty and, grunting, race,
Glad to escape their confines, pent and base,
I—for the taste of freedom that I gain—
I flee my pen.
—Charles Battell Loomis in Judge.

Wasn't Taking Chances.

Sam Sleek—It's dead easy to make money when you know how.

Tom Toots—Do you know how?

Sam Sleek—Sure.

Tom Toots—Why don't you make some?

Sam Sleek—I'm afraid I might get caught while trying to pass it.—Philadelphia Press.

Easily Arranged.

The eminent musician halted the seedy looking man.

"Sharp," he said, "you are just the man I want to see. I have an engagement to play at an afternoon affair at Mrs. De Plunk's, and I can't possibly go there. It means a couple of hundred. If you'll take my place I'll divide with you. Wait; I'll see that you are made up so nobody can detect the difference."

"But the playing! They will detect the difference there."

"Not a bit of it. This is a fashionable gathering, and everybody talks so loud that nobody hears a note!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why and Wherefore.

A minister one day found a little boy in tears and questioned him as to the cause of his distress. The youngster replied that his father had punished him for being naughty, and he was mighty glad that his mother had not done it.

"Why do you prefer to have your father whip you?" questioned the minister. "Is it because he is less severe than your mother?"

"No," replied the boy, "but when he licks me ma says he's a brute and always gives me money to buy candy."—Harper's Weekly.

PHILOSOPHY OF WOMEN.

It is what we will to will, not what we will,
That makes us what we are.
There is no death but that which we do bring Upon ourselves while yet we seem to live.
—Amelie Rives (Princess Troubetzkoy.)
When pain grows sharp and sickness rages
The greatest love of life appears.
—Mrs. Thrale.
Space is against thee—it can part;
Time is against thee—it can chill;
Words—they but render half the heart;
Deeds—they are poor to our rich will.
—Jean Ingelow.

We speak of saints and enthusiasts for good as if some special gifts were made to them in middle age which are withheld from other men. Is it not rather that some few souls keep alive the lamp of zeal and high desire which God lights for most of us while life is young.—Mrs. Ewing.

The most popular people during the last decade of the nineteenth century were the people who had had influenza and so could discuss it in all its various stages, but whose recorded temperature had always kept one degree lower than the temperature of those with whom they conversed. There is a subtle flattery in a slight inferiority of temperature which even sanctified human nature cannot resist.

The common lot is the best thing that this life has to offer, and, luckily for us, the best of us are fit for nothing better, since there is nothing better this side of heaven.—Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

When Tired—

Don't grit your teeth and work harder. Ease up a little.

Don't talk any more than you can help. Talking takes vitality.

Lie down in a dark place, if only for fifteen minutes.

Don't read anything in which you are not interested.

Don't feel that everything must be done in one day. There are 364 more.

Realize that it is better to leave things undone than overdo yourself.

Avoid people and their woes at that time. Seek some one frivolous.

Don't try to improve yourself. Give your mind a rest.

And don't forget that a little lemon juice in cold water in the morning is a great help.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics or a treasure safeguard against Colds 25c. Sold by all dealers.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and mental systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

We treat and cure VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD AND URINARY COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES and all Diseases peculiar to Men.

CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. If unable to call write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Fenman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a penwritten original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

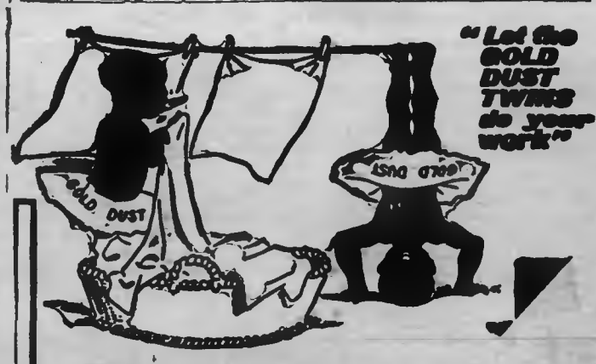
It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED



Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no Buy GOLD DUST and you

OTHER GENERAL USE FOR GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, work, all dark colored goods

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK CO.

GOLD DUST

REMEMBER THIS

A Thorough Cleansing of the System Now is a Sure Protection against Spring and Summer Sickness.

After the long hard winter, system cleansing is badly needed. The blood must be purged and purified, otherwise pent-up impurities will beat through the skin and all through the summer you'll be tormented with rashes, pimples, humors and boils.

The best of all blood purifiers, and at the same time an unequalled tonic and appetizer, is Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will build up, aid the digestion of food, keep the system vigorous, healthy, strong. Being mild and pleasant in action, you need not hesitate to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Take them at night —note the difference in the morning, how fresh, bright and well you feel. No surer health bringer and health keeper known than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a 25c. box today. At all dealers.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. 'Phone—Office 483; House 483.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournes's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1909.

Presbytery Will Meet This Week

The Presbytery of Peterborough was to have met at Port Hope on March 9th but in view of the reported epidemic there, the place of meeting has been changed to Peterborough, and accordingly the Presbytery will meet in St. Andrew's church on Tuesday, March 9th, at 9 o'clock.

The clerk of the Presbytery reports that St. Andrew's church, Campbellford, has extended a call to Rev. G. A. Brown of Burk's Falls, and the call will be considered at the meeting of the Presbytery here. St. Andrew's church has been without a regular minister since the removal of Rev. G. A. Reeves to Moose Jaw.

THE PNEUMONIA SEASON

MORE DEATHS FROM PNEUMONIA THAN FROM TUBERCULOSIS.

Pneumonia an Infectious Disease. It Can Be Prevented---A Remarkable Record.

[From the Des Moines Register and Leader.]

"Why has this season of the year become known as the pneumonia season? Why during the closing week of the old year were there more deaths in Chicago and New York from pneumonia than tuberculosis? Why are pneumonia and related bronchial troubles beginning to take the place of tuberculosis as the dread scourge of city life? Simply and solely because we are devoting too much ingenuity and energy to dodging the fresh and invigorating winter air that every twelve months refrigerates our latitude.

It is believed now that pneumonia is an infectious disease, and that in the cities where the death rate is growing so rapidly it is communicated in the heated and crowded cars. A nickel is so small, and the cold air is so chilling, that the American people are forgetting how to walk. The old time red that burned the cheek of childhood does not visit a mature face on an average of once in the twelve months, not even the red of a chilly and pinched nose. We are getting afraid of the climate, and as a result, the climate is taking its revenge.

The mere habit of turning up coat collars has killed thousands of people, and the fur boa has a long list to its account, for no part of the human body becomes delicate more quickly because of superfluous coverings than the throat. And yet we are multiplying devices for turning up more coat collars. It is not too early to recognize that this is all wrong, that our climate is here to stay, and that if we are going to live in it with comfort we must accommodate ourselves to it. It will pay to keep on good terms with the climate."

A great many have learned that pneumonia may be avoided by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy whenever they have a cold. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for colds and grip during the epidemics of the past few years, we have yet to learn of a single one having had pneumonia, which should certainly convince the most skeptical of the value of that preparation. Its remarkable cures of colds have made it a staple article of trade and use throughout the United States and [illegible]

PERSONAL

Miss Irene Craig of Toronto, is in the city on a visit.

Mrs. A. B. Cutting has gone on a visit for some weeks to Chicago.

Miss Lucy Platt of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Eva Crane, Ashburnham.

Mrs. Landry and son have returned from a visit to North Tonawanda, N.Y.

Miss Frankie Johnston, who went to Toronto to hear Paderwski at the Massey Music Hall, has returned to the city.

Mr. Oscar Davidson of the C.P.R. telegraph office staff has been called to Ottawa, where he was engaged as operator.

The many friends of Mr. Gordon C. Miller will regret to hear that he is confined to the house on account of illness.

Mr. Fred Hall has gone to Montreal to accept a position in the pattern shop of the Allis, Chalmers, Bullock Company.

Miss May Connell, of Lindsay, has returned home after being for some weeks the guest of Mrs. M. O'Brien, 520 Gilmour street.

Miss Welsh, head of the Turnbull Company's dressmaking and ladies' tailoring, will open her department for the spring season, Tuesday, March 2nd.

Miss Welsh, head of the Turnbull Company's Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Department, and Miss Neill of the Ryan Company, Guelph, are now visiting the fashion centers in New York.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup —50c. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bradburn of Winnipeg, are in the city for a few days' visit with their parents. Mrs. Bradburn will receive with Mrs. R. J. Winch, 296 Stewart street, on Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 8.

Postmaster Col. H. C. Rogers had the misfortune last week to meet with an accident, as a result of which he has been unable to be in his office. While walking along the street the colonel slipped on the icy pavement, badly straining his right ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearson, of North Smith, entertained about one hundred Peterborough and Lakefield young people at their home Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was spent in games and dancing. Excellent music was provided by a violin orchestra. Mr. H. Mellmoyle, of this city acted as floor manager. At the conclusion dainty refreshments were served. A resolution of thanks was passed, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson for their kind hospitality.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. Jacob Fricker, manager of the Lindsay Brewing Co., was in the city on Saturday last and paid The Times a friendly call. Mr. Fricker was for years connected with Mr. C. N. Heather, proprietor of the Berlin Lion Brewery, and when the Lindsay brewery was opened he was placed at the head of it. In selecting Mr. Fricker a better choice could not have been made as he understands his business and he is a man who is well liked by all.

Mr. Harry M. McNeil, of Bay City, Mich., an old Peterborough boy, is a guest of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Hudson, Rubidge street. Mr. McNeil is a son of the late Alexander McNeil, who was widely and popularly known in this part of the country as he was the first auctioneer in the district and followed that career for half a century. Mr. Harry McNeil left Peterborough in 1868. He has visited the old town several times but each time he sees a great growth and improvement.

Big Increases in Company's Business

After twenty-nine years of faithful and constantly improved service to the public the Bell Telephone Co., of Canada, with its head office in Montreal, is still extending its lines and increasing its business by leaps and bounds. The annual meeting was held in Montreal recently when the financial statement was presented. That document, which is of vital importance to the stockholders in every company, was one which proved to be highly satisfactory to all.

There was a large attendance of stockholders and to give some idea of the extent of the business handled by the Bell people it might be stated that during 1908 there were 7,816 new subscribers added to the list making the total number of sets of instruments now in use 103,084. Nearly 4000 miles of wire were added to the long distance lines, making a total of 46,879 miles now operated.

The company sold its plant in Manitoba and Alberta to the local government thus largely decreasing its earnings capacity from that source. But so large has been the company's growth in other parts of Canada that the aggregate loss of revenue will be very small.

The company's net revenue was $1,424,274.26 and dividends were paid to stock holders to the amount of $1,000,000 and after allowing for reserve funds, contingent fund and charge off buildings the sum of $69,657.40 is carried forward to 1909. It will thus be seen that the Bell Telephone Co., of Canada, is still forging ahead and paying its stockholders substantial dividends. A full report of the meeting is contained in another column of this issue.

WOMEN ARE WOMEN.

A Rather Roundabout Way to Prove the Proposition.

Men say women are angels; women say women are cats. Let us pause a moment and reason upon this thing.

If women are angels—however, that does not seem to be the proper starting point. Let us try again.

If angels are cats—but, no; that is hardly reasonable, for angels have wings, and cats do not fly. We must begin again.

If women are cats—but that isn't possible, for cats do not talk, and how could a dumb animal express an opinion in words of a woman? Whatever cats may think, they never say a word about a woman, while women—well, women are not cats.

Now let us return to the first proposition.

If women are angels, they wouldn't say women are cats. Angels don't talk that way.

Once upon a time a man married a woman. He said she was an angel; the women said she was a cat. Happy man, not to know the difference between an angel and a cat!

Men say women are angels, and by this token women say angels are cats. Therefore, angels being cats, cats must be angels, and, both being the same, women are women.

Which is precisely what they are.—W. J. Lampton in Lippincott's.

NEW MEXICO.

How That Portion of Northern New Spain Got Its Name.

The country now called Mexico was not so called till 1810, when the revolt against Spain began. Up to independence the country was called New Spain and was divided into the same number of provinces as Spain, each with a name of a province in Spain, with the prefix of "new," but New Mexico was not included in this division. It got its name in this way:

In 1561 Francisco Ibarra was in charge of an expedition of exploration into what is now northern Durango and southern Chihuahua and discovered an Indian village near where Santa Barbara now stands in which the houses were whitewashed and the people made and wore cotton cloth, raising the cotton in the neighborhood. He wrote an account of his discovery to his brother in the City of Mexico, telling him he had discovered "una nueva Mexico," a new Mexico, another Mexico, meaning that he had found another town like the City of Mexico, and thereafter all this portion of northern New Spain was known as "Nueva Mexico"—that is, New Mexico—which name it has retained, though now much reduced in extent.—Las Vegas Optic.

Muskrats For Meat.

Of all animals that supply meat to man the muskrat has been the most abused and the least understood, says the Baltimore Star. Its name had bred in the public mind a prejudice that has been almost unconquerable, but truth will prevail in spite of fate. As a fact the muskrat is one of the neatest and most delightful of animals. It is a crank in cleanliness. It dines with the care of an epicure. It eats only the whitest and tenderest morsels. And its flesh has qualities that can be compared only to terrapin. Indeed, there are good people along the Chesapeake, where all the best things live and grow, who find in the well served muskrat satisfaction that is equal to the diamondback. Only the ignorant and the prejudiced think differently, and they may be educated.

Ripening Bananas.

It is a familiar fact that bananas are imported green, but it came as a new thing to a visitor to the banana district in Colombia to find that bananas are not permitted to ripen on the plant even down there. They are cut and set to hang somewhere until they wither ripe, as the phrase is. Bananas do not have to be yellow to be ripe. That is only the color of the skin when it has dried up. To the person who is accustomed to eating bananas only when they are yellow it seems odd to peel them when they are green and find that they are perfectly ripe within and fit to eat.

The Prisoner's Retort.

It is a prison chaplain's duty to give a departing prisoner good advice and to exhort him to be a decent and honorable man in the future. In the course of one of these interviews a chaplain said, "Now, my friend, I hope you'll never have to come back to a place like this."

The prisoner looked at him thoughtfully and then asked, "I say, chaplain, you draw a salary here, don't you?" When the chaplain replied in the affirmative the prisoner remarked, "Well, say, if me and the other fellows didn't keep coming back you'd be out of a job."

Didn't Need a Doctor.

"Let me kiss those tears away!" he begged tenderly. She fell in his arms, and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on. "Are you suffering? Can nothing stop them?" he asked, breathlessly sad.

"No," she murmured. "It's only a cold, you know. But go on with the treatment."

Cheering Her.

Macdougal (to his new fourth wife)—The moenister doesna approve o' my marryin' again, an' sae young a wife too! But, as I tell't him, I canna be ave buryin', buryin'.

In this world it is not what we take up, but what we give up, that makes us rich.—Beecher.

Dog Lost

Black and white spotted hound, finder will be rewarded by leaving dog with Mr. O'Brien, butcher, McDonell street.

Birth

WATT—In Peterborough on Sunday Feb 28, 1909, to Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Watt, Gilmour street, a daughter.

Needle cases, blotters, ticket holders in burnt leather, each stamped "Souvenir of Peterborough," on bargain at 4 for 25 cents. Mail orders filled promptly. Times Bookstore.

The Farmer's Wife

is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these are symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptomatic conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos

AND

Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,

326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

A BASS BOTTLE-WASHER.

Daughter of Famous Brewer Has Frank Reply For Young Noble.

One of the best stories told about Lord Burton, who was to have entertained the King at Rangemore, near Burton-on-Trent, recently, but which visit had, at the last moment, to be postponed, owing to His Majesty's slight indisposition, has to do with a situation offered him. One day, while traveling in a train, an affable stranger entered into conversation with him, and discovering that he appeared to have a splendid knowledge of brewing, the stranger offered him the post of manager at a small brewery of his. The future Lord Burton was impressed with the magnificence of the offer, but told his fellow-passenger he felt obliged to decline, because he, too, did a little in the brewing line at Burton-on-Trent!

Lord Burton was had a narrow escape from drowning. With the late Lord Hindlip he went out on a loch in a light skiff, when the craft overturned, and it was some time before they were rescued. As Mr. Michael Bass, Lord Burton sat for many years in the House of Commons.

He was created a baronet in 1886, and four years later was raised to the peerage. His greatest hobby is collecting pictures and works of art, and at Rangemore he has some of the finest tapestries in England. The heir-presumptive to the barony is Lord Burton's only daughter, Mrs. Baillie, of Dochfour, about whom some pretty stories are unfolded, for she was always frank and unconventional.

Once, during a dance, some of the old folk present were a little shocked at the enthusiasm with which the younger ones entered into the spirit of the gathering. "Hardly the manners of a Vere de Vere," said an old general, as Miss Bass flew past him. "No," replied the young lady, dropping a saucy curtsey, "they are the manners of Beer de Beer—and jolly good beer it is too."

Even more frank still was her acknowledgment to a young nobleman that she had never heard of his great-great-grandfather, who fell at Malplaquet. "You see," she added, "my great-great-grandfather was a bottle-washer!"

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or fevers with "Preventics" should cause many deaths. To stop a cold with "Preventics" is quite easy to do if you get them at once. "Preventics" will stop a cold in a few hours, and will break up the worst cold in a few days. Don't wait until you are sick before you get them. Have them handy. Here's why they are so good:

[illegible]

Preventics

"ALL DEALERS"

Blank Books

See us before buying your new Blank Books for 1909 We keep in stock a complete assortment of

ACCOUNT BOOKS

ready bound and ruled, or can make to your order any style of ruling or binding, at

Prices that Are Right

No matter what size or style of

Day Book, Cash Book, Bill Book Journal, Ledger or Blotter

you may want we can supply the same with promptness and despatch.

Also all qualities of Stationery, (blank or printed) in the latest styles. Give us a call.

Times Bookstore

Hunter Street Nearly Opposite post Office

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 16 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poudin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 26th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley china. See the bread and butter plates with 1st look on each, selling at only 25 cents.

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

NEW

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's

432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..	$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..	$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to..	50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to....	25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to	35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to.....	2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Church Notes

ST. PAUL'S.

Rev. Dr. Talling of Ottawa, occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's church at both services yesterday and preached to large congregations. Rev. Mr. Pogue was in Ottawa, and tonight he will deliver a lecture in Rev. Rev. Dr. Talling's church.

ST. ANDREW'S.

Monday afternoon at 4.30, Willing Workers' Mission Band.

Monday evening at 8 p.m., regular meeting of Ladies' Aid, at the home of Mrs. Chas. McClellan, Downie street.

Wednesday evening the Ladies' Aid reception in the school house to the members and adherents of the congregation. A musical program will be rendered.

EARLY SCRIPTURES.

Next Sunday morning Rev. J. G. Potter will make a statement on the early portions of the Scriptures. This is in connection with the controversy now going on among prominent members of the Methodist Church. The object is to give the congregation of St. Andrew's, an idea of the position the Presbyterian Church takes in this matter.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. They are indeed, "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket, or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Colds. 25c. Sold by all dealers.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 51 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Prisoners Remanded and Bail was Refused

As a result of the assault upon Deputy Chief Grange of the Fire Department on Saturday evening by three firemen, there was a crowded police court on Monday morning. The case was called, but was enlarged until next Monday morning, to give the Crown an opportunity to prepare its case and to ascertain to what extent the unfortunate man was injured. The prisoners, Hawes, Chapman and Craig, were represented by Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Dennistoun, Peek & Kerr, who applied to Magistrate Dumble for bail, but his worship refused to grant it on account of the condition of Grange. County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood has charge of the prosecution.

The men appeared in the dock in their uniforms, which they wore when arrested. They did not plead or elect. All seemed to be quite composed, but were much interested while the controversy concerning the bail was going on. When they found it would not be allowed, however they began to realize their position and to look upon things a little more seriously.

On their removal to the police station cells they were allowed to remain there until their civilian attire was brought to the station. When they had changed their uniforms they were taken to the jail. They come up again for hearing on March 9th.

Mr. Jackson Did Not Impute Cowardice to Other Pastors

Toronto, March 1.—The Methodist Ministerial Association held one of the longest meetings in its history in the Methodist offices, Richmond street, this morning, it being expected that the Carman-Jackson controversy would be discussed. Many delegates were present from out-of-town circuits, and the most intense interest was shown in the proceedings.

At 12 o'clock Rev. Geo. Jackson arrived, prepared to make a statement regarding his recent utterances, which have given offence to the General Superintendent.

Rev. Dr. Carman being in Smith's Falls could not attend, but the matter was taken up nevertheless.

NO OUTSIDERS ALLOWED.

Rev. J. M. Wilkinson was the center of a little debate before the Jackson matter was discussed.

He had entered the room with the rest of the clergy, though he is neither a member of the Canadian Conference nor the Toronto Ministerial Association.

Thomas Jones, of Sherbourne St. church, whose attack on Rev. Mr. Jackson was published in the daily press, also entered, and when the Jackson matter was about to be discussed he rose and asked if he, a layman, would be allowed to remain.

On this the ministers were divided. Some said "Yes," some "No."

Rev. W. L. Armstrong; "We have all respect for the laymen, but if we allow one of them to remain where will we draw the line?"

Rev. Mr. Jackson rose and said that he had come to make a statement to his ministerial brethren, and if laymen were allowed to be present he would not make it.

This practically settled the point.

Mr. Jones rose to go. "If you want me to go I'll go, but I want to say that Mr. Wilkinson is here, and I have as much right as he has to be present."

Mr. Wilkinson rose too; "If the brethren do not wish me to stay I'll go, but I might say I was invited here."

Nobody told him to remain, so he picked up his hat and coat and made his exit.

In the hall outside he encountered Mr. Jones, and the had some warm words, the latter showing evident satisfaction at having had the clergyman excluded.

"Rev. C. O. Johnston invited me to come in," said Mr. Wilkinson.

"You were there for your paper," said Mr. Jones.

This the clergyman denied.

PROBATIONERS STAYED IN.

At the request of Rev. Chancellor Burwash a number of young probationers were allowed to stay in and hear the discussion.

Messrs. Miles Vokes and S. R. Hanna, of the local Lord's Day Alliance branch asked the association to bring the aims and objects of the Alliance before their congregations, and recommend the talking of an annual collection in aid of the work of the Alliance.

The association decided to recommend it to the Quarterly Board of their churches.

DIDN'T IMPUTE COWARDICE.

At 1.45 the Methodist ministers were still in session. There was quiet news within the room, but it was understood that an earnest discussion was going on over Mr. Jackson's statement.

At 1.50 the door was opened, and the reporters were given this statement;

"That whereas this Toronto Methodist Ministerial meeting, having heard the explanation of Rev. Geo. Jackson denying any imputation of cowardice to his ministerial brethren in the matter of Biblical teaching, and stating that he was thus misrepresented in the public press, we accept heartily the said explanation as not impugning our courage and our honesty.

MR. JACKSON WAS CHEERED.

The resolution was moved by Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick, and seconded by Rev. S. Wesley Dean.

When Mr. Jackson entered the room he was greeted by an enthusiastic burst of applause, mostly made by the younger preachers.

After he had read a carefully worded statement which he afterwards refused to hand out to the press, the debate began.

Voices raised high in excited argument and an occasional laugh at some humorous statement, could be heard in the corridor.

Grape-Nuts

for Brains---

Brains make the Man.

"There's a Reason"

Scrappy Session of City Council, Did Not Adjourn Until Midnight

Board of Education Finances Criticised Again—Power Question Debated—Several Tie Votes That Mayor Had to Decide By-Laws Were Prepared

The regular meeting of the City Council last night was a real scrappy one, both the session of the Committee of the Whole held first and the council. On two questions the vote was a tie and the mayor was called upon to vote and once while Ald. Metheral was in the chair he was called upon to break the tie. The question of the tax rate, the Board of Education's finances, and the power question were all hotly debated.

The session was the longest that has been held for many months and twice the time had to be extended and it was just twelve o'clock when the motion to adjourn was passed.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as read.

Those present were; Mayor Rush, Aldermen Hicks, Duffus, Duncan, Morgan, Butler, Bradburn, Gillespie, Turner, Metheral, McIntyre, Morrow and Phelan.

A number of communications were read and referred to the various committees.

The city tax collector reported a balance of uncollected taxes of $8,711.79.

Ald. Phelan and City Engineer Hay will attend the cement exhibition and good roads meeting.

Ald. Morgan moved that they do not go as the city wished to economize this year. This motion was defeated.

In connection with the Finance Committee's report Ald. Hicks moved that the clause in the Finance Committee referring to the Board of Education be struck out and that the bylaw to issue debentures be submitted at the next January election. The motion was defeated by a vote of 8 to 4.

Ald. Hicks stated that this matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole. For some reason the Finance Committee received the deputation from the Board of Education. There is something funny in the Board's way of doing business. The Board of Education owed the Finance Committee an apology for placing the chairman of the Finance Committee, who was practically a paid member of the Board of Education, in an awkward position. If the chairman of the Finance Committee was not a man whom everyone held in the highest esteem this matter might be criticized more strongly.

Ald. Morrow stated in reply that he brought this matter before the committee of the whole and explained it and that Ald. Hicks had nothing to say against it, but that he left it until the eleventh hour to bring up.

Ald. Hicks stated that objected to it then and does now.

Ald. Morgan and Ald. McIntyre moved that the matter of the market tolls being let by tender be referred back to the Property Committee. This was defeated by a vote of 8 to 4.

Ald. Hicks moved that the bylaw for $15,000 for a power house be referred back to the special power committee. There was no seconder.

A bylaw providing for borrowing money to pay for the construction of a new water works dam and also improving the water works system in the city.

A bylaw to provide for borrowing $15000 to build a power house at the water works dam.

Ald. Hicks opposed the submission of this bylaw until he found out how much the thing was going to cost. He would vote against it as it was treading on dangerous ground, and would knock the power scheme of the city in the future.

The bylaw was declared carried on the second reading of the bylaw.

The Water Commissioners' bylaw for $120,000 for the new dam and pumping plant will be submitted to the people on Tuesday, March 23rd. The $15,000 bylaw for the erection of a power house for the city in connection with the dam will be submitted at the same time.

The mayor notified the committee of the whole council that Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Mr. R. Neill had tendered their resignations as members of the City Trust Commission. This necessitated the election of two more members. He therefore threw the meeting open for nominations.

Those nominated for two years were Messrs. V. Eastwood, H. Le Brun, E. F. Mason, and Wm. Langford. Mr. Eastwood was elected.

The nominations for one year were Messrs. H. LeBrun, E. F. Mason and Wm. Langford.

The vote resulted in a tie between Messrs. LeBrun and Mason, and the mayor voted for Mr. LeBrun.

The City Trust Commission is now Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, W. H. Moore, R. Hall, V. Eastwood and H. LeBrun.

The Sentiment Not Strong Enough to Pass Prohibition Law

St. John, N.B., March 1.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, premier of New Brunswick, today addressed to J. Willard Smith, head of the Temperance Federation, a letter answering their request for a Provincial prohibitory law. Mr. Hazen points out that the Petition presented by the temperance people does not contain names enough to show that there is a sufficiently strong sentiment to warrant the passage of a prohibitory law, and shows that in some sections, notably the French counties, the number of signatures is very small.

He points out that the Scott Act and the license law give better provision for prohibition than could any Provincial statute that could neither prohibit the importatoion nor manufacture of liquor. He promises some amendments to the Provincial Act that will make it more workable, and more in line with the Ontario Act in the matter of shutting out licenses in any ward or district.

Miss Kinrade Now Says that Murderer was Not a Tramp

Hamilton, March 1.—Vivid imaginations are at work on the Kinrade case, giving off the veriest stories fancy could picture. As a result excitement is even more intense than it was on the afternoon the tragedy was committed.

T. L. Kinrade, father of the murdered girl, is today advertising a reward of $1000 for information that will lead to the arrest of the murderer.

It is not true, the authorities say, that anyone is under surveillance.

FLORENCE HYSTERICAL STILL.

Detective Miller had a partial interview this morning with Florence Kinrade, but she broke down, crying hysterically, and he was forced to leave before he had half completed his examination. The police have something they are keeping under cover. Two officers, who went to the scene of the tragedy after the first squad was detailed make a discovery upon which the police are now working. They refuse to say what it is.

A BLOOD-STAINED SCARF.

It was announced from another source, however, that a lady's scarf, blood-stained, had been picked up in the back yard when the police first arrived on the scene. The authorities tried to keep this discovery in the dark, but the news leaked out this morning. The scarf was found a short distance from the back door. The police attach considerable importance to the find, as they think that the murderer wiped his hands on the scarf.

Detective Miller assured a newspaper correspondent at 2.10 this afternoon that there was nothing new in the case. He says the girl's statements were more confusing than ever. This is natural, considering her more hysterical condition.

It is said Miss Miss Kinrade now declares that she tried to get out of the parlor window after hearing the shooting, and that the man then fired several times at her, twice as she was fleeing through the front door. She says she heard several shots after she had left, and adds that the man was probably too well dressed to be a tramp.

It was Miss Abbott, sister of Canon Abbott, who saw the man board the car on the afternoon of the murder. Mrs. Abbott is in Montreal. Miss Abbott thinks the story is somewhat exaggerated. She says the man was very pale and depressed, and not so greatly excited. She thought it possible, however, that he was the murderer, and thought she should report it.

No Foundation for Rumor

A cruel rumor got into circulation in Peterborough yesterday, concerning the Hamilton murder, and many people were much upset by it.

A story to the effect that Miss Kinrade had confessed to the Hamilton police that she had killed her sister was started by someone, and it lost no time in spreading.

All last night The Times phone rang for enquirers who wanted to know the truth of the rumor. The telephone was kept continuously busy with similar inquiries from all sections of the city.

There is nothing at all in the rumor. It is absolutely denied by the Hamilton police.

No one who called up believed it could be true and they were all apparently relieved when told of the falseness of the report.

Dog Lost

Black and white spotted hound, finder will be rewarded by leaving dog with Jh. O'Brien, butcher, McDonell street.

Council Want Report on the Auburn Dam

Ald. McIntyre informed the aldermen that Mr. Jas. Kendry had notified him that unless the city took some action in connection with the purchase of his dam he would withdraw his offer to sell to the city.

Ald. Phelan moved that the city secure an engineer to report on the Kendry dam. This was seconded by Ald. Hicks.

Ald. Bradburn moved in amendment that the matter be referred back to the Power Committee with authority to spend $400 to get a report on electric power in the city. Ald. Morgan seconded it.

This was satisfactory to Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Hicks and it carried.

Plans and Estimates to be Secured for Hospital

The Isolation Hospital was introduced to the council last night by Ald. Morrow, who asked the chairman of the Property Committee what had been done.

Ald. Bradburn reported that the plans they secured last year were not satisfactory to last year's committee. If the council desired the committee to act he would like to receive authority to secure plans.

A motion was passed authorizing the Property Committee to secure plans and estimates of cost.

TAX RATE WILL BE 19 1-2 MILLS, CITY'S FINANCES IN BETTER SHAPE

The tax rate for Peterborough for 1909 will be 19 1-2 mills on the dollar. This was decided after a warm debate among the aldermen. It is a rate which will permit the council to carry on the city's business without having any overdraft at the end of the year.

Ald. Morrow, chairman of the Finance Committee notified the aldermen that his committee had met the City Trust Commissioners and induced that body to reduce their demand upon the city by $8,500.

The City Trust Commission has a surplus of some $35,000 on hand as the result of some railway stock deal many years ago.

Ald. Morrow therefore moved that the Finance Committee's recommendation that the rate be 19 mills for this year be adopted.

Ald. Hicks stated that he thought that the $8,500 from the City Trust Commission would be a nice nest egg. He did not think that the city could possibly get along with any less than a 20-mill rate. The Board of Works could not do their work with $12,500. He therefore moved in amendment that the rate be 20 mills. Ald. Turner seconded it and the result was 6—6.

This put it up to the mayor to decide and he voted for the 20-mill rate.

Ald. Morrow stated that he thought it a mistake to raise the rates any more than 19 mills. There was more money spent on the streets last year than any two years previously. There would also be a lot of city work this year on the new public library, the Smith street bridge, etc.

Ald. Hicks took issue with Ald. Morrow over the statement that more money was spent on the roads last year. He maintained that there was not. He also asked Ald. Morrow that even if the city did have the $8,500 left at the end of the year it would only be leaving the city's finances where they were a couple of years ago.

Considerable discussion followed and it appeared that the Finance Committee gave the City Trust Commissioners to understand that if they gave the $8,500 the rate would be 19 mills.

When this was learned by the aldermen, several of them said they would be in favor of the 19-mill rate rather than break faith with the commissioners.

To straighten the thing out, Ald. Bradburn moved in amendment that the rate be 19 1-2 mills. This was seconded by Ald. Duncan and was carried by a vote of 10 to 2.

ADDITIONAL MONEY.

By adding 1-2 mill to the tax rate the council gets an additional revenue of $4200. This the chairman of the Finance Committee allotted as follows;—

Fire, Water & Light	$1000
Board of Works	1000
Property Committee	200
Miscellaneous	1400
Manufacturers Committee	500
	$4200

Ald. Phelan moved that the Board of Works receive $2500. Ald. McIntyre seconded this. The Board of Works would thus have $15,000.

Ald. Morrow moved that his allotment of the money be adopted, and it carried on a vote of 10 to 2.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Annual Meeting of 57th Regiment--Opening of the New Armouries

The annual meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment was held in the mess rooms last night when about 25 officers were present. A lot of routine business was transacted. The opening of the new armories was informally discussed although nothing definite will be decided until the next meeting. The general feeling seems to be, however, that if the public is prepared to support the officers there will be a splendid military demonstration held here on one of the public holidays. This will be a great thing for Peterborough as it is years since anything of the kind has been undertaken. It has a great many advantages which will undoubtedly appeal to the people. The officers also feel that they cannot allow the opportunity to pass without returning the hospitality of the several regiments which the 57th has visited in recent years.

The officers intend to take advantage of their fine new quarters in the armories to place the 57th Regiment in every department on the best footing it has ever been and to make it in efficiency and discipline the equal of any in Canada.

A very interesting feature of last night's meeting was the receipts of reports from the several committees and also the financial statement.

COMMITTEES.

The following committees were elected;—

Regimental Committee — Majors Clegg, Bennett and Hayes.

Mess. Committee—Col. Halliday, Major Hayes, Capt. McLean.

Rifle Committee—Major Bennett, with one officers and one non-com. officer from each company.

Band Committee.—Capts. Walken Hounsell, Cluxton, McLean and Major Clegg.

Trip Committee—Capt. Eastwood, Capt. Clark, Lieut. Higgins.

Nominating Committee—Col. Stevenson, Major Davidson, Capt. Mills, Lieut. Cameron, Lieut. Eastwood.

Auditors—Lieut. Carruther and Capt. Cluxton.

Mess Secretary—Lieut. Gemmell.

Grits Have a Lead Now of Thirteen Points in the Big Curling Match

The great political battle at the curling rink has not yet been decided although of the six rinks that played last night the Grits have got a majority of 13. W. E. Talbot was the only Tory rink that was up. His score was 18 to 13. Skips Brown and Fitzgerald played a tie game 11 all. One more game is to be played this afternoon but unless the Tories get a big lead they are down and out. The rinks were as follows;—

Tories.	Grits
J. D. Craig	H. Hall
G. Maitland	G. Ferguson
J. Knapman	Dr. Eastwood
S. Ray—9	W. M. Lang—12
M. Lyle	H. Hall

H. Meredith	L. Hall
T. H. Yates	W. Taylor
Dr. Greer—10.	D. Davidson—13
L. Dobbin	A. Webb
J. W. McDermid	G. L. Bowes
W. H. Denham	J. A. McKone
T.F.Matthews—12	J. E.A.Fitzgerald14
W. Adamson	J. Wiley
R. Carton	W. T. Hall
J. A. Cameron	T. Brightman
C. N. Brown—11.	W. G. Ferguson—11
G. Hill	J. Davidson
H. Evans	S. D. Hall
J. Montgomery	W. J. Thompson
G. H. Giroux—4.	J. H. Connal—16
C. James	L. Sherwood
T. Minnecola	W. E. Leek
D. Hall	W. S. Davidson
W. E. Talbot—18	G.L.Hay—11

Jas. Jeffries will Try to Re-Claim Title

Omaha, Neb., March 1.—Jim Jeffries has decided to make a match with Jack Johnson, the negro champion heavyweight fighter. Jeffries was in Omaha last night on his way to New York to fill a twenty weeks' theatrical engagement.

To Sandy Griswold, the sporting writer, Jeffries said;

"I will arrange to meet Johnson as soon as my twenty weeks' engagement is over. I feel obligated to the sporting public to at least make an effort to reclaim the heavyweight championship for the white race. I was through fighting until Johnson butted into first place, but as long as I have not been defeated I think it no more than right that I should step into the ring again, and demonstrate that a white man is king of them."

Kansas City, March 1.—James J. Corbett, who is here, is quoted today as saying that in a recent conversation James J. Jeffries declared his intention of re-entering the ring after his New York theatrical engagements.

"Jeffries told me," said Corbett, "that he believed he would be compelled to take a year in order to get into perfect condition. This is the real reason he is slow in announcing his intention of returning.

On and Off Chat About Fat

The society reporter picked up the following gem at Madam Brewster's not twenty-four hours ago. One of her millionaire customers struggling into a new gown asked the famous costumer how she kept her figure in such superb shape. "You habitually eat and drink heartily and even thoughtlessly, not to say riotously at times," she complained, "whereas I live like a hermit. Yet I can't keep slim and, apparently, you can't get fat." "Guilty," replied the fashion czarina. "I admit I don't fatten up nor do I thin down, but it is because I have the power, my dear Mrs. ——— (the name almost slipped out), to say to my fat 'Thus far and no farther.' I don't exercise nor diet nor run any danger of wrinkles or stomach trouble either. Here is the secret." She wrote a few words on a piece of paper and handed it to her questioner. "Get that filled at the druggist's," she concluded, "take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime and you will never get any fatter than you want to be. You can take off a pound a day with this receipt, if you want to."

Being fat herself and fully alive to the tremendous value of these statements to the fat folks everywhere, the society reporter committed an unpardonable social sin; she peeped over the lady's shoulder—and this is what she saw; For excess Fat, simplest, safest, cheapest, most helpful receipt of any; One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Carsara Aromatic, 4 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Preventics, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Catarrhozone

The only cure for Catarrh Endorsed by the Medical Profession.

Physicians boldly state that every requirement of a perfect cure for Catarrhal diseases is fulfilled in Catarrhozone, and on this account it is prescribed by almost every intelligent doctor.

It is the most powerful antiseptic known. When the lungs are filled with its germ-killing vapor the microbes which cause and maintain the unhealthy condition of the mucous membrane die immediately. Disease germs cannot exist where Catarrhozone is used.

Although very penetrating, Catarrhozone is a soothing and healing treatment. It quickly heals the raw spots and dislays irritation and congestion of the mucous membrane.

When using Catarrhozone you don't have to wait all day for relief; it comes with every breath taken through the Inhaler. Head and throat are cleared and cleansed almost at once. Dropping in the throat, headache, coughing, and spitting, and all other disagreeable symptoms of catarrh are banished by a few days' use of this superior remedy.

Catarrhal diseases of every description yield without much difficulty to Catarrhozone. When used for Bronchitis, Lung Trouble and Colds, it affords not only instant relief, but cures in a very short time.

Croup, Whooping Cough and Winter Flu simply won't live any time if Catarrhozone is inhaled four times daily, and as a safeguard for Pneumonia and Consumption it has no equal.

Better get a Catarrhozone Inhaler; use it occasionally, and you won't have a cough or cold in the head or catarrh. These afflictions can be prevented by Catarrhozone as well as cured. Complete outfit, full two months' treatment, costs $1. Small size, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists and N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside cities at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors,

Peterborough, Ontario.

TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1909.

PROVINCIAL POLICE

The proposal to establish a Provincial police force throughout Ontario recalls the fact that the Home Secretary in the British Cabinet controls the police of England. The metropolitan police force of London is administered directly by the government under his personal supervision. The police elsewhere are not under his orders, but the Central Government pays one-half of the cost of their maintenance on condition that they observe the minister's regulations. This enables him to prescribe the organization, equipment and discipline of the local constabulary all over England.

ONTARIO SHOULD CONTROL

Canadians have long sent their raw materials to build up the industries of the United States. This has been the case particularly in regard to timber and the product of our nickel mines. The native energy latent in our streams should not be added to the list. Nature has given Ontario its water powers in the place of coal, and they should not wastefully be alienated. We have heard much of late concerning the need of conserving the natural resources of North America, and representatives of Canada have attended a congress at Washington convened with this end in view. Mr. Pinchot has protested against the rapidity with which the water powers of the United States are falling into the hands of what will prove a capitalist monopoly. The industrial objections to the Ontario and Michigan Power Company's bill are strong. Water powers are an asset of the Province likely to grow in value, and it is argued that the Dominion should not take any action that will remove them from the Provincial jurisdiction. The adoption of the Conmee bill at Ottawa would constitute such an act. Queen's Park has laid down a policy for the control and regulation of water powers and power rates to the public, and it is felt that Ottawa should not interfere.

Winnipeg--$21.00

from Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the direct via the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. is attractive route to steadily increasing. Baggage checked through to destination. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before deciding on your trip.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for finest painted view. Fancy china, floral tea and butter plates with gilt lock on each, selling at only 25 cents.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Heiress Weds a Railway Porter

London, Feb. 27.—A love story which comes from Shropshire reads like a chapter from one of Fielding's most famous works, even to the name of the hero, Tom Jones, a young railway porter, son of a horse conveyancer, residing at Pant, four miles from Oswestry, has recently wedded Miss Evelyn Dorothy Hopton, a charming young lady who is reputed to be heiress to some £10,000.

The young lady, who, like her husband, is only nineteen, has been residing at Pant, with her mother, with whom she came from Herefordshire some four or five years ago. Her father, a retired British officer, who is at present big game shooting in Uganda, is a Protestant, while her mother is a Roman Catholic. The father in 1902, during a brief visit to this country, took steps to make his daughter a ward in Chancery.

Two years ago the young lady says she was sent to a Roman Catholic convent at Brussels. Being a bright, cheery girl, she disliked the quiet of the seminary, and in less than two months she returned. Five months ago she struck up an acquaintance with young Jones, and as her mother was arranging, she says, to send her to another convent abroad she decided to get married.

So one day Miss Hopton asked her mother in a casual sort of way if she might marry. The mother thoughtlessly answered; "Yes, if you can find anyone to have you."

To a similar question put by the young man to his father, the latter replied; "You can get married twice over if you like."

The young people took the parents at their word. Archdeacon Wynne Jones, to whom they applied, granted a special license, and the marriage took place in the porter's "dinner hour" at Morton Parish church, the vicar, Rev. C. R. Garnett Botfield, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by the bridegroom's sister and by an Oswestry bird fancier.

MOTHER ASTOUNDED.

After the service the couple parted, Jones returning to his official duties, while young Mrs. Jones returned to her home to break the news of her marriage to her mother. At first Mrs. Hopton refused to believe her daughter's statement, but the girl showed her the wedding ring. This convinced her. When she had recovered from her surprise, Mrs. Hopton at once sent a telegram with the news to the family solicitor in Liverpool, and despatched a messenger to Welshpool to a Catholic priest.

When the priest arrived the girl herself admitted him, and then left the house and rejoined her husband. She has not seen her mother since. The young couple moved later to some furnished quarters.

The priest and the family solicitor have had an interview with young Jones, and he was asked to leave the district until he became of age, meanwhile letting his young wife return to her mother.

But the young couple will not hear of this. Young Mrs. Jones seems quite happy with her position, and says she requires no other society than that of her husband.

"I was christened in a Protestant church," she remarked, "and baptised in a Catholic church, and I returned to a Protestant church to get married."

A falling tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse. Its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Prevention—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Prevention in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 (no 25s) Sold by all dealers.

Prize Money Won by 24th Field Battery

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—This is military week here and the Executive Council reports of the annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association shows what prize money the members of the 24th Field Battery, Peterborough, won in the annual artillery competitions.

Winners for efficiency of personnel and equipment call;

Peterborough— 1st Gunner Billier, five dollars; 2nd Gunner Brightman. In gun laying and fuse setting the Peterborough battery's practice was not carried out.

For driving the teams Driver O'Toole won $5 and a special badge, and Driver Wm. Crough $3 and a special badge.

The annual session of the medical officers of the Canadian militia is being held here.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you experiencing? If your [illegible] Every [illegible] If your pain [illegible] I know that [illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound [illegible] Mrs. Pinkham [illegible] for you and [illegible] If you will write [illegible] Lynn, Mass. [illegible] Mrs. Pinkham [illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound [illegible] Grand Trunk agents before booking on your trip.

MAKE THE BEST OF IT

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Prevention—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Prevention in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 (no 25s) Sold by all dealers.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for 24 good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN

106 Florence St. Ottawa

NEW GROCERY T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS IN BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at.....	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet.....	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied.

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Corner George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or matinee. Splendid floor. Good music. Good order. Apply at Rink Residence.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the country. THE WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land to be taken is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency upon certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to reside with the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Threatening Whitehead with children is quickly and thoroughly relieved by Preventics. Rather Awful Candy Cold Cure Tablets, recommended always for at least a few days' treatment at the first sneeze of cold or catarrh. Preventics certainly do their work. Nothing harsh or violent about them. Preventics are tasteless little candy tablets. Carried in pockets or purse. Prevent Colds. Sold by all dealers.

Large price post card rocks 15c, or two for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our finer wines many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

beats you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

50,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.

Limited

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

To effect Passage until 30th April, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent

F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars. Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. MeILROY, Agent

Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway west Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office

51 King Street East

Intercolonial Ticket Office

130 St. James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department

Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27

DOMINION.....March 13

SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,240 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

14,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class steamer called Second Class.

Apply to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,

118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

EWART & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago

Members Montreal Stock Exchange, Montreal Curb, Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - Mail Bldg.

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

Six Offices in Toronto

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

THE Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,091
Total Assets...33,534,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CADILLAC, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Ostelin, Proprietor.

LEGAL

HENNESSEY, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 315 Water street. R. A. Peck, K.C. Dominion. F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to McGill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 370 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W. S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH

For the aide of children and [illegible] Municipalities by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information promptly furnished. Information cases kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. GEORGE COCKBURN, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL — HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING — METAL

Local Agents: Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

Phone Main 1729

William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

Write for our Free Book "How to obtain Patents" and "What to Invent" with list of hundreds of inventions wanted and prizes offered for them. Sent free. Patents procured through us advertised for sale at our expense in our two magazines. Sample copies free. Patents secured by us advertised free in World's Progress, illustrated, monthly, $1.00 a year. Sample copy 10 cents. Address: Patent Selling Agency, Washington, D. C.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE—OF INTEREST TO THE CA[illegible].

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

SUCCESSORS TO

Drs. Kennedy & Kergan

SPECIAL NOTICE. Owing to Dr. Kergan's ill health, Dr. Kennedy has purchased the entire practice of Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, and will continue to treat all diseases as heretofore. Dr. Kennedy is the only physician in this city who has been regularly graduated in medicine, and who has had a hospital training. Dr. Kennedy's New Method Treatment for Nervous Debility, Blood Poisons, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Liver and Bowels, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples on the Face, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Piles, Fistula, Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Gleet, Gonorrhoea, Syphilis, Loss of Manhood, Impotency, Lost Vitality, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Despondency, Lack of Energy, Failing Memory, Bashfulness, Pimples on the Face, Sore Throat, Ulcers in the Mouth, Aching Joints, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Boils, Pustules, Blotches, Ulcers, Sore Throat, &c.

Dr. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle-aged men have come to Dr. Kennedy's office broken down in health and spirits through the EXCESSIVE USE OF TOBACCO AND STRONG DRINK. Their nerves are shattered, they are weak, irritable, despondent, have pains in the back, dizziness, specks before the eyes, blushing, bashfulness, nervousness, sleeplessness, bad dreams, nervous dyspepsia, lack of energy and ambition, lame back, rheumatic pains, changeable appetite, poor memory, dizziness, specks before the eyes, pimples on the face, aversion to society, loss of manhood, impotency, nervous debility, unfitness for study or business, and finally organic weakness, prostatic losses, lost vitality, sexual decay, bad blood, sore throat, ulcers in the mouth, aching joints, rheumatism, scrofula, boils, pustules, blotches, ulcers, sore throat, &c.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most dangerous and fatal of all diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and lurking latently in the system from the effects of the early indiscretions of boyhood. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT cures all sexual, nervous and blood diseases in both male and female. Call if you can, or write for a question list and our New Method Home Treatment. Consultation free. Medicines sent to any address, secure from observation. Patients in every part of the Dominion are being successfully treated by correspondence. Thousands of cases cured at home. Question List for Home Treatment Sent on Request.

READER If you are the victim of any of the above diseases, or know any one who has trouble, write for an honest opinion. Free to every reader of this paper, our 128-page "BOOKS FREE" (Golden Number" (illustrated)

Question List for Home Treatment Sent on Request.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., DETROIT, MICH.

THE

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one thing or one preparation but "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and poultry supplied by Messrs. E. C. & E. C. Windsor of Australia, New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their increase by feeding. Stabling and owner of unhealthy, which at this time habitat.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name, for future advertisements, etc.

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 sprinklers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Package of 25 envelopes 5c.

Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.
Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

Stamped Wood

Pyrography.

The "Outfit" consists of a hand tool, with point for outline work, and flat point for shading, also two pieces of wood, one for practice and one for design. Simply place hand, paper, or any kind of a pattern, one of Dr. Sheop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 5c. box. Sold by all dealers.

ENCOUNTERS WITH CABMEN.

Stories of Fearless Men Who Have Had the Worst of It.

Mr. George Alexander, the English actor, tells an amusing story against himself. He was in a hurry to get to the theatre, so he called a hansom, to the great indignation of the hansom that stood first on the rank. Cabby, however, was not to be overlooked without protest. "So, Mr. G. A." he cried, "you've got one for 'ooss now; but you'll have to 'ave one to take you on the day, you're better."

The late Lord Brampton's habit of wearing his hair close-cropped was on more than one occasion, the cause of laughable mistakes. On his alighting one day from a cab and handing the driver but sixpence over his legal fare John, after regarding him for a moment with a withering look, exclaimed: "From the cut of your 'air I took you for a sportsman, guv'nor; but 'anged if I don't think you're a bloomin' fiddler just out of gaol."

Sir Henry Irving's castigation of the tongue of a witty cabman was often related by the actor himself. One morning, during the run of "The Merchant of Venice," he arrived late at the Lyceum, and in the thoughtlessness of hurry handed the driver a shilling instead of the usual fare of eighteenpence. Cabby pocketed the coin thankfully, and, with biting sarcasm, remarked, "If yer plays with Jew inside that theayter as well as yer does outside, 'arned if I won't attend this 'ere 'ouse to-morrer." So delighted was the actor at the man's wit that he handed him half a sovereign.

Equally solicitous was the humor of the cabman when told by Lord Chief Justice Coleridge to drive him to the Courts of Justice. He received the direction with a look of blank bewilderment, and stared at his fare as though he thought he was of weak intellect. "Don't you know the Courts of Justice?" demanded Lord Coleridge. The other shook his head. "Not the Courts of Justice!" cried the judge—"you a cabman, and don't know the Law Courts!" "Law Courts!" cried cabby, "of course, I do; but you said Courts of Justice. Heaven only knows where they are!"

Cabby, however, met his match when he drove Dr. Temple, then Bishop of London, to his palace at Fulham, and, on receipt of 1s. 6d., grumbled against the prelate for his niggardliness, and expressed regret that he did not follow closer in the steps of the patron saint of his cathedral, St. Paul, who was a just man. "And therefore," retorted Dr. Temple, drily, "would have given you your legal fare—a shilling."

"The Adonis of the House."

The description was once applied to Mr. George Wyndham, who has been paying a visit to Edinburgh University, of which he is Lord Rector, an opponent of nature's generosity in endowing him with attractive wavy hair, a beautiful black moustache, and a figure six feet in height, proportioned to a nicety. Nature also endowed him with one of the sweetest minds amongst clever men of to-day. He first distinguished himself as a soldier, then as a litterateur, and lastly as a politician. "Fortune's most fastidious darling," is another nickname which has been bestowed upon him, and when he was quite a small child, so the story goes, he was so learned that all conversation at his father's table would be silenced by the announcement, "Hush, George is going to say something about Shakespeare."

Self-Made Politicians.

Some of the members of the Australian Parliament have had versatile careers. Here is the record of Mr. William Elliot Johnson, the representative of the Lang division of New South Wales: Born in Westmoreland-Tyne, April 16, 1863. Assisted his father as a scenic artist at Covent Garden. Studied jointly, and entered the Civil service of Queensland as telegraphic operator at the Royal Exchange, Thames. He was "invalided" as "unfit for further employment," and "after active service in the Chili-Peruvian war," of which he "took part," he "returned to Australia, and was engaged in municipal and political journalism for eight years before entering Parliament in 1898.

"A Flimsy Lot."

Miss Fanny Brough, the English actress, at a recent meeting of the Theatrical Ladies' Guild, of which she is president, said that she had become a nuisance to her male friends owing to her greed for their cast-off garments. A short time ago she overheard two ladies discussing her, and one said: "Does she not go in for an old-clothes shop?" Being told that such was not the case, that lady added: "All I say is that's a funny lot." On the other hand, the cabman who drove her to this particular meeting paid her one of the greatest compliments she had ever received, for he asked her to accept her fare on behalf of the guild.

No Tips Given.

Apropos of the statement that Mr. J. D. Rockefeller never gives tips, it might be mentioned that Lord Sefton has strictly forbidden his servants to receive tips from guests, and stringent notices to this effect are prominently displayed at Croxteth. The Marquess of Londonderry some time ago introduced the same rule at Wynyard; and it is understood that the present Earl of Derby intends to put it in force at Knowsley. In some cases a box is placed in a conspicuous position in the house, and contributions placed in it by the guests are divided annually among the servants.

A Famous Actress's Method.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell possesses what she calls a heart album. From each of her dearest friends she begged a "heart," and hearts of every description, material and colour, gaily, tastefully and the like, poured in upon her. These she had set in a carved [illegible]

Have you a pain of any kind, any kind of pain? Just a minute and think! Whether that pain is [illegible] it be caused by rheumatism, backache, headache, pain, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Sheop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 5c. box. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

Is MEDICINE of REAL WORTH AND MERIT.

It Not Only Cures Colds and Grip, But Prevents Them From Resulting in Pneumonia.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases, of which colds, croup and whooping cough are the most common. Those who have used it for years and are in a position to know its real value, admit that it is without an equal for the treatment of these diseases. It not only cures colds and grip, but counteracts any tendency to that [illegible]

It has proved almost universal use as a preventive and cure for croup, and has never been known to fail.

In cases of whooping cough it lessens the severity of the disease, relieves the cough loose, expectoration more easily, and [illegible] and less severe, depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences.

It is pleasant to take, which is of much importance when the medicine must be given to children.

For sale by druggists and other [illegible] dealers.

Remember the name, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and refuse any substitute that may be offered.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 12 o'clock on Friday, the 20th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the New Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal in Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

L. K. JOHNSON,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 12th February, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for sheps east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Sheps," will be received at the office of the Superintendent Secretary of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 20th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in connection with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of sheps east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen on and after the 1st March at the offices of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poole, district engineer, [illegible]

Tenders are notified that [illegible] considered unless made on the forms supplied by [illegible] which may be obtained on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be returned to him on the credit of the Receiver General of Canada for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Land Nearly All Leased

Boring for oil and gas will be commenced within ten days or two weeks in those parts of North Monaghan which Mr. C. E. Dettman of Waynesburg considers are the most promising for the products. This it has been learned is practically assured. Mr. Herbert Leary, who with Mr. Dettman is interested in the concern, stated to a Times reporter that he had secured leases for practically all the adjacent lands, and those not [illegible] would be [illegible] to a small [illegible] a lease of their property. Mr. Leary stated that he was spending the winter here, as Mr. Dettman was [illegible] and until all the lands had been secured it would be just a short time until the rigs, well-augers, and machinery would be arriving here for boring several thousand feet.

Mr. Dettman is sanguine of striking gas, which if found and in large quantities, will be supplied to the city.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NEW BRITISH OPERA.

"The Angelus," By Dr. Naylor, Scores a Big Success.

The lapse of time since old poets like British composers was proposed to prevent [illegible] possibly of Dr. F. W. Naylor's "The Angelus" on occasion of more than usual interest.

The libretto, by Wilfrid Thomas, is a typical story of the Middle Ages, and is divided into a prologue and [illegible] acts.

It tells of the discovery by an abbot of a parchment which contains the recipe for the elixir of life and directions where to find the herb which is the principal part of it. The abbot dies, but not before he has given the parchment to Francis, a young novice, who sets out to seek the herb.

His journey leads him to a village, where he falls in love with Adeline, the queen of the festival. She, thinking him to be nameless and penniless, would send him away, but by tells her the secret which he possesses, and when she finds that he is bound by no vows she yields to his love. Here the music of the Angelus reminds him of the abbot and his quest, and he goes on his way.

He finds the herb in the sacred grove of the Temple of Fates, where the wood nymphs take him for a god and help him. The discovery that he is a mere mortal brings down a terrible curse on him, and with a defiance of fate and the Creator he returns to Beatrice.

She is lying at the point of death, and the elixir is too late to save her. Francis tries to stab himself, but Death in person prevents him and commands him to drink the cup himself. He drinks, and is condemned to live on in eternal unrest for soul and body.

The music is on thoroughly modern lines, and motifs are employed, although not to excess. The three chief themes are associated with the elixir of life, the parchment which contains the secret and the ultimatum of Death.

"The Angelus" won the prize of $2,500 which was offered by Messrs. Ricordi, who undertook to have it produced at Covent Garden, where it scored an unmistakable success.

Objected to Cartoon.

Col. Mapleson, the famous impresario who has been objecting to the lavish use of the name "Mapleson" in one of London's latest plays, tells of an amusing story of the first contract he ever made on behalf of his father, the famous opera-manager, who practically introduced all the great artistes of the last fifty years to the public. Mapleson senior wanted to engage Mongini, a famous Italian tenor, and sent his son over to capture him if possible. Young Mapleson was empowered to offer 60 or 70 guineas a week, but as soon as the word "guineas" was mentioned Mongini looked disgusted. He did not like guineas, he wanted to be paid in coin of the realm. "Well, my dear signor," said Col. Mapleson, stopping a grave face, "I do not wish any trifle of money to come between us. Instead of 70 guineas shall we say £70 sterling?" Mongini was overjoyed, kissed Col. Mapleson on both cheeks, said he was the finest impresario he had ever met, and at once signed the contract.

"Under Sheet."

Sir Frederick Bedford, Governor of West Australia, who recently had his salary reduced by £5, has a reputation for plain speaking in his public addresses. He says occasionally what a great many public men only think. An instance of his bluntness is to be found in a speech which he made three years ago at a floral fete which he opened in Fremantle. He said: "I tried hard to get out of attending to-day. I thought that with the large amount of work I have to get through, now that I have returned from the Hills, I would have been excused. I don't see why I should be fetched down here to do this sort of thing, when there are plenty of people who could do it as well as I. However, I hope that the bazaar, or fete, or whatever you like to call it, will be a success. It is said that the ancients could only [illegible] surprised, and probably they were.

"Affording" Amusement.

Mr. Walter, whose head [illegible] Mr. Walter, whose head quarters at Kent, England, was [illegible] destroyed by fire the other day, has suffered not a few other quick reverses before now. On one occasion, in Belgium, Mr. Walter had an amusing experience. Just as darkness was coming on a sharp turn in the road revealed the gates of a level crossing right ahead. Mr. Walter was travelling at a pace at which it was quite impossible to pull up safely, so he kept straight on and went through both gates, smashing them to matchwood. Marvellous to relate the car was only slightly damaged, while Mr. Walter himself would have been quite unhurt but for a following car, belonging to his mechanic, which skidded and ran into him.

She Danced With King.

There has passed away in Ottawa Mrs. George Taylor, who had the honor of dancing with King Edward VII, when, as Prince of Wales, he visited Canada in 1860.

Her maiden name was Mary Boswell, daughter of the late Judge G. M. Boswell of Cobourg, and the ball, at which she danced with the prince, marked the opening of the Cobourg town hall. It was an important one in Mrs. Taylor's life, for it was her first ball and the one at which she took her position as a young girl in the social world. The late Mrs. Taylor was the wife of Mr. Taylor, I.S.O., clerk of the English journals of the House of Commons.

Poet as Engineer.

Lord Grimston, who has met with a bad accident, is a curiously earnest young man. He is 26 years of age, six feet five inches in height, and wears gold spectacles. He was in the Eton and Oxford eights. Then he chose to become an electrical engineer, and worked for a pittance a week as [illegible] in the Midlands. He threw up a splendid opening in this class of work to embark on a motor speculation.

Cats and Cataclysm.

We also agree that "the [illegible] [illegible] disappearance of cats [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

...AL

...Jobbitt is on a visit to ... Chatham and Toronto.

... Mamie Rogers has returned ...me after a visit to friends in Toronto.

Invitations are out for the at-home to be given by the students of the Normal School next Friday evening.

Mrs. J. Smith, 482 Bolivar street, will received on the first Wednesday of each month instead of on the first Thursday.

Mrs. Hogan left on Thursday for Toronto, owing to the illness of her sister, and will not return till the week's end.

Rev. W. T. Hallam, B.D., of Wycliffe College, Toronto, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening, at St. Luke's church Sunday.

Mr. W. N. Noyes has returned to Toronto after a short visit to his parents in Ashburnham.

The Turnbull Co.'s dressmaking and ladies' tailoring department will open for the spring season on Tuesday, March 2nd.

Mrs. Adam Hall, 300 London street, will receive this afternoon and Wednesday afternoon, and afterwards on the 3rd and 4th Tuesdays of the month.

Mr. R. Stewart Muir, representing the Remington Typewriter Co., is at the Oriental. He is showing the new models of the Remington typewriter, which have attracted so much attention in the business community.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

The current number of the Canadian West, a monthly magazine published in Winnipeg, contains an article entitled "The Women of Winnipeg," in which reference is made to two ladies, who, until a few years ago, occupied a position of prominence in society in this city. They are Mrs. James and Mrs. R. M. Denniston. Of the former the writer says; "Mrs. Jas. Dennistoun is one of the most interesting of the elderly ladies of Winnipeg. Her sweet nature and brilliant mind are reflected in her two married daughters and her son, all of whom reside here." Mrs. R. M. Denniston is also spoken of. With her family she will soon move into an attractive home on Roslyn Road.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of this system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

your ...putation ...s had years ...mpounding ton... ...d tired feeling of ...ilton says nothing is ... Mandrake and Butter... ... and this is well proven in ...ase of James Burton of Lewis...own. "I had grip and it left me very weak. The disease settled in my back and side, which ached day and night. I had a nagging cough. My appetite was all gone. My nerves unstrung. I could not sleep well. I struggled against growing page, thin and weak—but it was no good. Spring brought depression, overpowering weakness and bad headaches. But my life was spared, simply because I learned off the wonderful merit in Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. The result was marvellous, I gained rapidly, became strong, ruddy, vigorous, perfectly well. I urge every man and woman to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly.

You'll brighten up, have cleaner blood, stronger nerves, better spirits after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c at all dealers. Guaranteed safe, sure ...ptal for old and young.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phone—Office 488; House 688.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournas's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 23, Montreal.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1909.

School Board

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening at 7.45, when important business will be taken up.

Gates Frozen

The gates at the G.T.R. crossing on Charlotte street were out of commission yesterday. The big thaw of Sunday flooded the street railway track and the grounds in the vicinity of the gates. The water got into the gates and froze last night, clogging up the mechanism. They will be put in working order as soon as possible.

Goes to Montreal

Mr. Alfred Temple, who has been manager of the gentlemen's furnishing department at Cressman's for the past two and a half years, has accepted a position as manager of a large gentlemen's furnishing store in Montreal, and leaves for that city next week. Mr. Temple came here from Ottawa, and during his residence here has made many friends who will regret to hear of his departure.

Laid to Rest

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Morrow took place yesterday morning to the Grand Trunk Station and the body was sent to Barrie, where interment took place. The funeral services which were held Sunday night were conducted by the Rev. E. A. Pearson, of George street Methodist church, of which the deceased lady was a highly esteemed member.

Editorial Pie

It is little the people of this city realise what they missed last night by an accident which occurred in one of the evening paper offices. The editor, who indulges in higher criticisms and the heavier class of literature generally, prepared some weighty editorial for Monday's issue, but so heavy was it that it broke through the chest and pied at the foreman's feet. In the place of that which was destined to revolutionize the city was pinned several columns of boiler plate and the public are most even complaining.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Mr. T. F. Matthews will lecture at the Y.W.C.A. this evening on "My Impressions of Egypt." A program of instrumental and vocal selections will be rendered.

A prayer service will be held at the Y.W.C.A. this morning at 10.30. All ladies are invited.

OBITUARY

GEORGE SCOTT.

The death occurred rather suddenly at Nicholl's hospital yesterday morning of Mr. George Scott, an old and much respected resident of Smith. The late Mr. Scott had been in apparently good health until a week ago, when, on driving into the city, he became suddenly ill. He was confined to his room until last evening, when he was brought to the hospital where he underwent an operation at 10 o'clock. However, owing to his advanced years he was not strong enough to rally from the effects of it, and passed away as stated above.

The late George Scott was 87 years of age, and was born near Newcastle in Northumberland county, England, in 1822. He came to Canada in 1831 with his mother and stepfather, the late John Paul. On coming to this country he first resided in Port Hope, afterwards removing to Brockville, where he lived for one year. In 1833 he came to Peterborough, settling on the farm where he was living up to the time of his death. In 1846, the deceased was married to Ann Isaacson, who passed away in July, 1906. Mr. and Mrs. Scott, however, lived to celebrate their diamond wedding.

The deceased was for many years a school trustee of Smith. In religion he was a Baptist.

Eleven children, six sons and five daughters, are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. George, of Brandon, Man., Joseph and John, of Souris, Man., and Dr. W. D. Scott of this city, and Messrs. Robert and Alex. Scott of Smith. The daughters are Mrs. Truscott and Mrs. Robert Moffatt, of Elgin, Man., Mrs. Robt. Newton, of Brandon, Man., Mrs. P. Edmonson of Smith, and Miss Sarah residing on the homestead. He is also survived by two half sisters and one half brother. The half sisters are Mrs. V. Eastwood, of Toronto, and Mrs. D. Eastwood of Nebraska. The half brother is Mr. Wm. Paul, of Smith.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made awaiting word from relatives in Manitoba.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, usually point to weak bladder, Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weaknesses, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other disease, or dropsy, or dyspepsia like your stomach, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Use a month—then if you feel—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

Don't Forget WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3—172ND BARGAIN ANNEX

Your Factory Cotton Wants for Spring

BENGAL FACTORY COTTON, 40 INCHES WIDE

800 yards of 40 inch Bengal Factory Cotton, close, even weave; the best 10c quality made; in the Annex Wednesday in 10-yard lengths only, and not more than two lengths to each customer. Remember the width—full 40 inches (See window).....per yard 6½

BED SPREADS
$1.25 value 69c
3 dozen only, colored Bed Spreads, in pink and white, red and white, also blue and white, fringed all round, Reg. value $1.00 and $1.25. In the Annex.... 69c

Cressman's "Bargain Annex"

TAPESTRY CARPET SAMPLES
$1.10 value 39c
35 only, English Tapestry Carpet Samples in all good patterns and colors, 1¼ yard long and worth from 75c to $1.10 each. These make splendid rugs. In the Annex, per yard..... 39c

New Taffeta Ribbons 10c
Over 1000 yards of new Taffeta Silk Ribbons in all the leading shades, including; pink, pale blue, navy, brown, old rose, tan, hunter's and nile green and cardinal etc., also white, black and cream, 4 inches wide and worth 20c yard. In the Annex per yard..... 10c
See Window

GOOD MATTRESSES
$4.50 value $2.98
Fancy Sateen Covered Mattress in any size filled with seagrass and cotton tufted all around, guaranteed perfectly sanitary. Our regular $4.50 Mattress. In the Annex, Wed... $2.98

STRIPED OXFORDS
12½c value 10c
Four pieces of new Striped Oxford Shirting in greys and blues, every pattern new this season. Reg. 12½c value In Annex, per yd..... 10c

Swiss Embroideries Corset Cover 15c
A new lot just opened, of Swiss Corset Cover Embroidery, in very pretty designs with good edges. Special val. 25c. In the Annex, Wed. per yd..... 15c

Jumbo Bath Towels 32c
30 dozen large (Jumbo) English Bath Towels, size 44x22 in. fringed ends, in linen shade and cream linen and red. The largest Bath Towel sold anywhere at 50c. In the Annex, per pair 32c
See Window

Don't Forget OUR NEW HOUSE DECORATING DEPARTMENT Artistic Wall Papers

NIGHT GOWNS
$1.25 value 79c
New Princess Night Gowns of fine French Cambric, beautifully trimmed with deep tucked and embroidered lace yoke, all sizes, generously made, $1.25 val. In the Annex.... 79c

Large Flannelette Blankets
200 pairs of our best quality Flannelette Blankets, large double bed size —11/4— in white or grey with fancy border. Always retailed at $1.25. In the Annex Wednesday, per pair..... 87c

Fillette Dress Net
89c value 59c
Three pieces of new ecru Fillette Dress and waist Nets in plain and fancy patterns, 40 inches wide. Our special at 75 and 89c In the Annex Wednesday..... 59c

PANAMAS, SERGES ETC.
50c value 33c
One piece each of navy blue Panama, serge and lustre Dress goods 40 inches wide. Reg. 50c value. In the Annex..... 33c

FLOOR OILCLOTH
Remnants
About 50 ends of Floor Oils and Linoleums, all different sizes and qualities but each end marked for about HALF PRICE.

Excelda Handkerchief
15c value 10c
25 dozen New Excelda Handkerchiefs in soft silk finish with neat fancy borders, always retailed at 15c. In the Annex, Wed... 10c

WHITE COTTAGE RODS
15c value 3 for 25c
10 dozen white corregated Cottage Curtain Poles; four feet long with brackets and ends complete. Regular price 15c. In the Annex 3 for 25c or each..... 9c

SHIRTING GINGHAM 4½c
Five pieces of dark checked and plain Shirting Ginghams, 24 inches wide. These are also suitable for Aprons and dark work blouses etc. On sale in the Annex at per yd.... 4 1-2c

EMBROIDERY ENDS
6 yds length 29c
New Swiss Embroidery edgings and insertions, up to 4 inchhs wide. Reg. 8 and 10c yd. In the Annex in 6 yd. ends, at per end..... 29c

BED COMFORTERS
$2.00 value $1.19
9 only extra large size Bed Comforters full 2 yds. long and 66 inches wide, fancy art silkoline covering, in green blue and red. Reg. $2.00 value. They must be cleared in the Annex Wednesday, choice..... $1.19

FLANNELETTE GOWNS
59c value 33c
Ladies' striped Flannelette Gowns, an extra good lot made of splendid quality material in light colors. Special value at 59c. To be cleared in Annex at less than the cost of material 33c

NEW PRINTS
10c value 7 12c
11 pieces of light and dark English Prints in stripes and spots, 26 inches wide, all good patterns, worth 10c yd. In the Annex, per yd. 7 1-2c

COME AT 2 O'CLOCK
FLANNELETTE CORSET COVERS
25 dozen pink and cream Flannelette Corset Covers, trimmed with lace and insertion, regular 25 to 35c value, all sizes to be sold in the Annex, Wed., at 2 o'clock, not before at 10c

Lawn Handkerchiefs
5c value 10 for 25c
Ladies' fine Swiss Lawn Handkerchiefs, hemstitched, correct narrow hem. Regular 5c. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 10 for 25c

Odd Window Shades
5 dozen only, odd Window Shades; some slightly soiled, but best quality opaque oil shade cloth, some trimmed with heavy lace and some with insertion; greens and creams only. Regular prices were from 60c to $1.25. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 39c

WRITING PADS
20c value 10c
20 dozen linen Writing Tablets, in the correct Empress shape. Worth 20c. In the Annex Wednesday..... 10c

CRESSMAN'S 385-387-389 George Street

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos AND Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY, 326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

NEW

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..	$10.00	Shades, 15c to..	$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to..	50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to....	25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to	35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to.....	2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

Letter to The Editor

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Having heard of the shameful assault upon one of the firemen on Saturday night, I beg state that no doubt some of those who held a grouch against some of who held a grouch against some things in connection with the present fire department, will be satisfied. Certain people have openly and secretly given encouragement to some of the firemen to keep the trouble pot boiling at the fire hall. Practically all the discontent and soreness among the men has been intensified by the outside busy bodies who probably had a grouch in their own crops. No doubt these people will feel proud of what has happened.

Yours truly,

FAIR PLAY.

In Aid of Dorcas Society

Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, will give the proceeds of Wednesday afternoon's performance to the Dorcas Society. Little Annie Christie will recite.

Needle cases, blotters, ticket holders in burnt leather, each stamped "Souvenir of Peterborough," on bargain at 4 for 25 cents. Mail orders filled promptly. Times Bookstore.

Postmaster Col. R. C. Rogers had the misfortune last week to meet with an accident, as a result of which he has been unable to be in his office. While walking along the street the colonel slipped on the icy pavement, badly straining his right ankle.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 52 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Apsley People Want Electric Road Built as Soon as Possible

An electric railroad through to Apsley is causing a great deal of interest among the people of that district. Since the matter was first introduced it is quite evident that the natives have been discussing it quite freely. The Times has received several letter urging the Peterborough people to consider the advisability of an electric road. Several advantages have been pointed out, and there is no doubt the residents of the north country would appreciate the railroad.

A portion of a letter received from Mr. Wm. Gallon, is as follows;

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—After writing to several of your citizens, I struck on Mr. Gillespie concerning an electric road from Peterborough to Apsley, and he did make some move in the matter. It's really too bad that our county town should ignore their back townships. The idea seems to be down your way that our country is simply a wilderness and we are uncivilized, but any one from town who does come up here generally goes back with a different opinion. I wish a number would form a party next summer and take a two weeks trip through the most northern part; take in some of the lakes and see the country generally. I am sure they would go back with a good impression and see the folly of waiting longer before building a railroad through. We do feel somewhat riled to think that Cobourg may build one that may reach here within the next 100 years. We don't want Cobourg, its Peterborough we want to get to. I know and others know that Lakefield may try to prevent a road from your city to Apsley being built as that would mean many thousand dollars annually out of the Lakefield merchants and millers' pockets. If I was able financially to come down I would like to meet the Board of Trade and show them in some way what the city and we ourselves are losing by having no better means of transportation than an indifferent wagon road. No doubt as Dr. Bell was telling me, the project of delivering goods direct from the city to Mr. Julian will be a great improvement. Still there is the 16-mile freighting by wagon, and that does not give us the early spring and fall, the worst times of the year for getting goods up, for at that time of the year merchants have to pay teams about two prices for hauling goods from Lakefield. I had the pleasure of meeting Warden Scott, Reeve Fife and Deputy Reeve Graham at Apsley last week and they thought the proposition of a railway a good one.

I am yours sincerely,

W. GALLON.

School Board May Meet in the New Collegiate

Mr. F. Nelson sprang something of a surprise upon the members of the Board of Education last night when he gave notice that he would at the next meeting of the board move that in future all meetings of the board be held in the Collegiate Institute and that the public be invited to attend.

Mr. Nelson stated that there were many people who would like to attend the board meetings, and he pointed out that as there is lots of room at the Collegiate Institute the meetings should be held there and anyone who desired to attend could be made welcome.

The Board of Education has from almost the beginning met in the board room of the Toronto Savings & Loan Co. on George street. The vault of that institution has been used by the board and the members have long since looked upon that place as the home for all such meetings. The result of the notice of motion will be watched with interest.

OBITUARY

C. J. VIZARD.

One of the oldest if not the oldest resident of Lakefield passed away there Sunday morning at ten o'clock in the death of Mr. C. J. Vizard, who for the past fifty years had lived in that village. Mr. Vizard at one time lived in Peterborough, but moved to Lakefield fifty years ago and had resided there ever since. He was widely and favorably known to the people of the district, his many sterling qualities winning him the esteem and affection of those with whom he was brought into contact. He was a former member of Corinthian Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and was a charter member of the Lakefield Lodge of Masons.

The deceased was in his ninetieth year, and death was due to old age. One nephew, Mr. Patrick, of Lakefield, survives him. The funeral will take place today at two o'clock at Lakefield under Masonic auspices.

AGNES CLARA LLOYD.

The death occurred at the Margaret Cox Home for Girls Tuesday morning of Agnes Clara Lloyd, an English girl, who was brought to Canada through the Barnardo agencies. She was sixteen years of age. The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

THOS. ALBERT WEIR.

The death occurred very suddenly at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday morning of Thomas Albert Weir, of Central Ontario Junction. His death was due to pneumonia. He was only brought to the hospital on Sunday last.

The deceased was 26 years of age and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss.

The remains were taken to Hastings on the 1.40 train, where interment will take place.

ANNIE ARMSTRONG.

The death occurred yesterday morning at her late residence, Lot 26, Concession five, Otonabee, of Miss Annie Armstrong, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was 58 years of age, and was the daughter of Mr. Mr. David Armstrong. She was a lifelong resident of Otonabee, and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. Three brothers and two sisters are left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Messrs. James, David and Stewart of Otonabee, and the sisters are Mrs. John Kerr, of Ashburnham, and Mrs. Fife, of Otonabee.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 1 o'clock from the family residence, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Dorcas Society

Will any lady or gentleman who may happen to be on George street this afternoon kindly drop into the Crystal, the proceeds of which are for the work of the Dorcas Society. Little Annie Christie will recite at each performance.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Thousands of millions of cans of Royal Baking Powder have been used in making bread, biscuit and cake in this country, and every housekeeper using it has rested in perfect confidence that her food would be light, sweet, and perfectly wholesome. Royal is a safeguard against the cheap alum powders which are the greatest menaces to health of the present day.

ROYAL IS THE ONLY BAKING POWDER MADE FROM ROYAL GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR

Equipment for Manual Training and Domestic Science Departments

Supervision Committee Reported on the Cost—Equipment is Modern Educational Department at Toronto Pays Total Cost in Five Years—Other Business Transacted

A most interesting report was read by Mr. John Crane, chairman of the Supervision Committee, to the Board of Education last night, on the cost of equipment for the manual training and domestic science departments at the Collegiate Institute. It will be remembered that last fall the board took this matter up with the Department of Education in Toronto. That department called for the teaching of manual training and domestic science in the Collegiate, and offered to make a yearly grant for five years equal to one-fifth of the total cost of the equipment, and also 10 per cent. of the teachers' salaries. When the committee went into the question they acted upon the report of the recommendation of the inspector of technical education and put in a duplicate of the equipment in the Normal school. This was purchased from the Berlin Interior Hardware Company, and the two departments are most modern in every respect.

Cost of Domestic Science Department $812.39.

We estimate that we should receive from the Government the following amount;

Manual training, $510

Domestic Science $412.40

Total estimated grants $922.40.

Your committee recommend that a copy of this report be forwarded to the Education Department asking if it meets with their approval.

The Electric Wiring is Defective

The City Council has received a letter from the Underwriters' Association notifying them that the electric wiring of the city buildings at the corner of Water and Simcoe streets, is defective and advising that the matter be taken up.

The letter was read at the meeting of the last City Council, and the matter was referred to the property committee.

Ald. Bradburn said that to overhaul the wiring would likely cost two or three hundred dollars and he did not see how the property committee could attend to the matter with the appropriation that had been given them.

Six Scholarships for the Entrance

In future there will be six scholarships offered to the successful entrance pupils. In the past there have been only two scholarships, one for the boys and one for the girls, but the schools are now so numerous and the number of scholars have increased so rapidly that two scholarships are hardly sufficient to create the same interest among the pupils as in years past. Mr. A. Mowat, inspector of Public schools notified the Board of Education last night that through the generosity of Messrs. L. M. Hayes, W. G. Morrow, T. F. Matthews, R. Neill and Dr. Burnham, he was able to state that six scholarships would be available this year. Dr. Burnham's two of $5 each would be first for boys and girls, and that four valued at $4 each could also be donated for the next highest pupils.

The board was much pleased at the offer of the gentlemen named, and the secretary was instructed to write each expressing the thanks of the board.

Board of Education Held Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held last night when routine business was transacted.

Those present were; Mr. L. M. Hayes in the chair, Messrs. Domble, Ackerman, Hill, Fair, Nelson, Dr. Morrison and Dr. Burnham.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

A number of petitions and communications were received and read.

One was from the School Board of Newmarket wishing the board to have the local board take up certain questions relating to the High School Act with the Legislature.

St. James Sunday school thanked board for use of King Edward School.—Supervision Committee.

From Mr. Barlow Cumberland offering a prize of $2 and $1 for competition among the boys of the Collegiate. The competition to be an essay on birds.—Accepted.

The Y.W.C.A. ladies expressed their thanks for the use of the Collegiate for gymnasium exercises.

Principal Kenner reported that only two pupils were absent from the Collegiate Institute on account of scarlet fever.

The question of a charge for the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall was brought up and it was decided that there should be an unwritten fixed charge.

Mr. J. R. Stratton donated an atlas to the Collegiate Institute. It was accepted with thanks.

A communication was received from Mr. A. Mowat, stating that he was this year able to offer six scholarships for entrance pupils, instead of two as in previous years. This encouraged the boys and girls to work harder.

There are two prizes of $5 each and four prizes of $4 each. The conditions will be the same as imposed heretofore.

On motion of Messrs. Fair and Crane the offer was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the board to the gentlemen making the offer.

The matter of awarding the Nicholls scholarships for Collegiate Institute pupils was brought up and a communication from the principal was read by Mr. Crane, suggesting a better distribution of the prize than that adopted last year. The matter was referred to the Supervision Committee with power to act.

It was moved by Mr. Hill and Dr. Burnham, that the account of the John Smart Manufacturing Co. for the heating plant in the west ward school be paid.—Carried.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

Neill-Sheppard Trophy

Four rinks from the Peterborough Curling Club will go to Orillia tomorrow morning to meet four rinks from that town in the second half of the Neill—Shepherd trophy contest. The first half was played here at the time of the Peterborough bonspiel, and Orillia was 4 shots up. This however is no guarantee that Orillia will win the much prized trophy as it would be an easy matter for the locals to win by 10 or 12 shots in the northern town, and it is the intention to bring the prize back with them if possible. The skips who will go are Messrs. R. Neill, Morrow, Matthews and Meld.

Deputy Fire Chief a Little Better

Deputy Fire Chief Grange spent a very bad night Monday and suffered a hemorrage of the bowels. He was in a very weak condition all day yesterday, but last night, his many friends will be pleased to learn, he was a little better, although still far from recovery. The assaults upon the deputy chief has caused a great deal of talk and feeling in the city and the public is anxious about his condition. All hope to hear in a few days of him improving and also hope to see him around again shortly.

BOWLING

Montreal House challenges any hotel team for a game, for a barrel of flour to be given to charity. team must be guests or employes of the house for two weeks. Three games total, average to count. 4-man team. J. Hurtubise, Mgr.

An Interesting Talk on Trip to Egypt

There was a good sized audience at the Y.W.C.A. last night to hear Mr. T. F. Matthews talk on his "Impressions of Egypt." Mr. Matthews gave those present an exceptionally interest description of his trip to the Holy Land and of the people and their customs. At the conclusion of the talk Rev. Mr. Webb moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and it was seconded by Miss Weir. Others who took part in the program were;—Mrs. Thackery of the Conservatory of Music, and Miss Ekombe, instrumental duet, and a vocal solo by Miss Legg.

The best thing in all the world is Good Health.

Quit coffee and use

POSTUM

It makes the rich, blood of Good Health.

"There's a Reason"

Grits Won the Political Contest by 18 Shots

The Grits won the political contest at the curling rink. The last and deciding game was played yesterday afternoon when W. G. Morrow skipped for the Grits, and ran up a score of 13 against J. H. Ferguson's 8. This gives the Grits a total majority of 18, they having been 13 shots up on Monday night. The contest will in future be an annual event as the players derive a great deal of sport out of it. The rinks play ing yesterday were as follows;—

Grit	Tory
A. Gibson	J. H. Knapman
A. Mowat	Dr. Cameron
G. L. Hay	W. G. Read

W. G. Morrow—13 J. H. Ferguson—8

The Knox Church Officers met last Night

There was a meeting of the office bearers of Knox church last night when the committee which visited several outside places last week for the purpose of securing ideas for their new church, presented their report. The officers are busy with the scheme and hope to have things in shape in a short time to present to the congregation. A meeting of the congregation will be called in a short time when plans will be decided upon. It is understood that the new Knox Presbyterian church will be the largest Protestant church in the south end and will seat something like 800 people.

Seeing is Believing

A United States agency that is selling books has a man who ought to write folders. Here is a sample;

"A tour of the world! What a fascinating prospect these magic words conjure up! A tour of the world! The first enchanting glimpse into the lands that lie beyond our doors; the mingling with entirely new peoples, the viewing of strange scenes and customs; the phenomenal mind broadening it affects; the liberal education it conveys. Perhaps you have longed many times to make this marvellous trip yourself, only to be obliged to dispel the idea because of business, health, family ties, or the question of finances. Is this so?"

Our answer to the question is, call upon Mr. Wm. Mellroy, city passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, get the tickets and see the things as they are, instead of staying at home and thinking how they may be. One thing is certain, wherever you want to go, whatever part of the continent or of the world, no company can take you as far or look after you as well as the C.P.R.

A Peculiar Incident During Examination of Flossie Kinrade

"There He Is! There He Is!" Said Hysterical Girl---Detective Miller Says Her Story Fits in with the First Theory

Richmond, Va., March 2.—Persistent inquiries among their leaders in Richmond fail to develop any knowledge of Florence Kinrade, who is said to have sung here fro some months last summer.

If Miss Kinrade stopped at Virginia Beach as reported, Norfolk would be likely place for her associations.

SCOURING DISTRICT.

Hamilton, March 2.—Th's afternoon the detectives betook themselves to the south end of the city and thoroughly scoured the district between Herkimer street and the mountain for further information. They endeavored to obtain a more definite description of the men who were seen around the neighborhood the afternoon of the murder. So far the various descriptions have been so different that they really have amounted to no description at all.

HAVE GOT A MOTIVE NOW.

Hamilton, March 2—The clue on which the police will work this afternoon leads to the Southern States. They think it possible that the murderer came from there. The information they have would show a motive for crime. An officer may go to Richmond, Va., to follow this up.

While the detectives were examining Florence Kinrade yesterday morning at the house on Herkimer street, a rather surprising thing occurred.

When the officers were questioning the girl about the man who did the shooting she became quite hysterical and began to cry; "There he is; there he is!" as though she had a vision of the tragedy. One of those in the house came into the room and tried to quiet her, and placed a hand over her mouth. Miss Kinrade broke down shortly after, and the officers were obliged to leave.

The officers make it clear that the girl had no reference to anyone in the house.

MILLER IS MYSTERIOUS.

The movements of Provincial Detective Miller in connection with the Kinrade case this morning were very mysterious. He was abroad early this morning tracing up evidence which might lead to clues. He had nothing to say to the reporters who met him at his hotel at noon except this, "That the story of Miss Florence Kinrade yesterday was much in line with the theory the detectives held from the first." Just what line of theory the officers are following at present gives opportunity for a lot of guessing. Certainly nobody is under arrest yet, but the police do not admit that anybody is under surveillance.

The physicians who visited the Kinrade house about noon say that both Mrs. Kinrade and Miss Kinrade show some improvement from their nervous trouble. The prospects now are that they will both be able to attend and give evidence at the inquest tomorrow night.

Will Use Hard Coal in Future

There has been a lot of dissatisfaction caused by the use of soft coal at the Collegiate Institute. The smoke, as everyone knows, is very dirty, and it is almost impossible to keep the school clean and it is equally difficult for the pupils to keep themselves and their books clean. The soot can be seen on the walls, ceilings, floors and furniture, while it gets into the books and on the students' clothes.

Mr. W. H. Hill brought the matter up at the Board of Education meeting last night and pointed out the disadvantages. He was in favor of the use of hard coal for the balance of the season.

It was pointed out that hard coal will be a little more expensive, but the board decided that for the balance of the season the hard coal should be used and a motion authorizing the Property Committee to that effect was passed.

BOWLING

The surprise of the season at the P.B.C. alleys was sprung last night when the Hams defeated the Examiner A two games out of the three. The Exams were away off color and the highest score of the night was 196 made by Cairns in the first game. The defeat puts the paper men away down in the standing. The scores were;—

HAMS—

Clancy	158	104	123	385
Rickey	125	115	156	396
Hurtubise	169	143	150	462
	452	362	429	1243

EXAMINER A—

Cairns	196	156	131	483
Glover	115	121	114	350
Leebeur	138	121	144	403
	449	398	389	1236

Dorando Won

Dorando beat Meadows at the Riverdale arena, Toronto, last night by five laps in a ten-mile race. A large crowd saw the race.

CURLING.

The single rink competition in connection with the curling club is rapidly drawing to a close, although there are still quite a number of postponed games to be played. At the present time it looks like a win for Skip D. Davidson's rink as they have not lost a game yet and have only a few more to play, probably three. It is likely that Mr. Davidson will endeavor to get all his games finished up within the next few days and thus make sure his victory. Messrs. R. Hicks and Wm. Long are close seconds with only two losses. Their only chance to win is in Davidson losing his three last games.

The season has been a particularly successful one although the weather has been unsettled. There have been only a few days that the ice was not in shape for curling, and there may be several weeks of good sport yet, although since the scheduled games began to dwindle down there have not been as many curlers on hand.

Stevens

Issued a 3-horse parlay March 2, also 1-horse wire. Results will be figured out in this column on a $10 bet each. Those interested see

Geo. Stevens,

194 Douro street.

Bell phone 670. Mpoking 195.

COLD IN THE HEAD

What's the Sense in Sneezing and Sniffling, Dosing with Purgatives, or Bothering with Atomizers?

CATARRHOZONE.

A Convenient Inhaler Treatment is the Proper Remedy to Cure Quickly and Pleasantly.

Some people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic and perfectly safe an dharmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints. It stops sneezing, coughing an drunning at the eye, by a few inhalations. Inflammation congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 50 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1909.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS

"The Playgrounds," a monthly New York publication devoted to the advocacy of the idea that it is the duty of a community to provide the young in the cities and towns with public playgrounds, quotes in its current issue these pertinent suggestions from an article of Mr. J. J. Kelso of Toronto.

"The Parks Department of every northern city ought to provide numerous free skating rinks and tobogan slides for youthful citizens. The cost is not great, and untold health and pleasure can be given to thousands of young people. Everything in the form of outdoor exercise should be encouraged and there should be no charge made. Poor children are often denied the opportunity for rational enjoyment because they cannot pay the ten cents admission fee to the ordinary rinks. Then there should be some effort made to counteract the unnatural excitement of the five-cent show, to which our younger people throng because they have no better amusement. Nature provides all the faculties for good sport of the right sort. A corner of a public park set apart with a man to flood it and clean off the snow, and there you have a fully equipped rink for hundreds of children. A tobogan slide can be constructed by a carpenter in half a day if there is no hill to turn into a runaway for the sleds. Winter sports have been neglected in the past by the great majority of children and yet there is no time of the year when the body so much needs and appreciates vigorous outdoor exercise. Therefore a wise municipal government should recognize the responsibility for the happiness and well-being of its children."

The playground movement is growing in strength and importance; and the conversion of municipal bodies to this view of their obligations to the young will be a matter of a short time. The old individualistic theories are dying fast, and the responsibility of the community for the units which make it up is being more and more recognized. Children born into a community are entitled to certain rights and privileges—to an elementary education for instance, and to as happy a childhood as the community by supplying such devices as public playgrounds can bestow.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley china. See the bread and butter plates with lift look on each, selling at only 15 cents.

AN ARAB SURGEON.

His Own Story of a Wonderful Operation He Performed.

Mr. Walter B. Harris in his account of a journey to Tafilet tells the story of a wonderful operation in surgery as it was reported to him by a native doctor who was traveling in his company:

"I think the old man fancied that I doubted his skill. At least, he was always holding forth upon the subject and continually repeating the story that when in Algeria he had been offered a fabulous salary—the sum varied each time the tale was told—to remain in charge of the military hospital at Algiers, an honor which he had declined.

"He never tired of narrating the facts and details of his most successful operation. There is a sect in Morocco called Hamacha, who are followers of a certain saint buried near Mekinez. These devotees amuse their audience—and themselves, too, let us hope—by throwing into the air heavy cannon balls, which they allow to fall upon their shaven crowns. On the occasion in question a Hamdushi had unfortunately been wanting in religious power, for the cannon ball crushed his skull.

"My old shereef friend had been called to the rescue. According to his account, he removed the broken patch of skull, replacing it with the rind of a green pumpkin, and closed the skin over it. In a month's time, he said, the patient was not only convalescent, but was once more hard at work practicing his religio-acrobatic feats, with not only a remodeled and renovated skull, but even a new crop of hair."

THE SILVER FOX.

He Is a Glorified Freak of the Red Fox Breed.

Only those wise in the woodlore of the north can fully know the magic in the name silver fox. The silver fox is not of different kind, but a glorified freak of the red race. His parents may have been the commonest kind of red foxes, yet nature in extravagant mood may have showered all her gifts on this favored one of the offspring and not only clad him in a marvelous coat, but gifted him with speed and wind and brains above his kind to guard his perilous wealth. And need he has of all such power, for this exquisite robe is so mellow rich, so wonderful in style, with its gloss black and delicate frosting, that it is the most desirable, the most precious of all furs, worth many times its weight in gold, the noblest peltry known to man. It is the proper robe of kings, the appanage of great imperial thrones today, as was the tyrian purple in the days of Rome. This is indeed the hunter's highest prize, but so guarded by the cunning brain and the wind and limb of the beast himself that it is through rare good luck more than hunter skill that a few of these fur jewels are taken each year in the woods.

There are degrees of rank among these patricians. They range in quality even as diamonds range, and the hunters have a jargon of their own to express all shades between the cross and the finest silver black.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Century Magazine.

Influence of Food.

"What do you think of the theory that food has a potent influence in determining character?" asked Mr. Smithfield as he put three lumps of sugar in his coffee.

"I guess it's all right," replied Mr. Wood as he severed a portion of his beefsteak. "It always seems a little cannibalistic to me when you order lobster."

"Well," retorted Mr. Smithfield good humoredly, "I ought to have known it was dangerous to lend you money after I discovered your fondness for beets. But, seriously, if there were anything in the theory, wouldn't it make a man sheepish to eat mutton?"

"It would, and prize fighters ought to restrict themselves to a diet of scraps."

All in the Mind.

On the opening day of one winter session the late Professor Tait of Edinburgh university entered the natural philosophy class room in the midst of the uproarious applause common to those occasions.

Presently he looked up at the tiered benches above him with the smile of one who had known the ways of students for a lifetime. At last, when a momentary lull came, he remarked, his gray eyes twinkling:

"Gentlemen, I must remind you that there is really no such thing as noise. It is merely a matter of subjective impression."

No Flies on Him.

Two Irishmen, just landed, stopped at a private boarding house on one hot July night. Retiring early, they left the window open and the light burning brightly. The mosquitoes swarmed into the room and began biting.

Mike, awakening, called to Pat to put out the light. Pat got up and put it out and crawled back to bed again.

Pat awoke about an hour later and found the room full of fireflies and said: "It's no use, Mike. They are coming in with lanterns!"

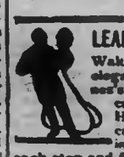
Pleasure Trips.

"Going to the north pole is no pleasure trip," said the sympathetic friend.

"Well," answered the arctic explorer "it reminds me somewhat of the average pleasure trip. Everybody is so anxious to start and so glad to get home."

They never taste who always drink, They always talk who never think.—Prior.

Mrs. J. Smith, 482 Bolivar street, will received on the first Wednesday of each month instead of on the first Thursday.



LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tormes's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 23, Montreal.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be wished when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NEW GROCERY
T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS
IN
BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at.....	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet.....	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

OF

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clear out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; tiesques, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Large wire post card racks 15c, or two for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our fine wine many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

make you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.
Limited

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.
Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

Mrs. Landry and son have returned from a visit to North Tonawanda, N.Y.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars. Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabinpassengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,100 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cotton Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

J. L. FITCHELL, Manager

THE

HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD. W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

We solicit the business of Manufacturers, Inventors and others who want the utmost value for their inventions. Our Patents Protect and are recommended by Experts. Preliminary advice free. Charges moderate. Our Reputation, Advice and Experience, Facilities in Marine, New York Life Bldg., Montreal; and Washington, D.C. U.S.A.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY.

SUCCESSORS TO

Drs. Kennedy & Kergan

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Owing to Dr. Kergan being deceased, Dr. J. D. Kennedy, Medical Director, has associated with him Dr. Kennedy Jr., who has been with the firm for several years, so hereafter business will conducted under the name of

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late.' Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreams and losses, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, weak manhood, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat etc.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most prevalent and most serious diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and unless entirely eradicated from the system may affect the future generation. Beware of Mercury. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT alone can cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches, and ulcers disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical, and vital systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. Dont let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

READER No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (Illustrated)

Question List for Home Treatment Sent on Request.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY.

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St. - DETROIT, MICH

THE

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

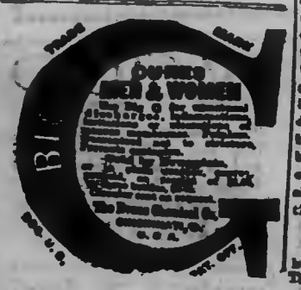
"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agents name, fine future advertisements, etc.

Back to Ward System

One of the pet schemes of Ald Harry Morgan, is the ward system of voting. He endeavored to have the system changed last December, but he was too late as a bylaw could not be submitted in time. He promised, however, to introduce the matter early this year, hence his action on Monday night. Ald. Morgan claims that a better class of aldermen can be secured by election by the ward system. He is not opposed to the two year term but he is to the system of general voting. He gave notice on Monday night that he would at the next meeting introduce a bylaw to change the system back to ward voting. He will however be likely to meet with considerable opposition as the majority of the aldermen do not particularly favor the old way of voting.



Miss Mamie Rogers has returned home after a visit to friends in Toronto.

WOMEN ON ENGLISH MOORS.

Colony Is Granted Land by Lord Shaftesbury For Cultivation.

The "Ladies Home Colony" in Dorset, advanced an important step recently. The seven acres of land which Lord Shaftesbury has granted to the women squatters was investigated closely, and peoved on expert examination to be of more promise than was expected.

It is at present a waste of heather and furze, in the middle of several hundred acres equally waste and valueless. "Why has no one thought of reclaiming this before?" was asked; and any one who inspected a section of the ground must have echoed the question.

If this experiment is successful, we may see at West Moors, as elsewhere, hundreds of such acres reclaimed to fertility. A Women's Home Colony Guild, for the encouragement of womanly crafts, from French gardening to weaving, is to be established; and this pioneer experiment is being watched and encouraged by Mrs. Tennant and those who are organizing schemes for London's unemployed women.

Neighboring experiments prove that this unused and so-called useless land is admirable for growing strawberries, lavender and many bushes. The biggest scent distillery in England is close by, and it has just been found that the soil grows lavender at least as fine in quality as that which the builders are driving from its famous home at Mitcham. It is a surprising and most satisfactory sight to see sheep grazing white clover planted between the lavender bushes.

The growing of sweet herbs will be one of the first endeavors of the ten squatters; but at the beginning, while the plow and cultivator are busy with the gorse and heather, the crafts will occupy the principal energy.

Lord Shaftesbury has been making valuable experiments—on the Irish model—in reclaiming waste acres by artificial manures. It is just such land as Professor Bottomley's bacteria mixture should reform, and probably an experiment with it will be made. The colony at West Moors, which is a rising village some seven miles from Bournemouth, has thus a double importance. It is a scientific experiment in the reclamation of waste land, and it is a promising endeavor to give women who have worked and overworked in the town a prospect of a healthy life in the country.

It may mark an important stage in the "return to the land," of which new signs appear month by month.

In Business as Fruit-Seller.

Although he has entered on his sixty-sixth year, Lord Harrington still indulges in his favorite pastime of polo. It is thirty-three years ago since he became possessed of his first polo pony. He was the first president and one of the original founders of the Polo Pony Society, rendering not only good service to the game, but also to the improvement of the riding pony; for his lordship breeds nearly all his own hunters and polo ponies. His interests in life, however, do not end at sport. He was a civil engineer before he succeeded to the family honors, and is, like Lord Dundonald, something of an inventor, a motor mowing machine and a self-opening gate being among his ingenious contrivances. Then, again, he is a very keen gardener; and not only grows excellent fruit, but also sells it at a shop of his own at Charing Cross for the benefit of his tenants.

A Record Drummer.

For forty-four years Mr. Charles Henderson, of the Savoy Theatre, London, England, has been beating the big drum, and for thirty years out of that total he has been a member of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan orchestra. Mr. Henderson peculiarly claims to be the discoverer of wireless telegraphy. While Sir Arthur Sullivan was conducting at a festival rehearsal on one occasion, he turned to Mr. Henderson and said, "Stop that vibration, Henderson." "But I knew it wasn't my drum vibrating," says Mr. Henderson. "It's that big bass drum over there, you Arthur. And that proved to be the case. The big bass had been left uncovered, with the consequence that every time I hit my drum that one caught the vibration and boomed in sympathy. It was wireless telegraphy, although I didn't know it."

The Long-Lived Nelson Family.

The eighty-fourth birthday of Rev. Hon. John Horatio Nelson, which occurred a few days ago, recalls the fact that for generations past the Nelson family have been clergymen and sailors. The veteran rector of Shawcum-Donnington, Newbury, England, has two brothers, Horatio Earl Nelson, "Father of the House of Lords," and Rear-Admiral the Hon. Maurice Horatio Nelson (retired), all three being great-nephews of the famous admiral. The father of the victor of Trafalgar died when eighty years old, whilst Rev. Earl Nelson, an elder brother of his, lived to be seventy-eight. The present earl is eighty-five and his youngest surviving brother, Rear-Admiral Nelson, is seventy-six years of age.

The Jap's Santa Claus.

The patron saint of Japanese children is named Kotie. He is always pictured with a big sack, which is said to contain presents for the good children. When Kotie wishes to cross a river he uses this sack as a boat. He is believed to have eyes in the back of his head to watch the little ones and has various other qualities which remind us of our Santa Claus.

Boy Prodigy to King's Musician.

Sir Walter Parratt, the Master of the King's Music, who has lately been speaking about the badly-written music of students, was an organist prodigy. At seven years of age he took the services in church—his father was an organist at Huddersfield—and at ten he played Bach's forty-eight preludes and fugues by heart.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for sheps east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 30th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. G. B. Pouliu, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1909.
Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 10 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals.
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.
Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

PERPETUAL YOUTH.

It Can Only Be Imparted to the Body Through the Mind.

The elixir of youth lies in the mind or nowhere. You cannot be young by trying to appear so, by dressing youthfully. You must first get rid of the last vestige of thought, of belief, that you are aging. As long as that is in mind connecting and youthful dress will [illegible] very little in changing your appearance. The conviction must first be changed; the thought which has produced the aging condition must be reversed.

If we can only establish the perpetual youth mental attitude, so that we feel young, we have won half the battle against old age. Be sure of this, that whatever you feel regarding your age will be expressed in your body.

Nothing else more effectually retards age than keeping in mind the bright, cheerful, optimistic, hopeful, buoyant picture of youth in all its splendor, magnificence; the alluring picture of the glories which belong to youth—youthful dreams, ideals, hopes and all the qualities which belong to young life.

One great trouble with us is that our imaginations age prematurely. The hard, exacting conditions of our modern, strenuous life tend to harden and dry up the brain and nerve cells and thus seriously injure the power of the imagination, which should be kept fresh, buoyant, elastic.—Success Magazine.

Eating the Pie.

"I remember one man from my home town," a western senator said recently, "in the good old days before civil service examinations, whose dream of earthly attainment was a government place. When his party was finally successful he immediately set out for Washington and was 'on the job' long before the 4th of March, but there seemed to be a hitch somewhere. All through the spring he was about town. By June he was seedy, but still appeared to be 'game.' Finally I found him in the gallery of the senate chamber apparently endeavoring to kill time.

"'Well, have you given it up?' I asked, trying to be sympathetic.

"'Oh, I got the job, all right,' he replied, with a satisfied smile. 'I'm working now.'"—Success Magazine.

No Dogs Allowed Out at Night.

The first summons under the new Kent (Eng.) control of dogs order, 1908, which provides that no dog shall be allowed out between sunset and sunrise without effective restraint, was heard at the Bromley Police Court recently. The owner of the animal in question was ordered to pay the costs.

DASH ACROSS SAHARA

BRITISH OFFICIAL MAKES THE DARING TRIP.

At His Own Expense Hans Vischer Travels Across the Desert to Protect British Mahometan Pilgrims and Restore Imperial Prestige Among the Wild Tribes of the Interior.

Hans Vischer, who has made a remarkable hazardous journey from Tripoli across the Great Sahara by Northern Nigeria, has arrived in England to lay before the Royal Geographical Society the results of his 1,700 mile journey, says The London Express.

For a considerable time prior to starting Mr. Vischer was at Tripoli learning Arabic and acquainting himself as far as was possible with the political and social conditions of the great desert route which, since it was traversed over 40 years ago by Nachtigal, had become an unknown land to Europeans.

From the first he encountered much fanatical opposition at Tripoli, and even when, through the intervention of the British Foreign Office, permission was obtained from the Turkish authorities, he met with great difficulties in getting men and camels to accompany him.

One object which led Mr. Vischer to ask permission to make the journey was that he might escort to their homes in Northern Nigeria British pilgrims who had been on pilgrimage to Mecca, and whose treatment had certainly not added to British prestige. Mr. Vischer personally defrayed the cost of escorting these people back to their homes, and, in fact, the whole expedition was carried out at his own charges.

There can be no doubt, says Reuter, that the plucky enterprise of this young British official has been of great value in rendering a real service to the British Mahometans of the Central Soudan, whose pilgrimage had often been subjected to terrorism and fanaticism when endeavoring to return from Mecca by the desert route to their homes in the British protectorate.

The feelings of the Mahometans in Northern Nigeria may be summed up in a remark made to Mr. Vischer by a prominent Mahometan. "In Northern Nigeria the British official is a great chief, but at the coast (Tripoli) I find he is only a poor Kaffir." This feeling has been entirely modified since Mr. Vischer's successful trip.

The explorer states that when he left Tripoli his party consisted of 30 natives. Of these 12 were armed men, liberated slaves, whom he had personally trained. The rest of the party comprised 18 pilgrims from Mecca, with their wives and families. Mr. Vischer continues:

"Through the whole of the journey I never attempted to travel as an Arab. I made it always quite clear that I was British. The Union Jack was always in evidence, and I purposely emphasized the fact that I was a British official returning to a British colony by way of what had become a closed route. To this I attribute the success of my journey.

"From the very first I had continual trouble with the negroes and Arabs accompanying me. They were always fighting among themselves, and I had constantly to be acting as peacemaker. The constant fear of attack, combined with the physical difficulties, made the journey an anxious one, and I do not think that from begining to end I got more than half an hour's sleep at a time.

"From Tripoli the journey across the desert to Fezzan was over mountainous country, inhabited only by nomad bands, who welcomed any caravan as legitimate booty. While we were going through a high Turkish official returning to the coast from Fezzan was murdered, simply because he had with him a box supposed to contain treasures. We had great difficulties with the water supply, owing to the presence of large quantities of sulphur which brought about speedy putrefaction.

"The first place of any importance was Murzuk. The town was full of Turkish political exiles, including 45 Bulgarian prisoners, who were all herded together in one cell in the prison. All have been released since the Turkish constitution has been granted. I remained a month at Murzuk, being delayed by the difficulty I experienced in getting together a caravan for what was the most difficult and most dreaded part of the journey. Even the traders feared this route owing to the scarcity of water and the presence of marauding bands of Tuareg and Tebus.

"The whole region between Tripoli and Murzuk was studded with ruins of ancient towns — probably Roman remains—including castles and monuments. All the way to Murzuk I was accompanied by Major Djamy Bey, the governor of Ghat, through whose influence I was able more closely to study some of the otherwise unapproachle religious sects.

"As soon as we left Murzuk I became aware that we were being followed by Tuareg. We saw their fires at night, and had to take most rigorous measures against surprise. One night they made two attacks on the camp, but were driven off. On the folowing day we had a regular fight from 10 in the morning till sunset with a band of masked Tuareg.

"Fortunately none of us were hit and we drove them off after killing four of the party and 25 of their camels. The distance between Murzuk and Bilma—about 500 miles—is a waste of stone and sand, absolutely uninhabited, and with wells three or four days distant from each other.

"Here we saw remains of the ancient caravan camps, consisting of great circles of stones, with praying places in the centre. The route was in places marked by bleached bones of men and camels.

"When eventually we reached Northern Nigeria, the people of Bornu, who had continual reports of my death, were greatly surprised at the accomplishment of the journey."

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the Little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a penwritten original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

NEW

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to...$10.00	Shades, 15c to. . .$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to.. 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.
Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER GENERAL USES FOR GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing dishes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, silverware and kitchen utensils, painted walls, washing bath rooms, pipes, etc., and making the finest milk soap.

Made by THE E. B. EDDY COMPANY, Hull, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

HOW TO TELL

If the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney distress that could have been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's tiredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—it's put down to loss of sleep.

Joints ache, muscles get sore, —that's all put down to bad weather.

Then digestion gets poor, appetite fades away, color bleaches, spirit droop.

Can't you see it's all from your over-worked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills" writes C. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainsville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot, at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every little duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick, suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharp twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles, and joints lack of apetite, and loss of sleep. Vanish the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c. at all dealers.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.

Bell 'Phone—Office 481; House 698.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1909.

PERSONAL

Miss A. Revell left for New York this week.

Mrs. R. G. Kingan, 205 Aylmer St., will not receive today.

Mrs. (Hon.) R. Hamilton is expected in the city today.

Miss Leary, of Richard Hall & Son, has returned from New York.

Mrs. Downham will receive as usual on the first and second Thursdays of each month.

Mr. Joseph Stewart of Battle Creek, Michigan, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Polsome, William street.

Mr. A. J. Lillie of Fort William, is visiting his cousin, Mr. B. A. Lillie.

Mrs. M. Velie of New York, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. McGarialy, of Smith.

Miss Jennie Rhodehouse of Campbellford, spent Sunday with her mother at 388 Louis street.

Mr. Harry James and Miss May Hearn of Tilsonburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards at 493 Charlotte street.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

The friends of Mrs. J. Hogan, 577 Gilmour street will be sorry to learn of the death of her sister, Mrs. Lewis, in Toronto, where she has been staying.

Miss Mabel M. Moore left last night for Toronto, where she will attend the Temperance Alliance Convention, as representative of the George street Methodist church.

Messrs. Faulkner, Barlow and Williams of Havelock, were in the city this week on church business, interviewing Rural Dean Langfeldt, with a view to having a clergyman appointed to their parish.

Mr. W. A. Fife of Moose Jaw, who has been visiting his cousin, Mr. W. A. Fife of this city, left yesterday morning for Warsaw, where he will spend a few days before leaving for his home in the West.

Misses M. E. Ellis and E. Davies, of A. W. Cressman's millinery parlors returned this week from the Toronto openings. Misses Ellis and Davies report having had a splendid vacation visiting many of the large centers, including New York, where they attended the Early Spring Millinery Openings.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for these troubles. I feel a remedy that will straighten the deformed limbs of rheumatic sufferers, and have hope for the body, and fill the pulse and pumps of life with vigor. [illegible] Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy [illegible] in the City of [illegible] Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy [illegible] and now, at last, it will [illegible] Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy [illegible] Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy [illegible] Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 53 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Two Charges Dismissed in Douro Election Case, Reserved Judgment

Two charges against Reeve F. Moher in the Douro election protest brought by Mr. D. Maloney, were dismissed by his honor Judge Weller yesterday afternoon, while he reserved judgment on the third charge, which referred to the payment of $2 to Wm. White Sr.

The protest case which was adjourned last Friday until yesterday was resumed in the morning when the prosecution called two more witnesses.

James Walsh of Douro, was called. He stated that he was a supporter of Mr. Moher and that he had seen Messrs. White on behalf of Mr. Moher. The old gentleman wanted $2 before he would go to the polls. Witness paid him the money and O'Brien drove him off to vote.

THE DEFENCE.

Mr. Whibles was the only witness for the defence. His evidence was in connection with the payment of $3 to Mr. James Walsh, who acted as scrutineer for Mr. Thompson in the last provincial election. Witness stated that the $3 was for services rendered last June at the provincial election and had nothing to do with the municipal election.

This closed the evidence for both sides and the argument for the plaintiff by Mr. R. F. McWilliams occupied the attention of the court until time for luncheon.

In the afternoon Mr. E. A. Peck for the defendant began his argument and when he finished his honor reserved judgment in the case of the payment of $2 to Mr. White, Sr., and threw out the other two charges.

Pertinent Questions and Very Pointed Remarks Made at the Kinrade Inquest

(Special to The Times)

Hamilton, March 3.—Several pertinent questions and several pointed remarks were made by the coroner's jurors when they assembled at No. 2 police station tonight for the first session of the inquest over the murder of the late Ethel Kinrade. The jurors were all in their seats at 8.15 and answered to the roll call.

After the preliminary proceedings Coroner McNicholl said;—"I am sorry gentlemen we are unable to offer any evidence. The principal witnesses have left the city. I am sorry as I think the information that these witnesses can give might have been of value to the detectives who are laboring to get to the bottom of this tragedy and in finding the murderer of the girl."

The coroner thereupon read a certificate from Dr. White, stating that Mrs. Kinrade and Miss Flossie Kinrade were quite unfit to give evidence and would not be in a condition to do so for a week at least.

Continuing, the coroner said, "Owing to that certificate we must accept it. I would suggest that at the end of the week mentioned we meet again. I hope the witnesses may then be able to be present. If unable to be here there is no use trying to take their evidence. The reason for not going on is that Crown Attorney Washington wants the evidence in a certain order to aid the examination." The coroner suggested that an adjournment for one week be made.

"Is that the length of the adjournment necessary?" asked Juror Spera.

"Well," said the coroner, "this certificate says one week at least, but this inquest cannot be prolonged indefinitely."

"Well, is this going to handicap the police?" asked Juror John C. Watson.

The coroner did not think so as the ladies had only gone temporarily.

"How do you know temporarily?" demanded a juror.

"Well they were subpoened and the Crown Attorney knew they were going."

"Did the Crown Attorney give them authority to leave?"

"I do not know. I did not," said the coroner.

"If the Crown Attorney should take evidence elsewhere it would not be produced here in that shape would it? These ladies were subpoened to appear before this inquest and they are not here."

The coroner told the inquirer that the ladies would assuredly appear before them.

"We have a good detective force here and we can rest assured the officers will bring them back if they do not come willingly," said Ald. Ellis, one of the jurors.

"If that was my sister who was killed I think I would want to get after the murderer as soon as possible," said Juror Wilson, who is also chairman of the Interior Management Committee of the Board of Education.

The coroner's concluding remarks was, "If they attempted to get out I think they could be detained." This was in answer to the question "Could they be held on a subpoena."

The inquest adjourned until next Wednesday evening at 8.15 o'clock.

Successful Reception to Congregation of St. Andrew's Church

The reception to the congregation of St. Andrew's church by the Ladies' Aid Society was a decided success last night. In spite of the disagreeable condition of the weather a large number gathered in the assembly hall and enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant evening. The people mixed with one another in a most cordial manner and many new members became acquainted with the older members. The large hall was very tastefully arranged for the occasion. Many small tables were placed around from which refreshments were served, while the floor was covered with rugs and mats.

An impromptu program of music was given by local talent which added to the pleasure of the evening. Vocal solos were given by Miss May Lang, Mr. Herbert Rush and Mr. Gordon Wright. Instrumental numbers were rendered by Mrs. McClellan and Miss Mary Potter. Mr. Johns gave several readings and Mr. Clarke several banjo selections.

Mr. R. Lees on behalf of the session, and Mr. Andrew McFarlane, on behalf of the Board of Managers, spoke appreciatively of the work of the Ladies' Aid and special reference was made to the value of fostering the social side of church life.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter, stated that it was with pleasure that he could testify to the good work that had always characterized the Ladies' Aid Society during past years. He also referred to the willingness and readiness of the ladies to do their part whenever the occasion arose.

The gathering was dispersed with devotional exercises.

Dates of Departmental Examinations this Year

Mr. A. Mowatt, Inspector of Public Schools for the city has handed in the following dates for the departmental examinations for 1909;—

1. Entrance to Model Schools from June 22nd to June 26th.
2. High Schools from June 23rd to June 25th.
3. Normal Schools from June 28th to July 8th.
4. Faculties of Education from June 28th to July 8th.
5. Pass Matriculation from June 28th to July 8th.
6. Honor Matriculation and Scholarship from June 28th to July 13th.
7. Commercial Specialist from June 28th to July 9th.

HOCKEY

The St. Andrew's hockey bunch were out in force last night for their final practice before the championship game with Knox church in Brock street rink tonight.

Pig Iron Tigers Won Once More

The Peterborough Hardware Co.'s Pig Iron Tigers scored another victory last night when they put it over the hockey bunch from the furriers' staffs. The game was played between 6 and 7 o'clock at Brock street rink, and was refereed by Mort Johnston, of the St. Andrew's and did pretty good work, at least he saw two off-sides, one in each half and he laid Morgan off twice because he was tired. The Pig irons were superior in luck. As far as hockey was concerned it would be difficult to decide between the two sevens. Several shots were made on the Tigers' nets, but Blewett's feet were impassable while the Furriers' goal keeper had dinky little feet and wore skates with holes in them. No sensations were sprung during the hour except the score which was 6—2 in favor of the Tigers.

Cut Off by the Flames Ten Italians Perished in Tenement House

New York, March 3.—Cut off from escape by a burning stairway, ten persons met death early today in a five-storey tenement house at 374 Seventh avenue. The victims, who were all Italians with the exception of an unidentified Frenchman, ranged in age from eighty years to an infant girl of four. Five persons, including a policeman who was cut by flying glass, and a male of about five years old, were injured and taken to hospitals. It is believed that the blaze was incendiary, following a "Black Hand" blackmailing letter which an occupant of the building received several months ago.

THE DEAD.

The dead are; Rosalie Filiberti, 60 years old; Contanzo Gruppie, 58, sister of Rosalie Filiberti; Provenzio Placia, 13, niece of Filiberti; Rosa Placia, aged 7, Filiberti's neice; Carline Sansone, aged 60; Mrs. Josephine Travisano, aged 56, daughter of Mrs. Sansone; Lena Travisano, 20, daughter of Josephine; Joseph Travisano, 17, brother of Lena; Evelyn Pasif, aged four; unidentified man, about 30 years old.

THE INJURED.

Robt. Sampson, a fireman, was cut by glass about the head and taken to a hospital; Mulads Momad and Nicholas Bardallo, were overcome by smoke and suffered severe burns, and they with an unidentified girl, four years old, who was overcome by smoke, were taken to the hospitals; Dominick Filiberti suffered the fracture of several ribs.

The only member of the Travisano family who survived the fire was Minnie Travisano aged 15, who left home last night to visit friends.

Tortured by Rheumatism?

Zam-Buk will Give You Ease!

Just at this season when the cold dry winter is giving way to a milder yet more humid season, the germs of rheumatism, sciatica, and allied ailments come upon their victims with renewed force.

As soon as you feel any deep-seated pain in the joints, wrists or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers, or on the palm of the hand, and rub it well into the part affected. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm" is exceedingly great, and once having reached the seat of the pain it removes it speedily. It also ends the stiffness which is so unpleasant.

Frequent rubbings of the affected parts with Zam-Buk will not only drive out all pain, reduce swelling, etc., but will strengthen the skin and tissues and enable them to resist cold and damp. The following case will show how Zam-Buk brings ease to those tortured by rheumatism.

Mr. P. G. Wells, of 336 Ogden St., Fort William, Ont., says;—"Following my duties in attending to passenger trains I often get wet through with rain and steam (the latter in winter). This with hours of duty in ice houses in summer was no doubt the cause of my contracting rheumatism in both knees, left arm, and shoulder. This got so bad that I could no longer work, and was laid off on three different occasions for several weeks, during which I was under the treatment of my doctor. I seemed to get little if any better, no matter what I tried, and this was my state when Zam-Buk was recommended to me. I laid in a supply, and to my great joy it began to cure me. I rubbed it well in every night, and when a few boxes had been used, found I was free again from the pain and stiffness of rheumatism. I have had no more trouble from the disease and unhesitatingly recommend Zam-Buk to all who suffer from rheumatism, muscular stiffness, etc."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for eczema, ring-worms, ulcers, abscesses, piles, bad leg, suppurating wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, chapped hands, cold cracks, and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

Florence Kinrade was on the Stage, was Engaged to Actor-Mechanic

Engagement Broken Only Two Weeks Ago—Jimmie Baunn, the Young Man Named, Has not been Away, It is Declared—Sang and Played in Two Different Theatres

Norfolk, Va., March 3.—Florence Kinrade, the Hamilton girl whose story in connection with the murder last week of her sister, Ethel, is being carefully examined into, had a stage career here for six months or more, appearing before the footlights of two moving picture and vaudeville theatres in Portsmouth.

HER TALENT DISCOVERED.

Miss Florence first came to Virginia Beach. She had great musical ability and could sing like a bird. Manager S. P. Butler, of the Orpheum theater, owned by Wilmer and Vincent of New York, went to Virginia Beach, one day and there discovered her talents. He persuaded her to become an illustrated song artist in Portsmouth. She did so and became very popular. She was highly regarded in Portsmouth and remained there until after Christmas, having in the meantime made one visit to her home in Hamilton.

ENGAGED IN PORTSMOUTH.

In Portsmouth she and Jimmie Baum, a young motor-mechanic, fell in love. They became engaged, it is said, and there was a large correspondence between them after Florence went home. Finally, two weeks ago, Baum got a letter from Florence saying she had just discovered that she loved a minister whom her parents wanted her to marry. Then Baum got a letter from the girl's mother, asking him to break off the correspondence so Florence could marry the preacher. Baum did so and has of late been showing marked attention to a Portsmouth girl.

BAUM IS WELL KNOWN.

Baum came to Portsmouth as manager of a stock theatrical company. When this broke up he went to work in the Norfolk Navy Yards as a cooper. Baum is well liked in Portsmouth. He has many friends there. Baum, it is declared, has not been away from Norfolk and Portsmouth in a number of months, and has been seen daily on the streets of Portsmouth in the past few weeks. When he is not at work he spends his time between the stores of a friend who has a shoe store, and a friend who has an undertaking establishment.

KNOWN AS MILDRED DALE.

Portsmouth, Va., March 3.—Florence Kinrade was known in this city and section of Virgina as "Mildred Dale," and acquired prominence through her really pleasing work as an illustrated songstress in Wilmer and Vincent's Orpheum Theater, where she sang for several months.

In connection with her departure from the footlights it was reported here that her engagement had taken place, and a clergyman was first mentioned in this connection. A Richmond man has since been spoken of as one of Miss Kinrade's ardent admirers, and, perhaps her fiance.

Miss Florence Kinrade, known here under the stage name of "Miss Mildred Dale," which she assumed for reasons best known to herself, came to Norfolk about a year ago, and for several weeks was a guest at the Atlantic Hotel, Virginia Beach.

ILLUSTRATED SONG ARTIST.

There Manager Stephen P. Butler of the Orpheum theater in this city, met her after learning of her vocal accomplishments, which were indeed attractive, and he at once engaged her to sing in the Orpheum as an illustrated song artist.

This Miss Kinrade consented to do, and there she made her debut before the footlights, Miss Kinrade was always known as "Miss Mildred Dale," however. Her contract with the Wilmer and Vincent House called for the use of her stage name only, and her real name she kept carefully a secret, even concealing it from those who were associated with her in the numerous skits which were produced on the Orpheum stage early in Miss Dale's engagement. Local talent entirely assisted in these little theatrical efforts, and to those who were about her before the footlights she was always known as "Miss Dale," and nothing more.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

Loudrum Block Changes Hands

Mr. W. J. Routley, grocer, has purchased the Loudrum Block on Charlotte street and next week will open a boot and shoe store in that part of the premises formerly occupied by the Heintzman Piano Company. It is understood that the price paid for the block was in the vicinity of nine thousand dollars.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of this system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Falling a Hundred Feet

From "English Mountain Tragedies" March Wide World Magazine.

In attempting to descend to Mickledore by way of the Broad Broad Stand, at the bottom of which is a steep cliff, Mr. Haarbleicher jumped downward onto a scree-covered slab, his feet shot from under him, and he fell a distance of more than a hundred feet. As a result of his injuries he succumbed shortly after.

This lower cliff of the Broad Stand was responsible for another fall, which, however, did not prove fatal. A Mr. Petty was climbing Mickledore Chimney with a large party, amongst whom was his fiancee. The late J. W. Robinson was the leader. At the place where the Chimney is left and a step across to the Broad Stand effected. Mr. Petty took off the rope in order to let the leader throw the end of it down to the others of the party.

An agonized shout from Petty caused Mr. Robinson to turn sharply, and he saw his companion shooting head downwards with terrific velocity to the screes below. The distance, carefully measured afterwards, was a hundred and seven feet. Some of the party, still at the foot of the Chimney, were horrified to see Mr. Petty hurtling through the air towards them, and narrowly escaped being struck.

He fell face downward. The angle of his body conformed exactly to the slope of the screes, and his entire length struck the slope at once. It seems incredible that he could survive such a fall, and his friends never hoped to find him alive. His injuries were terrible, but nevertheless he still lived, and, by careful nursing, regained his full strength.

This is surely the most wonderful bit of luck that ever befell a climber. It transpired afterwards that he had grown impatient of waiting for the others to come up and had begun to fill in the time by a little desultory climbing on a steep slab directly above him. Off this he had just slipped when he shouted and drew the attention of Mr. Robinson and the others.

Were in Toronto

Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, City Engineer T. A. S. Hay and Street Commissioner H. Evans were in Toronto yesterday attending the Portland Cement Exhibition. They also attended the Good Roads meeting.

WEDDING BELLS

SEABROOKE—MIDDLETON

A very pretty March wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Middleton, 617 George street, at 5.30 o'clock Tuesday evening, when their youngest daughter, Miss Clara V. Middleton was united in marriage to Mr. Harry L. Seabrooke, of Smith township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson, of the George street Methodist church, in the presence of between fifty and sixty guests. The nuptial knot was tied beneath an arch of evergreens and wedding bells, and as the bridal couple entered the drawing-room through an aisle of ribbons held by four flower girls, Miss Beatty, of Albert College, Belleville, played the wedding march. The bride was given away by her father. The bride looked charming in a directoire gown of point d'esprit over cream satin, trimmed with valenciennes lace insertion, applique and touches of gold cloth. She wore the conventional wedding veil, caught with sprays of lily of the valley, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was assisted by her cousin, Miss Edna Middleton, who was prettily gowned in point d'esprit over white silk, and trimmed with lace and pale blue ribbon. She carried a bouquet of bridesmaid's roses. Miss Gertrude Middleton, niece of the bride, made a very pretty flower girl. She wore a pretty dress of white silk, trimmed with blue, and carried the ring embedded in a basket of flowers.

Mr. H. C. Seabrooke of the firm of J. L. Squire, Havelock, assisted the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a delightful wedding repast was served, and the health of the young couple was heartily honored by the guests. Rev. E. A. Pearson proposed the health of the newly-married pair, and Dr. J. F. Middleton responded on their behalf. Many costly presents were received, including several from Revelstoke, B.C., and Brantford, Ont., from friends who were unable to be present at the ceremony.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl crescent, while he presented a gold locket to the bridesmaid a pair of gold cuff links to the best man, and a pearl pin to the flower girl, as souvenirs of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Seabrooke will reside in Smith township, where they will be at home to their friends after March 22.

Murray St. Baptist Church

Another meeting of the Building Committee of Murray street Baptist church was held last night after the prayer meeting. Favorable progress is being made and it is hoped that plans will soon be ready to submit to the congregation.

The weekly euchre contest at the Young Conservative Club rooms last night was largely attended, and the games were keenly contested.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Girls Can Sing But Not with the Men

Toronto, March 3.—Sopranos and messo-sopranos, altos and contraltos, and other sorts of voices that girls use in singing are indispensable in the composition of a choir, according to a recent decision of the congregation of Rites of the Roman Catholic Church, and so the edict prohibiting the women of that church from joinging in song along with their brothers, husbands and sweethearts is revoked.

But—and the condition may not meet with general approval—the girlies may not sing out of the same hymn-book as the men, each singer helping to hold up the book as in the good old days. Nor may they sit in the same pew or stand beside the same music rack. They will have to take a separate location in the church, according to the bull.

THE SEPARATE LOCATION.

Commenting on this novel feature, The Catholic Register of current issue, which is published under the personal supervision of his Grace Archbishop McEvay, says;

"A separate location for the singers will by no means prevent their singing in unison, and, by the way, may be productive of other beneficial results in the way of devotion."

His Grace goes on to say that the decision is in reply to a doubt proposed by several of the Curia of New York. They explained to the congregation of Rites the difficulty experienced in obtaining choirs composed entirely of men and boys, and the fact that it was impossible to have choirs at all if women were not allowed to take part.

It was shown that the choir took no part in the ritual, but merely sang the responses and other necessary parts, and were placed as far as possible from the altar in a special part of the church. It was asked if, as seemed to have been conceded in a certain case, the practice of using mixed choirs under such conditions might be continued.

The answer was to the effect that when it was impossible to get a choir composed entirely of men, mixed choirs could be employed, provided the male and female singers be separated from one another.

THE GIRLS' VIEW OF IT.

A prominent young society lady who, previous to the order expelling all women from the choirs, used to sing in the cathedral, said that all the girls who had formerly been choir members would be glad to resume the privilege, but that they would not like the idea of being separated from the male singers.

"There is no reason why we should not sing together, and there can be no reason why we should have to remain separated," she said. "It is and always has been the custom to have the choir united, because the leader can have better control over it in that way, if for nothing else.

"With some girls there may, of course, be other advantages. If a young man, a member of a choir, calls on a girl to take her to church, it would be ridiculous to part them during the service. They would have no end of trouble looking for each other in the crowd afterwards.

"It is better to take an inch, though, and be thankful we get it, than to complain because we do not get a mile she continued. "We will certainly be glad that the privilege is restored to us."

QUITE AUTHENTIC.

His Grace the Archbishop and the Catholic clergy are reticent about making a statement in connection with the new order. They have not yet received official notice of the change, although their information in regard to it is quite authentic.

"It would seem as if the Pope believed in woman suffrage in assenting to the change," declared a Catholic lawyer of the city jokingly.

"The idea of excluding women from the choir was never very popular, even with the clergy, I think. Of course nothing could be said about it, but differences of opinion as to its advisability certainly existed. Women are better singers than men, as Dr. Vogt or any other choir leader would agree, and a choir, like men, can not get along without them. Their singing is sweeter, and more inspiring to devotion. Besides, no reason can be advanced to prove that they have not the same right to worship in song as well as prayer.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Three Games at the Curling Rink

Three interesting games were played at the curling rink last night. All of them were close and the players had a lot of sport. The scores were;—

R. Carton	G. Labell
H. Evans	G. B. Stevenson
G. L. Bowes	Av Moore
Brown—10	Knapman—11
Collier	Dodds
Harstone	Webb
Menzie	E. H. D. Hall
Ferguson—10	Cameron—12
McIntosh	McWilliams
Tooley	Otte
Baptie	Conual
D. Hall—6	W. Baptie—6

Stevens

Issued a 3-horse parlay March 2, also 1-horse wire. Results will be figured out in this column on a $10 bet each. Those interested see

Geo. Stevens,

104 Douro street.

Bell phone 570. Machine 105.

RESULTS.

March 2. Parlay lost—$10.

March 3rd, results later.

GRAVEYARD COUGHS AND COLDS

Cured Quickly by Catarrhozone.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone". It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H.L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is an aseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size 50c., sold by druggists, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside ones at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1909.

ALBERTA'S DEVELOPMENT

The experience of the past few years has served to show that the Province of Alberta—or at least the southern portion of it—possesses, says the London Advertiser, what will become one of the greatest wheat areas in the world.

The status of Southern Alberta as a wheat-growing center has been placed beyond question, while that section of the Dominion has already gained a high reputation for oats, both as to the production and quality. The development of the farming industry is bringing a constantly increasing area into Alberta's cultivated wheat belt, while the investigations of land seekers have demonstrated the existence of many other districts that only await the advent of the plow to further add to the total yield.

The Calgary Herald has been publishing a series of enlightening articles on this subject. It shows the total grain crop of Alberta in 1908 to have been 22,000,000 bushels, of which 7,000,000 bushels was spring and winter wheat, 13,000,000,000 bushels oats, and 2,000,000 bushels other grains. In 1907 the total grain crop was 14,000,000. This is an increase of 7,000,000 bushels, or about 50 per cent. in one year.

The Herald discusses at length the problems opened up by the remarkable growth of the industry and the operation of the Manitoba grain act in Alberta, and makes a strong plea for the diversion of the Province's export trade from east to west. "This," it says, "does not mean that Alberta will cease doing business with eastern Canada. Such can never be the case. Alberta's trade with the great manufacturing and financial centers of the East will continue to expand. It does mean however, that if we grant the future greatness to Alberta, and especially of Southern Alberta, as a grain-producing country, we must look forward to the day when the bulk of these products will reach the markets of the world through our nearest and cheapest outlet, namely, the Pacific."

Summed up, the Herald's main conclusions are; That the wheat markets of the world are accessible to the farmers of Alberta through Pacific ports if proper arrangement is given to the traffic; that changes in the wheat-merchandising system are necessary; that the Manitoba grain act in its present form is not suitable to the export trade of Alberta and is especially detrimental to west-bound shipments; that terminal facilities at the coast are absolutely essential to the Pacific trade, if it is to become an important factor in the export business; that temporary arrangements should at once be undertaken to provide for increased westward shipments next winter, and finally that the establishment of an independent outlet via the coast would relieve the Alberta farmers from manipulations on eastern exchanges whereby his price is beaten down as soon as lake navigation closes.

DINING AT "THE LORDS."

Very Democratic Meals Can Be Had In Upper House.

Time was when the House of Lords was famous for its Terrace assemblages, its strawberry creams, its dinners—aye, and for its dances in the "Moses" Room. The Sir Alfred Jacoby of that age was given by his grateful peers a selection of silver plate to commemorate his spacious management of my lords' kitchen; and when asked how he would like it replied, "In a loving cup, if you please; only see that its surface is big enough to take in my head."

It was in 1885 that their lordships first set up housekeeping. Prior to this the peers took meat and wine in Mr. Bellamy's kitchen, which in William Pitt's days constituted the Parliamentary restaurant for the Lords and Commons alike. Then they nourished debate by "sending to the cookshop round the corner." Later, the hereditary branch were "paying guests" of the new House of Commons, and now they maintain a separate establishment famed both for its chops and its wines.

The dinners or the progressive variants of the dinner or dinners now served at the House of Commons are as democratic as is that assembly itself. Here the member may dine with his guests at any figure from ninepence to five guineas per head of himself and his guests.

The diner de resistance is what is called the "shilling buster," and at this, despite its title, millionaires and Cabinet Ministers may also be found daly.

The society dinners, held in specially provided and equipped rooms, are between toilettes and flowers worthy of the most brilliant coteries known to Mayfair. Here practically champagne is alone drunk. In one sense at least the House is sober enough. In the members' rooms red wines even of the cheaper brands are surrendering to the consumption of white seals. Even the taste for whisky has declined quite 50 per cent. during the last ten years.

In the "still room" stands a vast hogshead known locally as the "Valentia Vat." It was installed when the noble viscount of that ilk, the member for Oxford, was Chairman of the Kitchen, containing 1,000 gallons of Scotch whisky, and was laid down in his honor. But of late it has not been refilled as frequently or as steadily as its sponsors perhaps anticipated, or even desired, and it has been coyly suggested that it should be emptied and used as a swimming-tub.

However, be that as the future may ordain, the Valentia Vat is one of the institutions of Parliament. The spirit is ten years old and 15 u.p., and it is never permitted to run below a minimum of 400 gallons. It is, perhaps, a grievance of old Ireland that the Irish vat contains only 480 gallons, but the quantity is regulated by the logic of supply to demand only.

They Thought Well of Themselves.

The reminiscences of Mr. Hermann Vezin, the famous actor, who celebrates his eightieth birthday on March 2nd and his diamond jubilee as an actor, includes a couple of stories which show that actors in the old days knew how to appreciate themselves. The great American tragedian of Mr. Vezin's youth was Edwin Forrest. "He was certainly the finest Richelieu I ever saw," says Mr. Vezin, "and a magnificent King Lear. One day a fellow-actor complimented him on the way he played Lear. 'Play Lear!' exclaimed Forrest. 'I play Hamlet, Othello, Macbeth; but by heavens, sir, I am Lear!'" Boucicault had an enormous belief in himself, too. Once he was detected in the act of praising Shakespeare. "Surely," remarked Boucicault, by way of excuse, "great men may admire each other."

"The Sphinx."

So in Egypt they were wont to call Lord Cromer, who as president of he Men's League for Opposing Women's Suffrage, has declared himself the opponent to the aspirations of Mrs. Pankhurst and her followers. He speaks in short, sharp sentences, and his face betrays nothing of what is passing in his mind. Yet in Lord Cromer's character there is a wealth of good nature. Just before he retired from the Consul-Generalship of Egypt he heard that one of his officials had overworked himself and fallen ill. Lord Cromer sent for him. "I shall not want you any more," he said, looking the startled man up and down, and then added, "for two months. You're ill. Here's a prescription for you." It was a check for two months' sojourn in England.

The Dean's Pet Spider.

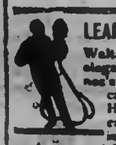
To his particular passion for angling—and he has many record catches to his credit—and his general fondness for all animals, Dr. Barker, the Dean of Carlisle, has now added a partiality for spiders. His pet insect is one which Mrs. Barker discovered in an ante-room of the deanery, and there at present it is allowed to remain. Unlike most ladies, Mrs. Barker is specially fond of spiders, as well as birds, and it is a pretty sight to see her in the garden each morning surrounded by sparrows, tom-tits, robins, and ravens, who collect round her when she whistles and allow her to feed them with suet, meat and bread.

Fight Between Child Card-Players.

It was stated at the Ballyboy (Ireland) Petty Sessions that while four children were playing cards with a toy pack, and with pieces of broken china for stakes, they quarreled, and two of them, who were under six years of age, were badly injured. One of the children lost an eye.

Beresford's Bulldogs.

The fact that Lord Charles Beresford has just presented bulldog pups to four of the battleships in his command reminds one that bulldog breeding is only one of "Charley" Beresford's hobbies. Carpentering and turning are numbered amongst his land recreations, which also include gardening and horse breaking. He has long been a member of the Society of Ornamental Turners, and at his suburban home on Kingston Hill he has a good workshop.



LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournes's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS

IN

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at.....	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed. size 4 x 6 feet.	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

OF

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; blotters, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Large wire post card racks 15c, or we for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.

Limited

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A-1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

Mrs. Landry and son have returned from a visit to North Tonawanda, N.Y.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

COLONIST RATES NORTHWEST

Low rates in effect daily for settlers' one-way tickets to all Northwest points, by C.P.R. direct line. Only through service with no change of cars.

Settlers and families can leave Toronto any day in colonist or tourist cars attached to regular train.

When travelling with livestock and effects, settlers should take

SPECIAL TRAINS

from Toronto each Tuesday in March and April.

Ask agent for free copy of "Settlers' Guide" giving rates and full information.

$42.60 ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS From Peterboro to PACIFIC COAST

Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland. Daily March 1 to April 30.

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent
Peterboro, Ont.

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax ten following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

15,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago,

Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BANKS.

THE

HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets..33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.M. Dennistoun. F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W.S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Endorsements names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

Trade-Marks, Designs, Copyrights and Unfair Competition cases in the United States and all foreign countries. Our Handbook on Patents sent free. Highest references. Best results. Address, or call on, Marion & Marion, Patent Experts, Temple Chambers, Toronto, and Washington, D.C.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DISCOURAGED MEN
IS LIFE WORTH LIVING

MEN, you become disheartened when you feel the symptoms of Nervous Debility and deadly stealing upon you. You haven't the nerve or ambition you used to have. You feel you are not the man you ought to be. You feel like giving up in despair. You get nervous and weak, have little ambition, pain in the back over kidneys, drains at night, bashful spells, tired mornings, prefer to be alone, distrustful, variable appetite, looseness of hair, poor circulation—you have Nervous Debility. Our New Method Treatment is your refuge. It will strengthen all weak organs, vitalize the nervous system, purify the blood and restore you to a manly condition.

Pay When Cured.

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for hundreds of others, it will do for you. CONSULTATION FREE. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Charges reasonable. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (Illustrated), on Diseases of Men.

ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS—CURES GUARANTEED. No Treatment sent C. O. D. No names on boxes or envelopes. Everything confidential. Question list and cost of Home Treatment FREE.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

—THE—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—THE—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No: "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name, see future advertisements, etc.

Seeing is Believing

A United States agency that is selling books has a man who ought to write folders. Here is a sample:

"A tour of the world! What a fascinating prospect these magic words conjure up! A tour of the world! The first enchanting glimpse into the lands that lie beyond our doors; the mingling with entirely new peoples, the viewing of strange scenes and customs; the phenomenal mind broadening it affects; the liberal education it conveys. Perhaps you have longed many times to make this marvellous trip yourself, only to be obliged to dispel the idea because of business, health, family ties, or the question of finances. Is this so?"

Our answer to the question is, call upon Mr. Wm. McIlroy, city passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, get the tickets and see the things as they are, instead of staying at home and thinking how they may be. One thing is certain, wherever you want to go, whatever part of the continent or of the world, no company can take you as far or look after you as well as the C.P.R.

DOES MUSIC PAY?

Modern Earnings Compared With Old Time Prices.

Lewis M. Isaacs has an interesting article in the Bookman on the earnings of musicians and publishers. Times have changed. Schubert sold his best songs for 20 cents each, and Mozart got $100 for each of his two best operas. "Today the tales of royalties paid composers make the profits of a Wall street broker seem small by comparison. And if it is not strictly true that George Cohan makes $5,000 a week or Victor Herbert $500,000 a year out of his music the actual figures are big enough to give color to the story. It has only just been announced that the Rome, Turin and Milan opera houses have each paid Richard Strauss $4,000 for the bare right to produce his opera 'Elektra,' a work not even yet completed and of the success of which there cannot be any present assurance whatsoever. Oscar Hammerstein is reported to have paid the composer $10,000 to secure the American rights of performance. Strauss is certainly taking revenge for the treatment accorded musicians of the past. Mascagni's one act opera, 'Cavalleria Rusticana,' brought the composer $90,000, besides winning the Sonzogo prize. Hansel und Gretel' brought Humperdinck $50,000 in a single twelvemonth, while Puccini's earnings from his operas, while difficult to estimate, accumulating as they do from so many sources, must be conservatively $50,000 a year." Does music pay?

Origin of the Club Sandwich.

Alan Johnstone is said to have originated the famous club sandwich, and the story runs that on going to the club one night between midnight and daybreak he found the cafe closed, the cooks gone, and, being nearly famished, he invaded the larder, toasted himself some thick slices of bread, sliced them through, buttered them while hot and laid thereon everything he found in the refrigerator—cold chicken, ham and lettuce, with a spoonful of mayonnaise. The result was such an epicurean discovery as is not often made, but the story was too good to keep. He confided the recipe to his cronies, and it straightway became one of the popular dishes of the club menu, and so the father of the club sandwich, so deservedly popular, is the present British minister to Copenhagen.—Washington Herald.

Circus Daring Due to Heredity.

Alfred T. Ringling says that nine-tenths of the leading performers before the public can be included in thirty families. As sharply defined as any old English lineage, they can be traced backward in some instances more than two centuries, each generation accepting without question the heritage of spangles and tights. The circus daring and the circus muscles and the circus restlessness have descended from father to children and thence to children again. The thrill of the sawdust ring has got into the blood. From the parent trunk branches have crossed and crisscrossed until, as in the case of the Clarkonians and the Demotts and the Siegrists Florences, great circus lines have been built up and guarded with the zealous care of a royal genealogy.—Bohemian Magazine.

LADY SNAKE CHARMER.

Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson Partial to Serpents.

Sir Edward and Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, who are on a round of visits to friends in America, are fond of unconventionality. Their marriage, five years ago, was a romantic one. The banns were published in the quaint little town of Tain, in Ross-shire, and the world at large knew nothing of the event until after the nuptial knot had been tied. A few guests were invited by telegraph, and the instruction to the clergyman was so delayed that in the end some difficulty was experienced in getting one to officiate. To crown the unconventional procedure the bagpipe took the place of the organ, and played the bridal pair in and out of church. Sir Edward derives his title from Nova Scotia, and is the fifteenth holder. The family motto is "Honor gained by valor." At one time Lady Constance was partial to snakes and other denizens of the creepy world. She used to carry a pet serpent twined round her wrist or nestled in the bosom of her dress. Not so very long ago she showed her prowess in the United States as a huntress of big game. Among the wild hogs of Texas she had a startling adventure. She started in pursuit of her first animal—a kind which has been known to kill or maim every one of a pack of dogs within a few minutes—and when near enough drew a revolver and fired. The shot struck the animal, but did not disable it. It turned with an angry roar on its fair pursuer. Lady Constance leaped from her horse, and running towards the maddened beast, met the attack half-way. When the animal was within springing distance she fired again, and with a great shudder, it rolled over dead.

Uncertain.

The secretary of one of the college classes at Princeton, in sending out each year a list of questions to be answered by members of the class, in order that the results may be duly tabulated and set forth in the university annual, is said always to include in his list this question: "Are you engaged?"

It would seem that one of the members was cursed with doubt in this respect, for in the blank space given over to the query mentioned he made his return as follows:

"Do not know. Am awaiting letter."—Harper's Magazine.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 25 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 26th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 29th January, 1909.
Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada

TRENT CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

MACHINERY AND FITTINGS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to Alexander J. Grant, Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, and endorsed "Tender for Operating Machines," will be received until 10 o'clock on Friday, the 26th February, 1909, for the manufacture, etc., of the "Operating Machines," "Anchorage Fittings" and "Pivots," for the Lock Gates of the new Locks of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications can be seen, and Forms of Tender obtained on and after this date at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Canal at Peterborough.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 18th February, 1909.
Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

PERPETUAL YOUTH.

It Can Only Be Imparted to the Body Through the Mind.

The elixir of youth lies in the mind or nowhere. You cannot be young by trying to appear so, by dressing youthfully. You must first get rid of the last vestige of thought, of belief, that you are aging. As long as that is in mind cosmetics and youthful dress will amount to very little in changing your appearance. The conviction must first be changed; the thought which has produced the aging condition must be reversed.

If we can only establish the perpetual youth mental attitude, so that we feel young, we have won half the battle against old age. Be sure of this, that whatever you feel regarding your age will be expressed in your body.

Nothing else more effectually retards age than keeping in mind the bright, cheerful, optimistic, hopeful, buoyant picture of youth in all its splendor, magnificence; the alluring picture of the glories which belong to youth—youthful dreams, ideals, hopes and all the qualities which belong to young life.

One great trouble with us is that our imaginations age prematurely. The hard, exacting conditions of our modern, strenuous life tend to harden and dry up the brain and nerve cells and thus seriously injure the power of the imagination, which should be kept fresh, buoyant, elastic.—Success Magazine.

Eating the Pie.

"I remember one man from my home town," a western senator said recently, "in the good old days before civil service examinations, whose dream of earthly attainment was a government place. When his party was finally successful he immediately set out for Washington and was 'on the job' long before the 4th of March, but there seemed to be a hitch somewhere. All through the spring he was about town. By June he was seedy, but still appeared to be 'game.' Finally I found him in the gallery of the senate chamber apparently endeavoring to kill time.

"'Well, have you given it up?' I asked, trying to be sympathetic.

"'Oh, I get the job, all right,' he replied, with a satisfied smile. 'I'm waiting now.'"—Success Magazine.

No Dogs Allowed Out at Night.

The first summons under the new Kent (Eng.) control of dogs order, 1908, which provides that no dog shall be allowed out between sunset and sunrise without effective restraint, was heard at the Bromley Police Court recently. The owner of the animal in question was ordered to pay the costs.

WITTY TO THE LAST.

Even In His Despair Lord Byron Saw the Funny Side of Things.

The sufferings of dramatic authors at the first night performance of their plays are said to be so acute that few of them dare to sit in front at the dramatic debut of the children of their brain. Thackeray, in his Virginians, has George Warrington sitting in a neighboring coffee house while the first production of his Carpenan is in progress, receiving bulletins of its reception from his friends, and doubtless consoling himself with copious drafts of stimulating liquids as a sort of insulation against unhappiness in case things should go wrong. Even Lord Byron, who was supposed to be a callous sort of person, in so far as caring for the world's verdict was concerned, is said to have been completely wretched at the first production of his play, Dearer Than Life.

It was at this performance that a long delay occurred at the end of the second act, filling the audience with impatience and the distinguished author with dread.

"What in the name of heaven can they be doing back there?" asked a critic, meeting Byron in the lobby of the theatre trying to calm his troubled spirit by walking nervously about.

"I don't know," moaned the poet, with a melancholy gesture of despair.

A moment later the sound of a saw at work behind the curtain was heard, and the critic, returning to the playwright's side, inquired:

"And what do you imagine that to be, my lord?"

Byron's sense of humor came to his rescue instantly.

"I think," he said, "they must be cutting out the last act."

Romance of a Royal Legacy.

A poor woman's act of kindness has brought an unexpected reward under a romantic legacy which a King of England granted to a subject over 250 years ago.

The story of the legacy's origin is famous. Flying from the Battle of Worcester, in 1651, King Charles II. was hidden from the pursuing soldiers amid the foliage of an oak tree by a farmer named Richard Penderel.

The King's gratitude took the form of six perpetual legacies, granted to Richard Penderel and other members of his family. Two were of $500 a year, the others of slightly over $250. These legacies have come down through many generations, links being lost here and there, heirs occasionally disappearing.

Some time ago Mrs. Cassin, the wife of a London cab-driver, appeared at the office of Messrs. Petch & Co., solicitors, having read of a Penderel legacy last July. Nine years ago, she said, her brother, John Penderel, a fruit porter, died, leaving a little daughter of four years old quite unprovided for.

Although she had no children of her own, and it was a struggle to make both ends meet, Mrs. Cassin adopted the little girl to save her from the workhouse. Her brother, she said, had spoken of an annuity which had come down to him from King Charles II., but her impression was that the pension ceased at his death.

Application to the courts and to trustees followed, and recently the dead man's little daughter was held to be legal successor to her father's pension, which amounts to nearly $5 a week.

Duchess Versus Lord Chancellor.

The English House of Lords has never been particularly kind to its fair visitors. Long ago, in the days when duchesses sold their kisses for votes, the House of Lords forbade them to enter, and a battle royal ensued between the ladies and the peers. The Lord Chancellor had sworn that he would not let them in, and the Duchess of Queensberry had sworn that ladies should come in. "This being reported," we read in an old diary, "the peers resolved to starve them out. An order was made that the doors should not be opened till they had raised their siege."

These amazons now showed themselves qualified for the duty even of foot soldiers. They stood there till 5 in the afternoon without either sustenance or intermission, every now and then playing volleys of thumps, kicks and raps against the door with so much violence that the speakers in the House were scarcely heard. At last by strategy worthy of a general the ladies "all rushed in and placed themselves in the front row of the gallery," where they remained till an hour before midnight, applauding or hissing to their hearts' content.

Secretary' Search For Singer.

Mr. Charles Manners, the famous bass singer, who holds that so far as music is concerned, Shakespeare is more honored on the Continent than in his own country, was brought up with the idea of his becoming a solicitor. But the law had no fascination for him. He tried two years at a crammer's with a view to getting into the army. Then he took up civil engineering, and later went into a stockbroker's office. It was while here he decided to become a professional singer, and his first engagement in London was as a chorister in the comic opera called "Claude Duval." Eighteen months later Mr. Manners became a principal, and he has humorously related that he got the chance through his having a dress suit in his box, and by promising to use it when he got the part. Mr. Manners son of the late Col. J. C. Mansergh, Royal Horse Artillery, is 6 feet 4 1-4 inches in height, and the smallest of five sons. He numbers an incident in Malta among his earliest recollections. He was then six years old, and his father a captain in the Garrison Artillery. A soldier's funeral was passing the quarters, and young Charles decided to stick to the big drum all the way to the cemetery and back again. On the return journey he was promptly pounced upon by the irate father and tearful mother, and after being well shaken he was put to bed. After remaining there twenty-four hours he learned that half the battery had been hunting Valetta for him.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Preventics, at the "sneeze stage" will as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a penwritten original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

NEW

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to...$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to.. 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.

Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER GENERAL USES FOR GOLD DUST | Scouring floors, washing clothes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, silverware and linoleum, painted tinted work, cleaning bath tubs, glass, etc., and making the finest pie crust.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

Appetite Gone--- Nerves Badly Run Down

A Strong Moral Will Exemplified in Mrs. Wilson's Case.

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter nearly tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Watmore, P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, billiousness and depressing headache. I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleansing, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring, vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essence in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to indue renewed activity and strength f every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut—today—25c. at all dealers.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also at Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phone—Office 488; House 488.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1909.

PERSONAL

Miss Stella Elder of Bobcaygeon, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Gordon Logan of the National Cash Register Company, Toronto, is in the city on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Elliott left yesterday for a few days' business trip in Toronto.

Mrs. Morrison of 452 Hunter St., and Mrs. Barrie will not receive again this season.

Miss Daisy Robinson of J. C. Turnbull's has accepted a position with Miss McGiverin.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. O. Bissell has returned to the city after visiting his parents on Bethune street, Peterborough.—Brockville Times.

Miss Mamie Theobald left for Campbellford yesterday, where she will visit friends during the next few weeks.

Messrs. John S. Brown, John Nicholls, and David Halstead of Roseneath, Rice Lake, are in the city on business.

Miss Softer of London, and Miss Lavin of Brantford have accepted positions with Miss Allan, milliner for the season.

Miss Allan, milliner, George street, has returned from New York and Toronto, where she has been attending the wholesale millinery openings.

Misses Helen Campbell and Dorothy Colville of Campbellford, are guests at the home of Dr. R. P. Boucher, Brock street.

Miss Gardiner of Richard Hall & Son, Limited, returned this week from New York and has opened up her department for the spring season.

Conductor George Jobbitt is in charge of the Lakefield train again after being off duty for eight days in which accompanied by Mrs. Jobitt he made a visit to cities in Western Ontario and also Detroit.

Mr. Jas. McGhee of 350 Water St., and Mr. Thos. Curtis of Havelock, have returned from Mr. Curtis' timber limits in the neighborhood of Gooderham, Ont., after a business trip of several weeks duration. Mr. McGhee left yesterday for Roseneath on business.

Miss Ella B. Freeland, of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son's millinery showrooms, arrived home Tuesday evening after a weeks' attendance at the Toronto wholesale millinery openings, and a visit to her brother in Hamilton.

The many friends in Peterborough of Mr. Walter Reid of Bobcaygeon, will learn with deep regret, that he is lying at his home seriously ill and little hope is entertained for his recovery. Mr. Reid is a graduate of the Business College here, having attended last winter.

Secured a Chef

Mr. Jacobi, proprietor of the Peterborough Quick Lunch Counter, has secured the services of a first-class chef, and beginning Saturday will serve regular meals in connection with the lunch counter. This will be a decided advantage to his business as many citizens will take advantage of it.

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a rise" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit" the questioner cries out: "Aha! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear, I am sure, but tell me, then, what is electricity anyway."

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—that is, its ability to do work—the electrician multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one, "just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?

"Diamond" Flaws Recalled.

As the name suggests, Sir Julius Wernher is of German ancestry. He was born at Darmstad fifty-eight years ago, the son of Gen. Friedrich August Wernher, of the German army, and the application and energy which he has shown throughout his career are aptly typified by the "head of a grappling-iron, argent," which appears on his coat-of-arms. He was created a baronet three years ago. Sir Julius is a striking-looking man, who certainly has a wonderfully fine taste for all things beautiful. He is said to have paid the Leigh trustees $1,-250,000 for the historic mansion and estate of Luton Hoo, England, so long the home of that delightful person, the late Madame de Falde. He also purchased Bath House, the curious yellow mansion situated at the corner of Piccadilly and Bolton street, London, which he entirely redecorated and filled with the loveliest and rarest pictures, china, and enamels. It will be remembered that some time ago Sir Julius sustained a big loss, for the Lemoine fleece diamond failed to materialize at the given moment. People wondered how so hard-headed a man as Sir Julius could have been taken in by the enterprising Frenchman, but it subsequently transpired that he was only carrying out an agreement entered into by his partner in the business, the late Mr. Alfred Beit.

His Latin Helped.

There was a famous British officer, Lieut.-Gen. Sir George Murray, who served in the expedition to Egypt. When before Alexandria the troops having suffered severely from want of water, his literary acquirements were of the greatest service, instructing him that Caesar's army had been in the same predicament. Referring to his "Caesar" (which he always carried in his portable library), he found his recollection right—that water had been obtained by the Romans from wells dug at a certain spot in the sands. A trial was immediately made, and the result was a copious supply. The British troops braced up and conquered Egypt.

Nearly Resigned

But Held Position on Grape-Nuts

An Oklahoma woman was saved from loss of health and position by change to right food. She says:

The spring of 1904 found me almost a nervous wreck from the use of improper food. I could not sleep nor eat anything but what it seemed that my stomach was on fire.

"I had the best medical advice I could get, but medicine did not reach my trouble. I was growing worse all the time until I was about to resign my position, a thing I could not afford to do.

"A friend brought me a pkg. of that wonderful food, Grape-Nuts, and asked me if I had ever tried it. I told her no. I had no faith in it, but to please her I promised to use the package before I decided what it would do for me.

"I ate nothing but Grape-Nuts and cream, three times a day and that awful burning in my stomach disappeared. I was able to continue at my work and gained 28 lbs. in three months. So I owe my health and position to Grape-Nuts."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

AN ARAB SURGEON.

His Own Story of a Wonderful Operation He Performed.

Mr. Walter B. Harris in his account of a journey to Tafilet tells the story of a wonderful operation in surgery as it was reported to him by a native doctor who was traveling in his company:

"I think the old man fancied that I doubted his skill. At least, he was always holding forth upon the subject and continually repeating the story that when in Algeria he had been offered a fabulous salary—the sum varied each time the tale was told—to remain in charge of the military hospital at Algiers, an honor which he had declined.

"He never tired of narrating the facts and details of his most successful operation. There is a sect in Morocco called Hamacha, who are followers of a certain saint buried near Mekinez. These devotees amuse their audience—and themselves, too, let us hope—by throwing into the air heavy cannon balls, which they allow to fall upon their shaven crowns. On the occasion in question a Hamdusha had unfortunately been wanting in religious power, for the cannon ball crushed his skull.

"My old shereef friend had been called to the rescue. According to his account, he removed the broken patch of skull, replacing it with the rind of a green pumpkin, and closed the skin over it. In a month's time, he said, the patient was not only convalescent, but was once more hard at work practicing his religio-acrobatic feats, with not only a remodeled and renovated skull, but even a new crop of hair."

THE SILVER FOX.

He Is a Glorified Freak of the Red Fox Breed.

Only those wise in the woodlore of the north can fully know the magic in the name silver fox. The silver fox is not of different kind, but a glorified freak of the red race. His parents may have been the commonest kind of red foxes, yet nature in extravagant mood may have showered all her gifts on this favored one of the offspring and not only clad him in a marvelous coat, but gifted him with speed and wind and brains above his kind to guard his perilous wealth. And need he has of all such power, for this exquisite robe is so mellow rich, so wonderful in style, with its gloss black and delicate frosting, that it is the most desirable, the most precious of all furs, worth many times its weight in gold, the noblest peltry known to man. It is the proper robe of kings, the appanage of great imperial thrones today, as was the tyrian purple in the days of Rome. This is indeed the hunter's highest prize, but so guarded by the cunning brain and the wind and limb of the beast himself that it is through rare good luck more than hunter skill that a few of these fur jewels are taken each year in the woods.

There are degrees of rank among these patricians. They range in quality even as diamonds range, and the hunters have a jargon of their own to express all shades between the cross and the finest silver black.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Century Magazine.

Influence of Food.

"What do you think of the theory that food has a potent influence in determining character?" asked Mr. Smithfield as he put three lumps of sugar in his coffee.

"I guess it's all right," replied Mr. Wood as he severed a portion of his beefsteak. "It always seems a little cannibalistic to me when you order lobster."

"Well," retorted Mr. Smithfield good humoredly, "I ought to have known it was dangerous to lend you money after I discovered your fondness for beets. But, seriously, if there were anything in the theory, wouldn't it make a man sheepish to eat mutton?"

"It would, and prize fighters ought to restrict themselves to a diet of asparagus."

All in the Mind.

On the opening day of one winter session the late Professor Tait of Edinburgh university entered the natural philosophy class room in the midst of the uproarious applause common to those occasions.

Presently he looked up at the tiered seats benches above him with the smile of one who had known the ways of students for a lifetime. At last, when a momentary lull came, he remarked, his gray eyes twinkling:

"Gentlemen, I must remind you that there is really no such thing as noise. It is merely a matter of subjective impression."

No Flies on Him.

Two Irishmen, just landed, stopped at a private boarding house on one hot July night. Retiring early, they left the window open and the light burning brightly. The mosquitoes swarmed into the room and began biting.

Mike, awakening, called to Pat to put out the light. Pat got up and put it out and crawled back to bed again.

Pat awoke about an hour later and found the room full of fireflies and said: "It's no use, Mike. They are coming in with lanterns!"

Pleasure Trips.

"Going to the north pole is no pleasure trip," said the sympathetic friend.

"Well," answered the arctic explorer "it reminds me somewhat of the average pleasure trip. Everybody is so anxious to start and so glad to get home."

They never taste who always drink. They always talk who never think.—Prior.

Miss May Edwards of Toronto, is home for a couple of weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Edwards, Murray street.

Mr. H. L. Brace has left for Cobourg where he will spend a few days with his parents before leaving for Winnipeg to attend the Normal School.

Afternoon Tea

The Ladies' Aid of Knox church will hold an afternoon tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henderson, 170 Perry street. All are welcome.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

650 ANIMAL CONTESTS.

Possibilities For Sport That Have Inspired Gambling Fraternity.

At Huddersfield, England, is an association for the promotion of lark singing which has achieved a more than local fame. The association has now been in existence for about twenty years, and as many as three hundred and twenty-five birds have been entered for the various competitions at one meet.

As a rule, the birds are kept for a considerable time in the dark, and when the competitor's turn comes he is brought in in his darkened cage before a mirror. Light is thrown on the mirror, and when he sees his own reflection he takes it to be a rival. He is allowed about half a minute in which to scan the "enemy," after which his cage is taken in front of a window. At once he bursts into song, spreading his wings, and singing for quite a while. The rules of the contest require all spectators to remain absolutely quiet and motionless as far as possible. The lark is extremely sensitive while singing, and the least thing, such as taking out a pocket-handkerchief, or making even a slight noise, may put an abrupt end to his lay. Last year three birds each sang for about ten minutes without cessation, thus gaining the championship.

These contests, together with the lark breeding necessary, form an attractive and sometimes highly remunerative hobby to many people in Huddersfield and the surrounding country.

In England cock-crowing competitions have been popular for a number of years. Silverton, in Devon, is a favorite place for holding them.

For some weeks before the competition begins the birds are fed in a special manner. Each owner has his own peculiar secret method of feeding, which he closely guards from his competitors. For about three weeks prior to the match the food is carefully dosed, and made as stimulating as possible.

The time of each contest is generally limited to fifteen minutes, and a timekeeper, armed with a chronometer, stands in front and marks the number of crows and the variations of notes, which are all considered in selecting the champion.

An odd form of animal contest used to be practiced by office clerks in London some years ago. It was known as grub-racing, and nearly every younger clerk had his table of racers. These worms were bred in nuts or apples, and carefully stabled between two walnut shells. They were selected by placing them in the centre of a piece of paper, and the one that proved most adept in making a speedy bee line to the edge of the paper was matched against the pick of a rival stable.

Some of the fastest could not be induced to travel in a straight line; in racing parlance they bolted, and were bad betting propositions. But when two came together that showed a disposition to run straight and true the betting on the result was lively enough to stir up the anti-gambling enthusiasts.

In the eighteenth century an odd sight occasionally seen on Newmarket Heath, the scene of many of the great English stake races of the present day, were the goose races between birds owned by the sport-loving noblemen of that day. Great care was observed in the training of these birds and a champion frequently sold for a large sum.

Puzzled the Workman.

Mr. Pett Ridge, whose "Sketches from Life," published in The Strand Magazine, have been attracting so much attention, overhears many good things through listening to the conversation of "the man in the street." He was once in a railway carriage when he became interested in a graphic description of a battle which a soldier was giving to a typical working man. The soldier told of a fight which had began at eight o'clock in the morning and continued until seven o'clock at night. His description was most realistic, and he worked himself up to a great state of enthusiasm as he lived through the dreadful scenes again. When he had finished his story the workman shook his head. "There's one thing I can't understand about that story," he said. "You say the battle began at eight o'clock in the morning and lasted until seven o'clock at night?" "That's so," was the reply. "Then," retorted the workman, "what I can't make out is this: how did you manage about your dinner-hour?"

Judge and Antiquarian.

The distinguished son of a very distinguished father is Lord Guthrie, who presided over the famous Stirling divorce case. His lordship's father, the late Dr. Thomas Guthrie, was not only one of the finest orators who ever occupied a pulpit, but he was also one of the founders of the Ragged Schools, and on his retirement from public life was presented with £5,000. Lord Guthrie, of course, is one of the leading lights of the Free Church of Scotland, and amongst other appointments which he has filled is that of sitting as a member of the Royal Commission on Historical Monuments in Scotland. For he is an antiquarian as well as musician, and is very fond, when traveling abroad, of losing himself in odd corners of the world for the purpose of studying anything which appertains to bygone days.

After Wood Bison.

Harry Vincent Hadford, explorer, has arrived in Montreal to start on a 6,000 mile trip through northwest Canada, in an effort to locate the rare wood bison. He will buy his supplies in Montreal, then go to Ottawa as the guest of Dr. Robert Bell, I.S.O., F.R.S., who is an authority on exploration. Mr. Radford will also call on Earl Grey, who will give him permits to facilitate his travels.

Family of Pensioners.

The town of Donegal, Ireland, boasts of four members of one family who receive old-age pensions, while a fifth will be eligible next year. The name of the family is Hilley, and those receiving the pensions are the mother, her two daughters and a son.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley china. See the bread and butter plates with lift lock on each, selling at only 25 cents.

By-law No...

A BY-LAW to authorize the borrowing of the sum of $15,000 to pay the cost of developing power at the Waterworks Dam.

Passed the day of 1909.

WHEREAS the Corporation of the City of Peterborough is the owner of a water power and dam and the land connected therewith, which was acquired and is used for the purpose of supplying the City of Peterborough with water for all purposes and it is intended to substitute for the present dam, a new concrete dam in the same locality, for the more effective control of the waters of the River Otonabee, from which the water supply of the city is derived, and it has been ascertained that the water power to be developed at the said new dam will be more than sufficient for the purposes of the Peterborough Water Commissioners and it is desirable to provide for the use of such additional water power to generate electrical power or energy for transmission to the City of Peterborough and for this purpose, at the same time as the said new dam is being constructed, to put in the foundations for and construct the power house, forebay, wheel pits, tail races and other works necessary for the development and use of such additional water power.

AND WHEREAS it has been estimated that the cost of said works will be the sum of $15,000 and it is desirable to pass this bylaw, to be submitted to the votes of the duly qualified electors, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum for the purposes aforesaid, which sum of $15,000 is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this bylaw.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of $15,000 it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll being the roll prepared in the year 1908 for the year 1909 is the sum of $8,426,778 and the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts payable by local special rates but including the debt of $312,000 incurred for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks is the sum of $870,331.98 and there is no part of the principal or interest in arrear.

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of $637.50 to be raised annually for a period of twenty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virture of this Bylaw to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of $530.42 to be raised annually during the said period for providing a sinking fund for the payment of the same at the maturity thereof—such last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes due, making in all the sum of $1,167.92 to be raised annually as aforesaid by special rate on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS;—

1. This Bylaw shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. It shall be lawful for the Council of the said City of Peterborough to borrow the sum of $15,000 and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the City of Peterborough, and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust and to be made payable within twenty years after the issue thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four and one-quarter per centum per annum payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust in the City of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of $637.50 for payment of the interest on the said debt and the sum of $530.42 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of $1,167.92 to be raised annually as aforesaid.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures when sold shall be applied for the purposes above mentioned.

5. For the purpose of taking the votes of the duly qualified electors on this Bylaw the following adjoining Polling Subdivisions shall be united, namely;—Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1 and 2; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 4, 5 and 6; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 7 and 8; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 10 and 11 and Polling Subdivisions Numbers 13 and 14.

6. The votes of the electors of the City of Peterborough qualified to vote upon Bylaws for creating debts shall be taken upon this Bylaw on the 30th day of March, 1909, commencing at the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers, with the following Poll Clerks, that is to say;—

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 1 and 2—Place, B. McGill's grocery, Cor. Aylmer and Lake streets. Deputy Returning Officer, Josiah Robertson. Poll Clerk, W. Van Every.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 3—Place, L. Spry's, 210 Stewart street. Deputy Returning Officer, F. J. A. Hall. Poll Clerk, John Comstock.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 4, 5 and 6—Place. The City Council Chambers. Deputy Returning Officer, Angus McIntosh. Poll Clerk, J. P. Bryson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 7 and 8—Place, A. J. Warne's, 286 Charlotte street. Deputy Returning Officer, J. M. Greene. Poll Clerk, Henry Greene.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 9—Place, N. Routley's, 392 Brock street. Deputy Returning Officer, John Sawers. Poll Clerk, N. Routley.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 10 and 11—Place, Mrs. Mann's store, 601 George street. Deputy Returning Officer, A. Sawers. Poll Clerk, G. H. Howson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 12—Place, Mrs. Wm. Lee's shop, Smith street. Deputy Returning Officer, T. W. Robinson. Poll Clerk, D. Kennedy.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 13 and 14—Place, the former Village Hall. Deputy Returning Officer, Robert Hamilton. Poll Clerk, James McDonald.

7. The 31st day of March, 1909 at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the City Clerk's Office are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where, the Clerk will sum up the number of votes given for and against the Bylaw.

8. The 29th day of March, 1909, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the office of the City Clerk are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passing of the bylaw respectively.

Mayor.

Clerk.

NOTICE.

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed Bylaw which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the City of Peterborough (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in The Morning Times newspaper, the date of which first publication is the fourth day of March, 1909, and that at the hour, day and place therein fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

S. R. ARMSTRONG.

City Clerk.

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 5 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,580 to 15,200 per cent. enhancement.
And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1859.
An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.
The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.
The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—
Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Queries and Answers.

W. M. S. Sewickly, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. . . . . —The Goldfield News.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.
Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager

P. O. Drawer 584 Whitmore Building
GOLDFIELD, NEVADA

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

TO boast of a piano having the scale of another reputable piano is a condemnation of that piano. Why? No piano manufacturer, who has a perfect tone producing scale will dispose of that scale at any price, but, if by some mistake or incompetency a scale proves to be imperfect, it can be purchased at any old price.

Too many of our Canadian pianos are made from those castaway American piano scales.

Haines Bros. Pianos
AND
Marshall and Wendell Pianos

are made from their original drawings. Iron plates, copper-wound strings, sound board and actions from their New York factory. A perfect duplicate of their New York product.

The CITY MUSIC COMPANY,
326 George Street. Sole agents for Peterborough county.

Mr. Arthur T. Johnston of the Windsor House, was in Toronto this week.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nervousness, or nerve Weakness, and you know what that means. Nervousness, not some small worry in a household of trifles, is the most distressing disease. It is almost always a condition where both nerve force really is all or largely all gone. Nervousness means that the nerves, or Heart Nerves, or Stomach Nerves, or Kidney Nerves, or Bowel Nerves are starved. Starved from lack of nerve force, or nerve power, or nerve energy. Starved from lack of nerve food. Starved from lack of nerve blood. Starved from lack of nerve nourishment. Starved from lack of nerve power. Starved from lack of nerve strength. Starved from lack of nerve health. Starved from lack of nerve vitality. Starved from lack of nerve life. Starved from lack of nerves. Starved from lack of nerves. Starved from lack of nerves

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 54 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Wholesale Dry Goods House to be Opened in Peterboro' Soon

Peterborough is to have a wholesale dry goods establishment, and in a short time it will be opened up. Mr. Wm. J. Hopewood, a gentleman who is well known in this city and who is held in the highest esteem by all, is about to start the new enterprise here. Several weeks ago he purchased the building at the corner of Water and Simcoe streets which is occupied by a second-hand store. At first Mr. Hopwood will only open sample rooms and a portion of the store is now being fitted up for that purpose, and it will not be long before a full line of dry goods and fancy small goods will be stocked. The idea is, however, to eventually carry a stock of goods that will be a credit to the city.

Mr. Hopwood has secured admirable quarters for a wholesale house and as he has been connected with this line of business for thirty years, during which time he has made a great host of friends throughout the country, it is safe to predict that in a short time he will have worked up a very good business. He will have the best wishes of everyone in this city. That the enterprise will be a successful one is undoubted, and it will be a valuable addition to the commercial interests of Peterborough.

President Wm. Taft Argues That Dominion Has Conceded Most

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—A Washington despatch says a last attempt is being made to lead Senator Smith of Michigan, to see the foolishness of his opposition to the Canadian waterways treaty.

Secretary of State Bacon has been laboring with him both at his home and at the capital, and it is understood President Taft has sent for him to add the force of this persuasiveness toward convincing Smith that Canada has already conceded more than she has received in the treaty.

The Kinrade Mystery Excites Virginia

Richmond, March 4.—The man who shot Miss Ethel Kinrade in Hamilton, Ontario, on Thursday last may have gone from Norfolk, following her sister Florence to Canada, some time ago. This is the impression which prevails in Norfolk itself at the present time. There seems to be no fact in possession of the police, however, which sustains such connection. Because of the efforts made to investigate the stay of Miss Kinrade, known here as Mildred Dale, interest in Norfolk and Portsmouth is at fever heat.

That Miss Florence Kinrade never had an engagement to sing in any church in this city has been established after careful investigation by a newspaper correspondent. Nor has she ever sung in the Manchester Presbyterian church. The pastor, the Rev. K. J. Flax, said so. She filled an engagement in Portsmouth, near Norfolk, however, about a year ago.

Miss Kinrade, or Dale, first appeared in this section, so far as the detectives and police have been able to gather, about a year ago, when she was a guest at Atlantic Hotel, Virginia.

Several times during the day the report has been that Pinkerton men were in the city in an effort to ferret out the details of the stay of Miss Kinrade in detail in Virginia, but the police declare that if there are detectives in the city they have not made their presence known, and the presence of officers here is not believed by Detective Captain MacLahon.

Banquet for Harry Latimer

The Grafters Athletic Club tendered a complimentary banquet to Mr. Harry Lattimer last night. Mr. Lattimer is a popular young man among his associates. He has been connected for some years with the drafting department at the C.G.E. and he is leaving tomorrow for Chicago where he has accepted a position. The banquet was held at Jacobi's restaurant where tables were set for about forty guests. The menu was an excellent one and the service was first-class. The boys were well pleased with the spread and complimented the caterer.

After justice had been done to the good things an informal toast list was run off and a couple of hours were pleasantly spent in songstories, and speeches which was interspersed with selections by the C. G.E. Mandolin Club.

Among those present was Mr. Richard McBride, spring poet and weather prophet. Mr. Lattimer was wished every success in his new position in the Windy City.

The Order of the White Chalk in Hamilton

Hamilton, March 4.—This is a rate—not of the Black Hand, but the White Chalk.

It has appeared on the door posts of many a home in Hamilton recently, and has set the women a-trembling, and the men a-guessing. The wife returns from her shopping, the husband from his day of toil, and the children from their schools, and lo, they find their homes marked with the sign of the White Chalk.

Sometimes the sign of the White Chalf is of one shape, sometimes of another. Evidently the White Chalkers have their degrees, like the Masons, the Orangemen, and other secret and select organizations. The most common form of the sign is shaped like the broad arrow of the British War Office. This is evidently the first degree. Then there are crescents, with small crosses resting on them, like the owl on the moon. Other insignia of the order are three x's, double stars, and various other fantastical and fanciful shapes.

Nobody has yet told the police they saw the sign being placed on their doorposts, but several people have reported the said signs being there. When they first made their appearance the people were rather startled, especially after the first news of the tragic event in the Kinrade home got abroad. The people who discovered the strange signs were fearful that they lived in marked homes. Later they discovered that they really did live in "marked" homes, but "marked" in such a way that they professed to be so distinguished.

It seems that the White Chalkers are an organization of out-of-works or tramps. Naturally they have got in very bad odor around Hamilton recently, and they have found that they must use their sign very frequently. From what can be ascertained of the White Chalkers' code a broad arrow is a sign from one tramp to his brothers afoot that the people within are an inhospitable crowd, so far as the entertainment of the ragged wayfarer is concerned. The crescent means that members of the order have been forcibly ejected from the premises, and the three stars is a warning that arrests have been made at the instance of the housekeeper or shop keeper in the place. And generally the residences so marked are given a wide berth by the members of the "profesh."

No less an individual than Colonel and Hon. J. S. Hendrie, M.V.O., was recently decorated by the Order of White Chalkers. The fence enclosing his handsome residence, just under the mountain, was beautifully stencilled with both broad arrows and crosses one morning, though it was not on record that the colonel was ever very hard on the beggarly and bedraggled wayfarer.

Simpson too Good A Man for the Close Combine to Overlook

Hamilton Spectator; There is a disposition in certain quarters in Toronto to confine the game to a certain clique, Shrubb, Dorando, Longboat, and the rest of the Powers' stable. Although Shrubb is his own boss, he is necessary to the Powers' interests, and he is kept in the bunch. However, Freddie Simpson and a couple more of them are not in the swim, and find it exceedingly troublesome to get a race, owing the the fact that Powers and Flanagan are bent upon cornering the market. Simpson is too good a man for them to overlook, yet he is not in their stable, and therefore not wanted. However, Simpson will demand, and will have to be given, a race very shortly, his record and ability, giving him the right to every consideration.

An effort was made to bring Simpson and Dorando together in Hamilton, but Dorando's managers—and they are many—would not hear of it.

Detectives Search Outbuildings Near Scene of Kinrade Tragedy

Hold Secret Conferences—May Have Seen Miss Florence Again—Virginia Despatch Correct—Fresh Information Concealed, Detectives Working on a New Theory

Hamilton, March 4.—The feature of the Kinrade murder case today is that the detectives engaged in it are working individually and in different parts of the city. There is also a suggestion that they are working on a new theory as to the probable murderer.

During the first two or three days after the murder the trio, Miller, Coulter and Bleakley, worked together. Today they were seperated in their investigations.

Mr. Miller arrived from Toronto early and spent an hour or so working alone somewhere in the lower part of the city. The two local detectives again visited the district where the murder was committed. They spent some time in re-hearing the stories of the neighbors. They were for some time with Mrs. Hickey, whose home is opposite the Kinrade residence, and to whom Miss Florence ran for aid the afternoon of the tragedy.

Mrs. Hickey has been questioned so much about the events of that afternoon that she has decided to talk about it no more except to the police officials.

LOOKING FOR REVOLVER.

After leaving the residence of Mrs. Hickey, the two Hamilton detectives returned to the Kinrade residence and again viewed the different buildings there as they related to the geography of the place. They also inspected the back yards and outbuildings of several adjacent residences. It was thought that a further search might uncover a revolver thrown away by the murderer in his flight.

Mrs. Ogg's place was visited. Detective Coulter intimated afterwards that he did not think that lady's story that a man had tried to get into her home threw any light on the case.

Provincial Detective Miller reached police headquarters about 11.30 and had a conference with Chief of Police Smith. Shortly after noon the detective came out.

"I've positively nothing to tell you," he said to the half dozen reporters waiting for him.

"Were you able to see Miss Kinrade in Toronto yesterday?"

He would not say whether he talked to Miss Kinrade or whether any of the members of the family were questioned by him at the Arlington.

"Anything new in the Virginia end of the story?" he was asked.

"Nothing to tell you," said Mr. Miller.

"Does the despatches published in the papers yesterday agree with your information?"

"Yes."

"Including the story of Miss Kinrade's stage career?"

"Yes."

Chief Smith summoned Mr. Miller back into his private office. When the detective came out again he was less communicative than ever.

LESS COMMUNICATIVE.

"No," he said, "there's positively nothing more to be told just now," and he shook off his questioners and walked rapidly down the street.

"Going to Virginia?" was the query thrown after him.

A few minutes later he was lost around a corner.

Chief Smith was quite as uncommunicative.

"When there's anything the public should know, you'll know it," was his terse way of putting it.

While Mr. Miller would not say so, it is suggested here that he did see Miss Kinrade yesterday. Being more calm away from the scene of the tragedy, she may have been able to give a more lucid story of the shooting than she had previously given.

The fact that the detectives took a new tact and that Mr. Miller made a tour of the other end of the city seems to indicate that they have information from a new source.

WHAT A FRIEND SAYS.

Said a prominent citizen and friend of the Kinrades this morning: "I think you'll find after all, when Miss Kinrade's nerves have been calmed down, that the story she first told about an unknown tramp having committed the deed will be the one necessary to work on in this case. Mrs. Ogg's story seems to fit in excellently with this story."

One new witness has turned up in the person of William Burgess, of 306 Hess street. Mr. Burgess held the door against the curious who went to the Kinrade home the afternoon of the shooting. He heard Miss Florence Kinrade tell her first story. He says she told Detective Coulter that she heard the shots fired when she was upstairs. She ran downstairs with the money, gave it to the man, and without noticing her dead sister, ran out into the back yard. This is Mr Burgess' recollection of her first story.

BOTH FAINTED.

Ernest Kinrade, the only member of the family who did not go to Toronto, said he left his father's home about 6.30 Tuesday night, the night they went to Toronto, and that at that time the rest of the family were all packed and ready to leave. They would have left earlier however, had not his mother fainted about six o'clock. Her collapse shocked Florence so that she fainted also, and Dr. White had again to be sent for. When train time arrived both were in such a weakened condition that they were conveyed to the station with difficulty. Mrs. Kinrade had almost to be carried to the cab and from it to the train.

WOMAN HEARD SHOTS.

The latest development in connection with the case is the statement of a farmer's wife to people residing in the vicinity that as she was passing the house about 3.15 in the afternoon she heard three distinct shots.

The woman is Mrs. Chafer of Glanford Station. According to the officials she will be a witness at the inquest.

It is stated on good authority that an officer will go to Virginia this week.

Washington Welcomes President Taft—The Inauguration Ceremony

TO REDUCE TARIFF.

"It is thought that there has been such a change in conditions since the enactment of the Dingley Act, drafted on a similarly protective principle that the measure of the tariff above stated will permit the reduction of rates in certain schedules, and will require the advancement of few, if any."—From President Taft's first inaugural address to Congress.

Washington, March 4.—William H. Taft, of Ohio, and James S. Sherman of Utica, N.Y., were sworn in at noon as President and Vice-President of the United States. The ceremony of the inauguration was accomplished with all the formality, but under most unusual conditions, owing to the terrific blizzard which swept over the national capital, paralyzing street traffic, destroying communication with the outside world, and bringing dismay to the thousands of assembled visitors who had gathered in expectation of the usual spectacular demonstration. Notwithstanding the adverse conditions of all the main features of the inauguration, were accomplished. The main change was in modifying the original program so that the inaugural address, usually delivered from the east portico, of the Capitol, was pronounced by Mr. Taft in the Senate Chamber.

Although President-elect William Howard Taft insisted upon to almost the last moment that his inauguration should be held in front of the Capitol building as planned, the committee on arrangements finally decided that the ceremonies should be held in the Senate Chamber.

PRESIDENT DIDN'T MIND.

Mr. Taft said he did not mind the snow an iwind in the least, but Senator Knox, in charge of the program, declared it would be unwise to subject the aged Chief Justice and the older members of the Senate to adverse weather conditions.

President Roosevelt and Mr. Taft were escorted to the Capitol promptly at the hour set this morning, their progress in the blinding snow being met with cheers from a thin fringe of spectators who braved the elements and stood ankle deep in slush along Pennsylvania avenue. The Presidential party entered the Capitol at 11 o'clock and were escorted to the President's room in the Senate wing.

A wet blinding snow driven before a stinging north-west wind fell throughout the night and made havoc with telephone and telegraph wires, completely cutting off the Capital city from communication with the remainder of the country for many hours.

DECORATIONS TORN.

Snow and slush filled the streets to the depth of a foot or more in places. The wind thrashed many of the city's prettiest decorations to threads. The immense reviewing stands along the line of march, were made well nigh uninhabitable by the swirling snow.

Washington was visited by a similar storm during the second inauguration of Grover Cleveland, and at that time, though the formal proceedings were carried out, many of those who participated never recovered from the effects of the storm. Scores of the paraders at that time, including many West Point cadets, were stricken with pneumonia and several fatalities resulted. Many of the marchers wrapped newspapers around their bodies under their coats to protect themselves from the biting winds. Some of the commands did not choose to combat the fearful weather, and retired from the parade.

President Cleveland, and former President Benjamin Harrison viewed the parade from the stand in front of the White House heavily clad in great coats and mufflers.

Following the inauguration ceremonies agitation developed to have the next unauguration held on April 30th or some time in the month of May, but Congress did not take any action in the matter.

St. Andrew's Won Church League Championship

St. Andrew's church league team are champions for 1909, having defeated the boys from Knox church in a fast and one of the hardest games seen in Brock street rink this season. There has been considerable feeling among both teams all season and the game last night was a fight to a finish and close checking was a feature. The boys faced the puck at nine o'clock with President of the league N. McWilliams handling the bell. As an official on places Mr. N. McWilliams is not the most satisfactory and especially from the point of view of an unbiased spectator, who gave several decisions which were probably all right but he allowed many more glaring offences to go, and as far as off sides and loafing were concerned he missed more than he saw.

The first half was very fast and very close. The two churches went after the puck and the men and were not particular which they got first, but the score is a good indication of the play. At half time St. Andrew's had scored one and Knox none.

After a brief rest the boys resumed and for the first few minutes the play was all around the Saints' nets but Knox was unable to score. Then the rubber travelled up the ice and during the remainder of the play the Saints got two more making the total score at half time 3—0. In the second half several players on the Knox team were ruled off for minor offences while the St. Andrew's boys were not interfered with. Currie got a crack in the wind and had to be rubbed for a while, but he soon returned to the ice.

A general scrap was indulged in near the end of the first half in which the crowd also took a hand but no damage was done to anyone.

The teams lined up as follows;

St. Andrew's.		Knox
	Goal.
Patterson		Crowe
	Point.
Stanton		Reid
	Cover.
Flanagan		Henderson
	Rover.
H. Rae		Hillier
	Center.
Dormer		Barclay
	Right.
Currie		Galley
	Left.
N. Rae		Deacon

Orillia Again Won the Neill-Sheppard Trophy

Again the Orillia curlers captured the Neill-Sheppard trophy. This is the second consecutive year and it was a hard game to lose. The northern curlers were four shots in the first half which was played here, and yesterday they increased their lead by 11 shots, making the total win 15 shots.

The four Peterborough rinks left in the morning and as soon as they had dinner went on the ice, and after the game took the 4.30 train for home arriving at nine o'clock. They report having had a very good trip, but are sorry to have lost. None of the scores were very close. The ships were as follows;

Neill—10.		Madden—23
Morrow—23.		Monah—8
Matthews—11.		Stewart—17
Medd—10		Scott—17

The Peterborough rinks were;

Adamson	L. Hall
Montgomery	Thompson
Brightman	Davidson
Neill	Medd
Harstone	Carton
Oke	Bapsie
Brown	Hay
Matthews	Morrow

Poultry Association Held Meeting

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was largely attended last night in the Bank of Montreal chambers. President Geo. Paxman occupied the chair. Mr. Baptie gave a valuable talk on silver-laced wyndottes. There was also an interesting discussion on silver-laced wyndottes, white wyndottes, barred rocks, white rocks, and buff rocks.

The young members are becoming very enthusiastic and are taking a keen interest in the better breeding of birds.

Great Bowling in the Ten Pin Tournament

There was some pretty classy bowling in the ten pin tournament last night. The Belmonts were on deck again for the first time in several weeks, and Wareham, who has been at the Atlantic coast evidently got a few pointers because he bowled 593 against the Bankers and 550 against the Pacifics. McIlroy also was away beyond the reach of ordinary mortals. His total was 624, and had his two associates been on the job the Pacifics would have pulled out a victory. Wareham's high single game score was 232, and McIroys high score was 229. Pollard was in good form too. He bowled 192 twice against the Pacifics.

There is always a comedian with every good show and the funny fellows last night were the Examiner B's and the Lock Works. Their scores ran all the way from 95 to 186, with the majority below the 150 mark. The printers however, squeezed out a win of three straights. They won the first game and the second was a tie. Then the newspaperman took the third and won the second.

The scores were as follows;

BANKERS—

Ferguson	185	194	117—496
Ford	170	145	150—465
Barber	158	149	141—448
	513	488	408—1409

BELMONTS—

Tanny	135	142	127—404
Pollard	112	158	178—448
Wareham	181	204	208—593
	428	504	513—1445

BELMONTS—

Tanny	159	137	148—444
Pollard	166	192	192—550
Wareham	149	178	232—559
	474	507	572—1553

PACIFICS—

Connors	158	156	106—480
Lilley	136	148	153—437
McIlroy	179	196	229—624
	473	500	494—1541

EXAMINER B—

Dela Fosse	120	135	151—406
Craig	124	150	137—411
Clark	113	100	167—380
	357	385	456—1197

LOCK WORKS—

Laing	132	130	186—448
Westbrook	95	114	123—332
Lacheur	113	141	135—389
	340	385	444—1169

HOCKEY

The championship of the Mercantile League was decided at Brock street rink last night when the Quakers and C.G.E. teams met. The game was close all through and was anyone's game until the last few minutes when the Quakers scored the deciding goal. The score at full time was Quakers 4, C.G.E. 3. The line up was as follows;

Quakers—Goal, Hallaghan; point, Heaslip; cover, Moore; center, Pratt; rover, Brightman; left wing, Huard; right wing, Hefferman.

C.G.E.—Goal, Reilly; point, Carson; cover, Hughes, center; Kennedy; rover, Elliott; left wing, Claney; right wing, Allen.

Referee—Drocher.

The St. Andrew's Hockey team had an oyster supper at Jacobi's restaurant last night in honor of their victory over Knox church boys, and also to celebrate the winning of the championship.

The Keene Curlers won and Lost Game

A friendly game was played between one rink from Keene, and two Peterborough rinks at the Charlotte street rink yesterday. In the afternoon Keene lost by a score of 13 to 9, and in the evening they won by 18 to 15. Sixteen ends were played at night, and Hicks had the game tied until McIntyre played his last stone and laid shot. It was a close contest all through.

The afternoon rinks were as follows;—

Keene	Peterborough
Brisson	James
Moore	Taylor
McIntyre	Tooley
McWilliams—9	Moore—13

The evening rinks were;

Keene	Peterborough
Brisson	Lyle
Moore	Reed
McWilliams	Hicks
McIntyre—18.	Lang—15

CURLING.

There was some pretty fair curling at the Charlotte street rink last night. It is seldom that it is necessary to play four extra ends, but such was the case in the game between Messrs. Ferguson and Hollingshead. At 12 ends the score was a tie and also at 14 ends. But during the next two ends Hollingshead took six shots making the final score 13—19. The rinks and scores were;—

Davidson	Tovey
Evans	Moore
Webb	Hill
Hall—18.	Knapman—14
Craig	Tooley
Dodds	Ackerman
Dr. Wightman	Bowes
Cameron—6.	Talbo.—10
Taylor	Bennett
Winch	Coulter
Stevenson	A. Moore
Ferguson—13.	Hollingshead—19

Ability is a Greater Factor Than Environment

That a young man's success in life depends more on his ability than on his environment was the decision of the judges in a debate held by the B.A.C. at the Knights of Pythian hall last night. Messrs. Ray Best, leader, W. Cochrane and E. Bruce were the speakers for the affirmative, and Messrs. W. D. Campbell, leader; D. B. Maclise and C. Barmer upheld the negative, the subject being, "Resolved that a young man's success in life depends more on his ability than his environment."

The judges, Messrs. W. Warne, C. E. Sisson and Dr. J. E. Middleton, decided in favor of the affirmative by five points to four.

Bronchitis Cured

For Fifteen years Mr. John Pearson of Melvern Square, suffered from Bronchitis and Throat Irritation. Doctors Failed to Relieve but Catarrhozone Cured Quickly.

The remarkable recovery of Mr. Pearson who for years was principal of Melvern Square High School, is convincing evidence of the exceptional curative powers possessed by Catarrhozone.

"For fifteen years," writes Mr. Pearson, "I constantly suffered from Bronchitis and Throat Irritation. Until quite recently I was able to keep up my teaching, but my bronchial trouble became so annoying that I was forced to resign.

"For months I doctored with different physicians and was not benefited. My trouble grew more severe and extended to the lungs, and I feared I would end in decline.

"Providentially I was advised to use Catarrhozone, and I believe it really saved my life. Its immediate effect was to relieve the throat trouble sufficiently to give me perfect ease in speaking. Within one short week all symptoms of Bronchitis had disappeared. I can fervently recommend Catarrhozone. I know it has no equal as a cure and speedy cure for throat trouble and Bronchitis."

Every air cell and air passage, all parts of the breathing organs are reached and breathed by the antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone. It soothes and heals the inflamed mucous surfaces, stops the cough, clears the nose and throat, and drives every symptom of Bronchitis right out of the system.

To purify the blood of all poisons, and to build up the system, Ferrozone Tablets, which are included in every Catarrhozone outfit, are very highly recommended. This local and constitutional treatment in Bronchitis, Catarrh and Consumption cannot be equalled.

Catarrhozone is endorsed by physicians and ministers and thousands it has cured. Two months' treatment costs $1. Small size, 25c. Sold by all Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors,
Peterborough, Ontario.

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1909.

THE LABOR SITUATION

The report of the New York State Department of Labor shows that in 1908 there were ninety thousand fewer men reporting employment in their various unions than in 1907, while the membership of the labor unions of the State, from April to September, decreased from 396,883 to 371,459, a loss of 26,123. The report says that this is the first time since 1904 that the spring and summer period has not witnessed an increase in the total union membership, and only the third time in the last twelve years. The distribution of membership losses was very general in the various industries. Only four of the thirteen groups of trades, and those all minor ones, reveal any increase in membership and the gains in these were comparatively small, except for an increase of over four thousand in government employments caused by an exceptional number of new unions among municipal and post office employes of New York City.

The greatest falling off in membership was shown in the four leading groups, the building, clothing, transportation and metal trades. The cause for the falling off is not reported, but it is doubtless due in part to the inability of some of the unemployed to keep up their union dues, and partly also to a decision to accept work wherever it could be found, regardless of the interests of unionism.

A notable feature of the report is that the wages do not seem to have been lowered materially, despite the fact that so many thousands are out of work.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted china. See the bread and butter plates with gilt look on

WOMEN ON ENGLISH MOORS.

Colony Is Granted Land by Lord Shaftesbury For Cultivation.

The "Ladies Home Colony" in Dorset, advanced an important step recently. The seven acres of land which Lord Shaftesbury has granted to the women squatters was investigated closely, and proved on expert examination to be of more promise than was expected.

It is at present a waste of heather and furse, in the middle of several hundred acres equally waste and valueless. "Why has no one thought of reclaiming this before?" was asked; and any one who inspected a section of the ground must have echoed the question.

If this experiment is successful, we may see at West Moors, as elsewhere, hundreds of such acres reclaimed to fertility. A Women's Home Colony Guild, for the encouragement of womanly crafts, from French gardening to weaving, is to be established; and this pioneer experiment is being watched and encouraged by Mrs. Tennant and those who are organising schemes for London's unemployed women.

Neighboring experiments prove that this unused and so-called useless land is admirable for growing strawberries, lavender and many bushes. The biggest scent distillery in England is close by, and it has just been found that the soil grows lavender at least as fine in quality as that which the builders are driving from its famous home at Mitcham. It is a surprising and most satisfactory sight to see sheep grazing white clover planted between the lavender bushes.

The growing of sweet herbs will be one of the first endeavors of the ten squatters; but at the beginning, while the plow and cultivator are busy with the gorse and heather, the crafts will occupy the principal energy.

Lord Shaftesbury has been making valuable experiments—on the Irish model—in reclaiming waste acres by artificial manures. It is just such land as Professor Bottomley's bacteria mixture should reform, and probably an experiment with it will be made. The colony at West Moors, which is a rising village some seven miles from Bournemouth, has thus a double importance. It is a scientific experiment in the reclamation of waste land, and it is a promising endeavor to give women who have worked and overworked in the town a prospect of a healthy life in the country.

It may mark an important stage in the "return to the land," of which new signs appear month by month.

In Business as Fruit-Seller.

Although he has entered on his sixty-sixth year, Lord Harrington still indulges in his favorite pastime of polo. It is thirty-three years ago since he became possessed of his first polo pony. He was the first president and one of the original founders of the Polo Pony Society, rendering not only good service to the game, but also to the improvement of the riding pony; for his lordship breeds nearly all his own hunters and polo ponies. His interests in life, however, do not end at sport. He was a civil engineer before he succeeded to the family honors, and is, like Lord Dundonald, something of an inventor, a motor mowing machine and a self-opening gate being among his ingenious contrivances. Then, again, he is a very keen gardener; and not only grows excellent fruit, but also sells it at a shop of his own at Charing Cross for the benefit of his tenants.

A Record Drummer.

For forty-four years Mr. Charles Henderson, of the Savoy Theatre, London, England, has been beating the big drum, and for thirty years out of that total he has been a member of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan orchestra. Mr. Henderson jocularly claims to be the discoverer of wireless telegraphy. While Sir Arthur Sullivan was conducting at a festival rehearsal on one occasion, he turned to Mr. Henderson and said, "Stop that vibration, Henderson!" "But I knew it wasn't my drum vibrating," says Mr. Henderson. "It's that big bass drum over there, Sir Arthur." And that proved to be the case. The big bass had been left uncovered, with the consequence that every time I hit my drum that one caught the vibration and boomed in sympathy. It was wireless telegraphy, although I didn't know it."

The Long-Lived Nelson Family.

The eighty-fourth birthday of Rev. Hon. John Horatio Nelson, which occurred a few days ago, recalls the fact that for generations past the Nelson family have been clergymen and sailors. The veteran rector of Shawcum-Donnington, Newbury, England, has two brothers, Horatio Earl Nelson, "Father of the House of Lords," and Rear-Admiral the Hon. Maurice Horatio Nelson (retired), all three being great-nephews of the famous admiral. The father of the victor of Trafalgar died when eighty years old, whilst Rev. Earl Nelson, an elder brother of his, lived to be seventy-eight. The present earl is eighty-five and his youngest surviving brother, Rear-Admiral Nelson, is seventy-six years of age.

The Jap's Santa Claus.

The patron saint of Japanese children is named Kotie. He is always pictured with a big sack, which is said to contain presents for the good children. When Kotie wishes to cross a river he uses this sack as a boat. He is believed to have eyes in the back of his head to watch the little ones and has various other qualities which remind us of our Santa Claus.

Boy Prodigy to King's Musician.

Sir Walter Parratt, the Master of the King's Music, who has lately been speaking about the badly-written music of students, was an organist prodigy. At seven years of age he took the services in church—his father was an organist at Huddersfield—and at ten he played Bach's forty-eight preludes and fugues by heart.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tour-est's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 28, Montreal.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

NEW MEXICO.

How That Portion of Northern New Spain Got Its Name.

The country now called Mexico was not so called till 1810, when the revolt against Spain began. Up to independence the country was called New Spain and was divided into the same number of provinces as Spain, each with a name of a province in Spain, with the prefix of "new," but New Mexico was not included in this division. It got its name in this way:

In 1561 Francisco Ibarra was in charge of an expedition of exploration into what is now northern Durango and southern Chihuahua and discovered an Indian village near where Santa Barbara now stands in which the houses were whitewashed and the people made and wore cotton cloth, raising the cotton in the neighborhood. He wrote an account of his discovery to his brother in the City of Mexico, telling him he had discovered "una nuova Mexico," a new Mexico, another Mexico, meaning that he had found another town like the City of Mexico, and thereafter all this portion of northern New Spain was known as "Nuova Mexico"—that is, New Mexico—which name it has retained, though now much reduced in extent.—Las Vegas Optic.

Mockrats For Meat.

Of all animals that supply meat to man the muskrat has been the most abused and the least understood, says the Baltimore Star. Its name had bred in the public mind a prejudice that has been almost unconquerable, but truth will prevail in spite of fate. As a fact the muskrat is one of the neatest and most delightful of animals. It is a crank in cleanliness. It dines with the care of an epicure. It eats only the whitest and tenderest morsels. And its flesh has qualities that can be compared only to terrapin. Indeed, there are good people along the Chesapeake, where all the best things live and grow, who find in the well served muskrat satisfaction that is equal to the diamondback. Only the ignorant and the prejudiced think differently, and they may be educated.

Ripening Bananas.

It is a familiar fact that bananas are imported green, but it came as a new thing to a visitor to the banana district in Colombia to find that bananas are not permitted to ripen on the plant even down there. They are cut and set to hang somewhere until they wither ripe, as the phrase is. Bananas do not have to be yellow to be ripe. That is only the color of the skin when it has dried up. To the person who is accustomed to eating bananas only when they are yellow it seems odd to pass them when they are green and find that they are perfectly ripe within and fit to eat.

The Prisoner's Retort.

It is a prison chaplain's duty to give a departing prisoner good advice and to exhort him to be a decent and honorable man in the future. In the course of one of these interviews a chaplain said, "Now, my friend, I hope you'll never have to come back to a place like this."

The prisoner looked at him thoughtfully and then asked, "I say, chaplain, you draw a salary here, don't you?" When the chaplain replied in the affirmative the prisoner remarked, "Well, say, if me and the other fellows didn't keep coming back you'd be out of a job."

USE KEARNS' INK

ITS THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perwith the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our finer wines many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

make you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. — Limited —

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; blotters, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Large wire post card racks 15c, or we for 25c. Times Bookstore.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOW GANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FROM PETERBORO

$42.60

PACIFIC COAST

SECOND CLASS ONE WAY

DAILY UNTIL APRIL 30th

Most Direct Route

Tourist Sleeping Cars on all Trains

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent Peterboro

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King, corner East
Montreal Ticket Office
130 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION.....March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
15,100 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cotton Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Chase's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BANKS.

THE

HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:
337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

BENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K.C. Bennistoun, F. D. Kerr,

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 570 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W.S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information required. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m. GEORGE COCKBURN, Inspector and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729

William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS

PROMPTLY SECURED

TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS &c.

For the protection of your ideas; also Trade Names, Labels, Copyrights and Designs. Send sketch, model or photo. for free report as to patentability. Guide Book and What to Invent sent free. Highest references. Best results. Patents secured by us advertised free in Inventive Age. Handsomely illustrated; largest circulation of any scientific paper; weekly; $3.00 a year; sample copy free. Book about Inventions free. Address, Patent Office, Washington, D.C.

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DISCOURAGED MEN
IS LIFE WORTH LIVING

Still, you become disheartened when you feel the symptoms of Nervous Debility and doubts stealing upon you. You haven't the nerve or ambition you used to have. You feel you are not the man you ought to be. You feel like giving up in despair. You get nervous and weak, have little ambition, pain in the back over kidneys, dizzies at night, bashful eyes, tired mornings, prefer to be alone, distrustful, variable appetite, looseness of hair, poor circulation—you have Nervous Debility. Our New Method Treatment is your refuge. It will strengthen all weak organs, vitalize the nervous system, purify the blood and restore you to a manly condition.

Pay When Cured.

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for hundreds of others, it will do for you. CONSULTATION FREE. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Charges reasonable. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (Illustrated), on Diseases of Men.

ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS—CURES GUARANTEED. No Treatment sent C. O. D. No names on boxes or envelopes. Everything confidential. Question list and cost of Home Treatment FREE.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

PRUDENTIAL MINES, Limited

Capital $2,000,000, Shares $1.00 per value fully paid and non-assessible.

Owners of five 40-acre claims known as the Todd-McNeil claims adjoining the townsite of Elk City. Claims developed and thirty veins stripped showing native silver. Will start shipping upon opening of river. Claims conceded to be the richest group in Montreal river district by all competent authorities.

As the company is headed by the most honorable and conservative business men of Montreal, we are assured of a square deal all around, and no manipulating of stock.

We have the best Mining Engineer money can procure to put in charge of the work, namely,

J. C. BIEDLEMAN, OF SPOKANE, WASH.

Stock is not in the hands of any brokers, thereby saving the company the excessive commissions demanded by them, which enables us to put it in development work instead. The present allotment of stock is all that will be put on the market at any price.

Few thousand shares left at Twenty-five cents per share

Subscriptions subject to previous sale. All cheques should be drawn direct to WILLIAM TEES, secretary-treasurer, of company and mailed to

The GODWIN, MURRAY, BARNHART, Limited

535 Board of Trade, Montreal, Canada.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. A. E. & T. G. Windsor of Australia, New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, for future advertisements, etc.

Dates of Departmental Examinations this Year

Mr. A. Stewart, Inspector of Public Schools for the city has handed in the following dates for the departmental examinations for 1909:—

1. Entrance to Model Schools from June 22nd to June 25th.
2. High Schools from June 22nd to June 25th.
3. Normal Schools from June 28th to July 6th.
4. Faculties of Education from June 28th to July 8th.
5. Pass Matriculation from June 28th to July 8th.
6. Honor Matriculation and Scholarship from June 28th to July 12th.
7. Commercial Specialist from June 28th to July 9th.

Miss Lucy Platt of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Eva Crane, Ashburnham.

NEW BRITISH OPERA.

"The Angelus," By Dr. Naylor, Scores a Big Success.

The lapse of time since an opera by a British composer was produced at Covent Garden, London, makes the first performance recently of Dr. E. W. Naylor's "The Angelus" an occasion of more than usual interest.

The libretto, by Wilfrid Thornley, is a typical story of the Middle Ages, and is divided into a prologue and four brief acts.

It tells of the discovery by an abbot of a parchment which contains the recipe for the elixir of life and directions where to find the herb which is the essential part of it. The abbot dies, but not before he has given the document to Francis, a young novice, who sets out to seek the herb.

His journey leads him to a village, where he falls in love with Beatrice, the queen of the festival. She, thinking him to be nameless and fameless, would send him away, but he tells her the secret which he possesses, and when she finds that he is bound by no vows she yields to his love. But the sound of the Angelus reminds him of the abbot and his quest, and he goes on his way.

He finds the herb in the sacred grove of the Temple of Fates, where the wood nymphs take him for a god and help him. The discovery that he is a mere mortal brings down a terrible curse on him, and with a defiance of fate and the Creator he returns to Beatrice.

She is lying at the point of death, and the elixir is too late to save her. Francis tries to stab himself, but Death in person prevents him and commands him to drink the cup himself. He drinks, and is condemned to live on in eternal unrest for soul and body.

The music is on thoroughly modern lines, and motifs are employed, although not to excess. The three chief themes are associated with the elixir of life, the parchment which contains the secret and the utterances of Death.

"The Angelus" won the prize of $2,500 which was offered by Messrs. Ricordi, who undertook to have it produced at Covent Garden, where it scored an unmistakable success.

Objected to Guineas.

Col. Mapleson, the famous impresario who has been objecting to the lavish use of the name "Mapleson" in one of London's latest plays, tells of an amusing story of the first contract he ever made on behalf of his father, the famous opera-manager, who practically introduced all the great artistes of the last fifty years to the public. Mapleson senior wanted to engage Mongini, a famous Italian tenor, and sent his son over to capture him if possible. Young Mapleson was empowered to offer 60 or 70 guineas a week, but as soon as the word "guineas" was mentioned, Mongini looked dissatisfied. He did not like guineas, he wanted to be paid in coin of the realm. "Well, my dear signor," said Col. Mapleson, keeping a grave face, "I do not wish any trifle of money to come between us. Instead of 70 guineas shall we say £70 sterling?" Mongini was overjoyed, kissed Col. Mapleson on both cheeks, said he was the finest impresario he had ever met, and at once signed the contract.

"John Blunt."

Sir Frederick Bedford, Governor of West Australia, who recently had his salary reduced by $5, has a reputation for plain speaking in his public addresses. He says occasionally what a great many public men only think. An instance of his bluntness is to be found in a speech which he made three years ago at a floral fete which he opened in Fremantle. He said: "I tried hard to get out of attending to-day. I thought that with the large amount of work I have to get through, now that I have returned from the East, I would have been excused. I don't see why I should be fetched down here to do this sort of thing, when there are plenty of people who could do it as well as I. However, I hope that the bazaar, or fete, or whatever you like to call it, will be a success." It is said that the audience were very much surprised, and probably they were.

An Amazing Adventure.

Mr. Huntley Walker, whose country house in Kent, England, was half-destroyed by fire the other day, has suffered not a few other misadventures before now. On one occasion, in Belgium, Mr. Walker had an amazing experience. Just as darkness was coming on a sharp turn in the road revealed the gates of a level-crossing right ahead. Mr. Walker was traveling at a pace at which it was quite impossible to pull up safely, so he kept straight on and went through both gates, smashing them to matchwood. Marvellous to relate the car was only slightly damaged, while Mr. Walker himself would have been quite unhurt but for a following car, belonging to his mechanic, which skidded and ran into him.

She Danced With King.

There has passed away in Ottawa Mrs. George Taylor, who had the honor of dancing with King Edward VII. when, as Prince of Wales, he visited Canada in 1860.

Her maiden name was Mary Boswell, daughter of the late Judge G. M. Boswell of Cobourg, and the ball, at which she danced with the prince, marked the opening of the Cobourg town hall. It was an important one in Mrs. Taylor's life, for it was her first ball and the one at which she took her position as a young girl in the social world. The late Mrs. Taylor was the wife of Mr. Taylor, I.S.O., clerk of the English journals of the House of Commons.

Poor as Engineer.

Lord Grimston, who has met with a bad accident, is a curiously earnest young man. He is 28 years of age, six feet five inches in height, and wears gold spectacles. He was in the Eton and Oxford eights. Then he chose to become an electrical engineer, and worked for a pittance a week somewhere in the Midlands. He threw up a splendid opening in this class of work to embark on a motor speculation.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be stomach pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Sheop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ENCOUNTERS WITH CABBIES.

Stories of Famous Men Who Have Had the Worst of It.

Mr. George Alexander, the English actor, tells an amusing story against hurry to get home after the performance, he called a taxicab, to the prejudice of the hansom that stood first on the rank. Cabby, however, was not to be overlooked without protest. "So, Mr. G. A.," he cried, "you've no use for 'osses now; but you'll 'ave to 'ave one to take you on the day you're buried."

The late Lord Brampton's habit of wearing his hair close-cropped was, on more than one occasion, the cause of laughable mistakes. On his alighting one day from a cab and handing the driver but sixpence over his legal fare Jehu, after regarding him for a moment with a withering look, exclaimed: "From the cut of your 'air I took you for a sportsman, guv'nor; but 'anged if I don't think you're a bloomin' fiddler just out of quod."

Sir Henry Irving's castigation at the tongue of a witty cabman was often related by the actor himself. One evening, during the run of "The Merchant of Venice," he arrived late at the Lyceum, and in the thoughtlessness of hurry handed the driver a shilling instead of the legal fare of eighteenpence. Cabby regarded the coin disdainfully, and, with bitter sarcasm, remarked, "If yer plays the Jew inside that theayter as well as yer does outside, darned if I won't spend this bob in coming to see yer." So delighted was the actor at the man's wit that he handed him half a sovereign.

Equally felicitous was the humor of the cabman when told by Lord Chief Justice Coleridge to drive him to the Courts of Justice. He received the direction with a look of blank bewilderment, and stared at his fare as though he thought he was of weak intellect. "Don't you know the Courts of Justice?" demanded Lord Coleridge. The other shook his head. "Not the Courts of Justice!" cried the judge—"you a cabman, and don't know the Law Courts!" "Law Courts!" cried cabby, "of course, I do; but you said Courts of Justice. Heaven only knows where they are!"

Cabby, however, met his match when he drove Dr. Temple, then Bishop of London, to his palace at Fulham, and, on receipt of 1s. 6d., grumbled against the prelate for his niggardliness, and expressed regret that he did not follow closer in the steps of the patron saint of his cathedral, St. Paul, who was a just man. "And therefore," retorted Dr. Temple, drily, "would have given you your legal fare—a shilling."

"The Adonis of the House."

The description was once applied to Mr. George Wyndham, who has been paying a visit to Edinburgh University, of which he is Lord Rector, on account of nature's generosity in endowing him with attractive wavy hair, a beautiful black moustache, and a figure six feet in height, proportioned to a nicety. Nature also endowed him with one of the cleverest minds amongst clever men of today. He first distinguished himself as a soldier, then as a litterateur, and latterly as a politican. "Fortune's most fastidious darling," is another nickname which has been bestowed upon him, and when he was quite a small child, so the story goes, he was so learned that all conversation at his father's table would be silenced by the announcement, "Hush, George is going to say something about Shakespeare."

Self-Made Politicians.

Some of the members of the Australian Parliament have had versatile careers. Here is the record of Mr. William Elliot Johnson, the representative of the Lang division of New South Wales: Born in Newcastle-on-Tyne April 10, 1868. Assisted his father as a scenic artist at Covent Garden. Studied telegraphy, and entered the Civil Service as a telegraph operator at the Royal Exchange, London. He was wrecked at sea on three occasions, and saw active service in the Chili-Peruvian war, and ultimately settled in Sydney, where he took an active interest in municipal and political questions for some years before entering Parliament in 1903.

"A Funny Lot."

Miss Fanny Brough, the English actress, at a recent meeting of the Theatrical Ladies' Guild, of which she is president, said that she had become a nuisance to her male friends owing to her greed for their cast-off garments. A short time ago she overheard two ladies discussing her, and one said: "Does she not go in for an old-clothes shop?" Being told that such was not the case, the lady added: "At any rate, she's a funny lot." On the other hand, the cabman who drove her to this particular meeting paid her one of the greatest compliments she had ever received, for he asked her to accept her fare on behalf of the guild.

No Tips Given.

Apropros of the statement that Mr. J. D. Rockefeller never gives tips, it might be mentioned that Lord Shelton has strictly forbidden his servants to receive tips from guests, and stringent notices to this effect are prominently displayed at Croxteth. The Marquess of Londonderry some time ago introduced the same rule at Wynyard; and it is understood that the present Earl of Derby intends to put it in force at Knowsley. In some cases a box is placed in a conspicuous position in the house, and contributions placed in it by the guests are divided annually among the servants.

A Famous Actress's Mascot.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell possesses what she calls a heart chain. From each of her dearest friends she begged a "heart," and hearts of every conceivable material—of amber, coral, jet, turquoise, and the like—poured in upon her. These she had set in a broad flat bracelet, which she always wears and firmly believes in.

Lindsay Peat; Mr. Samuel Clegg, overseer of the Trent Canal, Peterborough, was in town this morning.—Mr. A. P. McLean of the George Matthews Co., Peterborough, was in town on business today.—Rev. Father McCoil, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, visited Ven. Archdeacon Casey today.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE SHIPWRECKER.

His Life Made Up of Hardships, Adventures and Accidents.

The career of the shipwrecker consists of a series of hardships and adventures and accidents and narrow escapes from the first day he enlists with a big wrecking company up to the time he is brought ashore from the grim ship he calls "home" crippled or fatally injured. Of all the professions that demand heavy toll of human life none, not even mining or powder making, is as dangerous as the one of these wreckers. Every year these daring men, who brave storm and wave and tempest to save the stranded liner, to raise the sunken ocean greyhound, to rescue the ship impaled upon rocks and, if nothing else, to salve what valuable cargo may be removed from helpless wrecks, meet death by the score. Many of them, exposed often for days and nights to the icy blasts of winter seas, to driving blizzards and to drenching storms that bite to the marrow, succumb to pneumonia. Others at work on the pitching, tossing barges have legs or arms shattered during the risky operations of removing masts or of slinging wrecking pumps or other castings that weigh tons. Others have hands or feet so dreadfully frozen that these must be amputated, and still others are wiped out of existence after suffering hours of untold agony and exposure before the eyes of their helpless comrades.—Appleton's Magazine.

HICCOUGHS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May Be Cured.

Did you ever take nine swallows of water to cure the hiccoughs? Do you remember the time some one scared the hiccoughs away by telling you of a whipping due for some meanness?

Well, science has been studying hiccoughs and caught the hiccoughs by the "nape of the neck." The nine swallows of water had a little science in it, and so did the scare cure. The scientific hiccough cure consists in pressing down to numbness the nerve that connects the stomach, heart, lungs and brain, the pneumogastric nerve. The pressure partially and locally paralyzes this nerve and of necessity the hiccoughing must cease.

Have the hiccoughing patient sit down and be at ease, with the muscles of the neck relaxed as much as possible. Grasp both sides of the neck somewhat toward the back part and press down steadily and as hard as the subject may permit for about one minute, having the patient work the head from side to side. Within about one minute the nerve will be numbed and rested, and the spasmodic motion will cease. It may require longer pressure in some cases, but the result is sure if patience is maintained.

A Thirteenth Century Drink.

Thirteenth century tastes in food had few limitations. Besides the "fowl of Africa and the rare gadwit of Ionia" mentioned by Fitzstephen, gourmets in the time of King John used to regale themselves on herons, cranes, crows, storks, cormorants and bitterns. Some would wash their meals down with wine, but the majority drank mead or methegiln. Mead, according to Holinshed, was only the washing of the combs after the honey had been taken from them and so poor a beverage that it had to be spiced, peppered or made palatable with sweetbrier or thyme. But methegiln contained one hundredweight of honey to twenty-four gallons of water and must have been much more intoxicating than the strongest old ale of the present day.—London Chronicle.

Calling the Deaf.

"To waken a deaf person who wishes to be called at a certain time in the morning is about the hardest proposition a hotel clerk runs up against," said a member of that fraternity. "To ring the telephone is useless, because the man can't hear. Knocking, for the same reason, is futile. Now and then a guest who has lost his hearing suggests that he leave his door open so we can walk right in and shake him, but even if he does appear to be dead game there are so many chances of somebody less guileless than ourselves walking in ahead of us that we can't consent to that simple expedient. It seems to me the man who can patent a device for waking the deaf is sure of fame and fortune, not to mention the gratitude of the brotherhood of hotel clerks."—Exchange.

To Save the Tablecloth.

Nothing is more provoking to the careful housewife than to have a perfectly clean tablecloth liberally bespattered with gravy the first time it is used. Get a large table napkin—one to match the tablecloth if possible—and a piece of white oilcloth cut an inch shorter and an inch narrower than the napkin. Place the oilcloth where the meat dish will stand and spread the napkin over it. The gravy cannot penetrate through the oilcloth. Thus there is a considerable saving in the washing bill.

How It Looked.

"I think you ought to turn the lights up a little when your beau comes," said the boy who is beginning to use big words to his older sister. "I wouldn't sit in the dim light if I were you. It looks too conspicuous."

The Real Reason.

"Why don't you go down Mill street?"

"Well, you see, on one side of it lives my tailor and on the other side my shoemaker, while a canal runs through the middle."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Prevention—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will do well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

GREAT LABOR SAVING DEVICE

The Penman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; fifty to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or china. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

NEW

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's 432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to...$10.00	Shades, 15c to...$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 0... 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Gold Dust Stands Alone

In the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.
Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

GOLD DUST. | Scrubbing floors, washing dishes and clothes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, silverware and brasses, painted walls, woodwork, enameled bath rooms, pipes, etc., and making the finest suds ever.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

Says This Medicin Has Mystic Powers

It's in the spring that health gives out—that folks begin to feel draggy, weary, restless,—hate to eat, look pale, feel discouraged.

If you've reached this state read what J. W. Jarvell, well known in Morristown, has to say about the medicine that cured him. "Last winter I caught a heavy cold that settled in my back. My kidneys and liver were affected and my health failed. By spring I was in bad shape—couldn't sleep like I used to—felt tired in the morning—ate very little—was terribly depressed, pale and anxious looking. Twinges of rheumatism, frequent neuralgia attacks over the temples, made matters worse. The doctor prescribed three times, but didn't help. Then I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.—They possess mystic powers surely, for I gained and improved day by day and now am in perfect health again. I will praise and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I die."

The ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills are pure and wholesome—come right from the storehouse of Nature in the form of vegetable juices and extracts,—consequently this gentle invigorating laxative tonic and blood purifier is safe for old and young alike. We assure you of enormous benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which revitalize delicate glands, search out the seat of hidden disease, flood the body with vigor and health that has caused thousands of broken-down, despairing men and women to join in a mighty song of praise for the beneficient aid that comes from this king of all tonics. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day. 25c at all dealers.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)
Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.
SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.
Bell 'Phones—Office 483; House 483L.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1909.

OBITUARY.

EZEKIEL DARKE.

Mr. Hugh Darke, Rubidge street, received the sad intelligence from Port Hope of the death of his father, Ezekiel Darke, at the advanced age of 77 years. The deceased passed away Thursday morning at 6:40 o'clock, after an illness that extended throughout the winter and which affected his heart. The late Mr Darke was one of the pioneer residents of Port Hope. He came to Canada years ago, settling in the lakeside town, where he has since lived and has enjoyed the esteem and respect of a large number of friends. He is survived by his wife and eight children, five boys and three girls. They are John, of Detroit, Melville of Chicago, Henry of Clayton, N.Y., Hugh of Peterborough, and Richard of Port Hope, the daughters are Mrs. Bird and Mrs. Welsh of Port Hope, and Mrs. Burleigh of Newcastle. Mr. Hugh Darke left on the noon train for Port Hope, where he will attend the funeral, the arrangements of which have not yet been learned.

MR. JOHN GAINER, SR.

Keene, March 4.—The death occurred at an advanced age after an illness of a couple of weeks, of Mr. John Gainer, Sr., at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John Hore. The deceased was a resident of this vicinity for a number of years. The funeral will be held from the residence of his son, Mr. John Gainer, Jr., South Monaghan. Interment will take place at Centerville. His wife predeceased him by some years. He is survived by five sons, John Hamilton, and James, of South Monaghan, George, of Peterborough, and one daughter, Mrs. John Hore, Keene.

MISS EDITH FULLER

In the death of Miss Edith Fuller, youngest daughter of the late Jas and Mrs. Fuller, which took place Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock, at 577 Chamberlain street, there passed away a popular and well-known young lady, whose many friends will be grieved to learn of her demise. The deceased, who was twenty-nine years of age, had been a life-long resident of Peterborough, and her many good qualities had won for her the liking and esteem of a large circle of friends. She had been ill since October last with anaemia. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Metheral and Mrs. Tuffy, residing in Peterborough, and four brothers, Messrs. Hugh, Percy, and Arthur, residing at home and Mortimer in Wisconsin.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the late residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes. Use Dr. Chase's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

Oil Proposition for Investors

In Another column of this issue will be seen the advertisement of the Pioneer Oil Company of Nevada, who are absolute owners of 2,560 acres of oil land at Indian Spring, Nev. The proposition which these people are offering to the public which has money to invest is one of the best ever put on the market, and it is worthy of at least a careful investigation.

Speaking of the oil industry in California the Los Angeles Times has the following to say;—"Oil dividends continue to flow into the coffers of stockholders in Los Angeles, and lend substantial aid in all business enterprises. The boom in oil has largely increased local wealth. With the steady demand for fuel and the constant expansion of the oil fields, the industry is assuming greater and greater proportions.

"There is hardly a share among the listed stocks that cannot show a dividend record, some of them far beyond their total capitalization. One of them pays 180 per cent. in dividends a year while the average percentage at present prices is about 20."

A big bull movement in oil is on and it is the wise investor who will grasp the opportunity and get in now, while the prices are reasonable and while the steady and terrific increase of price of oil is the propeller of the commercial hour.

A falling tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—it takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

PERSONAL

Mr. Pappas of the Royal theater, is in Toronto.

Professor Barton of Toronto, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Jos. Maher of Lang & Maher, Lindsay, is in the city today.

Mr. J. F. Mack, Divisional Engineer at Hastings, was in the city yesterday on business.

Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Water St., will receive today and not again during March.

Mr. George J Johnston and Mr. Harry Rampton of Lindsay, were in the city yesterday.

Miss Wood of Peterborough, is visiting her brother, Mr. F. W. Wood.—Campbellford Herald.

Mrs. McCarthy of Peterborough, is the guest of her sister Mrs. Coughlan.—Hastings Star.

Miss Lillian McKee of Dundalk, attended the Seabrook-Middleton wedding on Tuesday, March 2.

Miss Mabel White, Aylmer street, has left for Toronto, where she has accepted a position.

Mr. Sammy Little of Guelph, Ont., has accepted a position in the city. Mr Little is one of the fastest hockey players in the west.

Miss M. O'Connell of Lakefield, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) W. H. Blanchard, left for home yesterday.

Miss Reid of Richard Hall & Son, Limited, returned Thursday night from New York, and has opened up her department for the spring season.

Invitations have been issued for an at-home to be held at the Normal School this evening. This is the first that has been held and it promises to be one of the social functions of the city.

Mrs. George Scott, Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, and her daughters Misses Mae and Jennie Scott have returned home after spending the past three months with Mrs. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jones.

Bought Business

Mr. Wesley Boorman has purchased the bakery business of Mr. Robert Routley on Charlotte street, and is now in charge of it. Mr. Boorman is an experienced baker and should have a generous share of the public patronage.

Disappeared

Coffee Ails Vanish Before Postum

It seems almost too good to be true, the way headache, nervousness, insomnia, and many other obscure troubles vanish when coffee is dismissed and Postum used as the regular table beverage.

The reason [illegible] coffee contains a poisonous drug—caffeine—which causes the trouble, but Postum contains only the food elements in clean hard wheat with a little New Orleans molasses.

A Phila. man grew enthusiastic recently and wrote as follows;—

"Until 18 months ago I used coffee regularly every day and suffered from headache, bitter taste in my mouth, and indigestion; was gloomy and cautious, had variable or absent appetite, loss of flesh, depressed in spirits, etc.

"I attribute these things to coffee because since I have drank Postum I feel better than I had for 25 years, am less susceptible to cold, have gained 20 lbs., and all the above symptoms have disappeared—vanished before Postum."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., read, "The Good to Wholesome" in verse.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

SPARING HER NERVES.

A Careful, Considerate Visitor and Her Timid Friend.

The mistakes which were plentifully sprinkled along Mrs. Comer's career were never regretted by any one more than by Mrs. Comer herself. "I used the very best judgment I had," she said, referring to one unfortunate occurrence, "but, as usual, everything went wrong.

"You see, I went to Greenville in the morning with Mrs. Hobart, intending to go on to Nashua, but I changed my mind when the weather turned cool and spent the day with Anna Woods, going home at dusk. I'd forgotten my little bag with my key in it, so I went right over to Mrs. Hobart's.

"She'd gone down the road to Mrs. Cole's, but I found her key behind the left hand blind and went right in.

"The house was dark, but I said to myself, 'I won't light a lamp for fear of scaring her, a timid woman, living all alone, as she does.' So I sat in the dark till I heard her coming up the walk.

"When she found the door was unlocked she gave a kind of a gasp, so I stepped forward and then, long as I had a cold so my voice didn't sound natural and I was afraid 'twould scare her, she being so timid, I put out my hand and laid it on her arm.

"And, if you'll believe me," finished Mrs. Comer plaintively, "she fell right over in a faint and cut her forehead on the edge of the rocking chair, and I though I'd never bring her to!

"There's no use trying to be careful with a woman like her."

CIRCUS CHILDREN.

The Making of Acrobats Begins at an Early Age.

It is nothing unusual for the larger circuses to carry thirty and forty children, ranging all the way from mere babies to boys and girls of fifteen and sixteen years of age. The majority are traveling with their parents, both the father and mother doing daily duty in the ring, and while often they are trained to follow in the steps of their elders they are seldom allowed to perform in public.

It is a common belief among circus men that the performer whose training is not started until after the age of six will seldom make a distinctive record. Following the afternoon show I often saw groups of boys, some of whom could not have been over four and five years old, practicing rudimentary somersaults and hand springs, while their parents looked on with a gratified smile. These were the families of the circus aristocracy, who treasure the records of their ancestors with the pride of a son in his father's sword and who see no more inspiring calling for their own children than that of the great white canvas.

Not that their education is neglected in other respects. Several of the families often hire an instructor—perhaps one of the performers who has the time and ability for such work—to coach their children in the standard studies. One circus has a traveling school for the youngsters. If they are to be acrobats, they are to be educated acrobats.—Bohemian Magazine.

A Sponge That Works.

"Here is a clever notion—a fog bell," said an old New England fisherman.

On a bleak, gray afternoon they stood at the seashore—the old man and his city cousin from Boston. A great bell hung from a scaffold, and under a metal cover hung a great sponge.

"This here machinery is wound up regular," the fisherman explained, "and this here sponge is kept under cover so as the rain can't get at it. In dry weather, natch'rally, the sponge is dry and light; in foggy, though, it gets heavy with fog natch'rations, just heavy enough for to press down the lever that starts the machinery a-going. Then, ding-dong; ding-dong, sounds the bell in the fog, savin' many a fisherman from wreck on this rock bound coast."—Exchange.

A Persistent Man.

Ever hear about our little red hen? Well, sir, she was on the set for keeps. Couldn't keep her off. Old doorknobs, soda bottles, lamp chimneys, thatch pulse—anything was good enough for her. Finally I put her on three mud turtles, and I hope to die if she didn't hatch out alligators—yes, sir, three of 'em! One of 'em ate her up, and when we opened him there was the hen settin' on his back teeth, and they'd swelled up so they choked him to death.—Exchange.

Unreasonable.

"My husband is so very unreasonable."

"Most husbands are. What did yours do?"

"He fixed a fishhook in one of his pockets because he pretended to suppose that I robbed him at night, and then he blamed me because he forgot it was there."

Scarcely Defined.

"What is the distinguishing quality of the problem play?"

"It makes you think. The first half keeps you wondering what the question is, and the second half keeps you guessing what's the answer."

The Mean Things!

Mrs. Oldham—Why are you so down on that lively Mr. Bachelor? Mrs. Youngling—Oh, he snubbed our precious Alfred! He said he thought baby might some day become vice president.—Exchange.

In order to love mankind we must not expect too much of them.—Helvetius.

Bank Capital

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—The annual report of one of our leading banks discloses the following facts;

Total paid-up capital of the bank referred to in $10,000,000.

Total deposits, $95,000,000.

This makes a grand total of $105,000,000.

Of this vast amount the paid-up capital makes a profit of 16 1-4 per cent.

On the seventy-two millions of deposits 3 per cent.

On twenty-two millions deposits, nothing at all.

Is this a fair division?

FAIR PLAY.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not a symptom of itself but in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first earnestly led Dr. Shoop in the revision of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored
Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

ent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NEW GROCERY
T. O. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the
Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS
where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries
at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS
: IN :
BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at..... 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications at the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

Dated at Ottawa, 25th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Messrs. John G. Brown, John Nicholls, and David Halstead of Roseneath, Rice Lake, are in the city on business.

By-law No...

A BY-LAW to authorize the borrowing of the sum of $15,000 to pay the cost of developing power at the Water-works Dam.

Passed the day of 1909.

WHEREAS the Corporation of the City of Peterborough is the owner of a water power and dam and the land connected therewith, which was acquired and is used for the purpose of supplying the City of Peterborough with water for all purposes and it is intended to substitute for the present dam, a new concrete dam in the same locality, for the more effective control of the waters of the River Otonabee, from which the water supply of the city is derived, and it has been ascertained that the water power to be developed at the said new dam will be more than sufficient for the purposes of the Peterborough Water Commissioners and it is desirable to provide for the use of such additional water power to generate electrical power or energy for transmission to the City of Peterborough and for this purpose, at the same time as the said new dam is being constructed, to put in the foundations for and construct the power house, forebay, wheel pits, tail races and other works necessary for the development and use of such additional water power.

AND WHEREAS it has been estimated that the cost of said works will be the sum of $15,000 and it is desirable to pass this bylaw, to be submitted to the votes of the duly qualified electors, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum for the purposes aforesaid, which sum of $15,000 is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this bylaw.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of $15,000 it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll being the roll prepared in the year 1908 for the year 1909 is the sum of $8,426,778 and the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts payable by local special rates but including the debt of $312,000 incurred for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks is the sum of $870,231.98 and there is no part of the principal or interest in arrear.

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of $637.50 to be raised annually for a period of twenty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of $530.42 to be raised annually during the said period for providing a sinking fund for the payment of the same at the maturity thereof—such last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes due, making in all the sum of $1,167.92 to be raised annually as aforesaid by special rate on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS;—

1. This Bylaw shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. It shall be lawful for the Council of the said City of Peterborough to borrow the sum of $15,000 and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the City of Peterborough, and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust and to be made payable within twenty years after the issue thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four and one-quarter per centum per annum payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust in the City of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of $637.50 for payment of the interest on the said debt and the sum of $530.42 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of $1,167.92 to be raised annually as aforesaid.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures when sold shall be applied for the purposes above mentioned.

5. For the purpose of taking the votes of the duly qualified electors on this Bylaw the following adjoining Polling Subdivisions shall be united, namely;—Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1 and 2; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 4, 5 and 6; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 7 and 8; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 10 and 11 and Polling Subdivisions Numbers 13 and 14.

6. The votes of the electors of the City of Peterborough qualified to vote upon Bylaws for creating debts shall be taken upon this Bylaw on the 30th day of March, 1909, commencing at the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers, with the following Poll Clerks, that is to say;—

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 1 and 2—Place, B. McGill's grocery, Cor. Aylmer and Lake streets. Deputy Returning Officer, Josiah Robertson. Poll Clerk, W. Van Every.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 3—Place, L. Spry's, 210 Stewart street. Deputy Returning Officer, F. J. A. Hall. Poll Clerk, John Comstock.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 4, 5 and 6—Place, The City Council Chambers. Deputy Returning Officer, Angus McIntosh. Poll Clerk, J. P. Bryson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 7 and 8—Place, A. J. Warne's, 256 Charlotte street. Deputy Returning Officer, J. M. Greene. Poll Clerk, Henry Greene.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 9—Place, N. Routley's, 288 Brock street. Deputy Returning Officer, John Sawers. Poll Clerk, N. Routley.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 10 and 11—Place, Mrs. Mann's store, 681 George street. Deputy Returning Officer, A. Sawers. Poll Clerk, G. H. Bowson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 12—Place, Mrs. Wm. Lee's shop, Smith street. Deputy Returning Officer, T. W. Robinson. Poll Clerk, D. Kennedy.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 13 and 14—Place, the former Village Hall. Deputy Returning Officer, Robert Hamilton. Poll Clerk, James McDonald.

7. The 31st day of March, 1909 at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the City Clerk's Office are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where, the Clerk will sum up the number of votes given for and against the Bylaw.

8. The 29th day of March, 1909, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the office of the City Clerk are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passing of the bylaw respectively.

Mayor.

Clerk.

NOTICE.

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed Bylaw which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the City of Peterborough (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in The Morning Times newspaper, the date of which first publication is the fourth day of March, 1909, and that at the hour, day and place therein fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

S. R. ARMSTRONG.
City Clerk.

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 5 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,580 to 15,200 per cent. enhancement.
And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1859.
An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.
The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.
The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—
Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Quotes and Answers.

W. M. S. Sewickly, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. . . . . —The Goldfield News.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.
Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager
P. O. Drawer 584 Whitmore Building
GOLDFIELD, NEVADA

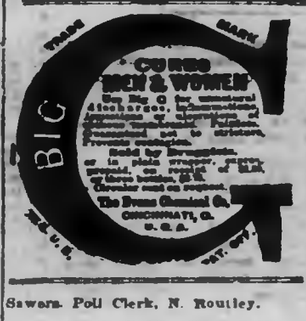
Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

THE
CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation
ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA



BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 55 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1909 — PRICE TWO CENTS

More Evidence in the Douro Protest Case

Chapter number three in the Douro protest case was opened and closed before Judge Weller in the court house yesterday afternoon. New evidence was produced and one witness was cross-examined, and judgment was reserved, and will not likely be given for about two weeks.

At the request of Mr. Peck for Mr. Moher the chief witness, Ed. Welsh was recalled. It will be remembered that it was to Ed. Welsh that the $8 was paid, alleged to be for services rendered as scrutineer for the June election. Mr. McWilliams examined him and brought out the fact that the money was paid to Welsh by Moher. Mr. Moher was put in the box and he denied it.

It is a case for the judge to decide whether Minker paid the money personally and if he did was it paid for the purpose of influencing Welsh's vote.

The Hamilton Shooting Encourages the Kinrades

Toronto, March 5.—"Last night's shooting in Hamilton will only corroborate Miss Kinrade's first story of her sister's murder," said Mr. C. M. Wright of the Arlington, "that a tramp was the murderer. This story is undoubtedly the correct one. The family believe it as I do."

He added that this morning the family were given courage by reason of the affair in Hamilton last night, as this would go far to establish beyond doubt the truth of Miss Kinrade's first and authentic account of the murder, the tramp story.

Miss Kinrade is recovering from the terrific strain which has weighed so heavily upon her since her sister's murder. This morning she was with Mr. Wright when he spoke the foregoing words, and she seemed in a less mechanchely frame of mind. This forenoon she an dher sister, accompanied by Mr. Kinrade and Earl, went for a walk in the bracing air. At noon the father and son returned, but the young ladies had not yet come in for lunch.

Detective Miller had a long interview with Mr. Kinrade last night, but claimed to have received no new lights on the mystery.

A constant and rather strict surveillance is being maintained on the Arlington premises.

Trophy Match Next Tuesday

A big curling match between Lindsay and Peterborough players is on for next Tuesday when the Lindsay—Peterborough cup games will be played. Four rinks will be played here and four in Lindsay. The draw for the local skips has been made and is as follows:—Messrs. D. Hall, W. F. Talbot, W. G. Fortescue, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, J. H. Colman, C. L. Giroux, S. Ray and R. Hicks. This contest will create a great deal of interest. Lindsay won the cup last year.

Lindsay Ran Up a Good Lead in First Game Against Stratford

Score was Lindsay 7, Stratford 2—Greatest Exhibition of Hockey Ever Witnessed in That Town—The Midgets Combination Won the Game—Rink Jammed

(Special to The Times.)

Lindsay, March 5.—It looks like the Lindsay Midgets for the O.H.A. intermediate championship this year. In one of the most brilliant fast and a decidedly clean game the Midgets defeated the clever Stratford Indians here tonight by seven goals to two. It was the first of the series of home and home games for the championship and it was a truly championship exhibition. The prediction of some of the Toronto papers that Lindsay did not show championship form when playing against St. Catharines was knocked on the head. With the Saints the locals were at no time called upon to extend themselves. Tonight however they were and they were there with the goods. While they had decidedly the best of the proposition they were not at any period safe and each man was called upon to play his position. He land and the puck for all that was in them.

Stratford brought down a special train with a large following of rooters and the rink was jammed. The visitors were confident that they could keep the score pretty even and then win out on their own ice. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed throughout and while the Indians still feel that they can pull down the lead of five goals they also realize that they will have to go some.

From the drop of the puck the game became a gigantic struggle with both teams playing their hardest and even faster at the finish than at the start. It was a spectacular exhibition with the Midgets in the limelight. There was rush after rush and each was followed by another rush. This was kept up for eight minutes when Randall, one of the cleverest center men in the game, shot past the Stratford goal keeper. A mighty cheer went up from a thousand throats and the Midgets were on their toes and touching only the high spots. In two minutes more a pretty combination was worked up the ice and near the goal Koyle shot to Bloomfield who scored number two. The enthusiasm was by this time worked up to the highest pitch but the visitors got busy and took a hand in the play so that the puck was fairly a merry chase and goals unable to score. Near the end of the half Koyle and Cole did some nice work which resulted in the half time score being 3—0 in Lindsay's favor.

When Referee Sibley of Kingston, placed the rubber for the first face off in the second half Stratford assumed the aggressive and it looked as if they intended to carry everything before them. It took them only four minutes to break down the Midgets' defence and landed safely behind Newton for their first goal. This put a little hope into the breasts of the Indians' supporters. Lindsay disputed the goal but were over-ruled. Then they got their dander up and went after the puck in a manner which opened the eyes of all present. Stoddard on a pretty combination with Koyle and Bloomfield took the next goal and soon after the same trick was repeated. It looked as though the Midgets were going to run away with Stratford for Stoddard again got the puck and made a beautiful lone rush and notched the sixth goal for his team. At this point Simpson, the Stratford center, broke loose and after a spectacular individual rush worked his way right up to the Lindsay nets and shot safely. The score was 6—2 and with only a minute and a half to play, Stoddard and Cole worked a combination and the latter made the seventh goal. This ended the scoring in the greatest game of hockey ever played in a Lindsay rink. That the exhibition was clean is evidenced by the fact that only two Lindsay men were put on the fence and three from Stratford.

The teams lined up as follows:

Lindsay		Stratford
Newton	Goal.	Rankin
Sullivan	Point.	Forbes
Koyle	Cover.	Dunbar
Randall	Center.	Simpson
Stoddard	Rover.	Mason
Bloomfield	Left.	Verner
Cole	Right.	Barlow

The Todd-McNeil Claims are Good

An exceptionally good opportunity for investors is offered by the Goodwin, Murray, Barnhart, Limited, of Montreal, in their Todd-McNeill claims near Elk City, Rainy River district. This company owns five forty acre claims and they show veins of native silver. There are only a few thousand shares for sale at twenty-five cents, and these are being picked up rapidly. The strongest feature in connection with the proposition of this company is the fact that the directors are among the best known and most highly respected business men of Montreal, and a square deal is assured the stock holders. The directors are putting the stock out themselves and thus save for the company big commissions usually paid to the brokers. The company has also been conducted upon the strictest lines and Peterborough people can make no mistake by putting a few dollars or many dollars into this mine. It is bound to be a dividend payer and those who are in a position to know something about it are most optimistic. See the advertisement in another page of this issue.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

Canadian Curlers Home from Scottish Tour

Halifax, March 5.—Amid the skirling of pipes and hearty cheers from thousands of throats, the victorious Canadian curling team arrived in Halifax at nine o'clock last night.

Bearing with them the Strathcona Cup, which they wrested from the best curlers in Scotland, 23 of the original 37 men reached Canada again on the Empress of Ireland.

Fourteen of the team, who went to the international bonspiel in Switzerland, and there won the championship of the world, were not able to come home with their comrades but will follow on a later boat.

Fully one thousand people were gathered at Deepwater terminus to greet the champions on their return, and the first greeting that they got as the big liner slowly pocked her nose through the thick fog was the stirring strains of "Macgregor's Gathering," from the pipe band of the 63rd Rifles, stationed on the pierhead. As Lieut-Governor Fraser came down the gang plank after being formally welcomed home by the Halifax curlers, the pipers struck up "Cock of the North" and the crowd cheered.

As soon as the gang plank was down, a delegation of curlers from all over the province, in Kilmarnocks and tartans, all carrying their brooms, boarded the steamer, and found Lieut.-Governor Fraser waiting in the smoking room where he held an informal reception. Hundreds pressed in to congratulate him on the success of his team, and then Prof. Howard Murray called the meeting to order, and on behalf of the curlers of the province formally welcomed the team home again.

Governor Fraser said that he had great regret at parting from so many excellent fellows. All through the trip there had been in the greatest unanimity, and while he was glad to be home once more, he was sorry that the trip was ended. They had played all over Scotland and in London, and everywhere they had been received with the greatest kindness and cordiality.

There had been no provincialism on the trip. The team was Canadian all through, and they had taught wherever they went that they were an integral part of the British Empire."

Two Men Shot Down by Burglar in Hamilton

Hamilton, March 4.—Constable H. Smith was shot by a burglar whom he was going to arrest tonight, about 9.15, near the corner of Ray and Market streets, and James Haney, 11 Ray street, who was with him to render assistance in catching the burglar, was shot in the temple. Both men were at once taken to the city hospital and operated on. It is believed that they will recover, although their injuries are critical. Their assailant got out of the house in the excitement that followed, climbed over several fences, got on King street, and made his escape. He was discovered in the house of E. W. Kapelle, southeast corner of Ray and Market streets, about 9 o'clock by the constable, who at once asked several neighbors to assist him in surrounding the house. They were passing through a side alley to enter the house from the rear when the burglar opened fire on them from the rear of the house. One bullet struck Constable Smith on the side of the head, and the second hit Mr. Haney on the temple, and it is understood that a third shot was fired, which also hit the constable. Both men fell to the ground, but did not lose consciousness. When they were picked up they were able to walk to the street, and the ambulance being called, they were taken to the hospital.

News of the terrible affair quickly spread over the city, and the excitement is intense. It is just a week ago this afternoon that Miss Ethel Kinrade was murdered, and the feeling of dread and insecurity that has been abroad since then has been increased by this incident and the whole city has been terrified.

Hamilton People in Terror Over Sensational Events of Past Week

The Burglar in Kapele House May Have Been the Man Who Shot Ethel Kinrade—Great Excitement is Manifest in All Parts of City—Is This the Murderer?

Hamilton, March 5.—The sensational events of the past week—the terrible murder of Miss Ethel Kinrade at her home, 105 Herkimer street, a week ago yesterday, the burglary last night at the home of E. W. Kapele, and the shooting of Constable Smith and James Hanley by the burglar, followed by an attempt to burglarize the home of T. W. Sheffield, 443 Aberdeen avenue, about 2.45 this morning—have thrown the city into a state of excitement and terror that is unprecedented.

The street car riots created great excitement, but did not inspire the terror which has come to every home in the city since this carnival of crime set in a week ago. The incidents following in such quick succession have given rise to a real fear dreaded behind it is the feeling that a gang of desperadoes who have regard for neither life nor property is at work, and that nothing is too daring for them to attempt.

TELEPHONES WERE BUSY.

The report from the City Hospital this morning was that there was no danger to the injured officer. Detective Miller and Chief Inspector Hawkins at No 3 police station received the police calls for both shooting affairs, the murder of Ethel Kinrade and the incident of last night. He says he never received so many telephone calls as he did last night. Although the police were out all night, this morning they had no trace of the burglar.

The question now asked is, did the man who shot the two men murder Miss Kinrade? Has he been hiding in the Kapele house to evade capture? There was evidence that the man had been in the house for some time, perhaps days, and that he intended to make a stay, food being found in the house, which had not been occupied for two months. There was no danger of him being molested, unless the family returned, and he could have remained there for some time. Another point is that the doctors say that the bullets which entered Miss Kinrade's head were fired at some distance away, showing that the murderer was used to handling a revolver. The man who shot Smith and Hanley also had good aim, and it is stated that the burglar used smokeless powder.

THE SHAFER STORY.

An eight-mile drive into the country yesterday afternoon served to convince a reporter that the report that Mrs. Lafayette Shafer had heard shots coming from the Kapele house at about 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder was incorrect. Mrs. Shafer was going by the house on that afternoon on her way to Glanford, but it was late, about 6 o'clock when the patrol stood there. She mentioned the fact to her father, who is a little deaf, and he misunderstanding her, was responsible for the report that she had heard shots.

Mrs. Shafer was not at Glanford when a reporter arrived. She moved on Monday last to Eden Centre, New York State, where her husband's home is, and where she has taken her father and mother to live. Relatives interviewed, however, state that she did not hear shots.

MAY BE PROFESSIONAL.

The police do not look upon the desperado as a professional thief. This morning Chief McMahon was asked this, and he replied by bringing from the detective office a pair of old, worn out and dilapidated shoes.

"That's part of the kit," said he, "it hardly looks like an amateur's work. The very measures that the man took to ensure secrecy back this theory, though the police do not seem to place much faith in it. The plugging of the key holes and the cutting of the telephone wires show that for some time at least, the man intended to make the Kapple residence his home."

James Lynch, who is coachman for Bishop Dawling, has for the past two weeks been clearing the snow from the street around the Kapples' house, and has probably been about the house more frequently than anyone else since the family went away. He was seen by a reporter this morning, and said he noticed nothing about the place that would indicate that it had been entered.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.

"Have you seen anyone about the vicinity who might be looked on as a suspicious character?"

"Well, I've been thinking about a fellow that was in here yesterday. He came first about three o'clock, and was seen by one of the maids. Then he returned about six o'clock, and I met him here in the stable yard. He walked in from the front, and asked if there was any rubbish around that I wanted to sell. He had a small bag under his arm. I asked him where his wagon was, and he said he would put it in his bag. Then I told him I had nothing for him. He went out the back way on to Market street, but which way he turned I don't know."

"Can you tell us what the man looked like?"

"Well, he was about five feet eight inches tall, and he wore a short, dark coat. I rather think he had a small cap on. He would be about 25 or 28 years old, and would weigh about 150 pounds. He might have had a small moustache, but I wouldn't be sure. He didn't look like a rail man, for he was too well dressed, and he was not a Jew."

MIRROR HIM WITH BATON.

James Hanley was seen this morning by a reporter, and he had added one or two facts to his story. His face is scarred and bound up beyond recognition. He states that as the burglar crouched between the two houses they were unable to get a good look at him. He and the constable were out in the moonlight, and with the snow-covered back yard stretching behind them it was like picking coals from a back fence for the thug. When he rushed towards them after he had shot they were blinded by blood and the terrible shock, but, every man on the force on Hanley says he did not one track at him with the baton, and landed a good one, too. Then the burglar went over the back fence, and kept on going over fences until all trace of him was lost.

Peterborough Club has Decided to Purchase Old Bank of Montreal

The old Bank of Montreal building has been sold to the Peterborough Club. That organization met last night and decided to put the deal through. The price is $6,500, and the club will take possession of their new quarters as soon as the sale has been completed. It is also the intention to expend about $2,000 in altered ons and fixings, and the contracts will be let at once for this work.

When the new club house is completed it will be one of the handsomest clubs in the province. The site is an ideal one and the building is a solid structure, and also an imposing one. It is a large building and will afford ample accommodation for the members, and will no doubt be the headquarters for Peterborough's business and professional men.

Let Water Into Lakefield Reach

Parties who are interested were notified yesterday by the canal authorities that the water would be let into the Lakefield reach of the canal on March 15th. This will be the earliest opening in the history of the canal.

Explosion Near Madoc, Two Men Were Killed

THE DEAD.

Daniel Phillips.
Felix Elore.

THE INJURED.

George Young, head injured.
R. C. Munro, hands torn.

Madoc, March 5—Two men were killed and two injured by a dynamite explosion this morning in Madoc township.

W. A. Hunterford, clerk of Madoc, and Robert Phillips of Madoc-town ship, have had a gang of men doing some development work on what is known as the Vanleek gold property in Elzevir township, about ten miles northeast of Madoc. Last night, after quitting time, they put off a number of blasts, all according to custom, all the charges exploded. The men went to work this morning as usual, and while engaged in drilling an explosion took place.

Dan Phillips was killed instantly. Felix Elore was so badly injured that he died in a few hours after.

The Canal Outrage, Is A Mystery Still

Kingston, March 5.—"He was the thinnest man I ever saw," said a citizen who, by chance, met John Welch, the dead convict, in the penitentiary asylum, a few days ago. He was worn down to a shadow by the disease that had attacked him, and it was painful to look at him." He passed away quietly yesterday morning, diarrhoea of the liver being the cause. He had been in the hospital lately. He had been in and out at various times, but last fall he entered for the last time. He was a happy, bright fellow, and easily led.

"At heart he was not bad," said one who knew him, "but companionship and good fellowship was his ruination. He would drink, and a few glasses would stir him up. A slap on the back, and a laughing comment, "Jack, you're the best fellow in the world," would put him under control. He was easily persuaded, and I think this is how Dullman led him."

"The late Detective Murray used to say," remarked an officer, who talked about the poor fellow's death "that Dullman's plans failed at Welland—providentially so, as to the damage done, and the capture of all concerned—that he had got Nolan and Welch to do the dead, fully convinced that dead men would tell no tales. He thought in the explosion both men would have been killed; they could not escape fast enough to avoid the general wreck. But they did, and this foiled the conspirator's plans, and led to the downfall of all."

Welch was a kindly good-natured fellow, and was well liked by keepers and convicts. He was a good worker, quiet, obedient, and careful. He worked in the tailorshop for a time and later was put in the library at lighter work owing to his declining health. He was patient and cheerful in his illness, and was well cared for. His spiritual adviser, Rev. Father Macdonald, chaplain and rector of the Church of the Good Thief at Portsmouth, was constant in his administrations.

Curling Match for the Oysters

An interesting curling game was played last night between Dr. Grover's rink and Ald. Morrow's quartette. The prize was an oyster supper and the doctor won although the city's finance minister and his vice skip, the veteran C. N. Brown, were figuring on a five end to close with which would have tied the game. But fate was against them and another stone which the noble vice did not see was in the way so that the best they could do was to lie one.

The rinks were as follows:

Tower	Yates
Taylor	Kaipman
Brown	Osmer
Morrow—9	Dr. Grover—13

Other games played last night

Collins	Crowe
McTaggart	Wright
Clemens	Merrell
Hollingshead—7	Moore—19
Rush	Wolstenholme
Ackerman	Wing
Ferguson	Montgomery
Cameron—9	Fitzgerald—15
Breithaupt	Dodd
Hall	Kennedy
Neill	Bowes
Talbot—9	Ferguson—11

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Local People Had a Dance

A party of young people from the city went to Lakefield in four sleighs last night and enjoyed a dance in the old town hall in that village. It was a merry crowd which went up and every minute of the time was thoroughly enjoyed. The ladies furnished the refreshments which, as a guarantee that the supper part was well looked after. Ex-councillor Bygott of Lakefield, took after things in the village and did much to make the evening an enjoyable one.

Lumbering Camps are Breaking Up

The lumbering season is rapidly drawing to a close in the northern part of this district. The cut will not be quite as large as last year, but a considerable of logs will be brought down the Otonabee river. The city mills from North Monaghan where the waters are high early in the season, and from Ferris Ready for the booming up of the logs in about a month. One or two of the camps have already closed but the others are still busy.

Positively prevents Pneumonia. 25 minutes after Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy has been given. Many mothers have this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe, sure, pleasant syrup—no opium. Sold by all dealers.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

The finest, most tasteful and wholesome biscuit, cake and pastry are made with Royal Baking Powder, and not otherwise. Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

SIR JAMES WATSON

This eminent physician is one of the greatest authorities on Asthma & the Medical Profession organs.

In a recent address, Sir James Watson stated that the commencement of all disorders is Catarrh, and that not one person in ten thousand passes the winter without an attack of some sort.

Sir James advocates local treatment very strongly, and says that it is all nonsense trying to treat Catarrhal diseases by stomach medicines, atomizers, douches and snuffs.

Local treatment is applied most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which is inhaled into the nose, throat and lungs, and drives the disease completely out of the system.

Catarrhozone is a rational common-sense treatment; it clears the air passages, makes breathing easy, and relieves at once. Physicians prescribe Catarrhozone with gratifying results, and pronounce it a specific for Catarrh in any part of the system.

Mr. Thos. Cox, one of the most prominent citizens of Minden, Ont., says: "I want to recommend Catarrhozone. It is a sure, clean cure for Catarrh. Cured me perfectly, and is well deserving of a trial from everyone at all affected by Catarrh or throat trouble."

Mr. G. F. Fadden, of Royan, Que., writes: "In my opinion Catarrhozone is the only cure for Catarrh. I had the disease in its worst form but only got relief from Catarrhozone. It cured me quickly and permanently, and I have no fear of the Catarrh ever returning.

The foregoing brief extracts, like thousands of others that the proprietors of Catarrhozone have received, prove that the proper remedy to use is Catarrhozone. It is quite different from the ordinary Catarrh preparation, and is warranted to prove entirely satisfactory. If it fails your money will be refunded, so if not benefited you won't be out of pocket.

All druggists sell Catarrhozone. Complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, liquid for recharging, etc., costs $1.00; trial size, 50 cents. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors.
Peterborough, Ontario.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1909.

SOUTH AFRICAN UNITY

The welcome news arrives from South Africa that the lengthy debates on the problem of union have now at last resulted in definite agreement. Comment must be deferred until fuller details of the scheme of federation arrive; and since all the sittings of the conference have been secret, it cannot be said that there is any solid basis for conjecture as to the measures upon which the delegates have agreed. One piece of real information is negative in character; it consists of the fact that the future capital has not been chosen. In this South Africa is but following Australian precedent; and Cape Town and Pretoria may put up as good a fight as did Victoria and New South Wales of late. Historically Cape Town seems the more natural choice; it is the old gateway of Africa, the only important living city in the southern half of the continent which can look back to an existence of two centuries. But if it is the gateway of South Africa it has the usual disadvantage attaching to the entrance of a large estate. It may be anything in the world it likes, but it cannot be central; and it is a far journey from, say, Rhodesia—and Rhodesia must be included in our purview—to Cape Town. On the other hand, there are objections to Pretoria. In comparison with Cape Town, it is more like a provincial town than a capital; its buildings are far less magnificent, and is effectually it is less central than Johannesburg. certainly less so than Cape Town. There would, moreover, be a certain flavor of Boer supremacy attaching to the choice of Pretoria, which the Boers themselves, if wise, should avoid. Cape Town is the only neutral city in the sub-continent. The suggestion that Bloemfontein might be a third alternative is probably put forward to save trouble, in the same way that weak popes and presidents are sometimes elected when two strong rival claimants disagree.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes, perhaps, from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere, as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. Few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN ARMY OF HALF A MILLION

According to a writer in the Review of Reviews there are at present in the United States. The figure is calculated by taking as a basis the number of tramps killed on the railroads every year and multiplying it by the proportion of train men killed in the year compared to the total number of train men employed. But it is entirely probable that the number at present reaches nearer 1,000,000 than 500,000. The recent industrial depression added large accessions. Reports from railway agents throughout the country show that never in the history of the railroads was so large a number of tramps met with.

A large proportion are youths ranging from 16 to 21 years of age. Beginning with a yearning for adventure about one-half quite the nomadic life and return home, or settle down, while the remaining half become inveterate tramps and gradually tend from vagrancy into a career of crime or semi-crime. A very large percentage of tramps, however, are adults, and comprise every species from men who will not work or who have become chronically unfitted for work, to those who are innocent victims of downright adversity.

The charitable societies and the railroads believe that they have at last come upon a plan which is quite certain to prove efficacious. This plan is a transplanting, with certain modifications, suitable to American conditions of the "tramp colony" idea in force in Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. Since the inception of these colonies vagrancy has been unknown in those countries and although they have certain features which cannot well be adopted on this continent, the general plan of these European experiments will be followed.

To these farms the magistrates are to have the power to sentence all hoboes. Magistrates are to have the full power of fixing the duration of sentence, although no sentence is to exceed two years. Any inmate will be able to get a parole upon giving proofs of good behavior and if the trustees are convinced that he will not violate the law, but if any tramp attempts to escape from the colony in which he is confined he is to be subject to a term in state prison for a period of from one to three years.

In short, the system if carried out, would compel the tramp to do that to which he has most aversion, namely, do some work, and it would certainly seem to be deserving of trial.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, } ss.
Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

LADY SNAKE CHARMER

Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson Partial to Serpents.

Sir Edward and Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, who are on a round of visits to friends in America, are fond of unconventionality. Their marriage, five years ago, was a romantic one. The bairns were published in the quaint little town of Tain, in Ross-shire, and the world at large knew nothing of the event until after the nuptial knot had been tied. A few guests were invited by telegraph, and the instruction to the clergyman was so delayed that in the end some difficulty was experienced in getting one to officiate. To crown the unconventional procedure the bagpipe took the place of the organ, and played the bridal pair in and out of church. Sir Edward derives his title from Nova Scotia, and is the fifteenth holder. The family motto is "Honos gained by valos." At one time Lady Constance was partial to snakes and other denizens of the creepy world. She used to carry a pet serpent twined round her wrist or nestled in the bosom of her dress. Not so very long ago she showed her prowess in the United States as a huntress of big game. Among the wild hogs of Texas she had a startling adventure. She started in pursuit of her first animal—a kind which has been known to kill or maim every one of a pack of dogs within a few minutes—and when near enough drew a revolver and fired. The shot struck the animal, but did not disable it. It turned with an angry roar on its fair pursuer. Lady Constance leaped from her horse, and running towards the maddened beast, met the attack half-way. When the animal was within springing distance she fired again, and with a great shudder, it rolled over dead.

Didn't Need a Doctor.

"Let me kiss those tears away!" he begged tenderly. She fell in his arms, and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on. "Are you suffering? Can nothing stop them?" he asked, breathlessly and.

"No," she murmured. "It's only a cold, you know. But go on with the treatment."

Cheering Her.

Macdougal (to his new fourth wife)—The meenister deesma approve o' my marryin' again, an' one young a wife too! But, as I tell'd him, I canna be ave buryin', buryin'.

In this world it is not what we take up, but what we give up, that makes us rich.—Beecher.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for 5 good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size. 3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, 2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, Nearly Opposite Post Office

NEW GROCERY
T. O. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

BARGAINS IN BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK

Regular $5.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at 2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at 2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet 6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for 2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only 1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.
Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournia's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt as can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not send the pain and make the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy that has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps that box will cure you. Perhaps it will cure some one else. Will you write for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for to (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held sacredly. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. M. Summers, Windsor, Ont.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

OF

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are kept pure and put on the market The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our finer wines many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more, than goes be often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

Bird Bread

Cottam's famous food for birds, containing only good seed with Cuttle bone, bone and oyster shell, etc. Try a package. If you don't find it the best bird food you ever used, your money back. Sold by all dealers.

Cottam Bird Seed

Cottam Bird Supplies and Curiosities. Ask your dealer. Address F. B. 22, Cottam Bros. Bird Seed and Bird Supply Co., by mail.

Bird Cottam Co., Dundas St., London, Ont.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space, low terms etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

42.60 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Spokane, Wash. Portland, Ore.

45.20

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from
W. BUNTON, Town Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FROM PETERBORO

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

SECOND CLASS ONE WAY
DAILY UNTIL APRIL 30th
Most Direct Route
Tourist Sleeping Cars on all Trains

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent, Peterboro

Royal Mail Trains VIA INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to
Toronto Ticket Office
51 King Street East
Montreal Ticket Office
129 St. James Street
—OR—
General Passenger Department
Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45
These steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE
Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC
14,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC
14,500 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or
WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,
118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1

TIMES BOOKSTORE,
Hunter street.

ENNIS & STOPPANI
New York and Chicago.

Members: New York Cotton Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg.
J. L. ENNIS, Manager

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no nausea. A safe and pleasing syrup.—25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BANKS.

THE
HOME BANK OF CANADA
Original Charter 1854
SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO
Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—
Bank of Ottawa
ESTABLISHED 1874
HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
HEAD OFFICE:
37 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The Company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN
at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office; Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W.S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society
PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information required, Inspectors' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:
Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO
PHONE MAIN 1729
William St. TORONTO

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Specialists in DISEASES OF MEN
NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED

Located in Our Own Building

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave., and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

PRUDENTIAL MINES, Limited

Capital $2,000,000, Shares $1.00 per value fully paid and non-assessible.

Owners of five 40-acre claims known as the Todd-McNeil claims adjoining the townsite of Elk City. Claims developed and thirty veins stripped showing native silver. Will start shipping upon opening of river. Claims conceded to be the richest group in Montreal river district by all competent authorities.

As the company is headed by the most honorable and conservative business men of Montreal, we are assured of a square deal all around, and no manipulating of stock.

We have the best Mining Engineer money can procure to put in charge of the work, namely,

J. C. BIEDLEMAN, OF SPOKANE, WASH.

Stock is not in the hands of any brokers, thereby saving the company the excessive commissions demanded by them, which enables us to put it in development work instead. The present allotment of stock is all that will be put on the market at any price.

Few thousand shares left at twenty-five cents per share

Subscriptions subject to previous sale. All cheques should be drawn direct to WILLIAM TEES, secretary-treasurer, of company and mailed to

The GODWIN, MURRAY, BARNHART, Limited
535 Board of Trade, Montreal, Canada.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.
MONTREAL, QUE.

CANCER

R. D. EVANS, Discoverer of the famous EVANS CANCER CURE desires all who suffer with Cancer to write to him. Two days' treatment will cure external or internal Cancer. Write R. D. EVANS, Brandon, Manitoba

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean, one food, or one preparation. No: "Oxol" is a name given to all foods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. A. E. & F. G. Windsor of Australia, New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the markets of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible value of merit and may be sold by farmers, grabbers, dairymen, and all owners of stock who find the full appreciation that these goods have the power in a few days to double their increase by feeding, fattening and making an additional profit to them many times.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for agent's name, the Oxol Advertisements, etc.

Advertise in The Times

WOMEN ON ENGLISH MOORS.

Colony Is Granted Land by Lord Shaftesbury For Cultivation.

The "Ladies Home Colony" in Dorset, advanced an important step recently. The seven acres of land which Lord Shaftesbury has granted to the women squatters was investigated closely, and passed on expert examination to be of more promise than was expected.

It is at present a waste of heather and furze, in the middle of several hundred acres equally waste and valueless. "Why has no one thought of reclaiming this before?" was asked; and any one who inspected a section of the ground must have echoed the question.

If this experiment is successful, we may see at West Moors, as elsewhere, hundreds of such acres reclaimed to fertility. A Women's Home Colony Guild, for the encouragement of womanly crafts, from French gardening to weaving, is to be established; and this pioneer experiment is being watched and encouraged by Mrs. Fennard and those who are organizing schemes for London's unemployed women.

Neighboring experiments prove that this unused and so-called useless land is admirable for growing strawberries, lavender and many bushes. The biggest scent distillery in England is close by, and it has just been found that the soil grows lavender at least as fine in quality as that which the builders are driving from its famous home at Mitcham. It is a surprising and most satisfactory sight to see sheep grazing white clover planted between the lavender bushes.

The growing of sweet herbs will be one of the first endeavors of the ten squatters; but at the beginning, while the plow and cultivator are busy with the gorse and heather, the crafts will occupy the principal energy.

Lord Shaftesbury has been making valuable experiments—on the Irish model—in reclaiming waste acres by artificial manures. It is just such land as Professor Bottomley's bacteria mixture should reform, and probably an experiment with it will be made. The colony at West Moors, which is a riding village some seven miles from Bournemouth, has thus a double importance. It is a scientific experiment in the reclamation of waste land, and it is a promising endeavor to give women who have worked and overworked in the town a prospect of a healthy life in the country.

It may mark an important stage in the "return to the land," of which new signs appear month by month.

In Business as Fruit-Seller.

Although he has entered on his sixty-sixth year, Lord Harrington still indulges in his favorite pastime of polo. It is thirty-three years ago since he became possessed of his first polo pony. He was the first president and one of the original founders of the Polo Pony Society, rendering not only good service to the game, but also to the improvement of the riding pony; for his lordship breeds nearly all his own hunters and polo ponies. His interest in life, however, is not confined to sport. He was a civil engineer before he succeeded to the family honors, and is, like Lord Dundonald, something of an inventor, a motor mowing machine and a self-opening gate being among his ingenious contrivances. Then, again, he is a very keen gardener; and not only grows excellent fruit, but also sells it at a shop of his own at Charing Cross for the benefit of his tenants.

A Record Drummer.

For forty-four years Mr. Charles Henderson of the Savoy Theatre, London, England, has been beating the big drum, and for thirty years out of that total he has been a member of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan orchestra. Mr. Henderson jocularly claims to be the discoverer of wireless telegraphy. While Sir Arthur Sullivan was conducting at a festival rehearsal on one occasion, he turned to Mr. Henderson and said, "Stop that vibration, Henderson!" "But I knew it wasn't my drum vibrating," says Mr. Henderson. "It's that big bass drum over there, Sir Arthur." And that proved to be the case. The big bass had been left uncovered, with the consequence that every time I hit my drum that one caught the vibration and boomed in sympathy. It was wireless telegraphy, although I didn't know it."

The Long-Lived Nelson Family.

The eighty-fourth birthday of Rev. Hon. John Horatio Nelson, which occurred a few days ago, recalls the fact that for generations past the Nelson family have been clergymen and sailors. The veteran rector of Shawcum-Donnington, Newbury, England, has two brothers, Horatio Earl Nelson, "Father of the House of Lords," and Rear-Admiral the Hon. Maurice Horatio Nelson (retired), all three being great-nephews of the famous admiral. The father of the victor of Trafalgar died when eighty years old; whilst Rev. Earl Nelson, an elder brother of his, lived to be seventy-eight. The present earl is eighty-five and his youngest surviving brother, Rear-Admiral Nelson, is seventy-six years of age.

The Jap's Santa Claus.

The patron saint of Japanese children is named Kotie. He is always pictured with a big sack, which is said to contain presents for the good children. When Kotie wishes to cross a river he uses this sack as a boat. He is believed to have eyes in the back of his head to watch the little ones and has various other qualities which remind us of our Santa Claus.

Boy Prodigy to King's Musician.

Sir Walter Parratt, the Master of the King's Music, who has lately been speaking about the badly-written music of students, was an organist prodigy. At seven years of age he took the services in church—his father was an organist at Huddersfield—and at ten he played Bach's forty-eight preludes and fugues by heart.

Lindsay Post: Mr. Samuel Clegg, overseer of the Trent Canal, Peterborough, was in town this morning.—Mr. A. P. McLean of the George Matthews Co., Peterborough, was in town on business today.—Rev. Father McCabe, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, visited Ven. Archdeacon Casey today.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HOW COLDS ARE CONTRACTED

ALWAYS RESULT OF UNDUE EXPOSURE

Rapid Cooling of the Surface of the Body Brings About the Common Ailments of Mankind.

An acute catarrh, that is a cold, is always the result of undue exposure to low temperatures. The rapid cooling of the surface, when not balanced by proper reaction, produces congestion and inflammation of the nasal and bronchial membranes. Obviously such an attack is not communicable, in the ordinary sense from one individual to another. As the slightest "cold" predisposes the individual to attacks of the most severe and dangerous catarrhal affections, the necessity for quick cure need not be enforced. These facts emphasize the necessity of extra precautionary measures against the ordinary cold. Everyone cannot change his climate at will but may make the most of what he has at home, viz., take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at occasion the first indication of a cold appears. It acts promptly upon a cold, probably by counteracting any tendency of the cold to result in pneumonia. This fact has been fully proven during the epidemics of colds and grip of the past few years. Nothing of either of these diseases having resulted in patients where this remedy was used has ever been reported to the manufacturers, and thousands of bottles of it are sold every day, which shows conclusively that it is not only the best and quickest cure for colds, but a certain preventive of that dangerous disease, pneumonia.

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored
Black or Brown
BY
Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forget's that grey hair ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by
E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1903, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poudle, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, with limp to that an application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be cancelled, to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
F. H. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Dated at Ottawa, 30th January, 1903.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

BIG G
CURES MEN & WOMEN
One Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless. Guaranteed not to stricture. Prevents contagion.
Sold by Druggists, or in plain wrapper, postpaid, on receipt of $1.00, or three bottles, $2.75.
Circular sent on request
The Evans Chemical Co.
CINCINNATI, O.
U.S.A.

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clear out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; blotters, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

SOME PENSION DRAMAS

COMEDIES AND TRAGEDIES UNDER NEW BRITISH LAW.

Old Woman Aged 108 Announced That She Would Spend Her Money on Boots—Another Expected Artificers Threatened Were Afraid It Meant Military Service For Their Sons—Wealthy Pensioners.

Tragedy, pathos, and humor are strangely intermingled in the incidents connected with the payments at the half-million old-age pensions at postoffices all over the British Isles. Much of the humor was provided by the old dames, many of whom could scarcely be persuaded that the pension scheme was not a myth until the five shillings were clasped in their hands.

And then their delight led them to do some funny things. At Tobermory, for instance, one old lady, disappointed at the somewhat part thanks of the pensioners who had preceded her, made her farewell by declaring: "Thanks be to the Lord in the firmament; thanks and glory to the gentleman who proposed to give us this; and thanks to the man through whose hands the money came."

"What will you do with the money?" Mrs. Rebecca Clarke, London's oldest pensioner, who is 108 years old, was asked.

"Buy boots," said the old lady, promptly. "I'm a plaguy one for kicking out boots."

The Birmingham old lady, of 87, who was annoyed because she thought she was going to receive—as she expressed it—"back money" in respect of the number of years she had exceeded the regulation three score and ten, had a counterpart in an old man at Sheffield, who wanted his pension for a quarter in advance in order to start a business.

And then there were the two old women of Walworth who considerably embarrassed their postmaster by presenting him with two rashers of bacon and the wing of a goose as a thank-offering for the pension; while yet another grateful old dame insisted on giving the postmistress an orange in gratitude for the money. It was a genuine peel of joy.

Glasgow pensioners preferred to go to the General Postoffice for their pensions, although many of them had to walk considerable distances. Various reasons were given for this preference for the central office, but probably one of the most quaint was that of an elderly woman who, in fine Scots Doric, said she went to the "General" because "she couldna trust the district officers."

Others were desirous of keeping the fact "that they were 'pensioners' to themselves, and avoiding the jolly curiosity of neighbors.

Referring to the doubt in the minds of some of the pensioners as to the reality of the scheme, it might be mentioned that the worthy people of Dunmow, the little Essex town from where the prunes of prune flitches of bacon used to come, were very sceptical about getting the fi., and even now they are wondering how long the pension will last.

They remind one of the old women from the Claddagh Settlement, in the city of Galway, who got the idea into their heads that, in return for the pension, the Government claimed the right of enforcing military service from their sons. "For this reason some of them refused to accept the fi. until they received the explicit assurance that their "bhoys" would not have to go "to fight the blacks."

At Kingstown, near Dublin, one old lady created a scene by demanding to be paid at a special counter, as she could not mix with the class of people who were besieging the pay counter. The official regulations, however, were inexorable, and the lady was obliged to conform.

Yet another old person in Dublin refused a pension as she believed it came from the Salvation Army, and, as such, was likely to be prejudicial to her religious faith.

Talking of Ireland, it might be mentioned that the figures for the County of Fermanagh are remarkable. Out of the total population of 63,000 there are 3,600 pensioners, so that, roughly, one person in every fifteen in the county is an old-age pensioner.

The suggestion that a man or woman may be foolish enough to keep a large sum on deposit at 1 per cent. in a bank, or invest several thousand pounds in building sites, yielding no immediate revenue, and ripening for the benefit of heirs, in order to claim a pension, is not quite so absurd as at first appears.

A man who received an old-age pension at Great Bentley, Essex, for instance, has $1,400 invested, owns a house worth $1,500, and is in receipt of $1 a week sick pay from a benefit society. His wife has $2,500 invested at a low rate of interest.

Another example of a wealthy pensioner is provided by a woman at Wood Green, who has $4,800 invested at small interest, and who is said to have $1,000 in the bank and some small house property.

In a third case, an applicant who received his full pension admitted possession of three cows, several pigs, and a market garden.

Pathetic in the extreme were some of the incidents connected with old-age pension day.

A particularly hard case is that of a Portsmouth man of seventy-five, who, after having his claim allowed and getting his papers signed, was taken seriously ill. The town hospital was so full that he had to be accommodated in the workhouse infirmary. This was equivalent to parish relief and meant his disqualification for the pension which was within his grasp.

Into an East-end office came a little boy with a pension-book carefully wrapped up in a piece of newspaper. "If you please, miss," he said, without any preamble, "here is grandfather's book; he won't want it, because he died this morning."

Biggs—I'm afraid I am working too hard.
Diggs—Whom are you working?

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Preventics, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But prompt use is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 25 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Orange Lily Saved My Life

I have words of commendation for many of the same meaning are coming to me in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of the womb; others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily; and others who had all forms of female troubles, such as inflammation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in women Dr. Wonder's Improved Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific never-failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is delightful and beneficial. As a trial actually proves its merit, I hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a box worth $2, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Address, with stamp,

MRS. K. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

THE
CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"—Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.
OF TORONTO, LIMITED

NEW
Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to	$10.00	Shades, 15c to	$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to	50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to	25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to	35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to	2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 6 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,560 to 15,260 per cent. Assessment
And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1859.
An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.
The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.
The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—
Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Queries and Answers.
W. M. S. Sewickly, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. . . . . —The Goldfield News.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.
Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager
Room 506 Whitcher Building
GOLDFIELD, NEVADA

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1909.

Six Marriages

The following is the registration of births, marriages and deaths in Peterborough during February 1909; with a comparison with the same months last years ;

	1909	1908
Births	38	37
Marriages	6	11
Deaths	24	22

Landscape Gardener

The superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery is in Toronto to obtain an assistant, who during the coming season will devote his time specially to the beautifying of the cemetery. An effort in this direction has been decided on to surpass any former year, and with the support of the many interested, we may confidently expect the grounds to present an attractiveness not attained in the past. The Times is assured no effort will be spared to secure the end in view.

Badly Burned

Mr. L. H. Sheen of the drafting room of the C.G.E., was badly burned Thursday afternoon about five o'clock a switch blowing out and burning his face and hands and also injuring his head.

Dr. Young was immediately summoned and dressed the young man's injuries after which he was removed to the Nicholls Hospital in the ambulance.

While Mr. Sheen is painfully and seriously burned his condition is not regarded as dangerous.

Tourist Sleeping Cars to the West

For those taking the cheap trip to Winnipeg, any point in the Northwest, or the Coast, reserve a berth in a Tourist Canadian Pacific tourist sleeper, leaving Toronto daily at 10.15 p.m. Cost of a roomy berth is but $4.00 to Winnipeg, $5.00 to Moose Jaw, $6.00 to Calgary, $8.50 to Vancouver. They are fine vestibuled cars, well lighted, heated and ventilated. Berths are furnished with bedding, linen changed daily, every convenience is provided, and an attentive porter in charge. For all further information, tickets, etc., apply to nearest C.P.R. agent, or write C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, Toronto. Berths secured well in advance of date of leaving.

New Boat

The new government steam punt being built by Mr. William Hicken of lock No. 6, in Ashburnham, is rapidly nearing completion. The planking and woodwork is practically finished and in the course of a couple of weeks the work of installing the machinery will be commenced. It will be ready for launching when navigation opens. The new boat will resemble the "St. Charles" tug. It is not like the ordinary punt in shape, inasmuch as it is not square at the corners. It is the intention of the government officials to use the new steam punt during the coming summer between Hastings and Healey Falls. It is likely that a new dam and new locks will be built at Hastings and the steamer will be used for the purpose of drawing cement and as a supply boat.

Robbed a Car

Albert Brandt, who hails from Uxbridge, was charged with breaking into a sealed car at the Grand Trunk station and stealing a quantity of garments on March 4th. The young man pleaded guilty, but claimed he was drunk and would not have broken into the car otherwise. A railway official was called and stated that the quantity was small, but the magistrate said it was not a matter of the amount that was stolen, but breaking into a sealed car was a serious offence. He fined the prisoner $20, or in default of payment, 30 days in jail with hard labor. The accused didn't have the necessary amount and had to take the time.

A falling tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

What Every Woman Requires for Headache Languor.

Do you feel languid and tired this spring?

Are you pale, sem what nervous, finding it hard to do your housework?

Thousands feel just the same—feel the enervating influence of spring, whether that brings out latent symptoms of disease and weaknesses. You should do like Mrs. Flannigan of Ennismore Junction—here is her experience. "I will never again suffer the torture of deadening spring illness — never will I have headaches, such sleepless nights, such pale cheeks and want of appetite. I tried through it all several times, but now I know the medicine that cures. I urge every person, young and old, to try the invigorating effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. When I was so played out, Listless,—Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me appetite—I relished my meals and grew strong. Rosy color came to my cheeks, every day I felt brighter and better. All my old strength has been restored and the great tonic, blood purifying powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

Women who are continually pale, tired and sick headached, faint and dizzy spells, aching muscles, bearing, downs pains, lack of sleep and loss of appetite—they are the poor women that really need Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c at all dealers.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 643

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also at Rotunda.
SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.
Bell 'Phone—Office 463; House 681.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.

McDONALD

PERSONAL

Miss Mina Davidson is visiting with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Jas. Nelson was called to Lindsay this week by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. Jackson of Toronto, is visiting friends in the city for a few days.

Souvenir name cards on bargain today at 10 cents per dozen. Times Bookstore.

Mrs. Coffee of Buffalo, was a guest yesterday of her sister, Mrs. W. J. McCallum, Gilmour street.

Buy Easter remembrances during sacrifice sale now on, in fancy notions, and save money at Times Bookstore.

Mr. Jas. McGrail of the Bank of Toronto, has been transferred to the Parry Sound branch of the bank.

Miss M. O'Connell, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Blanchard, 362 Water street, left yesterday for her home in Lakefield.

Miss Maggie Dafoe of Peterborough was home over Sunday.—Miss Ruby Taylor of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Una Duffield.—Norwood Register.

Miss Lillie Simons, of the nursing staff of the Thompson Memorial Hospital, Canandaigua, N.Y., is on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Peter Simons, 311 Rubidge street.

E. F. Hatton, M.D., M.R.C.S. England, resident surgeon of the Imperial Government Hospital, Canada, W.I., is in Peterborough, on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Hatton, 370 Charlotte street.

The Mission Band of St. Paul's church gave a very enjoyable and successful concert in the school room last night and it was very largely attended.

Souvenir coins, Collegiate Institute, Normal School, Lift Lock (with description), all the parks, churches and public buildings at reduced price of one cent each or 10 cents per dozen. Times Bookstore.

WEDDING BELLS

McFADDEN—WALKER.

Christ church, Abernethy, Sask., was the scene of a quiet wedding at 6.30 a.m., February 23, when Miss Frances A. McFadden, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McFadden, formerly of Peterborough, Ont., was married to Mr. G. A. Walker, of Moosomin, Sask. The bride was unattended. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lionel J. M. D'Arcy, incumbent, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. T. C. McFadden. The wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride's parents, Main street, immediately after. The happy couple left by the morning train for Moosomin, Sask., where they will reside in future. The bride was attired in a dark blue travelling costume with hat to match.

FIFE—SARGENT.

The beautiful and stately Metropolitan church, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, March 2nd, 1909, when Mr. Harry H. Fife, son of Mr. Alfred A. Fife of Bolsworth, Norwood, led to the altar Miss Hattie E. Sargent, daughter of Mr. D. C. Sargent of Ada, Michigan. The interesting ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. Adams of the Norwood Methodist church, and the couple, looked extremely well as they stood together at the altar rails. The happy occasion is causing quite a stir in Toronto and other centres as well. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley chins. See the bread and butter plates with lift lock on each, selling at only 25 cents.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP!! RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

La Grippe Is Epidemic Catarrh.

The disease now known as 'grip' is said to be called 'influenza.'

It very closely resembles a cold, but is more tenacious in its hold upon the system and produces more profound disturbances.

Grip is in reality epidemic catarrh. When it once begins it spreads over the country very rapidly.

People do not catch the grip from each other, but each one catches it from the atmosphere.

"Most Effective Medicine Ever Tried for La Grippe."

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Cullowhee High School, Painter, N. C., is chairman of the Jackson County Board of Education.

He is a writer of occasional verse and has contributed to a number of leading papers and magazines,—religious, educational and secular.

In speaking of Peruna, Mr. Madison says:

"I am hardly ever without Peruna in my home. It is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried for la grippe.

"It also cured my wife of nasal catarrh. Her condition at one time was such that she could not at night breathe through her nostrils.

"In consequence, an inflamed condition of the throat was brought about, getting worse and worse and yielding to no remedy until Peruna was tried."

Healthy Mucous Membranes.

Those who are fortunate enough to have perfectly healthy mucous membranes ordinarily do not catch the grip.

The mucous membranes lining the nose, throat and lungs, when in a normal state, are an effectual barrier against the invasion of grip.

But, if there happens to be the slightest catarrhal derangement of the mucous membranes, then the victim becomes an easier prey to the grip.

This in part explains why some people get the grip, while others do not.

The rational thing to do is to keep the system free from catarrh. In attempting to do this most people have found Peruna to be invaluable.

Systemic Catarrh, the Result of La Grippe. Pe-ru-na Receives Credit for Present Good Health.

Mrs. Jennie W. Gilmore, Box 44, White Oak, Ind. Ter., formerly Housekeeper for Indiana Reform School for Boys, writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, which was followed by systemic catarrh.

"The only thing I used was Peruna and Manalin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before.

"I give Peruna all the credit for my good health."

During an epidemic of grip Peruna should be used. The doses recommended on the bottle are sufficient.

After the grip has once been acquired, Dr. Hartman recommends the use of Peruna in teaspoonful doses every hour during the acute stage, after which the directions on the bottle should be followed.

Experience has shown that the people who use Peruna as a remedy for grip generally recover sooner and are less liable to the distressing and long-continued after-effects of the grip.

When Peruna has not been used during the course of the grip and the patient finds himself suffering from the after-effects of this disease, a course of Peruna should be resorted to.

Suffered Twelve Years From After-Effects of La Grippe.

Mr. Victor Patneaude, 228 Madison St., Topeka, Kan., member of Knights and Ladies of Security, writes:

"Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength—but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work.

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again.

"This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider Peruna a household remedy."

Pneumonia Followed La Grippe

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time at little expense."

Pe-ru-na—A Tonic After La Grippe.

Mrs. Chas. E. Wells, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of a grippe, I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

Mrs. Jane Gift, Athens, Ohio, writes: "Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. I read a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. My husband bought me a bottle of Peruna. I was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was cured."

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY A. HARTLEY.

Mr. Wm. Hartley has just returned home from Lawrence, Mass., where he had been called by the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Hartley, which took place at the residence of her son John, very suddenly on Saturday last, Feb. 28th. The deceased lady had been ailing for some time, but her death was unexpected and came as a shock to her friends in Peterborough, as well as in Lawrence, where she had resided for a number of years. Previous to moving to Lawrence the deceased had resided in this city, where she had a large circle of friends. She leaves to mourn her loss four sons Wm. G., of this city, John, of Lawrence, Mass., Frank, of Providence, R.I., and James, of Minneapolis, Minn.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, March 2nd, from her late residence in Lawrence, and was largely attended.

THOMAS H. DARCY.

With shocking suddenness came death at noon Friday at Nicholls Hospital, of Mr. Thomas H. Darcy, proprietor of the Park Hotel, Burleigh Falls. Mr. Darcy had been spending a few days with his son, Mr. Fred Darcy, Charlotte street. Last night he was in apparently good health when retiring, but this morning at seven o'clock he was seized with a paralytic stroke. This was the second one within a year. He was removed to the hospital but he gradually grew worse until the end came.

The late Mr. Darcy was 57 years of age and was well and universally esteemed. As the proprietor of the Burleigh Falls summer resort he came in contact with a large number of people and by his kind and genial manner won for himself a host of friends. His demise will be deeply regretted. He was also for a number of years a resident of Peterborough, having owned about thirty years ago the Hotel Hub, then on Hunter street. He also ran an hotel under the old opera house, but when the Scott Act came into force he removed to Rochester, N.Y. He returned to Canada eight years ago, taking up his residence at Burleigh Falls, where he conducted the Park hotel until the time of his death. He was married to Elisabeth Kelly, who still survives him.

Three sons and one daughter are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. Fred, of Peterborough, Warren and Rollie, at Burleigh Falls. The daughter is Mrs. Val Trainor, of New York City. Mrs. Wm. Cowle, Simcoe street, is a sister of the deceased.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Is a Candidate

"The Standard of Empire," which is published by the Standard, the great daily newspaper of London, Eng., and which is now being circulated through Canada, is offering a three weeks' trip in England, Ireland and Scotland and Wales, to the twelve High School students or students of similar institutions, who secure the greatest number of subscriptions between Feb 23 and June 1st, 1909. Three are to be sent from Ontario, two from the province at large and one from the City of Toronto, while the other provinces will have an opportunity of supplying a candidate. Harold Lees, a student of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, had been nominated and will be one of the candidates for Ontario.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop colds with Preventics is safer than to let them run and attempt to cure it afterwards. To be sure. Preventics will cure over a recently contracted cold, but often early—at the sneeze stage—they break. Or head off those nasty colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little candy Cold Chasers. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thousands of grown-ups. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache in the joints, if your head feels unusual, suspect Grippe and Pneumonia. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, night or day, Hawaii probably likes Preventics grand for children. Sold in 5c boxes for the pocket, 25c in 25c boxes of all druggists, direct on your druggists giving you

Preventics

"ALL DEALERS"

First At Home A Big Success

The first at home given at the Normal school since the opening eventuated last night and it proved to be a great success in every way. A large number of guests were present and they were delighted with the evening. The Conservatory orchestra furnished excellent music for the promenades. Dainty refreshments were served and the guests left for home to avail themselves of the Normal students' hospitality.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

363 - 365 GEORGE STREET — THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT — 160 - 162 SIMCOE STREET

TURNBULL'S SPECIALS FOR SATURDAY ONLY

DO YOU WEAR SIZE 36 IN A SUIT?

If 36 bust measure is your size you may have your choice of 21 different styles (manufacturers' samples) of Women's Tailored garments which came our way at a big price concession. There are navys, greens, browns and blacks in the lot, in the latest spring styles, but in one size only, 36. Of course we have all sizes in stock, but not at the same prices.

The regular prices of these suits are from

$15.00 TO $40.00

Our prices for Saturday

10.95 to 27.95

On sale in Cloak Department, Second Floor.

12 1-2 to 20c Percales 10c

English Prints and Percales in heavy and fine makes, dark and light grounds in stripes, checks and floral designs, some a full yard wide, all absolutely fast colors, worth in the regular way 12½c to 20c. Our price,

SATURDAY, YARD 10c

A Clearing in Petticoats

Sateen, Moreen and a few Silk and Heatherbloom Underskirts in all sizes. These are maker's Samples and odd lines of our own stock, in black and a few light colors, worth up to $5.00 each. Your choice Saturday,

Exactly Half Marked Price

New Separate Skirts $4.95

Several styles of New Skirts in vendiana, panamas and serges in black, navy and the new grey in plain gored designs or with fold of self on bottom and button trimmed, all sizes. Your choice

SATURDAY, $4.95

A New White Waist for 98c

Your time is too valuable to spend in sewing and if we gave you the material free you could not make a waist for the price at which we will show a fine lawn waist nicely trimmed with emb'dy and tucking and with the hem sleeve. Saturday, All Sizes 98c

DRESS-MAKING AND LADIES' TAILORING DEPARTMENT

In our Dress-making and Ladies' Tailoring Department we have every facility for producing the very best styles of the season. The head of this department Miss Welsh has just returned from New York and other fashion centres where she has had the opportunity of studying the season's newest ideas. She is assisted by a staff of expert workers, hence we can guarantee you perfect satisfaction in style, fit and workmanship.

NO OUTSIDE MATERIAL WILL BE ACCEPTED IN THIS DEPT. & ORDERS ARE FILLED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED

THE NEW DRESS MATERIALS

We have prepared on a larger scale than ever before in our dress goods buying. Our steadily growing dress goods trade enables us to show every weave in all the popular shades in plain and stripes in Chiffon Broadcloths, Satin Cloths, Ottomans, Taffetis, Bengalines, Panamas and Sergettes, every purse, varying from 50c to $2.50 a yard.

Home-Furnishing Specials

Naturally, you turn to this store's Home-Furnishing section when planning your spring renovations. We will have some money-saving specials Saturday in Carpets, Wilton Squares, Curtains, Linoleums, Iron and All-Brass Beds, Mattresses and Springs.

$1.50 Lace Curtains 95c

New spring patterns in 3½ Nottingham Lace Curtains, made of strong lace threading 50 to 60 inches wide and 3½ yards long. Some have the new finished top, regular $1.50 lines,

SATURDAY A PAIR 95c

$4 Tapestry Curtains 2.65

50 inch Tapestry Curtains, full length with knitted fringe top and bottom, suitable for library or dining room, in crimson, gold, blue and green. Our $4.00 Curtain,

SATURDAY A PAIR 2.65

$12 Silk Portiere Curtains 7.45

The best quality in Silk Portiere Curtains, in large size trimmed with extra heavy fringe, in plain Broche patterns, in light or dark crimson and green shades of green. Our $12.00

SATURDAY 7.45

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 56 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Britons Aghast Over Shelving of Admiral Lord Chas. Beresford

London, March 6.—The country learnt with amazement and misgiving that Lord Charles Beresford was to be deprived of his command of the Channel Fleet after only two years' tenure of that office. The official statement issued by the Admiralty is as follows,

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, G.C.V.O., K.C.B., will vacate his appointment as Commander-in-Chief of the Channel Fleet on March 24th, on the termination of his command after two years' service.

The more important vessels of the present Channel Fleet will then form the Second Division of the Main Fleet, under the command of Vice Admiral Sir A. Berkeley Milne, Bart, K.C.V.A.

His Majesty the King has approved of the selection of Vice-Admiral George Neville, C.V.O., to command all the nucleus crew vessels, which will form the Third and Fourth Divisions of the Main Fleet, and his flag will be flown at Sheerness. His appointment will date March 24th.

Owing to the constitution of the Home Fleet, which took place in 1905, shortly before Lord Charles Beresford assumed command of the Channel Fleet, the active service squadrons were greatly reduced in strength, and the first line of defence has since entirely consisted of the Channel Fleet.

It has been Lord Charles Beresford's constant endeavor to bring that fleet to the utmost pitch of perfection, a design in which he has been constantly hampered by the general disorganization of the service resulting from the sudden and violent changes in the administration of the Board of Admiralty, and a policy which has gravely impaired the discipline of the fleet.

It now appears that, coincidently with Lord Charles Beresford's supersession, a further reorganization is to be instituted.

The Admiralty statement is highly ambiguous; but it would seem that the board now intends to constitute a new seagoing fleet, probably consisting of the Nore Division of the Home Fleet, of which the Channel Fleet is to form the Second Division.

REVERSAL OF POLICY.

If it should be the intention of the Admiralty to form a large and homogeneous seagoing fleet for the defence of home waters, they are about to reverse their whole policy for the past three years, and to recognise in principle the principle for which Lord Charles Beresford has always contended—the principle that readiness for war can only consist in the maintenance of a powerful seagoing fleet in a high state of training. It is at this moment that the Government decides to order Lord Charles Beresford to haul down his flag.

Without any disparagement to the abilities of other distinguished officers, such as Admiral Sir William May, who is presumably to command the new "Main Fleet," it is still not unreasonable to ask why Lord Charles Beresford, who has brought the Channel Fleet to its splendid standard of efficiency, was not asked to accept the command?

QUIETLY PUT AWAY.

He is not appointed to another position; he is requested to haul down his flag and is placed on half pay. His vast experience and brilliant abilities are thus lost to the country, with those of Admiral Sir Lewis Beaumont, Admiral Sir Arthur Moore and Admiral Sir Reginald Custance, all distinguished officers who are kept without employment.

The government may rest assured that its act on will provoke the widest uneasiness and indignation unless the First Lord can show that Lord Charles Beresford vacated his command at his own request.

It now remains to be seen whether Lord Charles Beresford will re-enter Parliament. He has already held the following seats; Waterford, 1874-80; East Marylebone, 1885-9; 1897-1900.

Proposal to Prohibit the Running of Automobiles on Saturday and Sunday

Toronto, March 6.—That the automobile as a means of locomotion on country roads is looked upon with anything but favor by farmers is being evidenced in the Legislature.

Some time ago Mr. D. C. Ross, of North Middlesex, asked a whole lot of questions concerning automobiles that did not evince a very friendly spirit. Major J. J. Craig, of East Wellington, has, however, a much more drastic proposal, of which he will give notice of motion shortly.

It is, in a word, to prohibit entirely the running of automobiles on Saturday and Sunday in such localities as the county council shall order.

The two days selected were picked on as Saturday is market day, when the country roads are very busy with farmers' conveyances, and Sunday was chosen as the "day of rest." This does not apply to cities.

The bill is so drastic that it is hardly probable it will pass the House.

Indian Anarchist Colony in London is Being Kept Under Close Surveillance

Many of the Leaders are Law Students and Gather in Their Rooms in the Temple to Discuss "The Second Mutiny" and Draw Up Insidious Plots

London, March 6.—A close watch is being kept by the authorities on the leading members of the Indian anarchist colony in London. Signs of activity have lately been noticed among those whose cry is "India for the Indians," and the police are prepared to deal with any emergency that may possibly arise.

Many of these Indian extremists in London are barristers or law students. They meet in each other's chambers in the Temple and talk of the "Second Indian Mutiny."

Most of them are mild-mannered, spectacled young men who confine their sedition to talk, but reports of their meetings are "communicated" to anarchist papers circulated by stealth in India, and the natives are invited to draw their own conclusions. The most violent of the extremists may be seen sitting in the law courts in the Strand, side by side with their loyal countrymen, studying English law and customs while plotting against the British.

"Their idea is to fan a flame of discontent among the unlettered natives by misrepresenting England," said an English barrister. "They vilify the English whose hospitality they seek, and the ignorant natives, who believe that their statements are true, are incited to sedition. The publication of anarchist papers which are posted free to every Indian institution should be suppressed in London, as it has been in India, so far as possible."

A translation by "a promising young Indian student" in London of a French interview with Shyamji Krishnavarmi, M. A. Oxon, the editor of the Indian Sociologist, has been widely circulated in England.

The interviewer found Shyamji Krishnavarma, who is the head of the "India for the Indian" movement, at his flat in the Avenue Ingress, Passy, Paris.

"People in France are not ignorant of the real estate of Indian," says the interviewer. "India has been exploited and bled by England in a pitiless manner. But until now ones only knew the general facts and some of the calumnies propagated by England.

"We have had the good fortune of being able to learn from a sure source what is passing in the land and mind of Indians. We have been allowed to interview one of the most eminent chiefs of those whom the English call by the redoubtable name of 'Indian extremists.' Mr. Shyamji Krishnavarma wears the severe dress of an English clergyman, his eyes sheltered behind a plain gold-rimmed glasses, and he expresses himself in English with perfect ease.

"But as soon as I spoke to him about his ideas and propaganda there was a sudden change. The plaid mien gave way to energetic gestures. It was no longer a scholar before me but a prophet.

"'Our program,' said he. 'Oh, it is not complicated; it is neither burdened with secrets nor subtleties. Here it is in four words; "India for the Indians."

"'I voluntarily exiled myself from England eighteen months ago, and from India eleven years ago, so that I could continue my propaganda with all freedom.

"'And look here,' he added, smiling, 'this is what is frightening England.' He showed a little monthly sheet of four pages of the size of a handkerchief. It was the Indian Sociologist.

"'To govern and enslave three hundred millions of Indians,' Shyamji continued, 'there are about two hundred thousand English, counting women and children.

UNDERMINING LOYALTY.

"'It would be impossible for them to do anything if they had not the assistance of a considerable number of the indigenous people. The day on which the English official does not find an Indian servant, the government no more police, the army no more recruits, on the day when at last India ceases to contribute to her own enslavement, then British rule will be a thing of the past.'

"But they talk about anarchists. Are you in favor of them?"

"'It is a lie. There are no anarchists in India. People there do not even know the word. What we wish for is to free our lives from the foreign rule that poisons or corrupts us.

"'As to my paper, it is still going on in the knowledge and sight of the whole world, printed in London. The English government must have indeed come to a bad pass to complain because its editor stays in Paris.'

"What are your hopes?"

"'Who knows?' replied Shyamji. 'An English paper made me predict the fall of England within ten years. I may be too sanguine—but all is possible.

"'Who would have predicted after the Chino-Japanese war that six years later Japan would beat Russia? And the independence of the United States of America? What man would have even thought of it ten years before it came to pass?

"'As for myself, I shall continue my propaganda until death. If they drive me from France the world is vast. For him who has left his own country, it costs little to emigrate from one country to another.

"'But I doubt not the final success of the cause.'"

This interview, has appeared in Paris as an accurate statement of affairs in India and Mr. Shyamji Krishnavarma was so delighted with it that he had it translated for London readers.

The City's Representatives at the Cement Exhibit in Toronto

City Engineer T. A. S. Hay and Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, were in Toronto a couple of days last week representing the city at the Portland Cement Exhibition and Good Roads Convention. The exhibition was held in the St. Lawrence Market arena, and was the best thing of its kind ever attempted in Canada, and it was freely stated that it was superior to the exhibition held in Chicago a few weeks previous. There were exhibits of all kinds of machinery used in making cement and in converting cement into what is now recognized as one of the most permanent and economical building materials. Machines were in operation making concrete bricks, fancy stone work, sewer pipes, etc., and there was also demonstrated the process of laying concrete. Some of the exhibits were of white concrete used for statutary and for ornamental parts of buildings.

The lectures on concrete and its many uses were delivered at the King Edward Hotel, and were very largely attended. The speakers were all experts in the cement business, and their address divulged much valuable information. The Peterborough delegates took a great deal of interest in both the exhibition and the lectures and the city will be benefitted by the visit of the two gentlemen.

The city engineer and Ald. Phelan also attended the lectures at the Good Roads convention on Friday and although most of the addresses were on rural road making there was considerable information that was applicable to city roads.

Formal Opening of Methodist Church

The new St. James church at Aylmer and Romaine streets, is about completed and the formal opening is fixed for Sunday, March 28th. Of course services have been held in the basement of the building, but the main auditorium will not be ready for occupation until March 28th.

The special preacher for the opening day will be Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Lindsay, a former pastor of George street church, and well-known in Peterborough. It is also the intention to hold a tea and entertainment on the following Monday evening, when the city clergy and other prominent gentlemen will be invited to give addresses.

At present there is a membership of St. James church of between 80 and 90 persons. However, it is steadily growing, the south end of the city, during the past few years, being particularly a place for new residents.

Was Expelled from the Cheese Board

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held in the Bank of Montreal Board Room Saturday morning. There was a good attendance and a keen interest in the welfare of the board. The board. The officers elected for 1909 are as follows;—

President—J. Coughlin

1st Vice-Pres.—W. A. Anderson,

2nd Vice-Pres.—W. C. Switzer.

Sec.-Treas.—E. Hawthorne.

Auditors—W. Miller and W. J. Bullock.

Ald. G. A. Gillespie still holds the position of arbitrator.

It was decided to expel Mr. W. Cook for three months (until the end of July). It was stated that he had bought a large amount of the cheese at the boarding at 12 3-4 and 12 1-4 cents, but did not even go to inspect it. It was afterwards sold to other buyers at 11 5-8 cents.

The financial statement showed a balance of $16.

A Male Choir Lead Singing

A very interesting service was held in St. Andrew's last night when the music was furnished by a strong male choir. During the evening the quartette composed of Messrs. Mortimer Johnston, Gordon Wright, Jas. Gerrard and Jas. Browne rendered very acceptably "The Wayside Cross." Rev. Mr. Potter gave as a solo, "Come unto Me." The special preacher was Rev. Wm. Lee, M.A., of Wyoming. A large congregation was present.

Russian Women Want Suffrage and Free Love

St. Petersburg, March 6.—The first congress of the women of the Russian empire is a landmark in the history of the modern movement for the emancipation of women. For the first time women from every part of the empire, including representatives of Poland, the Baltic provinces, Finland, and not a few Jewesses, gathered in St. Petersburg to discuss social and political questions.

A number of general resolutions, adopted at a general meeting embody the principles put forward by the congress.

The first demand is the votes for women. Thus runs the resolution;

The first demand is votes for women. Congress has thrown, as far as was within its power, a light on the political requirements and economic needs of the contemporary Russian woman, and has led it to the deep conviction that these demands can only be satisfied by equal rights for women, no only in skilled work but in the political structure of the country, access to which will only be definitely opened to women with the introduction of a democratic regime on the basis of universal suffrage, without difference of age, sex or nationality. The congress places before women the great aim of acquiring these rights as the chief weapon for the emancipation and freedom of the personality of women.

The third resolution adopted by the congress deals with the important question of marriage. It was arrived at after a lively discussion, in the course of which one young woman said that the only reason which prevented her advocating free union in place of marriage was the consideration for the offspring of such "civil marriages"—to use the term adopted in Russia—who, under the existing law, find themselves in a less advantageous position than those born in wedlock. She found many to sympathize with her point of view, and one woman rose and declared that marriage was prison.

The resolution is as follows;

Considering that the contemporary form of marriage does not satisfy the ripened understanding and needs of society, and finding that unions outside of marriage cast a serious reflection on the children, the congress is in favor of the following changes and additions to the civil law.

1. To enlarge the number of reasons for the dissolution of marriage on a basis of equal rights to both sides.

2. The next two clauses deal with the abolition of certain limitations to a married woman's independence which exist under the present law.

3. To broaden the rights of children born out of marriage, so to extend their rights of inheritance not only to the acquired property of the mother, but also to the entailed property, and to strengthen the bond between a child born out of wedlock with its father by a number of changes and additions to the existing law.

According to the law as it is at present, a father can legitimatize his natural children. The last clause of the above resolution, taken in connection with the preceding words, gives the impression that the changes suggested ought to be made not only for the sake of unfortunate children, but in order to enable adults to enter into free unions under more favorable conditions.

Late Earl of Leicester Had Two Silver Weddings and Left Eighteen Children

London, March 6.—The death at the age of eighty-seven of the Earl of Leicester, K.G., which occurred Holkham Hall, Norfolk, England, recalls a remarkable family history.

Lord Leicester was in many ways unique among English nobles. Born in 1822, a descendant of the great lawyer, Sir Edward Coke, who prosecuted Raleigh and the gunpowder plotters, the son of the first peer of the present creation, he succeeded to the title at the age of twenty. Taking his seat in the House of Lords in the following year, he became the "Father of the House of Lords" on the death of Lord Templemore in 1903.

Lord Leicester's father, "Coke of Norfolk," was for many years "Father of the House of Commons" (he entered parliament over 70 years ago), and the ancient title of Earl of Leicester was conferred upon him when he was thirty-five years of age. The first earl has no issue by his first marriage, and did not marry his second wife, the nineteen-year-old daughter of Lord Abermarle, until he was seventy.

An amusing story is told concerning this marriage. The earl had originally designed that his heir-presumptive, his nephew, should marry the woman who afterwards became his own wife. But the nephew not favoring the notion, proposed in such a lukewarm fashion that his suit was rejected.

The earl, however, asked the woman to reconsider her decision, when upon the story goes that she replied "No, I will not marry your nephew, but I will marry you if you like." The issue of this marriage cut the nephew out of his fortune, for the earl became the father of a family of sons, including the one who has just died.

The late Lord Leicester was twice married and had eighteen children, fourteen of whom survive. His eldest son, Viscount Coke, was born in 1848, while the youngest son, Hon. Lovel Coke, is only seventy years old, and is the uncle of Lord Lovat, who will be thirty-five in April. The Hon. Mr. Lovel has, however, in the Dowager, Lady Powerscourt, a half sister of sixty-two.

Old Testament and the New

Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray street Baptist church, preached an especially interesting sermon Sunday evening on "The Old Testament and the New." The sermon dealt with the present problem being discussed of certain portions of the Old Testament. The text was taken from Heb. I; 1 and 2;—"God, who at sundry times and in divers manners, spoke in the past unto the gathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son. There was a large congregation present, and the discourse was greatly appreciated.

Bank of Ottawa Had a Close Call on Sunday

Peterborough's fire fighters demonstrated to the satisfaction of at least the Bank of Ottawa that they are a profitable organization. Yesterday at 12 40 a couple of the clerks entered the bank and discovered a fire in the basement. No time was lost in telephoning an alarm to the fire hall and the department made a quick turnout. When the men arrived upon the scene it was found that a big pile of waste paper in the basement was blazing merrily and the flames had even caught onto the joist of the main floor and in a couple of more minutes there would have been a fire which chemicals could not have controlled. As it was twelve gallons of chemicals were used and the damage was very small. A little damage was also caused to the electric light wires. The whole building was filled with smoke and at first the fire looked more serious than it turned out to be.

Show Stopped in the Second Act

The patrons of the Grand Opera House were given a surprise on Saturday night when at the close of the second act of "Come Back to Erin," the manager of the company stepped to the footlights and stated that the performance would be discontinued and that all those present would be refunded their money. It appears that Mr. Small of Toronto, who handles all the shows on this circuit, had wired the management of the opera house to retain the portion of the receipts due the company to cover some accounts alleged to have not been paid. When the manager of the company was informed of the message he promptly decided to stop the show. The house was fairly well filled and the people were greatly disappointed.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Running Cars on Sabbath

The Peterborough Radial Railway Co., has gotten into the bad graces of the Lord's Day Alliance, and and questions were asked last night. The railway company has always made it a practice to run a car over the system on Sunday nights when necessary in order to ensure an uninterrupted traffic on Monday morning. For instance if there is a snow storm Saturday night and a thaw on Sunday and cold that night ice forms on the rails and it is very difficult for the first cars to navigate. Rather than have the cars behind time Monday morning and many workmen late a car is sent out Sunday night to clear the rails. This is done every night and frequently in the winter a car is run all night and if necessary the sweeper and snow plow. But last night there was only ice on the rails and the ordinary car answered the purpose. The Lord's Day Alliance got wise, and made enquiries, but it is not likely anything will come of it.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Knotty Nerves Untangle

when the change is made from coffee to

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Dorando and Hayes Afraid of Fred Simpron

Toronto, March 6.—Fred Simpson, the Ojibway thunderbolt, and Tom Eck came back from New York today. Simpson went on to his home in Hiawatha, while Eck remained in Toronto.

"Simpson has been matched to run a Maraschino race in Newark's ball park on Sunday, March 21." said Tom Eck today. "We are at last getting a chance at the big ones. The New York managers refuse to give Simpson a match with Dorando, Hayes, or Longboat."

Eck wants to put Simpson against Shrubb at 15 miles next week in Riverdale, or he will run a relay consisting of Henry Jackson, the Midland Indian, and W. F. Cumming.

Three Firemen Got Bail

Owing to the favorable progress Deputy Fire Chief Grange has been making the past few days, bail was granted to the three firemen who were being held on the charge of assaulting the deputy chief. The trial was fixed for Tuesday, but it is understood a further adjournment will be made until Thursday.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasant syrup—25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Creeps Like a Serpent

Catarrh is an Insidious Disease, scarcely Noticeable at First, but Horrible Relentless if not Checked.

No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh, has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kill the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents a dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other medicines have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a common-sense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession and all intelligent pharmacists.

You are sure to be benefitted quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial Size, 25c. Sold by Druggists and N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY.

Publishers and Proprietors.

Peterborough, Ontario.

MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1909

THE ASIATIC PROBLEM

Apropos of the latest disallowance of a British Columbia Anti-Asiatic act, the Vancouver Saturday Sunset says:

"The situation is one of intolerable and overbearing tyranny on the part of the Dominion Government. Laurier and his colleagues are determined that this province shall willfully submit to their dictum."

The Ottawa Journal says surely it is a pity to talk that way. The only protection British Columbia has against Asiatic aggression, or at least against the Japanese, is the British flag. Without that, British Columbia would either have to swallow such Asiatic immigration as Japan dictated or be swallowed herself as a Japanese conquest. Whatever time British Columbia wants played, Great Britain must pay the piper. This being the case, Great Britain's interest must be fairly considered by British Columbia and Canada. Even as things are Great Britain is being put to difficulty and in a sense shame because Great Britain's own subjects like the Sikhs are objected to on the coast. To suppose that Eastern Canada feels no concern in the matter, no sympathy for the trouble of the coast, no desire to get things right is a mistake. The trouble is that in honor we are called upon to feel sympathy for not only British Columbia, but Great Britain, by whose assistance alone we or British Columbia can put any check upon Asiatic immigration. If the coast could show this end of Canada any way to prohibit Asiatic immigration which would not be a slap in the face to the power to which we can alone look for the enforcement of the prohibition, this end of Canada would be well pleased British Columbia, Canada and Great Britain are each and all in a hole in this matter. Let us be patient with each other.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Always remember the Times Bookstore is headquarters for hand painted view Foley china. See the bread and butter plates with lift lock on ash, selling at only 25 cents.

TWO LIVES FOR ONE

There are few among us who will deem it right that the State should visit the sins of a father upon his children. Yet we are doing it in Ontario, as it is being done elsewhere.

On February 11 h a foreigner named Swyryda was hanged at Brampton for the crime of killing a countryman of his. On Tuesday, in this city, a child of this man, aged seven weeks, died, and the burial certificate ascribes the death of the infant to starvation.

Swyryda was called to account for the death of the boy he slew. Who will be called to account for the death of Swyryda's infant?

The blame, of course, rests on society—on the writer of this paragraph, and the reader of it, and on all others who assist in the maintenance of a system of half-justice which, while it does not neglect to hang a guilty Swyryda, leaves an innocent Swyryda to die also.

The man was hanged, and the hangman went his way. The State had done its duty; for men must not be allowed to slay each other. But when, for the general good, the State executes a man, should not the State send an agent to enquire into the affairs of a family whose roof it has hewn away? Why let children die, or do worse, for lack of a little attention? It would not be wise for the public to single out such families and assume direct responsibility for them, yet they are in peculiar case, and society should at least go the length of seeing that children are not included in their father's death sentence.—Toronto Star.

PRESIDENT TAFT ON TARIFF

President Taft in his inaugural address, expressed the opinion that the amount of protection afforded by the American tariff to farm, mine, and factory should be "equal to the difference between the cost of production abroad and the cost of production here."

If that principle is adhered to some sweeping reductions in the American tariff are in sight, because there is no country in the world in which the cost of production, whether in the field, mine or factory, is lower than it is in the United States. Cheap land and labor-saving machinery, together with comparative freedom from drought, makes it possible to grow wheat at less cost in the Western States than in India, even with the unlimited supply of proper labor in the latter country. There is no part of the world in which iron ore is taken from the mine, and landed at less cost than in Minnesota. While labor is more highly paid in American than in European factories, the difference in wages is fully offset by the greater output for an individual labor in the one case than in the other.

The fact that President Taft seems to assume that cost of production is greater in his own country than it is elsewhere is an indication of how little real study he has given to economic questions.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886. of (Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

IRELAND'S SHIPBUILDER.

Lord Pirrie Was Born In Quebec In 1847.

Lord Pirrie, the new Knight of St. Patrick chosen by the King, in succession to the Earl of Rosse, bears a name writ large in the maritime history of the age and in the industrial annals of the Empire. The great firm of which he is head—Messrs. Harland and Wolff, shipbuilders and engineers, Belfast, with which is associated the firm of John Brown and Co., of Sheffield and Clydebank—represents the largest shipbuilding and engineering combination in the world. Lord Pirrie himself is an Irishman by family and personal and industrial associations, but—to use an Irishism—he was born out of his native country. His family have long been resident in Ulster, but he himself first saw the light in Quebec in 1847. After the death of his father—in the year following—he was taken to Ireland, and in due course received his education in the Belfast Academical Institution. At the age of 15 he was apprenticed to the firm of Harland and Wolff, which even then was coming into prominence. Lord Pirrie became a partner in the firm and finally rose to be head of the great company.

While Lord Pirrie has gained fame for himself and his ships, he has been the greatest benefactor that Belfast and Ulster ever had. The suburb of Ballymacarrett, which thirty thirty years ago had a population of only a few thousands, housed most wretchedly amid insanitary surroundings, can now claim nearly 100,000, and no small part of that increase is due to the employment given by Messrs. Harland and Wolff. The wages paid by the firm amount to about £90,000 weekly, and from present indications even that sum will soon be exceeded. On an average 10,000 hands are employed in the works, and the number sometimes rises to 12,000. It is needless to say that the same enterprise which marks his Shipbuilding is displayed in the engineering works which have been added, and which are models in management and equipment, and in the readiness with which they can be utilized for all purposes and all emergencies. In addition to their contracts for the mercantile marine in all parts of the world, Lord Pirrie's firm have done extensive engineering work for the navy.

Of late years Lord Pirrie has differed in politics from the majority of his fellow-citizens, but this circumstance has not altered their appreciation of his services. He owes not a little of his social success to Lady Pirrie, whom he married in 1879. During the two years in which he was Lord Mayor of Belfast—years which were characterized by magnificent hospitality—she discharged the duties of her position in a manner which won the respect of all the citizens. It was during his Lord Mayoralty that the Victoria Hospital was established and endowed in Belfast, and the success of the scheme was in great measure owing to the energy, philanthropy, and popularity of Lady Pirrie. Lord Pirrie was also high sheriff of Down for one year, and high sheriff of Antrim for another, so that not only the city of Belfast, but the two counties in which it is situated, did him honor. Belfast further testified its admiration of his character by making him its first honorary freeman.

Delane's Fastidious Taste.

A characteristic of the famous editor of The London Times was the extraordinary thoroughness of his editorial revision. He watched with the utmost care not merely the substance and the general arrangement of an article, but every detail of expression. He could correct commas at 3.30 a.m., and would write one of his brilliant notes at that hour to warn a writer against an incorrect expression. I remember his own writing to me at that hour to protest against my using the word "action" to describe an act. "Action," he said, "is properly used only of a military action or an action at law." I think he was wrong, on the authority of the Scriptural expression 'The Lord is a God of knowledge, and by Him actions are weighed"; but the vigilance which could insist on such a point in the heat and haste of editing illustrates the indefatiable conscientiousness of his work. —The Dean of Canterbury in The Cornhill.

Human Salamander.

There has been much excitement at Mangrol, in Kathiwar, where a Mohammedan Punjabi has walked through a burning pit and hoals at white heat thrown on his head without being hurt, apparently. The Punjabi gave his exhibition on the grounds of the Sheik Sahib's palace. A pit was dug under his direction and lined with 300 pounds of firewood. When the whole thing was ablaze the heat was so great that it drove back bystanders, but the "saint" walked down into the pit and walked through it several times. He conducted two of the Sheik Sahib's servants through the "fiery furnace," and they also appeared to be immune to burns or other injuries. It is believed that the villagers in the vicinity of the Mangrol will shortly deify the Punjabi.

Smoking Potato Skins.

At the meeting of the Aylesbury, Eng., Board of Guardians recently a memorial from the workhouse inmates was read. It asked that Irish roll tobacco should be substituted for the usual allowance of shag, "which is of very bady quality, and only lasts till about Tuesday, and we have to make up with potato skins or anything else we can get hold of."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only.....	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted. Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, etc., apply at Times Bookstore.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent. In the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A.1

TIMES BOOKSTORE, Hunter street.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oreg.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent

F. SANDY, Depot Agent

FROM PETERBORO

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

SECOND CLASS ONE WAY

DAILY UNTIL APRIL 30th

Most Direct Route

Tourist Sleeping Cars on all Trains

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent, Peterboro

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:10 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway rates Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office, 51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office, 130 St. James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department, Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27

DOMINION..... March 13

SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class of passengers, $42.50 to $45.00 according to steamer. Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

14,000 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

App'y to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE, 118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BNNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no horrors. A safe and pleasing syrup —25c. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BANKS.

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE— Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets...33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

IENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 415 Water street. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T. MEDD, W.S. DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 6 p.m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL — HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING — METAL

LOCAL AGENTS: Peterboro Hardware Co

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729

William St. TORONTO

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

PRUDENTIAL MINES, Limited

Capital $2,000,000, Shares $1.00 par value fully paid and non-assessible.

Owners of five 40-acre claims known as the Todd-McNeil claims adjoining the townsite of Elk City. Claims developed and thirty veins stripped showing native silver. Will start shipping upon opening of river. Claims conceded to be the richest group in Montreal river district by all competent authorities

As the company is headed by the most honorable and conservative business men of Montreal, we are assured of a square deal all around, and no manipulating of stock.

We have the best Mining Engineer money can procure to put in charge of the work, namely,

J. C. BIEDLEMAN, OF SPOKANE, WASH.

Stock is not in the hands of any brokers, thereby saving the company the excessive commissions demanded by them, which enables us to put it in development work instead. The present allotment of stock is all that will be put on the market at any price.

Few thousand shares left at twenty-five cents per share

Subscriptions subject to previous sale. All cheques should be drawn direct to WILLIAM TEED, secretary-treasurer, of company and mailed to

The GODWIN, MURRAY, BARNHART, Limited

535 Board of Trade, Montreal, Canada.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

"OXOL"

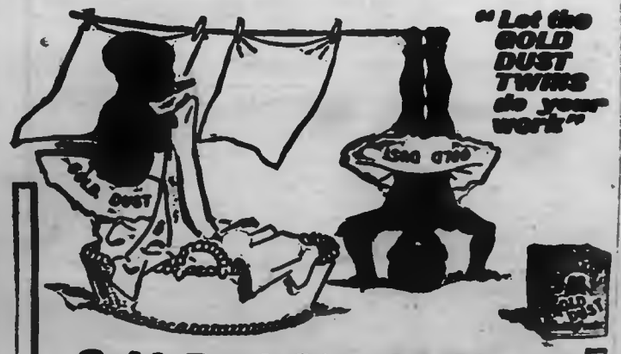
The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No; "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen, and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding, fattening and curing all animals, which to them mean money.

One agent only in each district who has sole contract of the local trade for agent's name, see future advertisements, etc.



Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.

Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER GENERAL USES FOR GOLD DUST | Scrubbing floors, washing dishes and dishes, cleaning woodwork, oil cloth, silverware and mirrors, polishing brass work, cleaning bath rooms, pipes, etc., and making the finest suds soon.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. Q.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

Advertise in The Times

A PRINCE OF BEGGARS

"CECIL DE SMITH" IS A MONTREAL MAN.

London Mendicant Who Proved to Be a Swindler, Was Born In This Country—Was Three Times Expelled From Schools Before 11 Years of Age — Learned in Hospital to Simulate Paralysis.

"Cecil de Smith," as he called himself, the man who was stopped short in a sensational career of begging in London recently under circumstances that recall Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes' story of "The Man With the Twisted Lip," proves to have been a native of Montreal.

After a long period of days spent in the streets of London extracting a princely income from kind-hearted passers-by with his apparently terribly paralyzed limbs, and nights spent in the most fashionable resorts in the West End, "De Smith" was caught, unmasked, and given a stiff prison sentence.

Here are parts of the autobiography written for an English paper:

"I have no wish to enter into all the details of my earlier life, nor shall I give my real name. That would only cause pain to many people who were associated with me before I was—what I am. Something, however, I can tell. I was born in Montreal, Canada, my father being a Nonconformist minister and my mother a French woman. I was the youngest of a family of nine. The wild streak in me showed early, and I was three time expelled from schools in Montreal before I was eleven years old. Many times I was birched. I looked on it as a painful but inevitable thing. And at last I absconded.

"After a long period of running about I found my life work.

"So one day, with my arm bent helplessly in front of me and dragging my leg helplessly I betook myself to Cheapside. At a tobacconist's opposite Bow Church I got twelve boxes of matches for fivepence, and begged a cigar-box. Then I took my stand outside and waited success. I was very neatly dressed, and to this I attribute a great deal of the sympathy I obtained. I looked like a deserving young man out of employment. Rags and dirt do not secure sympathy. They repel. But a decent young man apparently crippled for life is a different thing.

"I was a sham and a cheat. I admit it. But I had my temptations and they were powerful. My experience in hospital enabled me to counterfeit the symptoms of paralysis to the life. Of course, being apparently helpless in one arm and holding the cigar box with the other I could not take money in my hand. So I printed a little card, 'Please drop money in the box.' It was necessary to be very careful not to betray myself. Often, while slowly crossing the road dragging my feet along I have narrowly escaped being run over. To have flinched or jumped out of the way would have been fatal. I remember commencing on a Saturday afternoon. In two hours I had collected between fifteen shillings and a pound in silver and coppers. Naturally I did not let the money stay in the box. I would prop the box up against a wall and take the money out with my free hand.

"I found men more generous than women. In St. Paul's Churchyard and Regent street I got coppers. In Cheapside and Throgmorton street it was silver and gold. Men were more sympathetic than women in every way. They seldom took matches when they gave anything. Women would.

"It has been said that I used a disguise and distorted my features. This is untrue. To have done so would only have increased my difficulties. There was no need for disguise. I was respectably dressed and my only fraud was an assumption of paralysis. When questioned I invariably gave my right address. My story, too, was as true as it could be under the circumstances. When people wanted to see my home I arranged that they should call while I was there. For my wife knew nothing of my mode of life. All she knew was that I was 'something in the City.'

"My evenings were spent in a whirl of pleasure. I would change into evening dress and go to the West End for a nice little dinner at the Trocadero, or some other big restaurant. Theatres, music halls, and supper parties helped to make up the round. I had, as usual, plenty of friends to help spend the money I gained. There was nothing I enjoyed so much as those dinner parties. For while I was in the City I dare not be seen eating.

"I averaged about £5a day. Once or twice I got a £5 note dropped in my box. One occasion I remember distinctly. A City man who had an office in Fenchurch street had a talk with me, and gave half a crown with his card. On the back of the card was written: 'If I can do anything for you, write to this address.' I did not write, but the following day I went to his office. I told him I had been recommended to wear an electric belt, which was a fact. 'Very good,' he said. 'I will see you to-morrow.' The next day, as he passed, he gave me a sealed envelope. I did not open it till I was on my way home in the train. Then I found it was a £5 note. I bought the belt—it cost me 15s.—and went and showed it to him. I took no chances in those days.

"The largest sum I ever had given me was £6 10s. in silver and half-sovereigns. That came about in this way. I was outside the Stock Exchange on settling-up day. I had been suffering from a slight bilious attack and must have looked more ill than I felt. A crippled man asked me if I was ill. I said I was. He spoke to several men, and many gave him money. He brought me a double handful of silver coins and half-sovereigns, which he poured into my pocket. He repeated the journey twice. Then he gave me a stiff glass of brandy and soda, put me in a cab, gave the cabman his fare, and my first-class fare from London Bridge to the Crystal Palace, and saw me off."

Lindsay Post: Mr. Samuel Clegg, overseer of the Trent Canal, Peterborough, was in town this morning.—Mr. A. P. McLean of the George Matthews Co., Peterborough, was in town on business today.—Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, visited Ven. Archdeacon Casey today.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

GIVES UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

Best Remedy in the Market For Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough---It Always Cures And Is Pleasant and Safe to Take.

"I never had a medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Mr. P. M. Shore, of Rochester, Ind. "It is the best remedy to-day on the market for coughs, colds and whooping cough. One of my lady customers told me recently that she could not keep house without it, that since they have been using it they have had no need of a doctor." In case of a severe attack of croup a physician will usually call twice, and perhaps half a dozen times in a severe and long protracted case of whooping cough, while in pneumonia it is often necessary that he calls once or twice a day for a week or two. All of this trouble and expense may be saved by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for it is a certain cure for croup, and when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. Pneumonia can also be prevented. This fact has been fully proven, as during the almost forty years in which this remedy has been in general use, no case of a cold or attack of the grip has ever resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, so far as we have been able to learn. It will be seen that a little forethought and by doing the right thing at the right time, all danger and expense may be avoided. Bear in mind that every bottle of this remedy is warranted and if not as stated it will not cost you a cent.

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN

106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 28th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; blaques, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

GROWING EMPIRE.

Cession of Siamese Territory Adds Big Area to Greater Britain.

The negotiations which were commenced in 1907 and suspended last spring, between Great Britain and Siam for the cession to Great Britain of the Siamese States of Kelantan, Tringano, and Kedah, have been resumed, and an agreement on the subject has (Reuter's Agency learns) been practically reached. There is reason to believe that an Anglo-Siamese treaty by which, in return for certain advantages, Siam will renounce her suzerainty over the states in question in favor of Great Britain, is likely to be signed at Bangkok in the immediate future. The immediate effect of the conclusion of such a treaty will be the inclusion in the federated Malay States of an area of about 15,000 miles, or more than half the present area of the federated Malay States. The territory in question contains a large Mahometan population, amongst whom are a considerable number of British subjects, exceeding that of the federated Malay States themselves.

Mr. R. W. Duff, the managing director of an English company which holds, until 1940, extensive commercial, fiscal, and other rights in Kelantan, states, in regard to the above, that it is incorrect to assume that the cession of territory has been given as a quid pro quo for the relinquishment of British extra territorial rights in Siam proper, although it is quite possible that this question may also form part of the treaty. "It is much more likely," he added, "that advantages of a commercial nature have been granted to Siam in return. The proposed arrangement will strengthen the position of Great Britain in the Malay Peninsula, and will effectually prevent the possibility of the establishment of any important foreign interest which might lead to disputes in dependencies of Siam which are remote from effective control from Bangkok. From a strategic point it is valuable, as the federated Malay States railway system, which extends from Singapore to Penang, can now be extended considerably further northward.

A Famous Hunt.

The 42nd anniversary of that famous fox-hunt known as "the Waterloo run," from the fact that it had its inception at Waterloo Gorse, has just taken place in England. Col. Anstruther-Thomson—who hunted with 101 different packs—was then master of the Pytchley Hounds, and they covered 30 miles in three hours and 45 minutes—the first 21 miles occupied only one hour and 50 minutes—but subsequently a rather long check was experienced. The railway was crossed four times and the canal once, and fox, hounds, and followers negotiated rivers and brooks upon nine occasions, while main and other roads came within the scope of operations at no fewer than 26 different points. The master rode five horses, and for an hour and 45 minutes was alone with the hounds. Those who ran a portion of this remarkable chase included Capt. Clark, who was the only man that rode the same horse through, and Tom Firr, the most scientific huntsman that ever carried a horn. Hounds were stopped owing to darkness, and it was ten at night when they reached home.

The Queen's Technical Schools."

It is not generally known that the Queen conducts a school at Sandringham. After they leave the ordinary school the village girls and boys on the Sandringham estate are received into "The Queen's Technical Schools" and taught an industry which will stand them in good stead during the whole of their lives. The girls are taught needlework, and the boys cabinet making. With the former some very beautiful work is done, in some cases the material used being actually spun and woven in the school. Lace-making, drawn-thread work, and embroidery of all kinds is carried out. The boys produce chairs, tables, trays, bureaus—in fact, almost anything in the furniture way, and the workmanship is really excellent. Many pieces of furniture are made for the King and Queen themselves to give away as presents. Often the King's guests go to see the school, and leave their orders. On the pages of the order book are to be found the signatures of the German Emperor, the late King and Queen of Portugal, the King and Queen of Spain, and the Queen of Norway.—The Country Home.

Hard on the Bishop.

Of Dr. King, the Bishop of Lincoln, who entered on his eightieth year the other day, many curious stories are told, notwithstanding the placid and uneventful life that he has led. One day, and he tells the tale himself, he was sitting in a chair by the seashore, and on attempting to rise found that his legs were not so young as they were. While he was still struggling to gain an erect position a fisherman's little daughter came along and lent her aid. "Thank you, little girl," said the bishop, when safely on his feet. "Oh, it's nothing," said the girl, in reply; "I've helped father to get up many a time when he hasn't been near so sober as you."

White Strawberries.

A grower, of Berkeley, England, has, after twenty years of experimental work, produced two new strawberries, one of which is quite white. The fruit is studded with fine seeds upon the outside, as are ordinary strawberries. Otherwise it is totally different from them. The plant bears throughout the winter in a congenial climate, similar to that which exists in the south of England, and, when set in frames during the winter, will bear freely till Christmas. The berries are large and of excellent flavor, equalling in these respects the Paxton and Royal Sovereign.

Glass Eye For Dog.

Having lost an eye in a scrimmage, one of the hounds of the Essex (Eng.) Harriers has been supplied with a glass one.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Preventics, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Orange Lily Saved My Life

These words or expressions having the same meaning are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of the womb; others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily; and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific never-failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. As a trial actually proves its merit, I hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a box worth 25c, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Address, with stamp,

MRS. E. F. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882

TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

Cosgrave's Beer

Wordsof praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.

OF TORONTO, LIMITED

—: NEW :—

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's

432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to.. 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID

432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

CLEAN Up INSIDE

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits safe to say that in the spring you feel poorly—have a throbbing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes. If not absolutely bilious the system is so full of bile that you feel heavy and tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh as a prize-fighter. "For ten years," says W. B. Sanguter, of Concord, "I suffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite, suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt despondent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new. I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this grand tonic medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect spring medicine; they destroy germs and poisons of every description and strength whereby the system rallies and the patient quickly enjoys the blessings of Perfect Health. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today—25c. At a. druggists.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phones—Office 443; House 496.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size,

McDONALD

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1910.

Young People

The Young People's Society of Murray street Baptist church, will meet tonight as usual when the subject for study will be "Adam rom Judson and his co-workers."

Prayer Service

Beginning next Sunday and every Sunday morning thereafter a prayer service from 10.30 until 11 o'clock will be held in the basement of the Murray street Baptist church, led by the office bearers.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Burleigh Power

Mr. J. H. Culverwell of Cobourg, the well known Burleigh power man was in the city on Saturday, interviewing several of the aldermen on the power question. As yet nothing definite has been done, it is expected that before long Mr. Culverwell will have a proposition to submit to the council.

Railway Bills

While in Toronto last week Ald. Phelan stayed over until Friday, and in company with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., visited the Parliament buildings. The bills granting the charters to the new electric railways from Cobourg to Port Hope and to Stony Lake were to have come up but were laid over until some other day when other railway bills will be considered.

St. Andrew's Church

The following meetings will be held in St. Andrew's church this week;—

Monday night—Young People's society.

Tuesday Night—Regular monthly meeting of the Young Ladies' Mission Band.

Wednesday—Prayer meeting at 7.45 and Teachers' meeting at 8.45.

Friday Night—Boys Guild.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even or a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

PERSONAL

Rev. Dr. Marsh is able to leave the confinement of his room for a short time each day now, but is still very weak.

The practice of "The Little Tycoon" will not be held this evening, but on Wednesday evening.

Miss Gladys Roy's friends will learn with pleasure that she is recovering from her recent illness and is now convalescent.

Mrs. D. Whetung has gone to the Nicholls Hospital to get her eyes operated on, as she is completely blind from a cataract.

Lindsay Post; Mr. Geo. Rathbun, Peterborough, was in town today.—Mr. M. J. Maher was in Peterborough Thursday.

The engagement of Dr. Lionel Pritchard and Miss Murial Smith, is announced in St. John's Newfoundland—Toronto Saturday Night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman returned on Saturday evening after a most enjoyable five weeks' trip through the Southern States and Cuba.

Lakefield News; Miss A. Martin, of Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Lulu Murduff a few days this week.—Miss Preston and Miss Ward of Peterborough, spent Sunday in the village visiting friends.

The many friends of Mr. Benjamin Cooney, who underwent an operation at Nicholls Hospital a month ago, will be pleased to know that he has been able to return home. Mr. Cooney also desires to express his appreciation of the kindness of the staff of nurses at Nicholls Hospital, accorded him during his stay there.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's Little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN WASSON.

The many friends of Mrs. John Wasson and family, were greatly grieved to learn of her death on Saturday at noon. The deceased lady had been unwell for several years but her trouble was not at all serious until about six weeks ago and since that time she gradually grew weaker. Mrs. Wasson was a native of Havelock and after her marriage moved to Warsaw where she resided until about four years ago when she came to the city and took up her residence with her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Brock street. She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and was all her life a faithful worker for the good of others. The late Mrs. Wasson was 61 years of age, and besides her husband, leaves two sons and one daughter to mourn her loss. The sons are Dr. Wasson of Victoria, B.C., and Ernest of this city. Mrs. W. A. Sanderson is the only daughter. The funeral will be held today at one o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Sanderson, and interment will take place at Warsaw cemetery.

CHAS. N. DUSTY.

The death occurred Friday night at his late residence, 192 Dalhousie street, of Charles Nelson Dusty, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was well and favorably known by a large circle of friends who will learn with deep regret of his demise. He had been a resident of Peterborough for many years during which time he won the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

His wife and three sons are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. Benjamin and Norman of this city and Oliver in the West.

The funeral will take place this morning from the family residence to the G.T.R. train for Lindsay, where interment will take place.

The best attraction of the season. Owen Smily and best local talent at the Conservatory Tuesday, March 9th. Tickets 25 cents.

WEDDING BELLS

LUNDY—CLARKSON

One of Peterborough's most charming and most popular young ladies became a bride Saturday afternoon, when Miss Pearl Catharine Lundy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer street, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Palmer Clarkson, son of the late Capt. Chas. Clarkson, of Halifax, N.S. The ceremony was performed in All Saints' church at 3.45 o'clock, the rector, Rev. H. R. Trumpour officiating in the presence of only a few of the immediate friends of the young couple. As the bridal pair entered the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the Conservatory of Music orchestra, and after the ceremony, Miss Reesor, of the Conservatory, sang in excellent voice, "O Fair O Sweet and Holy."

The young couple were unattended. The bride wore a chic travelling suit of mouldard colored cloth, and carried violets and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train for Cobalt, where they will reside. They will stop at Toronto en route.

The best attraction of the season, Owen Smily and best local talent at the Conservatory on Tuesday, March 9th. Tickets 25 cents.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NILE'S VALUE TO EGYPT.

Why It Is Necessary For Great Britain to Hold the Soudan.

In his note on the budget for 1909 Paul Harvey, financial adviser to the Egyptian Government, says:

"The year 1909 has not been a period of economic prosperity for Egypt. Nevertheless the economic situation is, in fact, essentially sounder now than it has been for some years past. The complaints which are heard are due in a measure to a comparison of the present situation with times of abnormal and morbid commercial activity.

"The portion of the expenditure which has incurred the severest criticism is that which has been devoted to the Soudan. The criticism is, however, based on an incomplete understanding of a large political and economic problem. The essence of Egypt's prosperity is the water of the Nile. The diminution of this supply, particularly in the critical summer months, would involve an incalculable loss to Egypt. But this would at once result, if the Nile water were diverted, as it very well might be, to the irrigation of the Soudan. It is to maintain the supply intact at its source that Egypt holds the Soudan. Unfortunately, the Soudan is not to be held without sacrifice. A vast country, almost entirely undeveloped, without communication, largely occupied by unruly tribes, needs expenditure on its administration considerably in excess of its annual revenue.

"To remedy this situation two objects must be pursued, the development of the country's resources, and internal security. For both these purposes capital expenditure is necessary. The soundness of this policy has been proved by the growth in eight years of the Soudan revenue from £E.187,500 to £E.1,000,000, and the reduction last year of the Egyptian annual subsidy from £E.263,000 to £E.-208."

MASTERS IN CONCLAVE.

Pedagogue Caused a Sensation By Showing Ignorance of Scholars.

Something awful happened the other day. The headmasters of the great English public schools met in conference, and proceeded to tell each other how they believed the young idea should be taught to shoot. The headmaster of Birmingham caused shudders of horror to run down the small of all the pedagogic backs by telling how he had discovered a "University scholar" who actually didn't know that the stars shifted of nights, but thought they just stayed where they had been put to twinkle. The whole house of lords saw that the only thing to do was to applaud wildly, which they did. And the Birmingham man, thus stimulated, worked himself to the strong language pitch. He said that the condition of that university scholar could be characterized only as one of "gross, impenetrable, and swinish ignorance" — and again all the heads reared applause. All but one. A headmaster of Rugby school rose, unafraid, and said, "I have never listened to such unmitigated rubbish." Then he showed the great heads gathered together in council that, while a knowledge of the movement of the stars was a very pleasant thing, a man might still have a very fine culture without knowing anything beyond the nursery rhyme lore that they twinkled, twinkled, and were wonderful. He went on to explain that all our modern science was good, but not essential to the deepest humanity; men had lived very well, and thought very highly, for some thousands of years without knowing anything at all about these mysteries of nature. In the end, the masters seemed to be of his opinion.

Relics of Queen Mary.

The late Lord Herries, of Everingham Park, York, England, and Caerlaverock, Dumfrieshire, Scotland, father of the Duchess of Norfolk, who inherited his Scottish titles, left unsettled property of the gross value of $370,000, of which the net personality has been sworn at $3,500. The executrix is his wife, and to her (who it is stated in the will has been amply provided for by marriage settlement and otherwise), to his daughter Angela, and to other relatives he leaves various bequests. His family jewels and plate, also relics of Queen Mary and Lord Darnley's cloak and his furniture, are left as heirlooms following the settlement of his Yorkshire and Lincolnshire estates, as settled on the marriage of his daughter Gwendoline Mary to the Duke of Norfolk. He left his effects at Kinharvie to follow the Scottish deed of disposition of the Caerlaverock estates. The residue of his property he left to his daughter, Gwendoline Mary, Duchess of Norfolk.

Scottish Marriage Custom.

Many quaint marriage customs still survive in many old English and Scottish families. One notable tradition of this sort still kept green by the Dukes of Atholl and their heirs is that of the bridegroom carrying the bride across the threshold of Blair Castle, it being in accord with an ancient tradition that it is unlucky for a bride who enters the castle for the first time to walk in the ordinary way. This is one of the many quaint old feudal customs that are observed upon this estate, which the Duke of Atholl holds from the crown by one of those strange tenures which are occasionally to be found in Great Britain. Upon fear of forfeiture the owner has to present his sovereign with a white rose whenever he or she visits the castle.

The Social "Doctor."

Probably one of the most interesting of the many occupations followed at St. Martin's-le-Grand, London, is that of the "social doctors." These worthies are really our senior sorters, who perform the special duty of "doctoring" material packages, etc., which, owing to insecure or careless packing—have become broken or damaged in transit. It is in the sorting-room that they are humorously termed "doctors." Articles of infinite variety pass through these "doctors'" hands, from the gold of the realm, bank-notes, and stamps, to bottles of medicine, oil, and spirits.

Settlers Excursions to the Northwest

The Canadian Pacific Railway will run special trains for settlers going West with live stock and effects, leaving Toronto at 10.15 p. m. every Tuesday in March and April. Colonist cars will be attached and trains run by Canadian Pacific direct time saving route, no changes, delays or customs examinations. Settlers travelling alone and with their families should use regular passenger trains, leaving Toronto at 10.15 p. m. daily. By doing so, and paying a small charge for berths, they will have the added comfort of the journey in a tourist sleeper. "Settlers' Guide," free pamphlet giving full particulars and rates, may be obtained of nearest C.P.R. agent, or direct from R. L. Thompson, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

HOCKEY

An interesting hockey match was played in Brock street rink Saturday afternoon between two juvenile teams, the Petes of the city, and the Shamrocks of Lakefield, and after an hour's hard play the score was a tie, five all. Two minutes overtime was played but no scoring was done. The return game will be played in Lakefield on Thursday night. The teams lined up as follows;

Petes.		Shamrocks
Smith	Goal.	Graham
Meldrum	Point.	J. Kennedy
Morrow	Cover.	C. Kennedy
Halpany	Center	Quinlan
Huard	Rover.	Smith
C. Halpany	Right.	Sabatino
Phelan	Left.	Young

Referee—Mr. Sabatino.

Entombed Eight Days.

Twenty-four natives have been rescued alive and well from the Witwatersrand gold mine, which was flooded by the outbursting of dams a few days ago.

The condition of the natives who have been rescued is wonderful, considering their eight days' entombing without food.

The wives of Mr. Prout, the manager, Dr. Perkins, the mine doctor, and Mr. Matthews, the mine captain, accompanied their husbands with the rescue party below.

It is believed that the constant supply of compressed air saved the lives of those rescued.

The greatest efforts are still being made to effect the rescue of any men who may still be alive in the mine.

Explained to the Wrong Duchess.

That distinguished stateman Lord John Russell once took the then Duchess of Inverness into dinner. When Lord John got to his place, he suddenly left his ducal partner, and walked round to the other side of the table and sat down beside the Duchess of St. Albans. Lady Russell asked her husband afterwards: "What on earth made you leave the Duchess of Inverness and go across to the Duchess of St. Albans?" "Well," replied Lord John Russell, "I should have been sick if I had sat where they had placed me, for the fire was at my back." "But I hope," said Lady Russell, "that you explained this to the Duchess of Inverness?" "Oh, no, I didn't," replied her husband, "but I did to the Duchess of St. Albans!"

Madame Albani's Gracious Act.

The fact that Madame Emma Calve recently sang at the bedside of a doctor who was ill and had expressed a desire to hear her magnificent voice recalls a similar incident in the career of another famous prima donna, Madame Albani. Some years ago, when she was on a visit to Norwich, an old gentleman, who had formerly heard her sing "The Last Rose of Summer," wrote to ask if he might hear it again just once more before he died. Although he was a total stranger, Madame Albani was so touched at his request that she went straight to the bedside of the invalid and cheered his last moments with her wonderful rendering of the beautiful song.

Novel Service In Memory of Milton.

A C.P.S.A. service held at the Fulham (Eng.) Congregational Church recently in connection with the Milton tercentenary, a blind man read the lessons, a blind quartette sang to the accompaniment of a blind organist and a blind man played the piano. The subject of the address was "John Milton, the Blind Poet."

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine sediment is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP-- RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

La Grippe Is Epidemic Catarrh.

THE disease now known as 'grip' used to be called 'influenza.'

It very closely resembles a cold, but is more tenacious in its hold upon the system and produces more profound disturbances.

Grip is in reality epidemic catarrh. When it once begins it spreads over the country very rapidly.

People do not catch the grip from each other, but each one catches it from the atmosphere.

"Most Effective Medicine Ever Tried for La Grippe."

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Cullowhee High School, Painter, N. C., is chairman of the Jackson County Board of Education.

He is a writer of occasional verse and has contributed to a number of leading papers and magazines,—religious, educational and secular.

In speaking of Peruna, Mr. Madison says:

"I am hardly ever without Peruna in my home. It is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried for la grippe.

"It also cured my wife of nasal catarrh. Her condition at one time was such that she could not at night breathe through her nostrils.

"In consequence, an inflamed condition of the throat was brought about, getting worse and worse and yielding to no remedy until Peruna was tried."

Healthy Mucous Membranes.

Those who are fortunate enough to have perfectly healthy mucous membranes ordinarily do not catch the grip.

The mucous membranes lining the nose, throat and lungs, when in a normal state, are an effectual barrier against the invasion of grip.

But, if there happens to be the slightest catarrhal derangement of the mucous membranes, then the victim becomes an easier prey to the grip.

This in part explains why some people get the grip, while others do not.

The rational thing to do is to keep the system free from catarrh. In attempting to do this most people have found Peruna to be invaluable.

Systemic Catarrh, the Result of La Grippe. Pe-ru-na Receives Credit for Present Good Health.

Mrs. Jennie W. Gilmore, Box 44, White Oak, Ind. Ter., formerly Housekeeper for Indiana Reform School for Boys, writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, which was followed by systemic catarrh.

"The only thing I used was Peruna and Manalin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before.

"I give Peruna all the credit for my good health."

The Medical Profession Recognizes The Grip as Epidemic Catarrh.

During an epidemic of grip Peruna should be used. The doses recommended on the bottle are sufficient.

After the grip has once been acquired, Dr. Hartman recommends the use of Peruna in teaspoonful doses every hour during the acute stage, after which the directions on the bottle should be followed.

Experience has shown that the people who use Peruna as a remedy for grip generally recover sooner and are less liable to the distressing and long-continued after-effects of the grip.

When Peruna has not been used during the course of the grip and the patient finds himself suffering from the after-effects of this disease, a course of Peruna should be resorted to.

Suffered Twelve Years From After-Effects of La Grippe.

Mr. Victor Patneaude, 238 Madison St., Topeka, Kan., member of Knights and Ladies of Security, writes:

"Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength—but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work.

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again.

"This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider Peruna a household remedy."

Pneumonia Followed La Grippe

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time at little expense."

Pe-ru-na—A Tonic After La Grippe.

Mrs. Chas. E. Wells, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of a grippe, I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

Mrs. Jane Gift, Athens, Ohio, writes: "Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. I read a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. My husband bought me a bottle of Peruna. I was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was cured."

BARGAINS IN BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand. Try us and you will always be satisfied

M. E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

City League

A meeting to close up the affairs of the City League for the present season will be held this evening at the Oriental at 7.30. As the meeting will be a very important one a full attendance of all interested is looked for. Every team is asked to be sure to have a representative on hand.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

GREAT LABOR SAVINGDEVICE

The Fenman & Sprang

DUPLICATOR

Will produce 100 copies in ten minutes, and is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of its kind ever conceived.

THE DUPLIGRAPH

The most reliable, cleanest, simplest, quickest and most up-to-date duplicating machine on the market.

It will reproduce one hundred facsimile copies of a pen written original in fifteen minutes; easy to seventy-five copies of an original written on typewriter or twenty-five copies of an original written with a copying pen.

The original is written on ordinary paper, with an ordinary pen, typewriter or copying pencil, and the copies can be taken on ordinary paper cardboard, wood or cloth. Call and see it in operation.

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Exclusive Agents for Peterborough and Vicinity.

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 5 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,580 to 15,200 per cent. enhancement.

And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1850.

An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.

The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.

The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—

Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Queries and Answers.

W. M. S. Sewick'y, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. . . . . The Golpfield News

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.

Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager

P O Drawer 584 Whitmor Building

GOLDFIELD, NEVADA

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

Tourist Sleeping Cars to the West

For a thoroughly comfortable trip to Winnipeg, any point in the Northwest, or the Coast, reserve a berth in a Canadian Pacific tourist sleeper, leaving Toronto daily at 10.15 p.m. Cost of a roomy berth is but $4.00 to Winnipeg, $5.00 to Moose Jaw. They are fine vestibuled cars, well lighted, heated and ventilated. Berths are furnished with bedding, linen changed daily, every convenience is provided, and an attentive porter in charge. See W. Mellroy, Upstairs C.P.R. Ticket Agent, regarding berths, which should be secured well in advance of date of leaving.

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 57 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Will Get a Report on the Auburn Dam

Chairman Ald. McIntyre stated the meeting was called for the purpose of considering the power question. It was time now for the city to make some move towards forming a power policy. There was one thing to be considered and that was the purchase of the Kendry dam and securing an engineer to make a report on the dam.

The question raised by one alderman was who was the best man for the city to engage.

Ald. Phelan asked if Mr. R. B. Rogers would not be the best man to secure. Ald. Morgan agreed with this and then moved that Mr. Roger be asked cost of making a report on the Auburn dam, the amount of power available, the cost of a new dam and the cost of a power house at the water works dam and how much power would be available there. The report to include the cost of electrical equipment and distribution of power. This was seconded by Ald. Phelan and it carried.

Secured $700 from the Ontario Government

Ald. Phelan drew the attention of the Committee of the Whole to the proposition brought up in the council last fall re making an effort to secure assistance from the Provincial Government to pay for the sewer and sidewalk to the Normal School. Ald. Phelan stated that when in Toronto last Friday he had in company with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., interviewed the government and had been successful in securing $500 for the sewer and $200 for the granolithic walk. He added that Mr. Bradburn had been of great assistance to him in securing these two grants.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Buller that a vote of thanks be extended to Ald. Phelan and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., for the they secured from the Ontario Government.

Havelock's Assessment was Increased $112,653

(Special to The Times.)

Havelock, March 8—Mr. Wm. Davidson of Havelock, while engaged in putting in a fire in a saw machine engine at Pronevean on Friday afternoon, suffered a very painful accident. A red hot cinder lighted on his eye, severely burning the ball of his eye as well as scorching his eye brows off.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

The last game in District No. 2 of the Trent Valley Hockey League took place on Friday night at Marmora when Stirling and Madoc met in a sudden death game to decide which were the better team; There was good playing on both sides but Stirling came out best in the score, putting it over Madoc by 7 to 3. This leaves the fight between Stirling and Norwood and the first of the home and home games to decide the championships will be held at Norwood on Monday, March 8th.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Havelock council held their monthly meeting on Monday night last and as a result the schedule of rates for the town hall were rescinded and the following new tariff arranged;

Church concerts	$ 6.00
Other local concerts	6.00
At homes, balls, etc.	8.00
Political meetings	10.00
Outside concerts—
First night	8.00
Second night	6.00
Third night	5.00

Any gathering where dancing is carried on $6.00.

Many consider that the council are killing the goose that laid the golden egg by raising the rent up to such a high notch as they think that at such a high rate, the hall will not be used near so much. Last year $272.00 was collected for hall rents. The council think that the heating and wear and tear on the hall is worth the prices named on the tariff.

The Havelock Electric Light Company will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers in the town hall on Friday afternoon next.

INCREASED ASSESSMENT.

The assessors, Jas. Scott and Jesse Sampson have completed their duties and the total assessment is found to be $349,653, while last year it only totalled $737,000, so the assessment has been raised $112,653. The land is assessed at $51,345., buildings at $283,015, business assessment at $12,992 and income $2,311. The reason for the council appointing two assessors this year was that they thought that the property would be more equally taxed.

Mrs. S. C. Cross is confined to bed as a result of falling off a chair on Wednesday last.

LARGER HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE TO BE ERECTED DURING THE YEAR

Rev. Father McColl Interviewed the Council and Placed the Matter Before the Aldermen—A Special Meeting will be Called at an Early Date

The House of Providence is now too small to accommodate all the people who have to be looked after and the time has come when a new building must be provided. The House of Providence management are prepared to erect a new building which will accommodate at least all the Catholic poor for at least 25 years. But to do this it is desired to have a guarantee from the city to assist to pay the maintenance of the inmates.

Rev. Father McColl appeared before the Committee of the Whole, and stated that he was here in the interests of public institutions. He stated that the inspector was here last week and he said the government grant would be withheld unless more accommodation was provided. The House of Providence is now overcrowded. In fact the building is only large enough to accommodate the number of children they have. The law will not allow them to keep children and old people together.

Now, Father McColl stated, they were prepared to erect a new House of Providence providing they could get some assistance from the city. They could not afford to bear all the expense which is growing rapidly. If the city would give them a guarantee to pay so much per week for the keep of the poor they would go ahead with the enterprise. The building would cost probably $30,000 to $35,000 They would like to have a guarantee but would prefer to have a written bargain signed by both parties. They would at least guarantee to provide all the Catholic poor in the city. At the same time they would not refuse to take others in if they had room. They would not build fro just the present, but would put up a building which would last for 25 or 30 years. What he wanted was to have the city agree to pay so much per head per week or month.

If the city refused then they would in the near future be obliged to turn the old people out. They would certainly look after the children as they are the most important as they are to be the future citizens of the country.

Asked if the present arrangement of $1.50 per week would be satisfactory, Father McColl said it would, but he wanted an agreement to stretch over a period of twenty years. He added that $1.50 per week would not meet all their expenses but he expected his people to do something in charity and thus relieve the city of a portion of the burden.

It was moved by Ald. Hicks and Ald. Buller that this matter be taken up by the Committee of the Whole at a special meeting and that Father McColl be present.—Carried.

City Hockey League Wound Up Business for the Season 1909

The City Hockey League met at the Oriental Hotel last night and wound up the business for the season. The league was very successful although the gate receipts did not pan out as well as last year. Still there was a good surplus and the different clubs will be in good shape. The annual banquet to the champions of the league will be tendered this year to the Lakefield team. The date has not been definitely settled, but it will likely be Monday night, March 22 It is expected that Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., will be on hand to present the cup to the Lakefield team. The committee appointed to arrange for the banquet was as follows;—C. G. Graham, E. N. McWilliams, F. Craig, W. Butcher, W. J. Metherel, Jos. Picord, R. Hall and F. A. Clarke.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The following financial statement was presented and adopted;—

LEAGUE ACCOUNT.

Receipts—
Balance from 1908	$ 1.60
Entrance fees	14.00
	$15.60
Expenditures—
Portion of Examiner account	$ 2.65
Refunds	4.00
Advertising games	1.23
	$7.88
Credit balance	$7.72

TEAMS ACCOUNT.

Gate receipts	$124.20
Deposits	100.00
	$226.20

EXPENSES.

Rink Co.	$100.00
Referees	10.00
Telephone	.85
Examiner account	2.60
	$113.45
Balance	$112.75

Of this amount Lakefield will receive $22.55 and each of the other teams $12.55. $10 being deducted from each team to cover expenses of banquet to Lakefield team.

Several small bills are yet to be paid at of the league account.

Treasurer Craig was ordered to issue cheques to the various teams.

Mob Burned Negro at Stake in Public Square

Rockwell, Texas, March 8—After burning Anderson Ellis, a negro, who attempted to assault Mrs. Arthur McKinney, at a stake in the public square of this little town late last night, the crowd quickly dispersed. Ellis was taken from the Rockwell county jail and securely tied to an iron stake, then cordwood saturated with kerosene was piled about him, and upon his refusal to make a statement beyond admitting his guilt in the presence of Mrs. McKinney, who fully identified him as her assailant, the torch was applied.

As the flames licked about him, the man did not utter a cry nor show any symptoms of losing his nerve. He was dead in less than ten minutes.

Mrs. McKinney was seized in the back yard of her home early Friday morning by the negro, an employe of her husband. She fought desperately, and the negro fled, threatening to murder her if she revealed his attempted act.

On Trial for Murder at Belleville Assizes

Belleville, March 8—At the Assizes, which open tomorrow here, before Judge Meredith, a murder case will be tried. The accused, Thomas Smart, is the Indian who shot and killed his ste-grandfather, James Sero. It is alleged there had been improper intimacy between the dead man and the prisoner's sister, Dorothy Smart, a girl of about sixteen. Insanity and the "unwritten law," it is said, will be the plea. Mr. Herrington, K.C., of Napanee, will defend Smart.

To Entertain the Newspapermen

A letter was received from the three newspapers in the city notifying the council that the Canadian Press Association would visit the city on Saturday, March 28th. The council was invited to assist in the entertainment of the visiting pressmen in any way in which they saw fit.

The aldermen were heartily in favor of giving the pressmen a great welcome. The value of the publicity to be gained, by this visit was realized, and the aldermen also felt the honor bestowed upon the city by the visit of the Press Association.

Moved by Ald. Hicks and Ald. Turner that the matter be left in the hands of the Reception Committee to look into the question and report back to the Committee of the Whole or the council.

Curling

The date for the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup has been changed from today until tomorrow and all arrangements have been completed. The four local rinks going to Lindsay will be skipped by Messrs. W. G. Fergusson, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, D. Hall and R. Hicks. The four skips who will play here are Messrs. J. H. Fergusson, J. H. Connal, S. Ray and W. M. Lang.

The following curling games were pulled off at the rink last night;

Dodds	Adamson
Taylor	Hill
Moore	Carton
Dr. Wightman—22	Montgomery—17
Lyle	Collier
Yates	Reid
Neill	Brown
Lang—20.	Ferguson—6
Wolstenholme	Torrey
Winch	Laster
Fitzgerald	Hollingshead
Hall—16.	Knapman—7

Check Your Fat

Hold it where it is, or take off some. You can do either without disturbing your meals or your ease or your digestive organs. You can do it without physical risk, mental effort or danger of a wrinkle. "Sounds well, but these are words only," you say. True, but there is a nation full of indorsers of these words, so your protest, while natural, is feeble. Prove it. Write to the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., inclosing 75 cents, or better still, take that that amount over to your druggist and get one of the extra large cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets. You will find it generously filled. Take one after meals and at bedtime, and within thirty days you should be losing a pound of fat a day, without disturbance, as we said, of either your meals, habits or organs. Facts: these statements are not to be denied for the tablets are an exact duplicate of the famous fat-reducing Marmola Prescription. One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 43-4 ounces Peppermint Water, which any druggist will tell you is the World's Fair medal winner in its class.

EMYLINE LOSEY.

The death occurred Sunday of Emyline Losey, at her late residence, 217 Cady street. The deceased was only 7 years of age and had been ailing for some time. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Ask Dominion Government to Buy Ten Millions of G. T. P. Bonds

Ottawa, March 8—Negotiations are understood to be at present in progress between the Dominion Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company for the purchase by the Government of ten million dollars' worth of the company's bonds.

It was reported in a Montreal despatch to one of the Toronto morning papers today, that the government was loaning the millions to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, but this statement is incorrect.

In the event of the proposed purchase by the Government of the company's bonds being approved by the Cabinet, the arrangements will, of course, be submitted to parliament for ratification.

The proposal is based on the very heavy cost of constructing the Grand Trunk Pacific prairie line and the comparatively low price which high-class securities of this order at present command in the English market.

Press Association will Visit Peterborough

Peterborough will be honored on Saturday, March 27th by a visit from the Canadian Press Association. The annual convention of the association is being held in Toronto on March 25th, 26th and 27th and on the last day the newspaper men will have their annual outing This year they have accepted an invitation to come to Peterborough. There will be about a hundred and fifty in the party, including representative publishers and newspapermen from all the provinces of the Dominion.

The party will come from Toronto on a special train on the C.P.R. and will arrive here about noon. They will visit and be shown through the Canadian General Electric Works, the Cordage Company's plant and the Quaker Oats Company's plant. Invitations have been extended the press representatives by the companies mentioned.

The visitors will be entertained at luncheon at the Oriental and National hotels and will be shown around the city in the afternoon, the lift lock being included in the itinerary. The special train will leave for Toronto about five o'clock.

Peterborough is fortunate in having the Press Association come here as it will mean a lot of advertising for the city. Arrangements are being made to give the visitors a warm welcome.

OBITUARY.

MRS GEORGE RICKEY.

Mrs. George Rickey, one of the city's oldest residents, passed away at noon yesterday at the family residence 108 Aylmer street. She was sixty-eight years of age and had been in poor health for over a year. Deceased's maiden name was Ann Jane Armstrong and she was born in Ireland on October 31st, 1841, being a daughter of the late John Armstrong, and a granddaughter of Corporal George Wiggins of County Fermanagh, Ireland. She came to Peterborough in 1859 and was married to Mr. George Rickey on October 24th, 1861. Mr. Rickey passed away a year ago last September.

Mrs. Rickey is survived by four daughters, Mrs. George Davis, Hilton, West Virginia; Mrs. Jas. Greer, Bellechoro; Mrs. Geo. Wanless, West Toronto, and Mrs. E. A. Welsh, and two sons, John T. of West Toronto, and Bruce of Peterborough. One brother, Mr. Wm. Armstrong, of Smith, and two sisters, Mrs. John McCaw, and Mrs. K. E. Welsh, of Welland are also left to mourn her loss.

Mrs Rickey was a member of All Saints' church, and had a large number of friends who will regret to hear of her death.

The funeral will take place to Little Lake cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

MRS. NARCISSE LEMOIR.

The death occurred Sunday of Mrs. Narcisse Lemoir, at her late residence, 479 Mark street, after a short illness. The deceased lady, who was 70 years of age was born in Ireland, but she had lived in Peterborough for the past 54 years. The late Mrs. Lemoir was twice married, her first husband being the late Wm. Morgan of Otonabee. Eight daughters and one son are left to mourn her loss. The daughters are Mrs. F. Brown, California; Mrs. F. G. Mahoney Grand Forks; Mrs. T. McCarthy, Winnipeg; Mrs. F. Hair, St. Catharines; Mrs. P. J. O'Brien, Cleveland; Mrs. Wm. O'Brien, Ashburnham; Mrs. J. H. Breaul and Mrs. J. Dulgnin of town, and the son is W. J. Morgan, of Winnipeg. The funeral took place yesterday morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem was said by Father Kelly and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery, Father Galvin officiating at the grave.

Boston Team Leads in Go-As-You-Please

New York, March 8.—Dineen and Prouty, the Boston team, was in the lead in the international six-day go-as-you-please race in the Madison Square Garden at the end of the eighth hour today. The score was 66 miles and three laps.

Will An Arrest Follow the Kinrade Inquest on Wednesday Evening?

Hamilton, March 8—The positive declaration that the man who shot Constable Smith and the murderer of Ethel Kinrade have no connection, has drawn the public mind from the former affairs as comparatively trivial in its significance, and it centers once again on the Kinrade mystery.

Interest is now focussed upon the story that Miss Florence Kinrade will tell at the inquest on Wednesday evening when 12 days after the shooting a more coherent account may be looked for.

Meanwhile, although the police are at sea in attempts at explanation, the police are continuing their work quietly and with evident confidence, and claim that their original theory has been unshaken.

WILL THERE BE AN ARREST?

The question that is passing from lip to lip today is one that suggests a sensational development.

Will an arrest follow the inquest on Wednesday?

Will some step be taken either by placing in the direct custody of the police some person or persons as a material witness or some other action occur that will indicate the direction of the suspicion that is so jealously guarded;

Wrestling day after day with the baffling series of events and scrutinizing every point that might aid in furnishing one detail after another of the tragedy, that, pieced together, might enable a correct deduction to be drawn as to the whole fabric of events, the detectives have reached a conclusion that seems to fill in one gap. This. This was learned today, was suggested by a careful perusing of the direction the bullets had taken.

And it is this;

When Ethel Kinrade received the first two bullets in her head, she was not coming downstairs, she was not entering the room, she was not even standing up, but sitting down in a chair, perhaps putting on her rubbers preparatory to going out.

Against the logic that supports this theory the stories of Miss As the press already announced, the shots in the face are believed to have been the first she received, and neither was fatal.

Was she coming downstairs at the time? If so, the course of the bullet would evidently have been upward, leading in a line along the bore of the revolver. But the bullet took a course that was straight across parallel to the ground. Besides, the one bullet that failed to penetrate her body was found near the body downstairs in the room.

SITTING IN A CHAIR

Nor, it is believed, could she have been standing at all at the time. The police hold that the revolver was held below the level of the murderer's head when fired, and that if the girl was standing at the time the bullet would have taken an upward course.

The conclusion they have reached is that Miss Ethel Kinrade was sitting in a chair; that the first bullet to find her struck her near the right temple; that she turned her head, and a second penetrated her cheek near the left ear, while the rest were fired while she lay on the ground.

THE POOL OF BLOOD.

There is another peculiar circumstance. A pool of blood was found under the body. This could not have come from the three body wounds, as the bullets did not pass through the back. It could only have come from the wound in the head.

Yet it was not under the head, but under the small of the back. The conclusion is clear.

Some time after the shots were fired into the head the girl's body was moved nearly eighteen inches.

Why the murderer did this they have no reason to suggest. Only it raises one more incredible circumstance against the tramp theory.

SEARCHING THE HOUSE

For days, as has been stated before, the police have searched the house and immediate surroundings ever since the family moved to Toronto.

The many friends of Mr. Benjamin Cooney, who underwent an operation at Nicholls Hospital a month ago, will be pleased to know that he has been able to return home. Mr. Cooney also desires to express his appreciation of the kindness of the staff of nurses at Nicholls Hospital, accorded him during his stay there.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any contracted or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Twenty years experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure if instructions are followed.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 20 years.

WE CURE Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood and Secret Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Consultation Free. If unable to call write for a Question List for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan & Griswold Sts. Detroit, Mich.

To Feel Good All the Time.

eat Pure Food—

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

builds Brain, Body, and Nerves.

"There's a Reason"

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its Tendency to Spread to all parts of the System, Catarrh should be checked in its Incipient Stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few months each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and effective. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, together with a box of Ferrozone tablets costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy it to-day.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors.

Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1909.

AMERICA'S FUTURE NAVAL RANK

In this week's Scientific American an English correspondent considers the possibility that Germany will in a few years displace the United States from the second rank among the naval powers. He makes his reckoning in the following manner; America now has twenty-five battleships and fifteen armored cruisers. In the last four years work has been begun on, or the authority given for, two new battleships annually. If the same scheme policy should be followed by Congress in 1910 and 1911, the completion of the program for the latter year would add to the list twelve new vessels fitted for heavy fighting, making a total of fifty-two. Germany now has twenty-four battleships and eight armored cruisers, and is building four new vessels a year. Three of these are battleships and one is a cruiser. When the program of 1911 has been fully carried out Germany should have fifty-four heavily armored fighting ships.

These figures do not show any great disparity. They must be modified considerably before a true comparison can be made, but they deserve careful consideration. In the first place a trifling correction is necessary in the showing of the present strength of the United States. The latest list of the Navy Department includes only twelve, not fifteen, armored cruisers. The proper total for this country, when the ships to be authorized in 1910 and 1911 have been built, should be forty-nine, provided, of course, that no deductions are made for other causes.

The proper basis for comparison, however, is not the number of ships, but the number of heavy guns which they carry. The theory of the Dreadnought, now fully adopted by all the navies of any consequence, is that fighting is to be done with guns of the largest size. Both on the battleship and the newest type of cruiser the guns are all of one calibre—11 or 12 inches. If all of the twenty-five American battleships now or recently in commission should be available four or five years hence—a rather extravagant assumption—they would supply exactly one hundred 12-inch breechloaders. Only four armored cruisers have anything better than an 8-inch gun. The Tennessee mounts four 10-inch guns, and so does each of her three sisters. Of the new battleships, six will supply fifty-six. Should the other six average twelve guns there should be a grand total of 244 guns available.

Conflicting statements have been made concerning the armament of Germany's new battleships and cruisers, but to credit them with ten guns each—an extremely conservative estimate—would give 210 heavy guns. Only ten of Germany's older battleships are worth considering. They are only six or eight years old, and each mounts four 11-inch guns. Here, then, is a promise of 260 altogether. However, there is a pretty strong possibility that these figures ored that some of Germany's new ships would carry a dozen guns, and even the author of "Brassey's Annual" thinks that twelve is not an excessive estimate. On the other hand, at least half a dozen of the American battleships will be unfit for use within the next five years. The grand total may well stand about like this in 1912 or 1913; United States 220, and Germany, 270 or 280.

"It would seem to an impartial observer," says the writer for "The Scientific American," "that nothing short of an annual program of five Dreadnoughts can save the United States from being ousted from her position." This opinion need not be accepted implicitly, but, coming as it does from a disinterested outsider, it is worth serious attention.

OUT OF THE PAST.

Memories of Charles Dickens Recalled at Anniversary.

The Dickens Fellowship celebrated the 97th anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens at Essex Hall, in London, a few days ago. Sir John Hare, who presided in the place of Mr. Henry Dickens, K.C., who was absent on account of professional duties, paid an eloquent tribute to "the great master of love and fellowship," and said that the influence of Dickens in the cause of humanity had made hundreds of thousands of the poor and oppressed bless his name. Great soldiers and statesmen died and were forgotten, but Dickens had attained immortality, and his work and teachings would endure. Sir Wm. Treloar made a breezy and characteristic speech. Proclaiming himself as a great lover of Dickens, he said that when he was a young married man 40 years ago he used to read the works of Charles Dickens to his wife, and they have laughed and cried together over those books, over and over again. Often they used to go and hear Dickens read passages from his own books, and they would wait for an hour or more outside the hall in order to get a seat. "My wife," said Sir William Treloar, "used to pass the time by knitting—she used to knit my socks.

"I love Dickens all through," said Sir William; "but best of all I love his humor. Bless my soul, Sir John, he could even make fun of a Lord Mayor—and so can I! While I was Lord Mayor I met some of Dickens' characters at the Mansion House. I often met Mr. Stiggins there, and sometimes there was a Pecksniff, and now and again a Chadband. Even Mr. Micawber was to be found—I have done a little bit in that way myself, for a Lord Mayor should have a touch of Micawber and a spice of Mark Tapley." While holding that office he had the pleasure of kissing a little Dickens girl, aged 3, and he had just heard from Mrs. Dickens that when she went home she said, "I have been kissed by the Lord Mayor's Show." That was not surprising. When he first rode in the golden coach he felt uncommonly like the Lord Mayor's Show, especially when he heard the admiring comments of the people. "'E fancies 'isself, don't 'e?" said one lady. It had been pleasant to live in the Mansion House, and to hob-nob with kings and potentates who had been intimate with him. But he had met one or two of them since in Pall Mall, and somehow or other they did not seem to know him.

Sir Wm. Treloar showed that he had read Dickens to some purpose, for he proved himself to have the highest sense of humor—the gift of laughing at oneself. There were several members of the Dickens family present, and Miss Elaine Dickens, a handsome girl with a glint of merriment in her eyes that was perhaps inherited from her illustrious grandfather, played the violin charmingly

Fair Versus Foul.

There is a good football story told of the Lyttelton family, which numbers amongst its members such famous men as the Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, late Secretary for the Colonies, the Rev. and Hon. Edward Lyttelton, headmaster of Eton, and Gen. Sir Neville Lyttelton.

As is well known, the Lytteltons were renowned alike on the cricket and football fields, as well as in the larger world, and in the old days the Lytteltons could put a family eleven into the football field—and a very formidable side, too.

On one occasion, then, these Lytteltons were playing against a team of professionals in the Midlands. The latter, finding themselves outplayed, began to employ very dangerous and foul tactics against the amateurs; but they quickly found their mistake, and the football ground soon resembled a miniature battlefield, the professionals playing the part of the wounded. For the Lytteltons opposed the unfair tactics indulged in by the professionals with some fair and square charging; and, being all "whipcord and steel," they quickly convinced their opponents that football played on strictly fair lines was the healthier pastime, and, indeed, might save doctors' bills.

Emigrating to New Zealand.

New Zealand, for its native people, is all right, but New Zealand for a London working man is—well, rotten. In the first place, an emigrant settling in New Zealand must be fully and decisively prepared to rough it to the last heart-beat, until he gets a footing and a thorough insight into the working laws of this country. If he is not financially "flush," and commences, as soon as he lands, to put on airs and side, and begins that idiotic "haw-hawing," he would have been better at home, because we have enough of that kind of people here already, and a "new chum" with a "Just-out-from-the-Old-Country, don't-cher-know" drawl is truly a pitiable object among the working classes of New Zealand.—New Zealander, in The Captain.

Tolpuddle Martyrs.

It is proposed to commemorate the "Tolpuddle Martyrs," at Tolpuddle, in Dorsetshire, England. The martyrs were transported for seven years in 1834, because they formed a friendly society in order to raise their wages above the local standard rate of 7s. a week. They were released three years later, the conscience of the country having been roused against the twisting of the charge of "mutiny and conspiracy" to fit their crime. Now they are to be commemorated as the first trade union martyrs, and there should be little difficulty in raising $25,000 to establish model cottage homes for aged laborers, a scholarship tenable at Ruskin College, Oxford—both for Tolpuddle people—and a monument in the village itself.

Carving in Coal.

Remarkable carving work in coal is being done by a resident at Newbald, near Barton, England, who says he has discovered a secret process for polishing his productions. At a local bazaar he exhibited a cabinet of coal work containing a model suite of furniture, salt-cellars, pipes, and block rings set with stones.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

BNNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Con. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE • McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BARGAINS

—: IN :—

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3 50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at..... 2.25

Regular $3 00 Bed to clear at..... 2.00

Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet..... 6.00

Regular $3 50 Mattress selling for..... 2.00

Regular $2.50 Springs now for only..... 1.00

Regular $4.00 Springs for..... 2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I will be happy and you will be cured for 25c (the cost of postage stamps). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. B. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Lakefield News: Miss A. Martin, of Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Lulu Murdoff a few days this week. —Miss Preston and Miss Ward of Peterborough, spent Sunday in the village visiting friends.

ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

— OF —

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO.

—— Limited ——

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space. For terms, apply at Times Bookstore.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 superior cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE, Hunter street.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive.

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oreg.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent

F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FROM PETERBORO

$42.60

PACIFIC COAST

SECOND CLASS ONE WAY

DAILY UNTIL APRIL 30th

Most Direct Route

Tourist Sleeping Cars on all Trains

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent Peterboro

KINGSTON & PEMBROKE RAILWAY

The best Route between Peterboro and Kingston

is via C.P.R., Sharbot Lake and K. & P. Ry.

Leave Peterboro at 11:25 A.M., arriving at Kingston at 3:55 P.M.

Leave Kingston at 12:01 NOON, arriving at Peterboro 4:38 P.M.

F. CONWAY, Gen. Pass. Agent

Royal Mail Trains VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of

SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax toe following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office 51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office 130 St. James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27

DOMINION.....March 13

SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42 50 to $45 00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,340 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

15,500 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,

118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BANKS.

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets... 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards.

The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street, E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information required. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING METAL

LOCAL AGENTS:

Peterboro Hardware Co.

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1729

William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY OBTAINED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 5 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,580 to 15,260 per cent. enhancement.
And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1859.
An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.
The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.
The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—
Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Queries and Answers.

W. M. S. Sowickly, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. * * * * *
—The Goldfield News.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.
Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager

P. O. Drawer 584 Whitmore Building
GOLDFIELD. NEVADA

—: THE :—

CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with : : : :

—: THE :—

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

PRUDENTIAL MINES, Limited

Capital $2,000,000, Shares $1.00 par value fully paid and non-assessible.

Owners of five 40-acre claims known as the Todd-McNeil claims adjoining the townsite of Elk City. Claims developed and thirty veins stripped showing native silver. Will start shipping upon opening of river. Claims conceded to be the richest group in Montreal river district by all competent authorities.

As the company is headed by the most honorable and conservative business men of Montreal, we are assured of a square deal all around, and no manipulating of stock.

We have the best Mining Engineer money can procure to put in charge of the work, namely,

J. C. BIEDLEMAN, OF SPOKANE, WASH.

Stock is not in the hands of any brokers, thereby saving the company the excessive commissions demanded by them, which enables us to put it in development work instead. The present allotment of stock is all that will be put on the market at any price.

Few thousand shares left at twenty-five cents per share

Subscriptions subject to previous sale. All cheques should be drawn direct to WILLIAM TEES, secretary-treasurer, of company and mailed to

The GODWIN, MURRAY, BARNHART, Limited
525 Board of Trade, Montreal, Canada.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No.1 "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. S. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their incomes by feeding intelligent and careful calculation, which to them means money.

One agent only in each district who has sole command of the local trade for separate name. See future advertisements, etc.

ROGUES ON HIGH SEAS

HOW SHARPERS LIVE ON STEAMSHIP PASSENGERS.

Scoundrel Pretended to Fall In Love With Heiress In Order to Borrow Money of Her on Landing, But Failed—Sweepstake on Day's Run Proved a Money-Maker — Bogus Pleading for Charity.

In spite of the greatest vigilance on the part of the steamship officials, especially on board the big Atlantic liners, with a view to stamping out the gambling evil, the win and lose instinct still exists, and many thousands of pounds are annually lost and won on the ocean highway. Indeed, the ingratiating, though unscrupulous, gentleman who is ever anxious to "take a hand" continues to flourish, as, ingenuity coming to his aid, all sorts of dodges are now practiced—frequently with great success—to victimize sea travelers who seem to have more money than wisdom.

Quite recently an officer on one of the largest mail steamship lines between England and America informed the writer of a case where a young heiress was nearly trapped by one of these scoundrels. It appears the girl was returning with her maid to relations near New York, and on the boat became acquainted with a man who had every appearance of being well-to-do.

Attracted by his manner, the lady did not attempt to discourage his attentions, and by the end of the voyage the two appeared to be fast friends. Arrived in New York the scamp—for he was nothing less—made violent love, and then incidentally touched upon a matter of business he had on hand. Eventually he persuaded the girl to lend him a large sum of money, and had it not been for the timely intervention of her solicitors, who called at her hotel and hearing the tale stopped payment of the cheque, the confiding lady would now have been several thousand pounds to the bad.

Again, a good haul was made not long ago by two of these gentry—who often work in pairs—on a big steamer in the South Pacific. Almost without exception the passengers on large boats arrange a sweepstake on each day's run, which culminates towards the end of the voyage in an "auction sweep"; the chief difference in the latter from the ordinary sweepstake being that the allotted holders are obliged to dispose of their numbers again by auction. For this purpose one of the passengers is chosen to act as auctioneer, and the most fancied "run" often fetches $25 or more.

On this occasion one of the rascals conducted the proceedings, but, on obtaining the miles run from the captain, immediately placed the number against the name of his confederate upon the list in the saloon. In the meantime the latter had induced the lucky holder to exchange numbers for the "sport of the thing," and in this way the scoundrels came out of the bargain over $500 to the good.

On another occasion the passengers on a steamer bound for Australia were ingeniously duped. One of the first-class passengers, who had every appearance of respectability, represented himself to be the secretary of a charitable institution near London, and gave out to all on board that he was visiting the colony for the purpose of opening a branch in Australia.

Whenever concerts were arranged in the evenings the bogus secretary obtained the permission of the captain to place his collecting-box upon the saloon table. Almost every passenger contributed handsomely towards what appeared to be so worthy a cause, and by the end of the voyage the donations aggregated to a large amount.

Not till too late was it discovered that the tale about the institution was a pure invention, the collecting-box, which seemed perfectly genuine, having been specially obtained and labelled for the occasion. But often the man set foot in Australia he was never seen or heard of again.

Similarly, the ingenuity of a rogue on one of the German boats was well repaid. Aboard the vessel were several hundred emigrants bound for a South American port, who, of course, were anxious to obtain work the moment they landed. They considered themselves lucky, therefore, to find on the same ship a man who said he was the agent of an Employment Bureau in the Argentine, and gladly paid the fees he asked in return for certain, and apparently lucrative, situations.

Though armed with full references and credentials—all of which were false—the man turned out to be an impostor, as no agency of which he pretended to be the representative existed at all. Thus nearly all these people were duped in heartless fashion, and their not over-burdened pockets suffered accordingly.

A Woman Executioner.

In prerevolutionary days there was a woman public executioner in Virginia. At that time death sentences were reapited on condition that a criminal should perform this office. Lady Betty, as she was afterwards called, was sentenced to death for murder. She offered instead to become public executioner and held this office for many years. It is said that on the scaffold she officiated without a mask.

Opals.

The opal used in jewelry is distinguished from other varieties of less value by calling it precious or noble opal. Opals differ very greatly in their color effects, and these are known as the pattern of the gem. The shape and size of the flashes of color vary from very small, when the stone is called a pin's point opal, to larger, squarish spangles, when it is a harlequin opal.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Prevention, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ITALY'S BRAVE QUEEN.

Helena Has Always Been Known For Her Courage.

Queen Helena of Italy, who has been doing such splendid work at Messina, is one of the most unconventional of royalties, and innumerable stories are told about her.

The King and Queen and a large party had gone to Castle Portiano to shoot. It was an exceedingly cold day, and luncheon was served round a big bonfire. One of the royal equerries, wishing to show how far he could jump, wagered that he could clear the bonfire.

He took a short run and leaped across the middle of the flames. He stumbled and fell, and in a second his clothes were aflame. The women screamed and the men stood paralysed with horror. Only the Queen kept her wits about her. She threw herself on the equerry, and, heedless of the danger to herself, tore off the burning pieces of cloth with her bare hands and choked the flames with her skirts.

She was one of the first ladies in Italy to ride a bicycle. The King did not altogether approve of such a very democratic idea, and Queen Helena was careful not to let the King see her on the machine.

While the court was staying at one of the country palaces Her Majesty was one day tempted to take a spin unaccompanied. She had an enjoyable ride, but as she entered the palace courtyard who should she meet first but the King. It may have been excitement or it may have been a guilty conscience, but somehow or other the wheels skidded, and the Queen was thrown from her machine.

King Victor ran to her assistance. He helped her up, and, finding her unhurt, he regarded her with an eye of disapproval.

"This is what comes of being too independent," he told her severely. "You are covered with mud; how can you go through the main entrance in such a state?"

Queen Helena looked ruefully down at her soiled garments. "You are right," she said, meekly. "Will you take the bicycle?"

While the King wheeled the bicycle away the Queen went round the courtyard and entered the palace by a back staircase.

Burnt Cork.

The burnt cork maker threw corks of all sizes and shapes—corks bought from hotels and bottling houses—into huge wash boilers perforated with dime-sized holes. Then he sprinkled the corks with alcohol. Then he set them afire.

"The holes are for the draft. The cork," he explained, "wouldn't burn without."

And he dumped a bushel or two of cold burnt cork into a sack. He tied up the sack and set it in a tub of water. He fell to punishing and prodding it with his fists.

"The fine, smooth, powdered cork," he said as the water turned black, "filters through the canvas of the sack and settles at the bottom. When the cork is all worked out I'll strain the black water through a very close grained canvas. The fine black sediment remaining I'll mix with a little vaseline. And that mixture will make the double super burnt cork that brings the top notch price."

He proudly opened a pound can of the product. It resembled in its smoothness a glossy black butter.

Cannibalism.

"We digest turkey easily," said a physician, "because the flesh resembles our own. A turkey eats grain, meat, fish, pretty much everything tasty. We do the same, and hence human flesh and turkey flesh are a good deal alike. Fish digest fish best. Carnivorous animals, if fed on the flesh of carnivores, keep in the best condition. When a snake goes off its feed the trainer soon brings it around with a meal or two of snake meat. These and similar facts have been proved strikingly by Emil Fisher, the Berlin chemist. The most digestible and the most economical food, Fisher's experiments show, is that which is more like the feeder. The most indigestible, costly and least nourishing food is that which is most unlike the feeder. Cannibalism, in other words, is the most reasonable food law."

Tiresome Destiny Makers.

The British people are getting "awfully" excited about Canada. One party says that we are "honeycombed with American influences" and that unless something is done at once to bind us to the Mother Country we will fall like a ripe cherry into Uncle Sam's lap. Dear, dear, we hadn't noticed our own evil condition! These Englishmen who come out and tour Canada and then go back and settle our political destinies in a couple of magazine articles make us rather weary. It may be the altitude, or it may be Canadian rye, but they certainly do get excited easily.—Calgary Herald.

John Shaw's Change of Face.

A friend met Mr. John Shaw, the new member for North Toronto, recently, in the corridor of the Parliament buildings en route to take the oath and sign the roll. He noticed that the last vestige of his whiskers which were once an issue in municipal politics had disappeared.

"Well, well, John, are you running for bishop?" he asked.

"No, I'm just going in for facial reform," said the genial ex-mayor.

The Value of Politeness.

Hollow trees are always the stiffest, but the mightiest oak, it is found, can bend. The more exalted a man is by station the more powerful should he be by kindness. There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. Politeness is most useful to inspire confidence in the timid and encourage the deserving. —London Strand.

Medicine Hat Well Leads.

The new natural gas well in the Medicine Hat district has now developed a flow of five million cubic feet by mercury test and five and a quarter by water test, proving it to be the largest flow in Canada.

Let Water Into Lakefield Reach

Parties who are interested were notified yesterday by the canal authorities that the water would be let into the Lakefield reach of the canal on March 15th. This will be the earliest opening in the history of the canal.

Winter Causes Skin-Torture

WINTER'S trying conditions so affect the skin that at about this period it often breaks down. Skin "breakdown" is shown by the appearance of pimples, rashes, ulcers, or red patches. When you go out, does your skin itch or smart? Have you red blotches under the skin, which give your face patchy, unpleasant appearance?

Or perhaps you have some skin complaint not on the face or neck—hidden from sight, yet which causes you hours and hours of pain? Some patch of rash, or sores due to blood-poisoning, which hitherto have defied all your attempts at cure? If so, don't delay in applying Zam-Buk.

The herbal medicinal properties of Zam-Buk are so perfectly and uniquely blended that the skin can absorb them at once and thus the cells are stimulated to healthy activity. Zam-Buk attacks and eradicates disease germs directly, and stands on guard, as it were, holding off all germs which, if admitted, would set up festering, until the healing process is complete. Rashes, tetter, ulcers, face blemishes, old sores, eczema patches, Spring eruptions—all these are removed by Zam-Buk. Mothers will find it the ideal balm for children's sores and babies' rashes. Herbal, healing, and health-producing, it is without equal as a family balm.

DOCTORS SAID "NO CURE."

Sores Defied all Remedies for 7 Years.

DON'T think because your sores, ulcers or sores which ailing you have defied all remedies, that Zam-Buk cannot overcome them. Mrs. J. McCormick, of Invermay Siding, says:—"About seven years ago my face broke out in tough red blotches, which burned and itched, and spread in turn almost beyond endurance. I commenced to try every known remedy. I could get for face and skin troubles. Some of them gave a little relief, some none; but no matter how much I used them, as soon as I went out, the trouble started all over again. I consulted doctors, and they told me there was absolutely no cure for me, but that I should have to wait until I outgrew the disease.

"Finally, my husband sent for a supply of Zam-Buk. We applied a small sample to a small patch of the disease. To our delight, the portion treated with Zam-Buk very quickly healed. We then obtained a proper supply, and began the Zam-Buk treatment.

"I am now delighted to state that, after having used a few boxes, I am free from the old trouble, and completely cured. I will never be without Zam-Buk in the house as long as I live, and so all who are troubled with skin disease in any form I would say, 'waste no time in obtaining a supply of Zam-Buk.'

"Since proving it in my own case, I have obtained a supply for an old lady who had an ulcer on her leg for thirty years. Three boxes of Zam-Buk were sufficient to close the wound."

ZAM-BUK IS PARTICULARLY RECOMMENDED FOR

Cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, piles, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, scabs, chapped hands, cold sores, chilblains, ringworm, scalp sores, bad leg, abscesses, rashes, and all other skin diseases and injuries. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures neuralgia, rheumatism, and backache. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Zam-Buk

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN
106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of March, 1910, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. A. R. Faulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1910.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Stamped Wood

For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clear out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; blotters, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.
OF TORONTO, LIMITED

— NEW —

Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to.. 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Who Said Huethers?

We All Did.

REMEMBER THIS

A Thorough Cleansing of the System Now is a Sure Protection against Spring and Summer Sickness.

After the long hard winter, system cleansing is badly needed. The blood must be purged and purified, otherwise pent-up impurities will beat through the skin and all through the summer you'll be tormented with rashes, pimples, humors and boils.

The best of all blood purifiers, and at the same time an unequalled tonic and appetizer, is Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will build up, aid the digestion of food, keep the system vigorous, healthy, strong. Being mild and pleasant in action, you need not hesitate to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Take them at night —note the difference in the morning, how fresh, bright and well you feel. No surer health bringer and health keeper known than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a 25c. box today. At all dealers.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON

Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.

34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)

Phone 645

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.

SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.

OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts. Bell 'Phone—Office 483; House 488.

WOOD

POINT ST. CHARLES

has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size,

McDONALD

LEARN DANCING AT HOME

Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1909.

Board of Trade

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held in the City Council chamber tonight at eight o'clock, when the election of officers, the reception of reports, and other important business will come up for discussion. In addition the Board will discuss the waterworks dam and power questions.

Martin Won Cigars

Herb Martin won the box of cigars for the high score at the P.B.C. alleys for the week, ending March 6th. Herb put on a score of 241 on Saturday night, after George Cairns had looked good for the smokes all week with his string of 238. It was in a game between Cairns and Martin that the high score was put on Saturday night Martin hung up 990 for five games.

Smallpox Again

On account of smallpox breaking out in Coburg the stage from Roseneath to the front has been cancelled for the past week. The authorities in Alnwick are taking every precaution to see that the disease does not get into the township. All supplies are being brought in by way of Hastings and northern points, and a proclamation has been issued regarding vaccination.

Decision Postponed

Ottawa, March.— The judgment in the Peterborough protest case, anticipated today, was not given. At opening of the Supreme Court it was announced that Judge Girouard is rather seriously ill with pleurisy and as a result the judgments that were to have been made public today will not be announced for a day or two. All the evidence has been heard and decisions was to have been made known today.

Go to Toronto

The County Council will leave tomorrow morning via the C.P.R. for Toronto when they will interview the legislature in reference to grants for the Indian River Bridge and Bell Lake Narrow Bridge. An effort will also be made to have one of the proposed agricultural classes established at Norwood. Then it is desired to have a road grant made towards a road in Smith township.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread —takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative —is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all dealers.

PERSONAL

Reeve Tilt of Otonabee, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. H. Haynes of Campbellford, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. R. R. Hall has returned after spending a few days in Ottawa.

Mrs. Wm. Davidson has returned from a visit to her daughter in Montreal.

Mrs. J. H. Thompson, 450 Hunter street, will receive today and not again this season.

Mr. G. Fratley of Montreal, is home on a visit to his parents, Asburn.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Connell were guests of Toronto friends over Sunday.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, has returned from a visit to Ottawa.

Mrs. Trainor of New York, arrived in the city yesterday morning to attend the funeral of Mr. Thos. H. Darey.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. T. W. McDonough, of Moosejaw, arrived in the city last night and will spend a couple of weeks with his family.

Miss Stella Elder returned home to Bobcaygeon yesterday, after spending the past week with friends in the city.

Campbellford Despatch; Miss Jennie Roadhouse spent Sunday at her home in Peterborough. Mr. Fred Morey of Peterborough, spent Sunday in town visiting friends. Mrs. J. P. Archer is visiting her parents in Peterborough.

Lindsay Post; Mr. Jos. Dwyer of Peterborough, an old Lindsay boy, was in town last evening. Mr. Daniel J. McDonnell, Peterborough, was in town on business on Friday. Mr. W. E. Cooney, of Regina, Sask., and his niece, Miss McBride, teacher in the Normal Training School, Peterborough, are spending a few days at the home of Mrs. G. McCullouch, Peel street.

Mr. Rollie Waddell, who has been representing Peterborough with the Canadian Curlers in Scotland, sails from Liverpool for Canada on Thursday of this week. Mr. Hugh Waddell received the above information from his son a day or two ago. He has been absent in the old country since the beginning of the year and has had, from all reports, a most enjoyable time.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Keenan, 501 Elm street, will sympathize with them in the loss they have sustained by the death of their four-year-old daughter, Mary Catherine, which occurred Sunday. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, to St. Peter's cemetery.

Miss Ruby Patterson of Warkworth, attended the at-home given by the Normal School students in the city on Friday evening last. While here she was the guest of Mrs. A. Lancashire, 548 Aylmer street, returning home today.

Misses Georgie and Prudence Long the youngest daughter of Mr. Geo. Long, Hunter street, left at noon yesterday for Port Hope, where they will sing in the theatorium. The little ones have delighted local audiences who heard them at the Crystal.

Mr. Charles E. Anderson, until recently bookkeeper in the employ of the Geo. Matthews Co., left yesterday morning for Hamilton. With Mr. Thos. Anderson he has taken over the Hamilton Tool Co., which they will at once assume. Mr. Anderson's many friends in the city wish him every success in his new enterprise.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D., 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of this system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Charity Board

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Charity Board was held last night when the usual business was transacted. The amount of charity still demanded is at high water mark and the members of the board are doing their utmost to keep the expenditure within reason.

Direct to Western Canada

The Canadian Pacific "Winnipeg Express," leaving Toronto at 10.15 p.m. daily, carries through standard and tourist sleeping cars for Winnipeg, the Northwest and Pacific Coast. This is the only direct, through-car service to Western Canada, trains run the entire distance through Canadian territory, and the time made is considerably faster than by any other route.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas will practice from seven until eight o'clock Wednesday night for their game with St. Andrew's on Friday night for the city championship.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10—173RD BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT 8:10 — 5:30

Another Big Clearance of Soiled Blouses

Get a Few of the 400 and Save Three Times the Price on Each

A manufacturer's entire lot of spring samples, all kinds, styles and sizes; nearly every blouse slightly soiled or mussed, but regularly sold up to $1.25. Be here early as there is a limited quantity and will not last all day. No limit to the number sold to each customer. Our Annex price Wednesday..... 25c

SEE CENTRE WINDOW

NEW BRASS EX. RODS

Ask to see our New Annex Brass Extension Rods, heavy tubing with brass ends; extends to 54 inches, with fixtures complete. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 10c

MEN'S NATTY NECKWEAR

8 dozen men's and boys' four-in-hand and Puff Ties; broken lines from our own stock. Regular 25 and 35c. To be cleared in this weeks Annex. 10c each or..... 3 for 25c

Cressman's "Bargain Annex"

DUPLEX CURTAIN STRETCHERS 98c

22 crates of new American pat. Duplex Folding Curtain Stretchers passed through the customs this week. Our special $1.50 line. In the Annex on Wednesday.. 98c

P. S.—Ask our salespeople to explain the working of the stretcher—it is very simple when you know how.

SPRINGS, MATTRESSES, BEDS

Our famous Annex outfit including white Iron Bed good Springs and Mattress complete. $5.98

Iron Beds seperate $2.49. Springs seperate $1.59. Mattress $2.39.

White Underskirts

Duchess Brand White Underskirts 59c

One case of new White Underskirts (Duchess Brand) made of good English Cambric; deep flounce and dust frill; trimmed with laces, insertions and tucks. Our big special at 89c. All sizes. In the Annex Wed 59c

See Window.

New 35c Veiling 22c

Large polka dot Veiling, in black, navy, brown and green, brilliant silk finished mesh, good value at 35c. In the Annex, Wed. per yard.... 22c

SPUN GLASS LINING 19c

Best quality 25c Silk Taf (spun glass) lining in all shades, including brown, navy, green, grey, mauve, etc, also black and cream. Suitable for underskirts, coat-linings, etc. Always sold at 25c. In the Annex Wednesday..... 19c

BUY YOUR WHITE COTTONS

White Cotton and Madapolams on sale in the Annex, Wednesday, at big savings. 12½c white Madapolam, full yard wide, soft lustrous finish. In the Annex, Wednesday.... 8 1-2c

12½c white English Steamloom, full yd. wide. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 9c

TWO LINES CORSETS

Big savings in Corsets in the Annex. Two lines; D & A "Triumph" and "Veribest" in grey coutil. "Triumph" regular 50c line, Wed. 29c

"Veribest" in white with hose supporters attached. Regular 75c value for..... 39c

Corset Cover Embroideries

Another lot of 300 yds. full width Corset Cover Embroidery, deep worked edge, reg. 25c. In the Annex per yard.. 12 1-2c

Nottingham Lace Curtains

New Lace Curtains in new patterns, 3 yds. long, good width, finished with colbert edges. Reg. 75c value. In the Annex.. 49c

Irish Table Linen 19c

Three pieces, part bleached Irish Table Linen, 56 in. wide, desirable patterns. Our special 29c line. In the Annex Wed..... 19c

New Emb'd Wash Belts

The new narrow Wash Belts with neat pearl buckles; this spring's correct idea, worth 25c. In the Annex..... 15c

BLUE JEAN OVERALLS 68c

5 dozen men's twilled blue Jean Overalls, with bib, four pockets, large and roomy, men's sizes. In the Annex Wednesday, per pair..... 68c

MEN'S MOLE PANTS

6 dozen English Moleskin Pants, made of extra quality material, patent buttons, three pockets, men's sizes. Reg. $1.00 value. In the Annex, Wednesday..... 79c

CORRECT NEW HANDBAGS

The large shape American Hand Bags in black only; neatly finished; value 85c and 98c. Your choice in the Annex on Wednesday..... 49c

FLANNELETTE BLANKETS. NOT TOO LATE YET

It's not too late for Flannelette Blankets. You can save big money by buying them in the Annex this week. All sizes in grey or white, no better quality made. Reg. $1.10 for 87c, Reg. $1.25 for 98c, Reg. $1.05 for $1.28.

NEW SPRING PRINTS 8½c

Another range of new Spring Prints, light and dark grounds; good patterns; full widths 31 and 32 inches; warranted fast colors. In the Annex..... 8 1-2c

NOTE THESE:

Ladies & Misses' Underwear, 17c garm't

Stamped Linen Cushion Tops, 17c each

Colored Linen Table Covers, 89c each.

TWO O'CLOCK SPECIAL

Coco Door Mats. 10 dozen Coco Door Mats close, heavy brush. These ar necessary for the spring weather. In the Annex Wed. at 2.... 23c

Cressman's

385, 387, 389 GEORGE ST.

PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams' Protest

(To the Editor of The Times)

Dear Sir.—I would like to call the attention of your readers to the latest piece of financing on the part of the City Council, a transaction of which so little has been said that few have even heard of it. It is proposed to deduct from the amount due this year for interest and sinking funds on our debentures the sum of $8500, and to use the money in paying up the deficit on last year's current account. In other words the city of Peterborough is to be guilty of the financial trickery of paying a dividend out of capital. The ratepayers are bound by law to pay the whole amount due for interest and sinking funds each year and the Commissioners of the City Trust are bound to compel the full payment and have in fact made a lawful demand for the proper amount. It is nothing short of a breach of faith with the purchasers of our debentures as well as a direct violation of the law.

Under what pretence is this scheme devised. It is said that we have a large surplus to the credit of our sinking fund accounts. That is quite true—but to whom does it belong. The surplus in each account belongs to that account and cannot be applied to any other purpose except by a special act of the Legislature. To apply it to the payment of a deficit in current account is to divert money paid by the taxpayers for one purpose to another and a totally different purpose. I can understand the mayor and some of his supporters in the council proposing such a scheme but I am utterly unable to understand how the chairman of the commission can permit himself to be a party to such a scandalous transaction.

What is the purpose of this scheme? Simply to hide from the electors the fact that the financial administration of last year was so bad that it would require an additional two mills on the items to pay up for its extravagance. To meet the ordinary expenditures—not those of last year—and put the city back where it was financially when Mayor Rush took office would require a rate not of 19 or 20 or 19 1-2 mills but of between 22 and 23 mills.

The revised act of 1908 relating to the City Trust Commission make applicable to both the City Council and the commission and the members of each, the provisions of the Municipal Act, sec. 418, relating to the management of sinking funds. This section expressly provides that a surplus to the credit of any sinking fund account shall be applied to that account and it expressly prohibits the payment of any monies collected for the purpose of a sinking fund on the current expenditures of the municipality. Further it provides that any members of the council—or of the commission—who vote for any such diversion of sinking funds into current expenditures shall be personally liable for the amount so diverted and the members who have voted for the same shall be disqualified from holding any municipal office for the period of two years.

Do the members of the council or of the commission think that such a transaction will be allowed to pass unchallenged in the courts? I can assure them it will not go unchallenged but I hope that there will not be the necessity for dragging such financing before the whole province and ruining the high reputation which this city has deservedly enjoyed.

I appeal to the Trust Commissioners to be true to the high trust reposed in them as the guardians of the city's financial honor. I appeal to the mayor and his majority in the council to be honest and frank with the people, to admit the gross extravagance of last year and to adopt a policy which will restore the financees to the condition in which the present mayor found them.

Yours sincerely,

R. F. McWILLIAMS.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it can surely cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those mind-filling grandsir uration, formed in Rheumatic blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dispersed, these poisonous waste freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no need—no reason to suffer helpless with Rheumatism. We will, and in confidence recommend

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy

"ALL DEALERS"

Penitentiary Supplies

SEALED TENDERS addressed "Inspectors of Penitentiaries, Ottawa," and endorsed "Tenders for Supplies," will be received until Thursday, 25th March, inclusive, from parties desirous of contracting for supplies for the fiscal year 1909-1910, for the following institutions, namely:—

Kingston Penitentiary.
St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.
Dorchester Penitentiary.
Manitoba Penitentiary.
British Columbia Penitentiary.
Alberta Penitentiary, Edmonton, Alta.

Separate tenders will be received for each of the following classes of supplies:—

1. Coal; 2, coal oil; 3, cordwood, 4, drugs; 5, dry goods; 6, forage, 7, fresh fish; 8, fresh meat; 9, groceries; 10, hardware; 11, leather; 12, milk; 13, oils and paints; 14, pork and bacon; 15, Portland cement; 16, sole leather; 17, tinware.

Details of information as to form of contract, together with forms of tender, will be furnished on application to the Wardens.

All supplies are subject to the approval of the Warden.

DOUGLAS STEWART,
GEO. W. DAWSON,
Inspectors of Penitentiaries.

Department of Justice,
Ottawa, February 27, 1909.

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.

MONTREAL, QUE.

Croup positively stopped in 10 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting no nausea. A safe and pleasing syrup —30c. Sold by all dealers.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO AND OTTAWA

VOL. XXXII NO. 58 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

Shrubb Refuses to Meet Fred Simpson at 15-Mile Mark

Toronto, March 9.—Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Thunderbolt, and Alfred Shrubb will meet at the Armories Saturday night, March 20.

They will not run fifteen miles, however!

Shrubb objected.

Why?

Well, principally because Wily Alfred was just a trifle afraid of the gaunt Redman at fifteen miles. He has been fussing around since the Simpson race was broached, and has satisfied himself that Simpson's ten-mile gallop in 52 30 was so close to the real goods that the aborigine was extremely liable to take his measure at fifteen miles, so he insisted on the race being cut to twelve miles. Shrubb knows that he can step to town at top speed at twelve miles, and that he would be tiring after twelve miles, just ghawe the Indian would be waking up and climbing along like a house afire.

Shrubb, however, signed a contract to run Simpson three races —the first at twelve miles, the second at twenty, and the third at fifteen miles.

"If Shrubb defeats the Indian at twelve miles he will step faster than he has yet stepped twelve miles in America," declared Tom Eck, the Indian's mentor, today.

Shrubb's twelve-mile time at New York in the relay against Kenally, Simpson and Williams was 1.05.47 or thereabouts.

Against this record Simpson has done ten miles in 52 30 at Toronto and fifteen miles 322 yards in 1.27.02 at Savannah, Ga.

Shrubb insisted on a dirt track for the race, and one will be laid.

The race at the Armories is under the auspices of the Toronto Garrison A.A. It will be a classy affair. Lieutenant-Governor Gibson will start the race.

As an additional attraction W. F. Cumming of the I.C.A.C. may meet Henry Jackson, the Midland Indian, at five miles, or a five-mile open pro. race will be put on.

Jackson and Cumming would make a nice race.

Arkansas Town was Devastated by Tornado

Weakley, Ark., March 9.—Residents of Brinkley, Ark., a place of 3,000 people, which were devasted by a tornado last night, are arriving here. Six white people are known to be dead and probably fifteen were injured.

The refugees say that the entire business section was demolished by the storm, and probably 60 per cent. of the residences were razed to the ground or rendered uninhabitable. Relief trains have arrived on the scene, but all wire communication is interrupted.

L. M. Kimmell, a railroad operator at Brinkley, one of the first to reach a point of communication to summon aid for the devasted town, graphically describes the conditions immediately following the passing of the storm. Together with several companions Kimmell was in the Rock Island depot when the storm struck. As if it were a toy the substantial structure was twisted and broken, the occupants being caught among the fallen timbers, bruised, but otherwise unhurt. Extricating themselves after half an hour's effort they found the town in darkness and the streets filled with a terror-stricken throng, their shrieks mingling with the moans of the injured.

Intermittent flashes of lightning revealed wreckage everywhere, a portion of a building standing here and again only a tangled mass of debris. As Kimmell and his companions made their way through the streets they identified two of the dead, and stumbled over others who were wounded.

Huddled about the ruins of their homes families were standing in groups, clinging together in terror, while here and there a searcher was groping about in quest of a missing member of the household.

As the party started to leave Brinkley, intended to walk to Weakley, the nearest town, the added horror of fire appeared. When two miles from Brinkley, Kimmell and his party were forced to retrace their steps because of the gale When they returned they found that the fire had gained headway and fanned by the stiff wind was spreading, but the prompt work of citizens suppressed the conflagration.

Boarding an engine Kimmell and his companions made a quick run to Weakley, bringing the news of the storm and an appeal for aid.

Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie was Elected President of The Board of Trade

President's Report was Optimistic of Peterborough's Future—Favorable Financial Statement—Officers were Elected for the Ensuing Year

Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie, is the new president of the Peterborough Board of Trade. He was elected at the annual meeting last night and was the unanimous choice. Mr. Gillespie has been vice-president for a couple of years and he has taken a keen interest the work and will no doubt make a first-class officer. Under his guidance the Board of Trade and the City Council should and no doubt will be brought into closer touch with each other and work work harmoniously together. Dr. Morrison, who has very ably filled the president's chair for the past two years, retired although he was urged to remain in office for a third term.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night and very satisfactory reports were presented by the president, secretary and treasurer. The past year was in many ways a fruitful one. Besides the reports the officers were elected and several resolutions were passed.

The attendance was small, regretably so for the annual meeting and especially when so important a matter as the water works bylaw was to be discussed.

President Dr. Morrison occupied the chair and he asked Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine to read the minutes of the last annual meeting which were adopted.

A letter was received from Mr J. S. Lark, Canadian Commissioner in New South Wales in reference to the seventh conference of commerce of the Empire in Sydney next December, asking the board to have a representative present. Mr. Lark was appointed to represent Peterborough's Board of Trade.

On motion the thanks of the board was tendered the mayor and council for the use of the council chamber.

President Dr. Morrison paid a tribute to the local press for the efficient service rendered in reporting the board's meeting.

A telegram was received from the Ontario Central Power Company re the sale of Burleigh Power to Peterborough.

On motion Messrs. P. Campbell and John Crane were appointed auditors for the year.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

President Dr. M. A. Morrison presented his report as follows;—

Gentlemen.—In presenting to you the president's annual report I wish to congratulate the city upon the manner in which it has emerged from the period of depression just passed We have experienced no great depreciation in property values, the business men have held their own and many of them have prospered and the outlook is indeed optimistic.

The board has held four meetings during the year, at which questions, vital to the interest of the city were discussed and resolutions passed and fordwarded to the City Council, some of the which that body has already acted upon.

The Board of Trade is handicapped by not having at its disposal funds sufficient to carry its schemes into execution. In this respect I would recommend that at least one hundred dollars ($100) be placed at the disposal of the executive to be used in furthering the interests of the city, especially in endeavoring to secure new industries.

We note with pleasure the fact, that during the year the government let one contract north, and four contracts south of Peterborugh on the Trent Canal, the estimates for these contracts for the two years 1908-1909 amount to $2,000,000. There is yet to be put under contract six miles between Peterborough and Trenton, north of Peterborough the canal is completed to Lake Simcoe; between Lake Simcoe and Midland there is no work done as yet.

The building permits for the year amounted to $238,963, a considerable decrease when compared with the former year.

We note with pleasure that the Wm Hamilton Mfg. Co., is again in operation and we bespeak for it a most successful career.

The financial stringency is somewhat relieved and generally speaking the prospects for a busy and successful year are very bright. We think that Peterborough ought to forge ahead more rapidly than she has done in the past without natural advantages. Central location, shipping facilities and cheap power we should be an attraction for manufacturers, while we desire larger concerns that employ 200, 500 and 1000 hands, we welcome the smaller concerns such as the Lubricating Cup factory, mat factory, furniture and Novel-Tie factories and others which have located here within the last year or so. We hail with delight the prospect of the extension of the Street Railway both in the city and to the lakes. The building of the Victoria Harbor, Peterborough C.P.R. line will put us on the grain route of that great system and no doubt before long the Toronto-Montreal branch of that railway will be double-tracked and be used for the main line to the West. This will give us at least one train a day extra each way, and increase our travelling and shipping facilities. We have in the past been endeavoring to work out a scheme for the earlier delivery of the Toronto daily papers in our city, for over twenty years there has been no improvement in this matter. We are apparently content to receive the daily news of the world in the middle of the day. The Board will keep at this work until we can have our Toronto daily at our breakfast table.

There are many other subjects I might touch but this report is already long enough I wish in conclusion to thank the officers and members for their loyal support during the year and for the many courtesies received at your hands.

M. A MORRISON.
President.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

The following financial statement was presented by the treasurer, Ald. W H. Bradburn;—

Receipts and deposits in bank	$405.71
Expenditure	121.80
Balance on hand	$283.91

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The following report was presented by the secretary;—

Gentlemen.—I have the honor of presenting to you as secretary the 20th annual report of this board.

This year we have held four meetings, viz., March 2, September 29, December 10 and 21, 1908. We have also held several committee meetings.

The following subjects were under discussion;—The Public Library Question, Electric Wiring, Equipment of the Fire Department, Fire Protection, when a paper on this subject was read by Chief Howard. Preparations for an Industrial Revival. Tabulation of available sites for information of outside enquiring manufacturers. Sending a business man to interview intending locators instead of mailing them information as heretofore. Money bylaws to be submitted to property owners at municipal election.

The thanks of the Board of Trade are due to his Worship Mayor Rush and the immediate past and present members of the Board of Aldermen for the use of the City Council chamber during the past year.

Respectfully submitted.

T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Secretary.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

President—Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie.
Vice-Pres.—Ald. W. H. Bradburn.
Treasurer—P. Campbell.
Secretary—T. Q. Quartermaine.

Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie thanked his mover and seconder for nominating him to the chair of honor and to the members for electing him. He said that he would endeavor to do his utmost to make the board a success.

Ald. Bradburn thanked his mover and seconder and the members for the honor conferred upon him and he promised to do his utmost to further the interests of the board.

A Journey to Starland was Subject of Address

"A Journey Through Starland," was the subject of one of the best, if not quite the best, illustrated lectures ever given before the Peterborough Astronomical Society. The speaker was Mr. Jenkins, president of the Hamilton Society and was one of the three men chosen by the government in 1905 to go to Labrador to view the total solar eclipse. The subject was a very large one and the address lasted for two hours. But every person present was keenly interested every minute of the time. The illustrations were exceptionally good and went a long way to simplify the subject. Photos were shown of the different sections of the moon, the larger stars, of the largest telescopes in the world and of the largest observatories with discriptions of each.

There were about 50 present and of this number several arrived late much to the annoyance of the audience and the lecture. The Times has been requested to draw the attention of the public to the fact that it is very poor taste to arrive at a meeting or entertainment of any kind, and particularly at a lecture such as the one last night. Be kind time. If People intend to go any place it is just as easy to be on time as late.

Some Good Rolling at the P. B. C. Alley

There has been some good bowling at the P.B.C. alleys this week. The boys are out after the box of cigars. Tanny started the week with 204, then Sutherland rolled 217 which stood good until McIlroy ran up a score of 220 This looked like a winner but G. Ferguson limbered up and scored 224. It requires some bowling to beat that.

There were two games in the bowling tournament last night with the following results;

EXAMINER A—

Dela Fosse	121	162	171—	454
Craig	149	134	127—	408
Clark	90	114	131—	341
	360	410	429—	1203

EXAMINER A—

Cairns	151	180	183—	514
Glover	153	156	134—	443
Lacheur	152	152	153—	457
	456	488	470—	1414

BELMONTS—

Tunney	127	155	158—	440
Pollard	123	168	162—	453
Wareham	173	181	189—	543
	423	504	509—	1436

IROQUOIS—

Sutherland	158	148	158—	460
Martin	195	174	146—	515
Adams	151	151	151—	354
	502	473	453—	1428

Owen A. Smily Concert

Mr. Owen A. Smily, the well-known and very popular humorist, was given a warm reception by his large circle of Peterborough admirers at the Conservatory of Music hall last night. Mr. Smily appeared here under the auspices of the Girls' Guild of the George street Methodist church. The hall was well filled and the program was greatly enjoyed while Mr. Smily was enthusiastically applauded after each selection and he very kindly responded with an encore.

The Board of Trade Endorses the Water Commissioners' By-Law

Pumping Capacity of Plant Must be Increased---A New Dam is Needed—Messrs. Kendry and Moore Mix It Up ---Mr. Matthews Also Took a Hand

There was a very interesting and at times very warm debate upon the proposed new water works dam and pumping plant and municipal power development at the Board of Trade last night. Those taking part in the more heated debate were Messrs. Jas. Kendry and W H. Moore, and the latter gentleman almost got angry. Messrs T. F. Matthews, W. H Meldrum and Ald. Bradburn were also among the speakers.

The president introduced the question by calling upon Mr. Matthews, chairman of the Water Commission. Mr. Kendry opposed some features of the proposition and asked for fuller information which Mr. Matthews gave. Then Mr. Moore addressed the meeting and made some insinuations which Mr. Kendry resented Then Mr Meldrum drew the attention of Mr. W. H. Moore to the fact that it was the people of Peterborough who owned the water works and not the commissioners although some of those gentlemen may feel and think and act otherwise. The object Mr. Meldrum had in view was to twit Mr Moore about putting himself so liberally upon the back for the low water rates and the surpluses derived from the money the people paid for using the water.

The meeting, however, passed a resolution endorsing the water commissioners bylaw for increasing their pumping capacity and for the new dam.

WATER WORKS DAM

Mr. T. F. Matthews was called upon to address the board on the proposed new water works dam. He said the new dam was the least of their troubles as it would cost only about one-third of the amount asked for. It was absolutely necessary to increase the pumping capacity as they have been running along and pumping to full capacity. The commissioners now deem it advisable to go ahead with the work.

The insurance men state that the pumping capacity should be 10,000,000 gallons per day while the present capacity is only 4,500,000 gallons Had a large fire broken out last July or August it would have been very serious. The commissioners have had two reports upon the waterworks and the last was made by Mr Kennedy of Montreal. The gentleman estimated the cost of a new dam, two pumping units of 3,000,000 gallons each and building a new power house site.

It is proposed to construct the new dam about 500 feet below the present site By so doing there will be available 1200 horse power electric energy of which the commissioners will retain 500 and the city can have the balance for street lighting, etc., at a cost of not more than $2 per horse-power.

In providing the funds Mr. Matthews stated that the ratepayers would not be charged a cent as the surplus from the commissioners' revenue would look after the interest and sinking fund for the $120,000 debentures.

Mr Matthews stated that the commissioners were also contemplating the construction of a filtering plant at some future date after the new dam has been completed.

He thought their bylaw should carry. It is in the best interests of the city.

MR JAS KENDRY.

Mr. Jas. Kendry took occasion to ask some pointed questions of the water commissioners and then went on to state that he was opposed to the power scheme in connection with the waterworks extension. He said the commissioners would require 1200 horse power of electric energy. He also stated that the commissioners would not get a ten per cent at their sum. He criticised the commissioners for not furnishing full information as to cost, etc The people are entitled to receive it.

Mr. Matthews, in reply stated that he would gladly furnish Mr. Kendry with copies of the report the commissioners have received. He agreed with Mr Kendry in that the ratepayers were entitled to full information and the commissioners intended to furnish that.

W. H MOORE.

Mr. Moore stated that it would be difficult to add anything to what Mr Matthews had said and explained. It was in the opinion of the commissioners necessary to have a new dam and increase pumping capacity of the waterworks. The matter has been considered very carefully for several ye

DR M. A. MORRISON.

Dr Morrison stated that he was glad to hear the discussion as it had given him a lot of information which he had not previously had. He believed that a new dam and increased pumping capacity was necessary and that the ratepayers should support the commissioners. He was not, however satisfied with the power end of the problem. He did not think the city's development of power at the waterworks dam should be conflicted with the commissioners' proposition as the power question is quite different.

He moved that the board support the water commissioners in their scheme for a new dam and pumping plant.

Mr. Hughes-Charles seconded Dr. Morrison's motion.

Dr. Morrison's motion was then put and it was carried unanimously.

Plumbers, with Tools, Taken to the Kinrade House to Look for Revolver

Hamilton, March 9.—Mr. Thomas Hobson, of Lees, Hobson, and Stephens, barristers, will attend the inquest tomorrow night on behalf of the Kinrade family. He has been instructed to do so by Mr. T. L. Kinrade. Mr. Hobson declines to give his opinion of the various theories advanced by the detectives and the public.

It was stated this afternoon that Mrs. Lafayette Shaffer, who said she heard shots at the Kinrade house at three o'clock or thereabouts, was located by a Provincial detective on a farm near Buffalo, in New York State. The police expect her to be in attendance at the inquest.

Other witnesses subpoenaed are;

Mrs. Frank Hickey, Miss C. Dressel, D M. Brown, his clerk, W. G. Applegath, Mrs. Kittson, Luke Copple, Motorman E. Stone, Conductor G Roach, Mrs. William Acres, the Coach men Wallace and Woodridge, all of whom will testify to Florence Kinrade's leaving the house and the time the alarm was given; Charles D. and Miss Phyllis Bossack, Mrs. Edgar and Balfe, Inspector MacMahon, Detectives Bleakley and Coulter, Provincial Detective Miller and Constable Burch.

FAMILY WILL BE THERE.

Hamilton, March 9.—There seems to be no reason to doubt that all the members of the Kinrade family now in Toronto will be here tomorrow night to give evidence. It is reported on pretty fair authority that they will come up on a morning train. In fact, it is known that a member of the family stated that that was their intention.

At the same time people here are wondering if the inquest will go on in case the Kinrades cannot appear to give evidence. They say it is just possible Miss Kinrade will not be well enough or calm enough to come. When the question was put to Coroner McNichol he said the inquest would probablyably go on without them in that event.

The medical testimony would be taken first if the members of the family were not present. Otherwise, it is understood that the Kinrades will be the first witnesses. Miss Kinrade probably being first.

Mrs. Hickey is still ill and may not be in a condition to tell her story in the witness box tomorrow night. Leaving out the Kinrades and Mrs Hickey, the only very important evidence in prospect for tomorrow night is that of the doctors.

Mr. Blackstock, who is to conduct the inquest, visited the Kinrade home yesterday afternoon.

Although there have been persistent reports since the shooting that the police have the revolver with which the crime was committed, there is no warrant for the story.

PLUMBERS LOOK FOR REVOLVER

Today Detectives Coulter and Bleakley went to the Kinrade home, accompanied by a plumber with a full kit of tools. It is presumed that the officers this morning made a complete examination of the plumbing looking for the revolver or shells. They refused to talk about their search.

WAS ETHEL OUT WALKING?

Had Miss Ethel Kinrade just returned from an afternoon walk when she was so brutalgly murdered in her own home on February 25th? This seems to be indicated by the story of a new witness, Mr Chas. Bossack, of 140 Herkimer street. Mr. Bossack told a reporter this morning that he saw a young woman, whom he took to be Miss Ethel Kinrade, pass his house about two o'clock on the afternoon of the murder. She was walking westward at a leisurely pace. She was not hurrying and he supposed she was just out for a quiet stroll.

Mr. Bossack has been subpoenaed for the inquest tomorrow night. He was well acquainted with Miss Ethel and his daughter was a friend of Getrude Kinrade, the youngest daughter of T. L. Kinrade.

"I have no idea where she was going," said Mr. Bossack, "and I did not see her come back."

Miss Eric Bossack, his daughter,

(Continued on page four.)

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure
Renders the food more wholesome and superior in lightness and flavor.
The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

STANDING COMMITTEES CHOSEN FOR PETERBORO' PRESBYTERY

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough on March 9th, 1909, and was duly constituted.

Present—Revs. G. A. Mackennan, moderator; D. A. Thompson, clerk; A. K. McLeod, W. Johnston, J. G. Potter, W. Beattie, H. E. Abraham, J. Skene, D. A. McKenzie, H. J. Keith, J. A. S. Fairling, R. Pogue, P. B. Thornton, M. C. Stewart, J. R. Black, P. W. Currie, D. D. McDonald, S.S. Burns, Messrs. George Mitchell, T. Spear, W R. Buttars, W. Madill, J. F. Clark, R. Legg, J. Clapperton and J. Kennedy, elders, R. Harrison, treasurer.

The advice of the moderator in changing the place of meeting from Port Hope to Peterborough, for same, was approved. The docket as read was adhered to.

Mr. Pogue presented his report on the status of minister evangelist and assistant pastor. The report was based upon the record of the assembly dealing with the granting of seats in the courts of the church to minister evangelists. The Presbytery endorsed the decision of the assembly in deeming it inadvisable to accord such status to the minister evangelist.

Regarding the pastor's assistant. It was decided that if the assistant if duly ordained and inducted should have the same privileges as the pastor himself.—Report was received and adopted.

The report on the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund and Widows and Orphans' Fund was presented by the Rev. D. A. McKenzie.

The clerk reported regarding expenses of commissioners to the General Assembly. It was agreed that each Presbytery pay the expenses of its own commissioners.

Mr. Keith reported regarding the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

A full report will appear in tomorrow's issue.

CURLING.

The following are the scores at the curling rink last night;

Adamson	Tooley
Bronscomb	Rush
Montgomery	Hay
Neill—12	Fitzgerald—18
Collier	Dr. Gowan
Evans	Webb
Lang	Moore
Morrow—6	Hicks—11
James	H. Hall
Hill	L. Hall
Campbell	Taylor
Talbot—17	Davidson—7
Tovey	Turner
Maitland	McDermid
Yates	Hollingshead
D. Hall—11	Ferguson—8

A meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment was held last night when the internal management of the regiment was discussed. Another meeting will be held on Monday night.

Ministers Praise

CATARRHOZONE

Rev. D. K. Smith, of White Head, N.S., was cured of catarrh by Catarrhozone.

The following statement coming from one of Nova Scotia's prominent churchmen carries conviction of the fact that Catarrhozone is all right.

"For years I tried all the advertised remedies for Catarrh, but was unable to get relief until I used Catarrhozone. Before I had used the Inhaler half an hour my nostrils became free and clear so that I could breathe easily through them. In one day Catarrhozone helped me immensely, stopped my coughing and hawking and cured a dull pain that was continually over my eyes. I have great pleasure in recommending Catarrhozone. I have proved it the best remedy for Catarrh and diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes."

There is certainly no remedy that is so well spoken of by the clergy as Catarrhozone and this can be accounted for by the fact that it gives perfect satisfaction.

It is the only remedy that reaches all diseased parts and gives quick relief without bad after effects. Catarrhozone contains no cocaine nor morphine. It is nature's own remedy, soothing and healing, and pleases everybody that uses it.

Catarrhozone is a local and constitutional treatment. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops the headache, and Catarrhozone Tablets that are included in every complete Catarrhozone outfit, never fail to drive impurities from the blood. This builds up and strengthens the system so that Catarrhal conditions cannot exist.

The speediest cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, and Asthma is Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment, price $1.00; medium size 50c; at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The only Morning Daily Newspaper published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $5 per year, strictly in advance.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing materials, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

English Office—30 Fleet street, London, E. C.

TIMES PRINTING COMPANY,

Publishers and Proprietors.

Peterborough, Ontario.

UNION LABEL

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1909.

THE RIGHT POSITION.

Regarding the Carman-Jackson controversy, the Christian Guardian, the official organ of the Methodist Church, has an editorial in this week's issue, headed "Let Us Not Stampede." Following is the substance of the article;

"Considerable excitement, bordering on a panic, has been stirred up over the reported utterances of Rev. George Jackson, touching the methods of interpretation of the opening chapters of Genesis. The editor had been advised to speak rebuking and condemning a supposedly vicious and fatal teaching. From the tone of letters and the words of many we judge that a heated controversy would be little gain to the church. We would not favor peace at any price, much as we delight in it, but such a controversy could only justify itself on the ground that is concerned a vital issue. We have hardly as yet been given a satisfactory basis of judgment, therefore it will hardly do to pronounce on the matter from the basis of a newspaper report, a report, by the way, that is repudiated by the man most concerned. Those who refuse to do so can at least be pardoned. Mr. Jackson's subject will be published; when it is he may be legally judged. The church must maintain with zealous care the great vital and fundamental truths of her faith. This is so absolutely necessary that she may at times be forgiven if she sees dangers and fears evils where none exist. It is well to bear in mind in time of controversy that it is just as important that the church be truly Christian in spirit and in temper as it is that she be strictly orthodox.

The Guardian has taken a commendable position in reference to this controversy. Had the general superintendent been actuated by a similar spirit he would have hesitated to pour contempt upon Rev. Mr. Jackson before he at least gave him an opportunity to clear himself of the allegations that had been made against him. It is only British fair play to judge a man innocent until he is proved guilty. It is moreover a perilous enterprise to endeavor to stop the wheels of progress in religious thought or in any other line.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful. Sold by all druggists.

By-law No...

A BY-LAW to provide for borrowing the sum of $120,000 to pay the cost of construction of a concrete dam and other works for the improvement of the Waterworks system of the City of Peterborough.

Passed the day of 1909.

WHEREAS the Peterborough Water Commissioners have represented to the Council of the City of Peterborough that it is necessary, in order to ensure a permanent, increased and satisfactory supply of water to the City for public and private use and for fire protection, that the present waterworks dam should be replaced by a new concrete dam and that a new pump house and more effective pumping plant, together with the other works and appliances required to control and develop the water power at the said dam and to supply water to the waterworks system of the said City should be constructed and installed, and it is estimated that the cost of same will be the sum of $120,000 and the said Water Commissioners have applied to the Council for the said sum for such purposes.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable in the public interest to construct and instal such works and appliances and to pass this Bylaw, to be submitted to the votes of the duly qualified electors, to authorize the borrowing of the said sum for the purposes aforesaid, which sum of $120,000 is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this Bylaw.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of $120,000 it will be necessary to issue the debentures of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough for the said amount, such debentures to be a special charge on the waterworks, and the lands used therewith and the revenues arising therefrom and also charged on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being the roll prepared in the year 1908, for the year 1909, is the sum of $6,426,778 and the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts payable by local special rates, but including the debt of $312,000 incurred for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks, is the sum of $870,331 98 and there is no part of the principal or interest in arrear.

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of $5100 to be raised annually for a period of thirty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this Bylaw to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of $2,324.56 to be raised annually during the said period for providing a sinking fund for the payment of the same at maturity thereof—such last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes due, making in all the sum of $7,424.56 to be raised annually as aforesaid.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF ENACTS AS FOLLOWS;—

1. This Bylaw shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2 It shall be lawful for the Council of the City of Peterborough to borrow the sum of $120,000 and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the City of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust, and to be made payable within thirty years after the issue thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four and one-quarter per centum per annum payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust in the City of Peterborough.

3. The said waterworks and lands shall be specially charged with the repayment of the said sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and the debentures to be issued therefor and the holders of such debentures shall have a preferential charge on the said waterworks and lands and the revenues arising therefrom, after providing for the payment of the expenses attendant upon the operation and maintenance of the said waterworks and the interest and sinking fund in respect to debentures already issued for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks system, for securing the payment of the said debentures and the interest thereon and the said debentures and interest shall also be a charge upon the whole rateable property of the municipality.

4. Subject to the provisions of subsection 2 of this section there shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of $5,100 for payment of the interest on the said debt, and the sum of $2,324.56 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof making together the sum of $7,424.56 to be raised annually as aforesaid.

(2) Provided however that the revenues arising from the said waterworks shall, after payment of the expenses of operating and maintaining the said waterworks and the payment of the interest and sinking fund in respect to debentures heretofore issued for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks system, be applied towards payment of the annual interest and sinking fund on the debentures to be issued hereunder and the Council of the said City shall only be required to raise in each year during the currency of the debentures to be issued hereunder a sum sufficient with the moneys arising and available from such revenue to make up the said annual sum of $7,424.56 required for payment of the interest and sinking fund of the debentures to be issued hereunder.

5. As the proposed expenditure upon the objects for which the debt to be created by this Bylaw is estimated to extend over more than one year and it is undesirable to have large portions of the money on hand unused and uninvested it would in the opinion of the Council be to the advantage of the Municipality to issue the debentures hereby authorized in instalments and it is therefore hereby provided that said debentures may be issued in instalments of such amounts (not exceeding in the aggregate the total amount for which provision is made by this Bylaw) and at such times, as the exigency of the case demands, but so that the whole shall be issued within five years and the first instalment within two years after the passing of this Bylaw and the proceeds of the said debentures when sold or a sufficient part thereof for that purpose shall be paid over as required to the Peterborough Water Commissioners, to be applied in payment of the amount expended in the construction of such new dam, pump house and pumping plant and the other works and appliances constructed and installed to control and develop the water power at the said dam and to supply water to the water works system of the city.

6. For the purpose of taking the votes of the duly qualified electors on this bylaw the following adjoining Polling Subdivisions shall be united namely;—Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1 and 2; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 4, 5 and 6; Polling Subdivisions Numbers 7 and 8; Polling Subdivisions numbers 10 and 11 and Polling Subdivisions numbers 13 and 14.

7. The votes of the electors of the City of Peterborough qualified to vote upon Bylaws for creating debts shall be taken upon this Bylaw on the 30th day of March, 1909, commencing at the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers, with the following Poll Clerks, that is to say:—

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 1 and 2—Place, B. McGill's grocery, Cor. Aylmer and Lake streets. Deputy Returning Officer, Joseph Robertson. Poll Clerk, W. Van Every.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO 3—Place, L. Spry's, 210 Stewart street. Deputy Returning Officer, F. J. A. Hall. Poll Clerk, John Comstock.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 4, 5 and 6—Place, The City Council Chambers. Deputy Returning Officer, Angus McIntosh. Poll Clerk, J. P. Bryson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 7 and 8—Place, A. J. Warne's, 356 Charlotte street. Deputy Returning Officer, J. M. Greene. Poll Clerk, Henry Greene.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 9—Place, N. Routley's, 302 Brock street. Deputy Returning Officer, John Sawers. Poll Clerk, N. Routley.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 10 and 11—Place, Mrs. Mann's store, 601 George street. Deputy Returning Officer, A. Sawers. Poll Clerk, G. H. Howson.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 12—Place, Mrs. Wm. Lea's shop, Smith street, Deputy Returning Officer, T. W. Robinson. Poll Clerk, D. Kennedy.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NOS. 13 and 14—Place, the former Village Hall. Deputy Returning Officer, Robert Hamilton. Poll Clerk, James McDonald.

8. The 31st day of March, 1909 at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the City Clerk's Office are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where, the Clerk will sum up the number of votes given for and against the Bylaw.

9. The 25th day of March, 1909, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon and the office of the City Clerk are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passing of the bylaw respectively.

Mayor.

Clerk.

NOTICE.

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed Bylaw which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the City of Peterborough (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in The Morning Times newspaper, the date of which first publication is the third day of March, 1909, and that at the hour, day and place therein fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
City Clerk.

Sacrifice Sale

NOW GOING ON

Positively Best Value Ever Offered in Peterborough for the Money.

Souvenir Cards, Local Views only 1c each or, per dozen..	.10	24 sheets good Note Paper for good quality Envelopes for	.5
Comic Cards, Per dozen.....	.10	Oblong Envelopes business size.....3 packages for	.10
Embossed Easter Cards Per dozen, only.....	.25	Writing Pads, best quality	.5 & .10
Novels and Magazines, slightly damaged covers, best authors only, each	.5	Cups and Saucers, Spoon Trays, Pickle Dishes, Marmalade Jars, Vases, Souvenir Novelties Regular price 25c; sale price	.19
H. B. Lead Pencils, six for only.....	.5	5-cent Dictation Books, Scribblers or Shorthand Books, six for.....	.24
Six Good Scribblers for only.....	.5	Toys, Dolls, Games, and Picture Blocks of every description, from 5 cents, up.
100-page Scribblers, ruled or plain, ...2 for	.5
Ink and Mucilage, per bottle only	.4	All Cloth and Leather Bound Books, Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books at big reductions.

BE SURE TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE BARGAINS

We are giving away Free Blotters to school children

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE

TIMES BOOKSTORE

Hunter St., Peterborough, - Nearly Opposite Post Office

BENNIS & STOPPANI

New York and Chicago.

Members { New York Cen. Stock Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade

TORONTO OFFICE - McKinnon Bldg

J. L. MITCHELL, Manager

BARGAINS

IN

BEDS

MUST BE CLEARED OUT THIS WEEK.

Regular $3.50 Iron Beds with Brass Fittings to sell at.....	2.25
Regular $3.00 Bed to clear at.....	2.00
Regular $10.00 Bed, size 4 x 6 feet.....	6.00
Regular $3.50 Mattress selling for.....	2.00
Regular $2.50 Springs now for only.....	1.00
Regular $4.00 Springs for.....	2.50

FRESH CONFECTIONERY

Always on hand Try us and you will always be satisfied

M E. LYNN, 521 George St.

Cor. of George and McDonnel Sts.

NEW GROCERY

T. C. Yonge

has opened up a new grocery business at the

Cor. WATER and McDONNEL STREETS

where he will supply the newest and choicest goods at the very LOWEST PRICES. Not having to pay high rent, my customers will receive the benefit thereof in

Select Groceries at Lowest Prices

Misses Georgie and Prudence Long the youngest daughter of Mr. Geo. Long, Hunter street, left at noon yesterday for Port Hope, where they will sing in the theatorium. The little ones have delighted local audiences who heard them at the Crystal.

THE FLAVOR

and purity of our Beer wins many friends. No expense is spared in the brewing and bottling.

Calcutts' Lager Beer Ale and Porter

costs you no more than you have often paid for inferior kinds. If you would get the best results drink Calcutt's.

10,000 Bushels Barley wanted Highest price paid at Brewery for well cleaned Barley.

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO. Limited

GREY HAIR

Positively Restored Black or Brown

BY

Milton's Hair Restorative

One application a month keeps the hair natural. It contains no oil, the hair can be washed when desired, in fact one forgets that greyness ever existed.

IT HAS NO EQUAL. TRY IT.

Sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by

E. CARNOCHAN

106 FLORENCE ST. OTTAWA

5ct.—Bargains—5ct.

6 H.B. lead pencils 5c.
6 scribblers only 5c.
Writing pads 5c.
Packages of 25 envelopes 5c.
Novels and magazines 5c.
Toys 5c.
6 souvenir cards.
Dolls 5c.
Games 5c.
Paints and crayons 5c.

Don't fail to take advantage of above bargains, quality of every article is A1.

TIMES BOOKSTORE, Hunter street.

Auditorium Roller Rink.

Open to rent by the day, night or week. Splendid floor space, low terms, also supply of Skates Sharpened.

TRANSPORTATION.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

SETTLERS

Low rates to certain points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, via Chicago Port Arthur each Tuesday during March and April.

Pacific Coast Excursions

In effect March 1st to April 30th, inclusive

42.60 Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Oregon.

45.20 San Francisco, Cal Los Angeles, Cal.

44.20, MEXICO CITY.

Above rates are one-way second-class, applying from Peterboro.

COBALT AND GOWGANDA

The pioneer route is via Grand Trunk and T. & N.O. Railways.

Full information from

W. BUNTON, Town Agent

F. SANDY, Depot Agent

FROM PETERBORO

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

SECOND CLASS ONE WAY

DAILY UNTIL APRIL 30th

Most Direct Route

Tourist Sleeping Cars on all Trains

Apply to W. McILROY, Agent Peterboro

KINGSTON & PEMBROKE RAILWAY

The best Route between Peterboro and Kingston

is via C.P.R., Sharbot Lake and K. & P. Ry.

Leave Peterboro at 11:26 A.M., arriving at Kingston at 3:55 P.M.

Leave Kingston at 12:01 NOON, arriving at Peterboro 4:38 P.M.

F. CONWAY, Gen. Pass. Agent

Royal Mail Trains

VIA

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

MARITIME EXPRESS

Famed for excellence of SLEEPING AND DINING CAR SERVICE

leaves Montreal 12:00 noon daily except Saturday for Quebec, St. John, N.B. and Halifax.

Friday's Maritime Express

Carries the European Mails

and lands passengers and baggage at the side of the steamship at Halifax the following Saturday.

Intercolonial Railway uses Bonaventure Union Depot, Montreal, making direct connection with Grand Trunk trains.

Apply to

Toronto Ticket Office 51 King Street East

Montreal Ticket Office 120 St James Street

—OR—

General Passenger Department Moncton, N.B.

NAVIGATION.

DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

FROM PORTLAND TO LIVERPOOL

CANADA..... Feb 20, Mar 27
DOMINION..... March 13
SOUTHWARK..... April 10

Canada First Class $70.00, Second $45 Other steamers in Moderate Rate Service called "Second Class," only one class cabin passengers, $42 50 to $45.00 according to steamer Third Class to Liverpool London, Londonderry, Belfast and Glasgow $27.50.

ST. LAWRENCE SEASON 1909

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE

Royal Mail Steamships

LAURENTIC

15,240 tons, triple screw.

MEGANTIC

15,500 tons. Largest and finest steamers sailing from Montreal, also excellent one class cabin service, called second class.

Apply to local agents, or

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE,

118 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

BANKS.

THE

HOME BANK OF CANADA

Original Charter 1854

SIX OFFICES IN TORONTO

Twenty-one Offices in Ontario.

—THE—

Bank of Ottawa

ESTABLISHED 1874

HEAD OFFICE: OTTAWA, ONTARIO

David Maclaren, Esq., - President
Hon. George Bryson, - Vice-president
George Burn, Esq., General Manager

Capital paid up $3,000,000
Rest & Undivided Profits.... 3,405,991
Total Assets.. 33,524,891

General Banking Business Transacted

Peterborough Branches — George street, and Corner Rubidge and Townsend streets.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

HEAD OFFICE:

337 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND, . . . 650,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½ Per Cent. Interest paid four times a year on deposits of one dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of entry to date of withdrawal.

4 Per Cent. Paid half yearly on sums of $100 and upwards. The company's debentures issued therefor in terms of from 1 to 5 years. These debentures are transferable by endorsement.

MONEY TO LOAN

at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MURROW, Managing Director

HOTELS

HOTEL CARSLAKE, MONTREAL. European plan — opposite Grand Trunk. Geo. Carslake, Proprietor.

LEGAL

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., 115 Water street. E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun. F. D. Kerr.

A. E. DIXON, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, etc., Office corner of Hunter and George streets. Entrance next to Madill's Drug Store.

A. P. POUSSETTE, K.C., 379 Water street. Money to lend at lowest current rates.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton and Hall. Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office: Corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.

R. R. HALL, S.T.MEDD, W.S.DAVIDSON

Children's Aid Society

PETERBOROUGH.

For the care of neglected and illtreated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1893. Information requested. Informants' names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent and Assistant Secretary. Office, Division Court Building.

METAL

HARRIS Heavy-Pressure BEARING

LOCAL AGENTS:

Peterboro Hardware Co.

METAL

Metal in round ingots. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE CANADA METAL CO

PHONE MAIN 1709

William St. TORONTO

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED

THE TIMES' FINANCIAL PAGE---OF INTEREST TO THE CANADIAN INVESTOR

THE TIME AND THE CHANCE TO TURN DIMES INTO DOLLARS QUICK

NO MAN EVER GOT RICH ON 5 PER CENT.

OUR ENTERPRISE OFFERS

From 7,580 to 15,260 per cent. enhancement.
And in addition, 20 to 180 per cent. dividends, within a year.

AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTING

A line showing a total success of 81.82 per cent. since it commenced in 1859.
An industry with an asset behind it of $3,840,000 to $7,680,000, before Jan. 1, 1910.

A PROPOSITION THAT IS

The biggest source of wealth known.
The greatest modern factor in finance and commerce.
The most potent force at work in the world today.

THE GREAT QUESTION IS

If we can satisfy you that we are truly honest and have good judgment—
Will you then join us in a clean proposition that has its future before it, not behind it—for big and quick profits?

HONEST MEN AND GOOD JUDGMENT

Queries and Answers.

W. M. S. Sewickly, Pa.—We know the people behind the Pioneer Oil company and know them to be among the most reputable operators in this section. They are all men of standing in the mining and business community. Their property is regarded as the best prospect in Nevada. * * * * * —The Golpfield News.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE BEST

Inquire about Pioneer Oil at 10 cents.
Ask for prospectus and map with photographic views.

For information write

IRA MacFARLAND, General Manager

P. O. Drawer 584 Whitmore Building
GOLDFIELD, NEVADA

—: THE :—
CORPORATE EXECUTOR

will bring into the management of your estate Responsibility, Experience and the combined Wisdom of a competent Board of business and professional men. Advise with :: :: ::

—: THE :—
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

ESTABLISHED 1882
TORONTO :: WINNIPEG :: OTTAWA

PRUDENTIAL MINES, Limited

Capital $2,000,000, Shares $1.00 par value fully paid and non-assessible.

Owners of five 40-acre claims known as the Todd-McNeil claims adjoining the townsite of Elk City. Claims developed and thirty veins stripped showing native silver. Will start shipping upon opening of river. Claims conceded to be the richest group in Montreal river district by all competent authorities.

As the company is headed by the most honorable and conservative business men of Montreal, we are assured of a square deal all around, and no manipulating of stock.

We have the best Mining Engineer money can procure to put in charge of the work, namely,

J. C. BIEDLEMAN, OF SPOKANE, WASH.

Stock is not in the hands of any brokers, thereby saving the company the excessive commissions demanded by them, which enables us to put it in development work instead. The present allotment of stock is all that will be put on the market at any price.

Few thousand shares left at twenty-five cents per share

Subscriptions subject to previous sale. All cheques should be drawn direct to WILLIAM TEES, secretary-treasurer, of company and mailed to

The GODWIN, MURRAY, BARNHART, Limited

535 Board of Trade, Montreal, Canada.

"OXOL"

The word "Oxol" does not mean one food, or one preparation No: "Oxol" is a name given to all goods for horses, cattle, swine and sheep, prepared by Messrs. A. K. & T. C. Windsor of Australia New Zealand, England and Canada.

The veterinary preparations as well as the compressed bales of fodder placed on the market of the world under the name of

"OXOL" FOR CATTLE

are all of the greatest possible order of merit and may be used by farmers, graziers, dairymen and all owners of stock with the full assurance that these goods have the power in a very short time to double their increase by feeding, fattening and curing all ailments, which in them must occur.

One agent only in each district who has sole control of the local trade for specific name. See future advertisements, etc.

WOMEN IN TROUSERS.

Peasants In Valais, Switzerland, Have Quaint Customs.

Amongst the curious communities of the world, that of Valais, a beautiful canton of Switzerland, certainly ranks as one of the most peculiar and interesting of them all. It provides a delightful picture of topsy-turvydom. From time immemorial the women have worn the "breeks" and performed the manual labor of the fields, while their lords and masters lounge their days away in ease.

What is more, the women are quite content with this inverted order of things, and are perfectly satisfied if their husbands brew the herbs, fry the meat, and look after the baby, while they wrestle with the sterner duties of field and stable.

And not only do the women of Valais wear trousers for convenience when working in the fields or tramping after cattle, but also on Sundays and fete-days. "They have better-looking ones for these occasions, I must confess," says Miss Van der Veer, in an interesting article published in The Wide World Magazine, "but they have no hankering for the trammels of skirts even during their courting hours. I was highly amused at seeing the pretty girls sauntering along the picturesque trails with their sweethearts' arms around their waists, looking to the casual stranger for all the world like two young men gone 'looney.'

"One can scarcely imagine a wedding party with bride and groom dressed in the same kind of garments, but I have seen one in the mountains, when the bride wore a white bodice, white trousers, and a bunch of white violets in her hair! She was as pretty as a picture, too, despite the attire, and quite as blushing and shy as any bride out of a convent."

The working-day trousers are of the "home-made" variety and by no means becoming. Often they are so long and baggy that they seem almost as cumbersome as skirts would be. The most amusing part about this working costume is that the upper part remains feminine, being the ordinary rough bodice one, being the ordinary rough bodice of the peasant woman, often in bright colors of red or blue.

And, in spite of their familiarity with trousers, the women of Valais do not walk or sit in a masculine manner. "Anyone can see at a glance that they are women in men's clothes. They always sit sideways on horseback, and get over fences by first mounting to the top rail and sliding down woman-fashion, instead of striding over man-fashion.

"Another feminine absurdity is the wearing of a long sort of toga, which trails down their backs and gets in the way whenever they bend over or go through the tangles of the mountain wood.

"Why don't you wear a cap or small felt hat like the men?" I asked an old woman once.

"'We have always covered our heads so,' was her explanation—an explanation, in her opinion, that was all-sufficing; peasants from one generation to another do everything simply because their forefathers did the same."

Book-Made Towns.

The most remarkable example of a book-made town is Biskra, the oasis in the Sahara that Robert Hichens idealised, under the name of Beni Mora, in his novel of "The Garden of Allah." Biskra, quite unknown in the past, is now, thanks to Mr. Hichens, a fashionable winter resort. It is rather odd that all the world should know that Biskra was meant by Beni Mora in "The Garden of Allah." There is a Beni Mora near Biskra—a kind of swamp, with a few clay huts and a palm or two sticking up out of the mud—but Biskra itself is never mentioned in the book.

Biskra is a pleasant enough winter resort. It is by no means, however, the desert paradise described by the novelist.

Ilfracombe, the famous North Devon watering-place, owes its renown to Charles Kingsley, who, in his novel of "Westward Ho!" praised it. Ilfracombe deserved Kingsley's praise. It is really beautiful; it has a superb climate.

Two other Devon water-places, Lynton and Lynmouth, are book-made. Blackmore's novel of "Lorna Doone" first drew the public to them.

Pierre Loti, in "Pecheur d'Islande," describes very beautifully the Breton seaport of Paimpol. Many persons in consequence have visited Paimpol in the hope of passing the summer there. Vain hope. Paimpol, with its muddy, smelly tidal river, is not quite an ideal holiday resort.

In America there are no book-made towns, unless it be Salem, which Nathaniel Hawthorne so vividly described.

First Oranges In Europe.

At a time when tiny orange trees are to be seen as table decorations and oranges innumerable are for sale it is not inappropriate to trace the introduction of the fruit into Europe. According to a Paris contemporary, after its introduction into Europe from China a Carthaginian conceived the idea of grafting the yellow mandarin orange upon the grenadier, with the result that we have the blood orange. Jean de Castro introduced the orange from the West Indies to Portugal, and the first attempt to cultivate it was made by the Constable de Bourbon, but after his revolt Francis I. continued the experiments. At the time Louis XIV. visited Toulon the Chevalier Paul, in compliment of the King, placed some preserved oranges on trees in the orangery. Ladies in the retinue, it is added, were under the impression that these oranges grew sugared.

Cigarettes In the Army.

"The consumption of 40,000 packets of cigarettes a month is no uncommon thing in a regiment, and if the regiment is 1,000 strong the consumption reaches more like 80,000 packets a month," stated Lieut. Allan, of the 2nd Northumberland Fusiliers, in addressing a gathering of Dover Boy Scouts recently.

Fortify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventics—the Little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Preventics, at the "sneeze stage" will, as well, also surely head off all common colds. But promptness is all-important. Keep Preventics in the pocket or purse, for instant use. Box of 48 for 25c. Sold by all dealers.

VAGARIES OF VOLCANOES.

Scientists Have a Hard Time Predicting What Will Happen Next.

There is no more contradictory thing in nature than a volcano. Its heat is incalculable, yet ice formed upon it may remain intact, even underneath streams of lava. This has occurred on Aetna, where an ice-sheet formed from melted snow was covered with molten lava without disappearing. The lava congealed, leaving the ice intact beneath it in the shape of a stratified bed, much the same as the extraordinary formation known as "stone ice," which underlies the later rocks of the Lena Peninsula and of the New Siberian Islands.

Something of the same kind exists almost within the crater of Teide, the still-smoking vent from which the last eruption of the Peak of Teneriffe took place. There, within a cavern blown by some outburst of white hot gases, is a pool of water frozen almost solid, with huge icicles pendant from the still warm rocks above. The ice thus created in the very heart of the fiery mountain is a luxury eagerly sought after in the semi-tropical heat of the island. So also are the snows of other volcanic peaks; but these owe their existence—which is seldom constant—to the mountains' height rather than to any freak of subterranean forces.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the volcanic mud baths of the Medocino district of California are not boiling, as one might expect, but icy cold. During the terrible eruption in the North Island of New Zealand, the same peculiarity appeared, hot and cold springs appearing there close together.

The causes of this phenomenon are obscure, which is not now the case with that of the strange, rounded balls, like boys' marbles magnified many times, thrown out by some volcanoes. The Neapolitans call those ejected by Vesuvius "ciottoloni," and where the fashion of their making is not understood, they are still regarded with superstitious reverence. They are, however, simply boulders with which the volcano has been playing, as a stream might play with the pebbles in its bed. Only instead of being water-worn into rounded masses, these boulders, weighing sometimes up to one hundred tons, have been whirled about in maelstroms of liquid lava far beneath the earth's crust. Upon no other hypothesis can they be accounted for.

These balls are accountable for another puzzling volcanic freak. Within the area affected by a great eruption huge pits are sometimes found to have been dug in the form of inverted cones. Many theories have been advanced to account for these, but their secret was finally revealed after the tremendous outburst from Bandaisan. Then in digging below the point of these pits, Japanese scientists discovered "ciottoloni," which had been projected, bomb-like, from the crater to some incalculable height, and in falling had dug out the mysterious holes. Further proof of this theory was found in the fact that some of these balls still bore green fragments of foliage caught in their descent.

Cigars In Glass Boxes.

I don't believe it will be long before the cedar-wood cigar box is a thing of the past, said a London tobacconist, as he pulled the nails out of a box. Several big cigar manufacturing concerns have been experimenting recently with glass jars as a substitute, and they are proving a great success. Of course they are heavier than the wooden box and there is a slight percentage of breakage, but in the end they are cheaper, for the price of the wooden boxes is going up all the time. The package is attractive, and the cigars packed in the jars will not dry out so rapidly.

Fifty cigars are packed in the jars, which have a light, nickeled screw top. The best part of the glass-box idea is that the smokers' wives can put them to good use after the cigars are all gone. They can be used in house for a thousand different things. But a wooden cigar-box isn't much use for anything after it has served its first purpose. You could break, shatter, or do most anything with it, but the scent of the tobacco always clings to it.

Bravery and Cowardice.

Cowardice is often ignorance. Are any men brave, more ready to take their lives in their hands, to reckon death as one of the daily encounters, than the deep sea fishermen? Yet a group of these men brought to London by one of their missionaries have been seen too terrified to cross the street. The police had to stop the traffic to allow them to cross. The quick, quarrelsome, fearless cockneys who laughed at them—how would they feel in a freezing storm in the North Sea? A spider may terrify the most courageous of women and a V. C. shrink from a cat. Every hero has his weakness, and we may believe every coward has a point where he turns and will fight the world.—London Outlook.

Swiss English.

A Zurich newspaper published the following advertisement in English: "Residing board house among a charming set of mountains. Very becoming for families or singular individuals. Shadowed glades and amiable places for resting for guests of the cure. All facilities for mountainous expeditions. Excellent kitchen, with lager beer running from the tap."

In an English village an official notice reads as follows: "The public are warned against using the well for domestic purposes unless previously boiled."

Crabbed Carlyle.

There is a story of Carlyle in his old age having taken the following farewell in his broadest Scotch of a young friend who had had him in charge for walks and who, while almost always adapting himself to Carlyle's mood, had on a single occasion ventured to disagree with him: "I would have you to know, young man, that you have the capacity of being the greatest bore in Christendom."

Direct to Western Canada

The Canadian Pacific "Winnipeg Express," leaving Toronto at 10.15 p.m. daily, carries through standard and tourist sleeping cars for Winnipeg, the Northwest and Pacific Coast. This is the only direct, through-car service to Western Canada, trains run the entire distance through Canadian territory, and the time made is considerably faster than by any other route.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have those same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and sifting Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating Heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those nerves — re-establish them as needed, with

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

Penitentiary Supplies

SEALED TENDERS addressed "Inspectors of Penitentiaries, Ottawa," and endorsed "Tenders for Supplies," will be received until Thursday, 25th March, inclusive, from parties desirous of contracting for supplies, for the fiscal year 1909-1910, for the following institutions, namely:—

Kingston Penitentiary.
St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.
Dorchester Penitentiary.
Manitoba Penitentiary.
British Columbia Penitentiary.
Alberta Penitentiary, Edmonton, Alta.

Separate tenders will be received for each of the following classes of supplies;—

1. Coal; 2. coal oil; 3. cordwood; 4. drugs; 5. dry goods; 6. forage; 7. fresh fish; 8. fresh meat; 9. groceries; 10. hardware; 11. leather; 12. milk; 13. oils and paints; 14. pork and bacon; 15. Portland cement; 16. sole leather; 17. tinware.

Details of information as to form of contract, together with forms of tender, will be furnished on application to the Wardens.

All supplies are subject to the approval of the Warden.

DOUGLAS STEWART.
GEO. W. DAWSON.
Inspectors of Penitentiaries.
Department of Justice,
Ottawa, February 27, 1909.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders for shops east of Winnipeg.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and marked on the envelope "Tender for Shops," will be received at the office of The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 10th day of March, 1909, for the construction and erection complete, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Commissioners, of shops east of Winnipeg.

Plans, details and specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. S. R. Poulin, district engineer, Winnipeg, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, which may be had on application to Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, Ottawa, Ont.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Bank of the Dominion of Canada payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

The cheque deposited by the party whose tender is accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.
Dated at Ottawa, 20th January, 1909.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Commissioners will not be paid for it.

Synopsis of Canadian North west

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to pass with the above while living with his parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

USE KEARNS' INK

IT'S THE BEST BY EVERY TEST. WE MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS OF

Writing Inks, Mucilage, Photo Office Paste, and Sealing Wax, and sell them right.

We are the only firm in Canada manufacturing all kinds of Inks.

The Ink People Use.

Insist upon your dealer giving you Kearns' Ink. Don't accept just as' good. Beware of imitations. Manufactured by

THE KEARNS' INK CO., TORONTO, CANADA

—— NEW ——
Electrical Showrooms

Up-stairs at McGregor & Reid's
432 George Street

Brackets, 25c to..$10.00	Shades, 15c to. ..$ 2.00
Drawing-room Fixtures from $4 to.. 50.00	Living-room Fixtures from $4 to.... 25.00
Dining-room Fixtures from $2.50 to 35.00	Balls for halls from 40c to..... 2.00

These electric parlors are well worth seeing; many novelties too numerous to specify.

MacGREGOR & REID
432 GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product, of any kind, enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Cultivate the "Cosgrave Habit"— Watch for the name—ask for any of these brands: Half-and-Half, Pale Ale, XXX Porter.

Cosgrave's Brewery Co.
OF TORONTO, LIMITED

A Triumph in Sugar Refining

ST. LAWRENCE

CRYSTAL DIAMONDS

Small tablets or blocks of brilliantly pure white crystal sugar, each tablet being of uniform shape and size.

A fancy table sugar, attractive and tempting, and a distinct addition to the tea table.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., Ltd.
MONTREAL, QUE.

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
— OF —
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are finest and purest in the market
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty

Stamped Wood
For Pyrography

Travellers' samples to be sold less than cost price in order to clean out the lot. List contains following articles, panels, oval and round; glove, pipe racks, calendars, photo frames, handkerchief boxes, photo or work boxes, book racks, etc. Times Bookstore, Hunter street, Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

363
365
GEORGE ST.

Turnbull's Wednesday Leaders

160
162
SIMCOE ST.

Swiss Curtain Samples 48c. Swiss and Irish Point Curtain Samples, 54 to 60 inches long and full curtain width. One to ten curtains of a pattern, representing values up to $8.00 a pair.
See Window. Wednesday, each 48c

10c TOWELLING 7 1-2c
Good quality, roller Towelling, in all white, red border, or unbleached. Our regular 10c lines.
Wednesday a yard 7 1-2c

Embroidery Ends 39c 49c & 59c
Very fine Embroidery of Sheer Nainsook, the quality and designs are hard to get, very nice for undergarments all in 4½ yd. lengths.
Prices run 39c 49c and 59c

$1.00 Corsets 69c
Women's Corsets in the long hip styles, in white and grey. Our regular $1.00 line.
Wednesday a pair 69c

25c to 35c Muslins 9 1-2c
A general clean-up of our stock of white Dotted Muslins all more or less mussed and soiled. 25c to 35c qualities in the lot.
Wednesday a yd. 9 1-2c

85c Inlaid Linoleums, a square yard 59c. A very heavy quality of Scotch Inlaid Linoleums in tile and carpet patterns, 2 yards wide. Our best 85-cent lines.
A square yard only 59c

12 1-2c Wrapperettes 6 1-2c
150 yds Wrapperettes in light & dark grounds, small designs suitable for children's dresses, wrappers or quilt linings, fast colors, usual 12 1-2c lines. All sizes
Wednesday, a yd. 6 1-2c

Women's Walking Skirts $1.98
We have gathered the odd Top Skirts left from last season regardless of former prices, and placed them on the clearance table. There are blacks, navys, browns, greens in the lot and are worth up to $6.
Wed., your choice, $1.98

Our New Special Suit $17.50. One of the nattiest spring suits ever shown in Peterboro at the price may be seen in our Cloak Dept., 2nd floor. The material is a plain all-wool Venetian or satin cloth in black, navy, gobelin or green. The coats are in the new hipless effect, lined with broche mercerette, and the skirt is the new gored style.
Wednesday special $17 50

$1.00 White Underskirts 48c
Twenty-six (26) only White Underskirts in fine English cotton, some lace and embroidery trimmed, all lengths. Worth up to $1.00 each.
Your choice
Wednesday 48c

$1.00 Night Dresses 69c
Four styles in Women's Night Dresses, made of fine English cotton, either lace or embroidery trimmed. All sizes.
Your choice Wed. 69c

15c Brass Extension Rods, 3 for 25c. Heavy Brass Extension Rods complete with polished brass ends and brackets, that can be used on windows up to fifty inches wide. The usual 15c lines.
Wednesday, 3 for 25c

White Cotton Ends a yd. 4 1-2c
Mill ends in from 2 to 10 yard lengths, full 36 inches wide.
Wed. Special, a yd. 4 1-2c

Cocoa Door Mats 19c
Heavy quality Door Mats for veranda use.
Wed. Special, 19c

Factory Cotton a web $2.25
Fine quality Grey or Factory Cotton, nice even thread, easily bleached, in 30 yard webs
Wed. a web $2.25

Nottingham Lace Curtains $1.15
Good quality Nottingham Lace Curtains, 3 1-2 yds. long and 54 in. wide, in fine weave, Usual $2 lines
Wednesday $1.15

$5.00 Tapestry Curtains, $2.95. Heavy Tapestry Curtains with heavily fringed top and bottom, 50 inches wide by 3 1-4 yards long in all colors. Regular value $5.00
Wednesday, a pair $2.95

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. A. W. McPHERSON
Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, and New York Manhattan Maternity Hospital.
34 MURRAY STREET (Corner Water)
Phone 648

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda.
SPECIAL—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach.
OFFICE—Cor. George and Smith Sts.
Bell 'Phone—Office 49; House 606.

WOOD
POINT ST. CHARLES
has installed a wood cutting and splitting machine and is prepared to furnish Hard and Soft Wood, cut and split any length or size.
McDONALD

LEARN DANCING AT HOME
Waltzing gives control, poise, elegance. With Prof. de Tournez's complete course anyone can learn without instructor. Hundreds have learnt—so can you. Book of minute instructions fully illustrating each step and figure, 50c. Hundreds sold. Send money to-day. International Trading Co., Postal Station C., Box 25, Montreal.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1909.

Automatic Cutter

The German Card and Paper Co., the local concern manufacturing mounting boards and similar lines have added to their equipment a magnificent automatic clamp paper cutting machine one of the finest and most powerful made, from the Brown Carver Works, at Oswego, N.Y.

At St. Luke's

Rev. W. E. Vance, M.A., rector of the Church of the Ascension, Toronto, will be the special preacher at the Lenten service at St. Luke's tonight. Mr. Vance is one of the foremost ministers of the Anglican church, and a preacher of distinct ability and eloquence. He is a son of Mr. R. Vance of Cavan.

Assisted the T.A.S

Mr. Andrew Mack and some of his associates in the "Come Back to Erin" company gave much appreciated assistance to the T.A.S. dramatic club in their rehearsals of the "True Irish Heart," which will be presented on March 17. The professionals gave some valuable pointers on different matters of interpretation and business.

Mountain Building

The third of the series of lectures at the Normal School will be given on Friday evening, when Prof. Coleman of Toronto University, will give an address on "Mountain Building." Prof. Coleman has almost a world-wide reputation as a mountain climber, and has visited nearly every part of the globe. He has made a life-long study of mountains, and his lecture in this connection should be exceedingly interesting. The public is invited.

Correct Living
brings Good Health
The change from coffee to well boiled
POSTUM
is a step in the right direction.
"There's a Reason"

PERSONAL

Miss Bertha Wareham left Monday for Kemptville, Ont., where she has accepted a position.

Mr. Geo. Southwell, of Peterborough, is in town for a few days.—Lindsay Post.

Hon. Senator McHugh of Lindsay, passed through the city Monday night on his way to Ottawa.

Mr. J. W. Weart, barrister of Vancouver, B.C., spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. B. J. Weart, Wolseley street.

Mrs. J. T. McCabe left yesterday morning for Hartford, Conn., after three months' visit with her father, Mr. Joseph Panter.

Mrs. Wesley Jones, of Eagleton, Manitoba, has returned after a visit of three months with her son, Mr. R. N. Jones, city.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. Lewis Greene, is staying at the Cavanagh House, and is here for the purpose of securing horses for shipment to the West.

Mr. Wm. Hickey of Lang & Maher's who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, is recovering and will soon be able to leave the hospital.

Her many friends will be pleased to learn that Mrs. S. T. Medd, who underwent an operation for appendicitis is making satisfactory progress.

Mr. R. J. Munro the popular proprietor of the Munro House has returned from Clifton Springs, where he has been the past month for the benefit of his health. Mr. Munro is greatly improved by his visit.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchia-Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

A Social Gathering

Knox church young people had a social gathering Monday night. Mr. Roy Menzies was in the chair. After the devotional exercises, a guessing contest took place. The meeting closed with the closing ode. The Rev. Mr. Shearer of Peton, is expected to speak next Monday being missionary evening.

Spring League

The spring basketball league at the Y.M.C.A. will open Wednesday night when two games will be played between the Light & Power and Wallace's Five and the Business College and Park street. There are eight teams in the league. The senior league will be commenced on Saturday evening with a game between the Tigers and the Intermediates.

THE CLASSES

The boxing class will meet to-The boxing class met last night, and the wrestling class will be held tonight at eight o'clock.

Meeting of Directors

A meeting of the directors of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Co. was held in Port Hope yesterday and Messrs. R. J. Munro and Alex. Elliott attended from Peterborough. The annual meeting of the company was held a short time ago and the affairs were found to be in a most satisfactory condition.

During the past year 206,000 gallons of ale, porter and non intoxicating beverages have been manufactured and a new lager beer plant is under construction. Several Peterborough persons hold stock in the company.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

OBITUARY

MR. JAY KETCHUM.

Cobourg, March 8.—Mr. Jay Ketchum died here at 6 o'clock this evening. He was junior judge of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham and had held office for many years. The late judge was in his seventy-fourth year. He had been ill for about a week with peritonitis and heart trouble, and his death was not unexpected. The funeral will be held at Lakeport, and will be private. The late judge was a brother-in-law of Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's.

MRS. C. McAULIFFE.

